On all lips was the unanswered question: Will she or won't she?

The Bazaar, organized by Queen Mother Elizabeth to raise money for the nearby Crathie church, was set up at Albergeldie Castle near the royal summer residence of Balmoral Castle. It was expected to draw some 10,000 visitors, particularly in view of the impending birthday.

Princess Margaret helped supervise the setting up of stalls on the castle lawn Friday. Her appearance at the bazaar was expected, but not guaranteed.

Meanwhile, speculation over her plans for the future reached fever pitch throughout Britain. British reporters, keeping tabs on Townsend, were in Belgium where the embassy air attaché, made much of the fact that he summoned his two sons to visit him at the seaside village of Biarritz.

They hinted broadly that he wanted to tell them they soon will TORONTO (CP)—A seven-year-old girl said by police to have been lashed with a belt and beaten with a stick during the more than 12 hours she was held captive by an abductor was returned to the arms of her family today.

A youth detectives said they arrested at the out-of-the-way spot where she was found was charged with abduction.

The girl was Margaret McCrae, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George McCrae, who disappeared at noon Friday after going to a park near her home.

Police said she was found sleeping beneath a viaduct in east-central Toronto at 2 a.m. and that she told them a man she had met in the park beat her with a belt, a stick and his fists after luring her away from the park.

Charged with abduction was 17-year-old Neil Couche of Toronto. He was charged with abduction.

Detectives said an attempt had been made to attack the girl sexually. She was returned home after a hospital examination. She was badly bruised and both eyes were blackened.

Margaret went to the park to meet her brothers, Edward, 10, and George, 6. A playmate Patricia McLoughlin, 9, met her and went with her to the park.

She told police it was about noon when a man approached them and asked them what they were doing.

"We said we were looking for Margaret's brothers, and they were down at the pond looking for frogs," Patricia said. "He said he'd take us down."

Patricia didn't go with the man, but Margaret headed off toward the Balmoral flats. Patricia waited about 15 minutes and then went home.

TORONTO (CP)—Staid old Toronto today began a slow recovery from a severe case of heroine worship while the city's sweetheart—Marilyn Bell—took a brief respite before her next swimming task.

The young swim queen hadn't stepped off the plane returning from Europe before the Queen City had begun its "Welcome Home" in capital letters. Three-thousand persons jammed suburban Malton airport for her arrival, there Friday.

On downtown Bay street, more than 150,000 persons jammed a parade route scorched by 90-degree heat to give an even warmer welcome to the 17-year-old conqueror of Lake Ontario and the English Channel.

CIVIC RECEPTION

With coach Gus Ryder, who guided her in both her swimming feats, at her side, Marilyn rode triumphantly in an open convertible to city hall for her second civic reception in less than a year. She was there last September after becoming the first person to swim Lake Ontario and this time in honor of her channel swim.

Both she and Gus were acclaimed by the crowd lining the parade route with ear-splitting shouts and applause, and by Mayor Nathan Phillips in his address at city hall.

"Toronto's favorite daughter," the mayor said of Marilyn, and "another great Canadian who stands at Marilyn's side . . . the greatest swimming instructor of all time—Gus Ryder."

Marilyn left here early in June for London to prepare for her channel swim July 31 and since then had been holidaying in Europe.

Although Ryder said "all I want to do now is travel out to home and stay put," both will be active again before long.

Marilyn must soon begin rehearsals for the Canadian Olympic exhibition's grandstand show. Ryder will appear there, too, and before that both will take a trip to Port Sydney, Ont., in the Muskoka resort district, for a water safety demonstration.

TORONTO (CP)—Constable Bruce Priestman of suburban East York Township Friday was committed for trial on a criminal negligence charge in the death of two nurses in an accident Aug. 1. Magistrate F. W. Bartram-set bail at $1,000.

Constable William Ainsworth said the nurses were hit by a stolen car after its driver was shot in the neck by Priestman who, he said, fired two shots.

Robert Smythson, 18, of suburban Uxbridge still is in hospital recovering from a bullet wound, police said. He is accused of being the driver and facing a criminal negligence charge.

The two nurses killed when the vehicle careened into their midst at a suburban bus stop were Colomba Colangelo, 19, of Toronto and Dorothy Shynal, 19, of St. Catharines.

Army Oriental Doctor, Rebuffed In Finding Home, Helped By Friends

GARDEN GROVE, Calif. (AP)—Things will be different the next time Dr. Sammy Lee comes to Garden Grove.

The army major, a physician and a two-time United States Olympic diving champion, was rebuffed twice, because he is an Oriental, when he tried to find a home in this quiet little city in lush Orange County.

But Friday citizens of Garden Grove, aroused by the news, rallied to Lee's support.

Lee said, however, that he and his family are not planning to move to the Army Medical Corps in Colorado, to come to Orange county to find a home.

Said Lee: My belief in the American people is substantiated.

The Long Beach Press-Telegram says the major accepted its offer to fly him and his family here, but Lee said, however, that an imminent addition to his family and studies for a medical specialty board examination might delay his return until October. He is due to be discharged from the army this fall.

His parents came to California from Korea 50 years ago. Because of his homes left through in Garden Grove.

Defence Minister Campney Says He Has No Part in Firm

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Campney says he has taken no part since 1952 in the affairs of Como Investments Ltd. of Vancouver and learned only "some months ago" that it had bought a property in Burnaby, B.C., leased to the federal government as a postal station.

In a statement Friday he said that when he entered the federal cabinet in October, 1952, he instructed his two law partners in Vancouver that his directorships in several firms, including Como, should be terminated.

He said that by "inadvertence" formal notice that he no longer was a director of Como was not filed until last Aug. 8.

Mr. Campney's statement was in reply to a story which appeared in the Vancouver Sun Aug. 16 which said that for nine months the minister was a shareholder and director of Como.

Mr. Campney said that Como, a firm owned in equal shares by himself and his law partners to hold their joint investments, bought the Burnaby property last October. The lease, running until 1957, had been negotiated by the previous owner in 1950.

He said he had no personal acquaintance with the previous owner and when he learned Como had bought the property he asked his partners to let it immediately because he feared it could become the "subject of wrong inferences and innuendoes as now is evidently the case."

"At no time did I take any part whatever in the acquisition of the property in question, nor did I in fact know of its acquisition at the time it was acquired; nor have I acted as director of Como Investments Ltd. or taken any part in the direction of its affairs since I entered the cabinet," he said.

The property was listed for sale some time before the Vancouver Sun story appeared.

He said the story inferred he had something to do with the leasing of the property to the government. Such an inference was "wholly incorrect and unwarranted."

Before he entered the cabinet in 1952 as solicitor-general, he said, he instructed his partners that he was not to be reappointed to any of his previous directorships when they expired.

This instruction been followed in respect of Como Investments Ltd. I would have retired as a director of that company in December, 1952. I assumed that this instruction had been followed and never thereafter attended any meetings of the company's directors, nor did I take any part in its affairs.

In the last few days, he added, he learned "that due to an inadvertence, while I had been removed from all former directorships as I had instructed, formal notice of termination in respect of my directorship of Como Investments Ltd. had not been filed until Aug. 8 of this year."

During the last session of Parliament the issue of cabinet members holding private directorships was raised repeatedly, especially in respect of Revenue Minister McCann. Opposition members alleged that Dr. McCann tipped Premier Frost of Ontario last April concerning $6,800 in unreported campaign contributions made in 1951 by the late John Drohan, wealthy Barry Bay, Ont., lumberman, to James S. Dempsey, Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario legislature for Renfrew South.

Dr. McCann, federal member for Renfrew South, then was a director of Guaranty Trust Co. which administered the Drohan estate.

Prime Minister St. Laurent announced July 20 that Dr. McCann had resigned the directorship a month earlier.

On June 7 the government reported that two other cabinet ministers were directors of private companies: Transport Minister Marler in Hutchings Investment Corp., Montreal, described as a family-owned firm, and Mines Minister Prudham, in Prudham Building Supplies Ltd., Edmonton.

Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg) said that the minister had fully to obtain Commons passage of a bill to bar cabinet members holding any outside directorships.

Finance Minister Harris said June 7 the government opposes any statutory bar. He said each minister must decide whether private connections interfere with his government duties and that the prime minister is the final judge.

Resident-General Gilbert Grandval returned from Paris during the night with an open invitation for Moroccan leaders, including the heads of the nationalist Istiqlal party, to meet with government chiefs Monday in France. Premier Edgar Faure Friday described the proposed meeting as the second step in his plan for solving the Moroccan crisis.

The first step called for Moulay Arafat to form a representative government which could introduce some reforms and start a partial struggle in the protectorate. But his chances for putting together such a government are considered extremely slim. Nationalist leaders have refused to deal with Moulay Arafat.

J-Day Dawns Warm and Sunny For Boy Scouts

By BILL BOSS

Canadian Press Staff Writer

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont. (CP)—"J" day, for which more than 10,000 scouts have gathered from 68 countries, dawned sunny and warm today.

The "J" is for jamboree and there was an air of expectancy over the mile-square campsite of the world scout gathering as areas were tidied away for the first visitors.

Governor-General Massey as Canada's chief scout opens the jamboree at 2:30 p.m. after inspecting a guard of honor in the flag plaza at the entrance to the jamboree arena. There, flags of world scouting's 57 member countries will be knotted, ready to burgeon out as the jamboree is declared open and a fireworks display explodes overhead.

Friday, 1,000 next-to-last arrivals swelled camp registration to 10,000 mark and a final 600 are expected this morning.

TENSION MOUNTS IN MOROCCO. MANY ARE KILLED

French Paratroopers Rushed to Khenifra

CASABLANCA, French Morocco (AP)—Rioting broke out in a native quarter of Casablanca today, second anniversary of the exile of nationalist Sultan Mohammed Ben Youssef. Police fired on the Moroccan demonstrators.

Elsewhere in Morocco three persons were slain in scattered demonstrations.

At Oued Zem, 75 miles southeast of Casablanca, one person was killed and two wounded in a demonstration. Two others were killed at Boujad, 15 miles southeast of Oued Zem.

Meanwhile, in Casablanca and Marrakech, scene of bloody rioting during the last few weeks, an uneasy calm was reported. Native quarters bristled with French security forces.

Authorities left this afternoon for Khenifra, 122 miles southeast of Casablanca, to appeal for calm.

During the night some 2,000 Berber horsemen from the Atlas mountain wilderness rode into the city where 11 Moroccans were slain but they were reported withdrawn from the hills around Khenifra as French paratroop forces appeared to take control.

Two years ago today the French exiled nationalist Sultan Mohammed Ben Youssef from their Moroccan protectorate. During the last week the French have moved in extra gendarmes, soldiers, marines and paratroopers to counter possible nationalist rioting.

French commandos were flown in from Morocco and troops were brought in from neighboring Algeria to reinforce local security forces.

Loss In Billions With Many Areas Awaiting Peaks

NEW YORK (CP)—Flood waters roared down rain-filled rivers of the northeastern United States today, adding to heavy damage already inflicted by the area's severest flood in history. The loss is estimated in billions of dollars.

The death toll, which began to climb early Friday, by this morning had reached at least 92 for the seven-state area. And the peak of the flood was still to come in some sections.

The known dead listed state by state were: Pennsylvania, 41; Connecticut, 30; Massachusetts, 11; New Jersey, 5; New York, 2; Virginia, 2; Rhode Island, 1.

From Stroudsburg, Pa., came reports that some 40 persons were missing from a private summer camp. An intensive search of the low-lying camp and possible escape areas were started at dawn after state police who reached the site reported "no sign of anything."

DAMS CRUMBLE

New reports of dams crumbling under the force of swollen streams added to the swelling toll of property damage.

The collapse of the Rice City dam in North Uxbridge, Mass., sent a five-foot wall of water charging down the Blackstone river toward Woonsocket, R.I., already devastated by earlier floods.

As the rising Delaware river swelled over its banks in Trenton, capital of New Jersey, five fire companies pumped water from the basement of the state legislature in an effort to forestall damage to the building and its valuable records.

At Seymour, Conn., flood victims watched the angry Naugatuck river undermine a cemetery, upending tombstones and digging out concrete vaults and coffins. Cemetery workers carried corpses from broken coffins.

Flood waters apparently hit hardest at Stroudsburg, Pa., with at least 20 known dead, and Waterbury, Conn., with at least 15 persons were reported to have lost their lives.

The Naugatuck river roared through Waterbury, tearing out power lines and sweeping away buildings.

Stroudsburg, a resort centre in the Pocono mountains, was left with all its bridges and main roads washed away. There was no drinking water or household gas for heating and cooking.

WORSE TO COME

While Stroudsburg began the messy job of hauling out, cities further down the Delaware river system awaited the full fury of the torrent. At Easton, Pa., 40 feet of water broke a 53-year-old Delaware flood record of 38.6 feet.

Further downstream is Trenton, capital of New Jersey, reported already in "bad shape," with worse to come. Water swirled into the city's streets and civil defence officials declared an emergency.

Beyond that is populous Philadelphia on one side of the river and Camden, N.J., on the other, both anxiously watching the oncoming mighty floods.

In Rhode Island the rain-swollen Blackstone and Mill rivers burst through Horseshoe dam and poured into Woonsocket, flooding a densely Stroudsburg, a resort centre in the Pocono mountains, was left with all its bridges and main roads washed away. There was no drinking water or household gas for heating and cooking.

WORSE TO COME

While Stroudsburg began the messy job of hauling out, cities further down the Delaware river system awaited the full fury of the torrent. At Easton, Pa., 40 feet of water broke a 53-year-old Delaware flood record of 38.6 feet.

Further downstream is Trenton, capital of New Jersey, reported already in "bad shape," with worse to come. Water swirled into the city's streets and civil defence officials declared an emergency.

Beyond that is populous Philadelphia on one side of the river and Camden, N.J., on the other, both anxiously watching the oncoming mighty floods.

In Rhode Island the rain-swollen Blackstone and Mill rivers burst through Horseshoe dam and poured into Woonsocket, flooding a densely

Loss In Billions With Many Areas Awaiting Peaks

NEW YORK (CP)—Flood waters roared down rain-filled rivers of the northeastern United States today, adding to heavy damage already inflicted by the area's severest flood in history. The loss is estimated in billions of dollars.

The death toll, which began to climb early Friday, by this morning had reached at least 92 for the seven-state area. And the peak of the flood was still to come in some sections.

The known dead listed state by state were: Pennsylvania, 41; Connecticut, 30; Massachusetts, 11; New Jersey, 5; New York, 2; Virginia, 2; Rhode Island, 1.

From Stroudsburg, Pa., came reports that some 40 persons were missing from a private summer camp. An intensive search of the low-lying camp and possible escape areas were started at dawn after state police who reached the site reported "no sign of anything."

DAMS CRUMBLE

New reports of dams crumbling under the force of swollen streams added to the swelling toll of property damage.

The collapse of the Rice City dam in North Uxbridge, Mass., sent a five-foot wall of water charging down the Blackstone river toward Woonsocket, R.I., already devastated by earlier floods.

As the rising Delaware river swelled over its banks in Trenton, capital of New Jersey, five fire companies pumped water from the basement of the state legislature in an effort to forestall damage to the building and its valuable records.

At Seymour, Conn., flood victims watched the angry Naugatuck river undermine a cemetery, upending tombstones and

Your Physician is capable, sincere, skillful, and learned, but he is not a worker of miracles. Years ago prescriptions usually contained many ingredients in the hope that one of them would help. Recovery was slower.

Nowadays your Physician searches for the exact cause of your illness, and often writes a one ingredient prescription that gives best results. Therefore do not rush from one physician to another wildly. Give your Physician enough time. Such diagnosis is not easy, but once made, recovery comes speedily.

Heaviest Market Of Season Seen, Trading Brisk

The heaviest local market of the season opened this morning with trading brisk.

A heavy supply produce, both fruit and vegetables, met quick demand while prices were mostly steady, despite the heavy offerings.

Tomatoes were priced from 40 cents a six-quart basket, 15 cents a quart box. Cucumbers, in heavy supply, were five cents apiece for slicers, six for 25; pickles, 10 cents a dozen. Onions were $1-$1.25 a basket and 10 cents a box. Cabbage was 30-40 cents, according to size. Butter squash and nut squash were 10 cents apiece, while narrow leaved were 10-15 cents each. Cabbage was 10-15 cents a head; lettuce, 15 cents a head, two for 25 cents. Peppers were five cents a piece. Potatoes continued at 50-60 cents a basket while carrots were 60 cents a basket. Beets were 50-60 cents a basket and pencil-pot beans were 10 cents a box. Spanish onions were 10 cents each, pickling onions 25 cents a box.

A light supply of broccoli brought 25 cents for two bunches while a small offering of celery, among the first homegrown samples to be placed on the market, was 13 cents bunch, two for 25 cents.

Niagara peaches were in good supply and moved easily with Red Havens ranging from 75-90 cents a basket, according to size. Burbank while Jubilees were 80-90 cents a basket. Green grapes were in heavy supply at 90 cents a basket with blue grapes at 60 cents a basket. Clapp's Favorite pears were 75-90 cents a basket while apples were 50-75 cents for Astrachans and Melbas with crab apples $1 a basket. Cantaloupes and melons ranged from 10-75 cents, according to size.

A large quantity of gladioli held to $1 a dozen.

On the inside market eggs were 75 cents a dozen for large, 70 cents for large, 65 cents for mediums and 45 cents for pullets. Spring chickens were 55 cents and fowl 50 cents.

Whitefish was offered at 45 cents lb.

$600 Damage In Collision

Damage of approximately $600 resulted Friday evening when two autos collided at the corner of Victoria Ave. and Church street, one of the cars ending up against the St. Michael's Academy fence.

Police said Floyd Kerr, Trenton, was northbound on Church street, when his car skidded and ended up against the fence on Victoria Ave. driven by Wilbert R. Dove, Chatham street. Damage to each vehicle amounted to about $300.

In another accident Friday evening cars driven by Allen Cassidy, R.R. 5 Trenton and James Atkinson, R.R. 1 Foxboro, collided on North Front street. Cassidy was northbound when his car skidded and ended up into the side of the approaching vehicle as he lost control. About $200 damage was caused to the Aitken car.

Shopping Made Easier At Canadian Tire

Canadian Tire Corporation for many years have built their business on a cash basis, but to keep pace with modern shopping habits, they have inaugurated their new Credit Budget Plan. The highlights of this plan are that a customer may purchase any merchandise or service over $20, with no down payment and weekly payments as low as $1.

On accepted accounts there is no waiting, immediate delivery of any goods can be secured. Under this scheme there is no outside interviews or references required.

As in all of Canadian Tire Corporation activities they have been successful in setting up this plan with a minimum cost to the consumer. Carrying charges are much below most other companies.

MRS. BESSIE OVENS

STIRLING — The funeral of Mrs. Bessie Owens, a former Stirling resident, was held on Thursday, August 18th, at the Duffin Funeral Home with the Rev. W. H. V. Walker officiating.

The bearers were Messrs. Hiram Mumby, Robert Scarlett, Kenneth Thompson, George Line, Charles Morton and Robert Patterson.

Interment was made in Stirling cemetery beside her husband, the late Edward Owens, who predeceased her ten years ago.

MRS. MILSON CRONKRIGHT (Thomashurst)

Mrs. Addie Cronkright, widow of Milson Cronkright, died Friday, August 18th, at her home at Thomashurst after having been in failing health for the past five or six years. She was in her 78th year.

The deceased was born in Thomashurst and lived in that community all her life.

She is survived by a son, Harry Cronkright, at home, and a daughter, Mrs. Roy (Rita) Bolderick, of Plainfield. Also surviving her is a brother, Wilbur Dawe, of Roslin. She was predeceased by her husband, Milson Cronkright, about eight years ago.

She was a member of Thomashurst United Church.

The body is resting at her late residence, Thomashurst. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

GLEN NORMAN REID

Funeral services for Glen Norman Reid, 132 East Meira St., who was killed on the CNR line near Grafton, Ont., August 16th, were held at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home yesterday.

Interment was in Belleville cemetery, Rev. Everett Smith officiating.

The bearers were: Graydon Ackerman, Ray Morrison, Ross Rudder, Howard Carter, Seward Coon and Carmen Griggs.

MRS. ANNIE PAULEY, 89 Octavia Street, died Friday, August 19, at her home after having been ill for the past two weeks. She was 90.

The deceased was born in England, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Murray and lived in England prior to taking up residence in Belleville, 48 years ago.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Daniel (Doris) Stewart, and a son, George H. Pauley of Concession Lake, formerly a well-known druggist in Belleville. Also surviving her are a sister, Miss Florence Murray of Espanand, four grandchildren, Audrey, Dorothy, Philip and Glen Stewart, of Belleville. She was predeceased by her husband, George H. Pauley.

The deceased was an Anglican and a member of Christ Church and the Woman's Association for many years.

The body is resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

BILLA KETCHESON (Halloway)

Lifelong resident of the Halloway district, Mr. Bill Ketcheson, R.R. 1, Halloway, died suddenly at his home on Friday. He was 85.

Born at Halloway, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John V. Ketcheson, he had farmed in the area until his retirement. He was a member of the Bethel (Zion Hill) United Church, had acted as an elder of the church and sang in the church choir for many years.

He is survived by his wife, the former Emma Mildred Hoffman, two daughters, Mrs. Nelson (Edna) Welsh of Moira, and Miss Mildred Ketcheson at home, and one son, John, at home. Also surviving are one brother, Seid, of Ketcheson of Belleville, and one sister, Mrs. William (Mabel) Bates Ketcheson, died a few weeks ago.

Resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home; the funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

Rev. M.C. Davis May Continue As Speaker

WINDSOR (CP) — Rev. M. C. Davis, Progressive Conservative member of the provincial riding of Windsor-Walkerville, said Friday he has no knowledge of a report that he will retire as Speaker of the Ontario legislature.

Mr. Davis, who has served as Speaker since 1964, was reported that Premier Frost might announce a change in the nominee for Speaker when he gave details of cabinet changes last Wednesday. No mention was made of the Speaker, however.

"I have had the high privilege of being Speaker for two full terms," Mr. Davis said. "That is the longest in the history of the province. I realize that it is difficult to act as precedent, and quite naturally it is in the hands of the legislature to select and elect a Speaker."

Normally, the Speaker is elected at the opening of a new legislature.

Canada May Never Regain Big Cheese Market in Britain

OTTAWA (CP) — A federal trade authority today dimmed hopes that Canada will ever regain the big cheese market she had in Britain in pre-war years. But he said that if quality remains high, exports could possibly rise to 12,000,000 or 15,000,000 pounds a year.

D. A. B. Marshall, Canada's commercial secretary in London, said Canadian cheddar producers would have to reduce their prices by at least 10 cents a pound to compete with New Zealand if they wanted to boost exports to Britain to the 1938 volume of some 75,000,000 pounds.

"As this is manifestly impossible from the Canadian producers' point of view, Canada should aim at the marketing of a smaller quantity of a top quality product for which there is a potential market of somewhere between 12,000,000 and 15,000,000 pounds," he said in a report appearing in the government's foreign trade magazine.

Canadian exports to Britain dropped to 4,200,000 pounds last year, compared with 14,100,000 in 1953. This was a wartime high, or 40 per cent of Britain's total imports that year. Britain is the world's main cheese importer.

Job Insurance Benefits Change Late in November

OTTAWA (CP) — Changes in unemployment insurance benefits, approved by Parliament in July, will take effect in November at the onset of the cold weather season which brings Canada its annual peak of unemployment.

The government plans to have the new legislation formally proclaimed Oct. 2 but it will be about eight weeks later before jobless workers will feel the change in terms of the amount of insurance they draw.

The legislation, which generally overhauls the 15-year-old Unemployment Insurance Act, will raise to $30 a week from the present $24 the amount of insurance an unemployed married person in the top wage category may draw. For single unemployed the ceiling will rise to $23 from $17.10.

Another major change will be reduction of the maximum length of benefit to 36 weeks from the present 51.

Present plans are that workers will start to collect higher benefits if they become unemployed eight weeks after making payments into the $880,000,000 Unemployment Insurance Fund from Oct. 2. On that date Governor-General Massey is scheduled to proclaim the bill — a formality that will translate it into law.

The large amount of paper work involved in the changes now is under way. The format of insurance books, carried by about 3,500,000 workers, was changed. Some 71,000,000 new forms have had to be printed, and many of them still are in printers' hands.

A school to teach regional insurance chiefs the new setup is being held in Ottawa. When it ends, they will return to their regions to instruct thousands of employees.

Gallagher Plans Appeal Against His Conviction

NEW YORK (AP) — Sgt. James C. Gallagher says he will go as high as the United States Supreme Court if necessary in appealing a court-martial verdict that found him guilty of murdering two fellow prisoners-of-war.

The court-martial announced its verdict Friday after deliberating five hours. In addition to the premeditated murder of two Americans in a Korean POW camp, Gallagher was found guilty of collaboration with the Chinese Reds, mistreating fellow prisoners and informing on them to gain favored treatment for himself.

The military court sentenced him to life in prison at hard labor, plus 30 years minimum.

NO HARD FEELINGS

The 23-year-old Brooklyn soldier, facing television cameras, said later: "I have no hard feeling toward any of the men who appeared in this case. Some came in and told the truth — some didn't. Those men know who they are."

"The only thing I can say, is when they go home to look at their parents, let them remember what they did to my parents."

"I'd also like to ask some of these law-abiding citizens outside to stop annoying my family. My family is receiving phone calls and letters threatening them. I don't believe that is just."

Retiring Sec.-Treas. Honored

2ND THURLOW — The South Area school trustees and their wives were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Parrott on Friday night in honor of the retiring secretary-treasurer, Mr. Harold Cameron, who resigned after accepting a high school teaching position at Sudbury.

Present were, Mr. and Mrs. Harry O'Neill, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Atkins, Mrs. Moncrief, Mr. George Weymark, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cameron and the newly appointed secretary-treasurer, Mr. Al. Wickett and Mrs. Wickett.

After a business period, the chairman, Mr. Harry O'Neill, called the gathering to order, and on behalf of the trustees, Mrs. Jack Parrott read the address expressing regret on Mr. Cameron's resignation as he had always carried out his duties most efficiently.

Mr. O'Neill presented him with a leather brief case. Although taken by surprise, Mr. Cameron made suitable reply making mention of the many happy and social times enjoyed while a member of the school board.

Mr. O'Neill also made a few brief remarks welcoming the new secretary-treasurer, Mr. Wickett, who in turn made an appropriate reply.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Parrott and social time enjoyed.

Duplessis Says St. Laurent Praised Policy

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Duplessis says Quebec's handling of its iron ore resources in Ungava has drawn support from the Liberal government of Canada.

Replying to recent charges by Quebec Liberal leader Georges LaPlante that the province has sold out to United States interests at one cent a ton, the premier said at a press conference Friday that "even the national Liberal party has supported our development plan."

Premier Duplessis quoted Prime Minister St. Laurent as saying in the Commons in 1951 that Quebec "should be congratulated for concluding agreements that mark the beginning of the development of the Ungava region."

U.S. interests had constructed a 380-mile railroad from Sept-les to the heart of Ungava without the province having to guarantee a cent, he added.

Premier Duplessis also announced construction of a multi-million dollar plant at Varennes, Que., near Montreal, by Canadian Titanium Pigments, Ltd., will begin this fall.

Salamanders In Hundreds Seen In West Canada

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man. (CP) — Salamanders by the hundreds are invading Portage la Prairie. The movement of reptiles, some of which measure eight inches in length, apparently started from the city's Crescent lake earlier this week.

One apartment block owner reported capturing more than 15 in his basement which they reached by way of a window. Car drivers said the salamanders were so thick along Crescent lake that it was impossible to use the road for fear of skidding.

Portage la Prairie is 60 miles west of Winnipeg.

Lithium Strike Made in North

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — A new lithium discovery has been made about 90 miles north of Port Arthur. The strike was made by geologists from the Port Arthur and Fred Bergkvist of Fort William about two miles north of Pine Point on the east shore of the Nipigon river.

Already 77 claims have staked. Largest area so far has been staked for the Lun - Echo gold mines.

Nicolson Clan Holds Reunion

On Sunday, the Nicolson family held their annual reunion at Nichol's Oval Park, in Peterborough.

The families from far and near started to gather at eleven and by one o'clock about 100 relatives of the Nicolson clan sat down to a bounteous repast. The dinner was surely a gay one leaving nothing to be desired on the thought of food.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

After dinner visiting was the order of the day, as each one had acquaintances to renew. At 3:30 p.m., the gathering was called to order by the president, George Nicolson of Frankford. Pleasure was expressed over the good attendance and a new slate of officers installed for next year.

President, Alex Nicolson of Oshawa; vice-president, John Thompson of Queensboro; secretary-treasurer, Mary Spry of Madoc.

Many prizes were awarded by Mary Spry, program convener. The children had several races and each received a suitable prize whether he was winner or not.

Many unusual and humorous contests were conducted for the adults, each winner receiving a memento of the day.

PRIZES

Prizes were awarded for the farthest distances — Mrs. Alexander and Mrs. Sinclair from Calgary, Alta., and Mrs. Jack Nicolson from Roseville, Sask.

Oldest man — Jack Downey of New York.

Oldest woman — Mrs. Sinclair, Calgary.

Youngest child — Marilyn Marchand, Peterborough.

Largest family — Harry Stinson, with seven children.

Each child then received a balloon and visiting and picture taking were resumed.

After supper, everyone started for home in their many directions taking with them memories and fond wishes for all to meet at the same place and time next year.

Magistrate Takes Different View On Suggestion

KINGSTON (CP) — Magistrate James B. Garvin said Friday it may be an injustice to a driver to ask police to lay a charge of driving while intoxicated every time they apprehend a driver who has been drinking.

He was commenting on a report that a Kitchener magistrate has asked officers to lay a charge of drunk driving in such cases rather than the less severe charge of driving while ability is impaired by alcohol.

The reason was that a magistrate could always reduce a charge that was unable to increase it even though he might feel the circumstances warranted a stiffer penalty. A drunk driving conviction automatically results in a jail sentence.

Magistrate Garvin said he didn't think it was "advisable to interfere with police who must act according to their own discretion. I would not tell police automatically to charge suspected drivers with drunk driving."

Who Was This?

By A. A. M.

What were the names of the four disciples who came to Jesus, privately, as he sat on the Mount of Olives opposite the temple, and asked him: "What will the sign be when these things are all to be accomplished? When will this be?" Jesus said this of the exact time of the end of the world. "Of that day or that hour no one knows, not even the angels in heaven, nor the Son, but only the Father."

Then He added this warning: "Take heed that no one leads you astray. Many will come in My name, saying, 'I am He!' If any one says to you, 'Look, here is the Christ' or 'Look, here he is!' do not believe. False Christs and false prophets will arise and show signs and wonders, to lead astray, if possible, the elect."

Do not be alarmed when you hear of wars and rumors of wars. This must take place. But the end is not yet. For nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. There will be earthquakes in various places and also famines. This is but the beginning of men's sufferings.

For in those days there will be such tribulation as has not been from the beginning of the Creation. Pray that it may not happen in the winter! Alas for those who are with child or are nursing a baby! When you see the desolation, let those who are in Judea flee to the mountains. Let him who is on the housetop not go in nor enter into his house to take anything away. Let him who is in the field not turn back to take his mantle.

In those days, after that tribulation the sun will be darkened, the moon will not give its light, and the stars will be falling from heaven. Then you will see the Son of Man coming in clouds with great power and glory. Then he will send out the angels, and gather his elect from the four winds, from the ends of the earth to the ends of heaven. Take heed, watch; for you know not when the time will come. It is like a man going on a journey. When he leaves home, he puts his servants in charge; each with his own work. To the doorkeeper he commands, 'Be on the watch!' You do not know when the Master of the House will come, in the evening, or at midnight, or at cock-crow, or at morning. Watch! lest he come suddenly and find you asleep. Watch!

You will find the names of these four disciples and this story in the thirteenth Chapter of Mark.

Bulletins From Birdland

RECOGNIZING HAWKS

To most people a hawk overhead is just a hawk. Beyond that, few can go.

Nevertheless, by using certain definite rules, it is possible to tell at least to which class an individual hawk belongs. Although helpful to note color, size, voice, and so on, there is no more reliable test than the silhouette and manner of flight.

Those known as "buteos" are chunky birds, have large, rounded wings and broad tails, can be seen in summer circling round and round, and are our most common high-flying hawks. They soar and wheel far up in the sky, and their keen eyes spot mice or frogs way below.

Another group comes under the heading of "accipiters". These have short, rounded wings and long, rather narrow tails. Though outcrops often are blamed for destroying birds and mammals valued by us, these accipiters are, in reality the true poachers. They seldom soar, but progress by alternating several quick wing beats and a sail. Their prey is caught by making sudden dashes.

A third group comprises the "falcons", recognized above us by their long, pointed wings, and long tails.

SPEED NOTORIOUS

Their typical flight is by rapid wing strokes, and they are notorious for speed. With a sudden swoop they chase their victims.

Our only "harrier" is the marsh hawk, which haunts open marshes and fields, gliding comparatively low, back and forth, over the ground in search of mice, locusts, and grasshoppers. The tail is long and narrow, and the long, pointed wings bend back considerably, thus differentiating this bird from falcons.

The fish hawk, or osprey, is also in a class by itself. In flight it most resembles the marsh hawk, as its expansive and quite long wings have a backward sweep. It is most often observed sailing high over water in its strong feet. The splash is both a sight and a sound vastly entertaining to any bird watcher.

If you are able to fit correctly a hawk into one of these classes, you have gone one good step in the right direction. After that, you might try to notice details that are especially characteristic, such as the white spot which looks like a little window on the wing of the red-shouldered hawk, the entirely red tail of the red-tail, the very small size of the sparrow hawk, and the shrill, high-pitched whistle "pewee-e-e-e-e" of the broad-winged hawk.

REVIVE US AGAIN!

We praise Thee, O God! for the Son of Thy love,
For Jesus who died, and is now gone above.
Hallelujah! Thine the glory, hallelujah! Amen:
Hallelujah! Thine the glory, revive us again.

We praise Thee, O God! for Thy Spirit of Light,
Who has shown us our Saviour, and scattered our night.
Hallelujah! Thine the glory, hallelujah! Amen:
Hallelujah! Thine the glory, revive us again.

All glory and praise to the Lamb that was slain,
Who has borne all our sins, and has cleansed every stain.
Hallelujah! Thine the glory, hallelujah! Amen:
Hallelujah! Thine the glory, revive us again.

Revive us again; fill each heart with Thy love;
May each soul be rekindled with fire from above.
Hallelujah! Thine the glory, hallelujah! Amen:
Hallelujah! Thine the glory, revive us again.

"Revive Us Again!", written by the Rev. William Paton Mackay, was near the top of the "favorite hymns" list in all the great revivals of two or three generations ago. Even today, it is rather well known and widely used in prayer services and mission meetings.

The hymn takes its name from its popular refrain. It was almost sure to be called for whenever Moody and Sankey held one of their famous evangelistic meetings and it was used for years afterward by other religious leaders with equal success. Many gospel songsters have added interest to community singing at their praise services with Mackay's hymn, dividing their audiences into two groups and asking one section to sing the verses of the song and the other to respond with the ringing "Hallelujah!" refrain.

Most hymn lovers think of the tune and title together but the music, known as "English Melody", was composed early in the nineteenth century, 50 years or more before Mackay planned the verses it was to carry to fame. The same tune is used for Dr. Horatio Bonar's "Rejoice and Be Glad", written in 1874. Its author was John Jenkins Husband, who was born in Plymouth, England and who in his youth composed several anthems while serving as a clerk at Surrey Chapel.

Husband came to America in 1809, the year Abraham Lincoln was born, and made his home in Philadelphia. He divided this time for a number of years between teaching music and serving a clerkship at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in that city.

Soon she'll vanish from our sight,
Lost to vale and hill and wood,
Echoes of her footsteps light
Break upon the solitude.
But when Autumn, dreamy-eyed,
Haunts the mountains and the plain,
Flaunts her robes all crimson-dyed,
Brings her riches once again.
Summer's spirit will return
When the days are calm and still,
Trail again her robes of light
Over wood and vale and hill.

A Lift For Living

Obedience to Unwritten Laws

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

In some railroad cars there are signs prohibiting smoking. But in the church there are no such signs. Why? It is an unwritten law that worshippers do not smoke in the house of God. Something in the nature of the building, something in the character of the worshippers, makes it unnecessary to post such regulations in a sanctuary.

Sermons, however eloquent, do not receive open applause. It is an unwritten law that we not clap our hands in our more dignified places of worship.

Or consider the home. Out in the business world hours and wages are strictly regulated by law. But there is no wages-and-hours schedule in the labors of family devotion. There is no ceiling to the cost of service a mother will pay for a sick child. If death breaks up a home and the property adjustments are thrown into court, then there are laws which apportion the share of a widow or a child. But as long as a home is a going institution, it is run by unwritten laws.

When children are little, they pull no oar in the boat. They are only passengers, a precious cargo, to be sure, but very exacting. And when parents become aged and infirm, they often become passengers to be carried. Yet dutiful sons and daughters do not desert helpless fathers and mothers. Homes are held together by unwritten laws.

REGIONS OF CONDUCT

Let us look at society at large. Some of our actions can be regulated by statutes, such as the terms of our employment in factories, the speed of driving on public highways, etc. On the other hand, some of the things we do should be outside the reach of law. Such is the right to worship God or the right to think for ourselves.

But in between the actions controlled by statute and the rights to be kept absolutely free is a third region of conduct, once discussed by Lord Moulton, the English jurist. This third realm of action Lord Moulton called the domain of "obedience to the unenforceable." It covers all those actions which we do when there is no one but ourselves to make us do them, all those restraints which we observe when there is no statute law to hold us back.

Let us pause a moment to ponder this obedience to the unenforceable. This is a land of free speech, but does that fact warrant any of us saying publicly everything that comes into our heads? No, for a wise person keeps some thoughts to himself.

Suppose he is a teacher. He has to consider the capacities and sensibilities of the pupils under his care. Or suppose he is a preacher. The freedom of the pulpit exempts him from legal restrictions, but not from the restraints of gentlemanly courtesy or Christian charity. As a minister I feel that it would be a sin against fair play to say certain things from my pulpit (where men cannot talk back to me), which I should feel free to say in private conversation.

LAW OF CHIVALRY

Thirty-three years ago, when the ship "Titanic" struck the iceberg and went to a watery grave, the passengers observed the rule "women and children first." No written law required the men to stand back while the women went to the lifeboats. No force compelled such conduct. But by the unwritten law of chivalry those gentlemen remained gentlemen, even to the edge of death. This was a classic example of obedience to the unenforceable.

And why is this obedience to the unenforceable so socially important? Because our freedom, our virtue and our sacred honor depend on it. Unless we the people obey the unwritten laws of right conduct, when there is no one but ourselves to enforce them, then the lust for law-making will spread until all conduct is more or less regulated by laws, and the totalitarianism of the dictators will have replaced the democracy of free peoples. Do we want all our daily doings dictated by governmental overlords? Then we must hold the lordship of our lives as a sacred trust to be exercised under the Lord of all life.

Furthermore men are made good by spirit and not by law. There is no goose-stepping goodness. Unless we live up to the spirit of the good we shall live down to the level of mental slavery and moral mediocrity.

MEN, SCARCER SO WORTH MORE?

Men are getting scarcer.
Not real he-men only, but males in general are getting scarcer.

Without glancing covertly over their shoulders to assure themselves of safety from immediate siege, males should start thinking seriously of their position in the North American matriarchy.

It was announced recently that the number of widows in the United States increased by 90 per cent in the years from 1930 to 1953, to 7,500,000, while the adult population of women increased only 63 per cent. One woman in every 10 from 45 to 55 was a widow while one in four from 55 to 64 was a widow.

The explanation is simple. Women live longer—four years longer on the average—than men, and fewer women than men die of heart attacks and ulcers wrestling a living for their spouses from the cold, cruel world.

Now comes word that fewer and fewer girls in North America will have the opportunity to grow gracefully into a widowed middle age. There will not be enough men to go around. In 1950 there were 93½ males for every 100 females. In 1955 there are 91 males for every 100 females. While these figures apply to urban dwellers there has been a steady exodus of men and women from the rural exodus is composed of farm boys fleeing the ardent advances of farm girls who, in turn, are pursuing them to the city while there is still some chance of matrimony?

Nevertheless, while the male may be compared to a dodo on TV, on radio and in the movies, there is still no evidence that his existence is as perilous as that of the dodo. However, as the number of the species dwindles their individual value increases. It is well that it should because in all other respects the value of the male has been sorely threatened.

Masculine prestige has hit an all-time low. Fathers are now expected to help with the dishes, make beds, clean diapers and powder diaper rash and to do a host of domestic chores that were once considered feminine duties only. The reward for this servitude is the casting of father as comic relief in popular entertainment media with his clumsy attempts at being a maid the chief element of "humor" in most "family" shows. Women, on the other hand, are portrayed as sickly efficient businesswomen and housekeepers who can run the "boss" as well as the house with a minimum of effort. The growing percentage of females in the total population may be the reason for the popularity of shows casting males as incompetent females.

Women not only live longer and bear pain better than men, they also control 85 per cent of the money spent in retail trading and hold most of the beneficiary claims for insurance policies. Advertising is directed at women—cigarettes are graded according to the irritations produced in women's throats and even automobiles have succumbed in coloring, at least, to female fanaticism to be different.

Women now control the vote in the United States. If all the women could agree on a single woman candidate for president the Democrats and the Republicans would be spared the trouble of nominations.

While dull, drab men, garbed in the styles of their ancestors, march forward into the domestic jungle of North American woman, while the same clever women devote an hour a day to extricating them from their dilemmas, there is the consoling thought that as their numbers decrease their value increases. There is also the hope that as women continue to broaden their interest in business and the professions they will still continue to profess that their chief business is men.

This is the male's last hope.

A FEW QUIET QUESTIONS

"A British Columbia magistrate," says a Victoria Colonist editorial, "refused to proceed with the trial of a couple of late teenagers until they had had a haircut. Much of the trouble with teenagers nowadays can be traced to softness in upbringing and it is left to authorities like the Nanaimo magistrate to do what they can to put duties toward organized society into perspective."

Those who feel like standing and cheering the Colonist's assertions may do so.

There is nothing to be gained by the rest of us starting an argument. The first word of objection would see us denounced for defending ridiculous haircuts, mollycoddling vicious hoodlums, defaming law and order and neglecting our sacred duties to our country, flag and Queen.

Still, perhaps we may be permitted to ask a few quiet questions.

Since when has it been a duty to organized society to get a haircut?

Since when can a magistrate deny an accused person the right to a trial until he conforms with the magistrate's view of appropriate appearance?

Since when has an accused person, before his trial, lost any of the civil rights enjoyed by any other citizen of the country?

Or has any magistrate the right to tell any one of us how our hair should be cut?

If so, what happens if the magistrate in the neighboring county dislikes the hair style favored by the magistrate in our own home town?

If magistrates enjoy this authority over our hair styles, does this authority extend into other realms? The color of our ties? The way we walk? Our accents? Our choice of words? Our thoughts? Our dreams? Where is the dividing line between complete regimentation and a socially desirable policy of enforcing us to do our duty to society by having our hair cut in a style pleasing to magistrates?

The Nanaimo magistrate is an individual and has a right to be an individual. He exceeds these rights when he endeavors to establish his own individualism at the expense of the individualism of "a couple of late teenagers," who, while accused of some offence, had not been convicted of it when he ordered them to have their hair cut.

With the CNR president the country's highest paid servant we can now expect that Canada's young fry will want to grow up to replace Donald Gordon.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

August 20, 1935

Mr. and Mrs. V. P. Weaver, Charles Street, have returned home from Montreal where they visited friends.

Mr. G. B. Sprague left today for Barker, N.Y., where he will visit his nephew, Mr. W. G. Sprague.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Reeves, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Reeves and two young daughters, Eleanor and Shirley, of Toronto, were recent guests of Miss E. Maude Reeves, Charles Street.

Mr. Percy Ransom and family, Charles Street, have left to spend a vacation in Moose Jaw, Sask.

Miss Evelyn Walsh has returned to Toronto after visiting her sister, Mrs. Twomey Black and Mr. Black.

Mrs. R. B. Aston and daughter, Betty, have returned to Montreal after visiting her mother, Mrs. William Tracey, North Front Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid Muir, Foster Avenue, have returned home after spending some time in Montreal.

30 YEARS AGO

August 20, 1925

Mr. J. Carney of Hammond, Indiana, is visiting relatives here.

Mrs. Frank Walsh, John St., is visiting her brother in Buffalo.

Mr. W. Clarke Diamond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. Diamond, Foster Avenue, has left for Hamilton, where he has accepted a position with a large drug firm.

At the Cobourg Horse Show Mr. S. P. Hagerman of this city won second prize with his horse "Black Beauty" for the best standard bred mare registered of any age.

Mr. Alexander Kerr has returned to Brampton to resume his duties in the Bank of Montreal, after spending his vacation at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Camplin have returned to their home here after spending several weeks in Marmora.

Some of the old timers will remember the Omela, with regard to which we quote the following item from our file copy at this time in 1935: "Mr. Corby's steam yacht the Omela has been sold by him to Mr. W. L. Hogg of Montreal and Jack Roblin is fitting her out for the trip to that city."

40 YEARS AGO

August 20, 1915

Mr. P. A. Tripp, Grier Street, has left for Saskatoon, Sask., where he will spend two months with his son and daughter.

Miss Margaret O'Connor of Marmora has the honor of catching the largest fish to be taken from Crowe Lake so far this season. It was a maskinonge and weighed a little over eighteen pounds and measured forty-two inches in length.

Mr. John Doran is home on a visit from New York City.

Lieut. John Downey of the 59th Battalion, for overseas service, spent a few days at his home here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Reid of Detroit, Mich., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Campbell, James Street.

50 YEARS AGO

August 20, 1905

About the last visitors here for the Old Boys' Reunion will leave today: they are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lewis and their son Griffin Lewis, of Vancouver, B. C.

Mrs. Lewis and son have been here for the past three months visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wegman, Miss Aggie Foltz and Miss Annie Foltz of Rochester, N. Y., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Foltz, Grove Street.

Mr. Allan McFee of this city, who at present is in San Francisco, California, is remembering his friends with picture post cards.

Mr. J. S. Dyer has returned to the city after spending several weeks at Port Carling.

The Rev. J. P. Wilson, pastor of Bridge Street Methodist Church, is spending a few days with friends in Kingston.

SHOULD WE EXPORT RELIGION

More than a hundred years ago on the floor of the Senate of Massachusetts, some one objected to the incorporation of a certain missionary society which planned to spread the gospel to foreign lands. The objecting senator argued that this constituted an export and since we had no religion to spare in this country, we should keep what we had for ourselves. But another senator sprang to his feet and said: "Sir, religion is a commodity of which the more we export, the more we have remaining."

In reading the Bible we need always to keep in mind that in the spiritual world, the more we give away the more we retain. Jesus expressed this by saying that to him that hath shall be given, and to him that hath shall be taken away even that which he hath. If we take the benefits of God and scatter them in double handfuls all over the world, we come back to find that our pile of blessings is twice as high as when we started to scatter.

The Massachusetts senator who wanted to keep all the religion at home was dead wrong. We read that when the ancient Israelites tried to lay by a store of heavenly manna, it soured and spoiled. So it is always with spiritual gifts. If we clutch our fingers about them and hold them close to our own breasts, something happens that we are sorry for. When we give, then God begins giving unto us, full measure, pressed down and running over.

CRIBBAGE

With: "fifteen two and eight are ten"

Upon a narrow board
Three centuries, and more, good men
Their cribbage hands have scored.

And strangely, by the rules they made
Three hundred years ago,
The game today is being played
Without a change to show.

What throw the crib and what to hold
My father taught to me.

"Turn up the jack, take two," he told.
"Each run is good for three.
You get two points for every pair."

And as the game goes on Remember here and everywhere
It's two for thirty-one."

Now this is what I'd like to know
Who was it in the long ago
First counted "fifteen two?"
Who thought of "cribbage" for its name.

The pairs and double runs,
The pegs, the board, and left the game
For dads to teach their sons?

Letter to the Editor

Trenton Air Station
Has Disposal Plant

(Sudbury Star)

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer

In a recent issue, an editorial under the title of "On The Water-front" contained a statement which read as follows:

"The provincial government's recent command to all municipalities of more than 10,000 to construct sewage disposal plants offers hope that pollution of the bay will cease in Trenton, at the RCAP Station and in Belleville in the foreseeable future."

The reference to the RCAP's pollution of the waters of Lake Ontario grossly misrepresents the situation on this important subject insofar as both station Trenton and its adjacent community of Middleton Park are concerned.

The first sewage disposal system at Trenton was installed in the early 1930's. This system adequate for prewar requirements was used until 1940 when settling basins capable of servicing the greatly expanded Air Station were added. Even in these early stages of its development all sewage disposal from Air Force Sources entered the bay in the form of chlorinated water, thus giving added protection against pollution.

In 1953 a modern activated sludge plant went into operation to serve not only Station Trenton but the community of Middleton Park as well. This plant similar in type to the large installations used by the City of Toronto and other metropolitan centres is up to date in every respect.

It is not considered necessary to elaborate on the methods used other than to state that all waste from Air Force sources enters the local waters in the form of chlorinated water having a very low bacteria content. Daily checks by qualified sewage plant operators insure that adequate chlorination is being maintained and that Ontario Department of Health regulations are being adhered to.

This information on sewage disposal at Station Trenton is generally known by health authorities interested in such matters and was certainly available to the writer of the editorial in question, had he cared to inquire.

It is difficult to understand why such a check was not made. From a reputable and highly esteemed daily newspaper exposure editorial comment on a subject of such wide interest as the pollution of waters surely the least that can be expected is an honest and thorough attempt to ascertain the true facts; anything less is unfair to the agencies singled out for special mention and also a disservice to the good name of the paper.

There are people who make a living out of jokes—out of their invention and collection and preparation. There are actually books filled with jokes; and pretty grim specimens of literature they are, too.

There is supposed to be an individual or an agency hidden away in Aberdeen and presumably on the payroll of the Scottish Chamber of Commerce busily making up the jokes about the Scots which are printed every three months without fear of detection, and that no one of these more or less standard productions ever can be traced back to its original source. Jokes, the sort that can be put in print, are a sort of circulating medium, sometimes making a point in a speech, sometimes attaining the dignity of an illustration for a sermon, sometimes even getting between covers in a book, but moving quietly from a remote beginning through so varied a routine to an unforeseeable end when humanity will be so regulated, ruled and controlled that nobody will have the heart to make or repeat a joke.

There are chap in newspaper offices, mostly glum and disillusioned fellows, who search periodicals and other papers for jokes worth stealing and they find the going tough. Eventually they fall back on the comfortable theory that readers' memories for this sort of thing are short, that a joke can be repeated every three months without fear of detection, and that no one of these more or less standard productions ever can be traced back to its original source. Jokes, the sort that can be put in print, are a sort of circulating medium, sometimes making a point in a speech, sometimes attaining the dignity of an illustration for a sermon, sometimes even getting between covers in a book, but moving quietly from a remote beginning through so varied a routine to an unforeseeable end when humanity will be so regulated, ruled and controlled that nobody will have the heart to make or repeat a joke.

That captain knows already that a joke is not something to be embarked upon lightly. Happy homes have been broken because of a joke, and a man has repeated his favorite joke once too often—a worm turns, and even a wife can stand just so much. Lifelong friendships have been severed because of a facetious comment. Feelings have been hurt by a laugh at the wrong time or no laugh at all—Lullabelle, you just have no sense of humour.

There is a man who made a joke and found himself one of the two some down the centre aisle almost before he could say overboard! His is an extreme case perhaps but it does go to prove that a joke can be no laughing matter.

Education
In Brief

(Sudbury Star)

Possibly the least-appreciated item in any newspaper are those low-life stories that newspapermen call fillers. In fact, we think it might be a good idea to have a Back-of-the-Filler-Writer's Week.

After all, where else could you learn that Dwight D. Eisenhower is the first U.S. president since George Washington with 10 letters in his surname? Oh sure, you could work it out for yourself, but it's one of those things a man just keeps putting off. Then along comes some filler writer and hands it to you at the bottom of the column at no extra charge. It makes you stop and think.

At least it makes us stop and think—think of that writer sitting in some unknown newspaper syndicate office chewing on his typewriter looking for ideas. Did that Eisenhower fellow pop up full-blown, so to speak, or does he have some system of research that unveils these gems? We'll never know, but meanwhile, we can continue to appreciate his work.

For instance, we might have gone through life without knowing that Mount Cook is highest (12,345 feet) mountain in New Zealand only our attention was caught by that little item jammed in between the story about the cat finding its way over 2,000 miles of desert country and the advertisement about pink pills. Was it a close thing. Now if we meet a New Zealander we can toss that little bit of trivia at him just as though we'd been there.

Of course, some of the knowledge derived from filler reading may never be applied, but it's just as well to be prepared. For instance, we're still waiting to show off one choice bit of woodcraft culled from a column closer: The height of an elephant can be determined by multiplying the circumference of its foot by seven. If you ever see any elephant tracks around, just give The Star a call. We'd be glad to tell you how big the beast was.

Personal Health Talks

More Calcium Can Do A Lot Of Good

This in some respects, is still a free country. Any poor geek may believe if he wishes that his chronic ailment is rheumatism, or if he can afford a moveover he may name arthritis. Moreover he is free to attribute his complaint to exposure to foul weather, cold, dampness and this dreadful climate and corroborate the notion by citing Dr. Orlert right down to the best advertised "clinic" racketeer in the business today.

Without discussing the subject here that a great many readers who have had personal experience with joint disability of long duration (over a year) have obtained great benefit from the practice of supplementing their ordinary diet with a suitable daily ration of calcium and D.

This is not medicine and it does not cure anything. It is simply essential food—food which every one should get every day. Every one would get enough calcium and D to prevent such trouble if he consumed enough milk, cheese, eggs, green leafy vegetables, calcium nuts and peanuts; and exposed as much skin as possible to sunlight or diffuse skylight daily, to manufacture the daily requirement of vitamin D.

Besides the foods mentioned, these foods are good sources of calcium for a high calcium or health diet: asparagus, lettuce, cabbage, raw or only slightly cooked, celery, cauliflower, broccoli, beet greens, dandelion greens, turnip greens, mustard greens, oatmeal.

A quart of milk contains approximately 15 grains of calcium. A healthy person excretes 10 to 12 grains of calcium through the intestine and 2 or 3 grains through the kidneys daily.

If you don't know much about calcium metabolism, physiology and nutrition, don't fret about it—a lot of doctors are in the same boat.

TODAY'S TALK

NATURE'S TEACHERS

Nature is so complete! It teaches with its endless numbers of teachers, but it never deceives. There is a regularity about it—it couldn't afford to be anything else! Nature lasts. It is endless, and all life within it is regulated, such as its animals, birds, insects and even the trees and flowers.

The farmer looks up to the sky, or takes note of the atmosphere, decides upon the direction of the wind, and then goes about his work, arming himself and preparing his work accordingly. He has faith in Nature—'tis his silent partner!

Any summer island home I have for years tamed the red squirrels to come at my call and take peanuts from my hands, but they will eat sparingly, and invariably hide, or store, a whole peanut in the shell. If it is broken, then the squirrel will eat only as much as he wants at the time. Then he will bury or store the rest. I have noted that these friends of mine come regularly for their food at the same time a day—and the same as our dining hours—breakfast, lunch and dinner. Did they get that idea from us? Or were we the borrower?

An animal will not eat when it is ill; it devotes a great deal of time resting and relaxation. Ever note a herd of cattle in a field, lying at rest in the afternoon, chewing their cud? Is a cow is frightened, it makes a difference with the milk. But it is not easily frightened.

There are so many things we may learn from Nature: The fish in the sea, the birds in the forest, the clouds in the sky, the chemicals in the earth—all teach us something. The good Earth is man's miraculous store-house and laboratory.

There is a bravery in Nature that is amazing—even in the inanimate things, like a tree, how it bends to the wind and storm, but lives on, even after it has been crippled and bruised. Some animals, like the fox, often defeat man's cruelty. I read of one, caught in a trap, that gnawed all its legs off but one. It knew it couldn't do anything with but one leg—so it did. Nature's first inventions are legion!

A Stinking Avenged

By LEONARD L. KNOTT
(Illustrated by David Ranson)

Not far from famous Wabigoon Beach, Ontario where only a few weeks ago some swimmers were drowned in the treacherous water, an old and historic Canadian ship has been raised from the bottom of a river and has become a monument to a heroic crew.

The ship is the little schooner Nancy. During the War of 1812, she escaped from the lakes into the Nottawagass River, after being pursued by some larger United States sailing ships. There, she was sunk by enemy gunfire and more than a century later her remains were found and raised as a memorial. The story of the Nancy was itself an exciting one, but the ship also recalls a brave exploit by her crew in which the ship herself took no part.

After the Nancy had been lost, Lieutenant Miller Worsley, her commander, and his crew escaped to Michilimackinac. On their way, they had sighted two American vessels, the Scorpion and the Tigris, which had been left to guard the passageway to the lakes in case the Nancy should be refloated and escape. The warships were stationed about 15 miles apart.

Having no ship of their own, Lieutenant Worsley and his officers decided to try to capture one of the American vessels. They secured four rowboats, one manned by seamen commanded by Worsley and three others manned by soldiers of the Royal Newfoundland Fencible Infantry and a few militiamen. With this small flotilla, they set out to capture a United States man-of-war.

DARING MISSION

On the evening of September 1, 1814, the tiny fleet set out on its daring mission. At sunset on the following day, it reached the Detroit Passage where the first of the American ships stood guard. Over night and the next day, the crews stayed on shore concealed in the bushes, then, at about six o'clock, they began rowing out to the U.S. vessel. With muffled oars, and keeping absolute silence, they approached the Tigris, coming to within 100 yards of the ship before they were sighted.

The Tigris crew immediately opened fire, but the Canadians, silent no longer, dashed forward and swarmed over the sides of the enemy vessel. After only five minutes of strenuous fighting, during which the enemy lost three killed and two wounded and the Canadians two killed and several wounded, the ship was captured.

The next morning, the American prisoners were sent under guard to a camp on shore. Meanwhile the Canadian officers took command of their new prize but kept the American pendant flying. Later that day, they saw the Scorpion approaching and watched her as she anchored about two miles away.

During the night the prize ship and her Canadian crew made ready for battle. At daylight, she hoisted sail and approached the Scorpion, setting within ten yards of the other vessel before the Americans discovered they were facing an enemy. Once again, the Canadians swarmed aboard and the Scorpion, like the Tigris, was captured. In a few days, Lieutenant Worsley and his men had avenged the sinking of their little schooner by capturing two American vessels, each much larger than the one they had lost. Their exploit was one of the most daring and successful of the war on the Great Lakes.

YOUR CAR

Regulator Controls Auto Battery

By EUGENE MILMOE

Don't overlook the generator regulator if your car comes down with a stubborn case of battery trouble. It's often at fault when the problem is overcharging, undercharging or no charge at all.

As many car owners know, the purpose of the regulator is to know, regulate or reduce the generator charging rate according to the needs of the battery. If it fails to do this job—battery, points, ignition coil, lights, etc., may suffer.

In servicing and installing, adjustments must always be made with complete accuracy. . . and a replacement regulator must be one designed for the particular generator on your car. Unless you are really an expert and have the necessary test equipment, let a skilled mechanic handle the job.

R.C. asks: Whenever I push my clutch pedal all the way to the floor with the engine at idle speed, I notice a sort of sharp squeaking noise. Someone advised that it is a bearing noise. What bearing do you think it would be?

(A) The clutch pilot bearing is probably the one at fault.

PRESSURE DROPS

F.G. writes: After running my car for a short time, the oil pressure drops very low. It will not rise again until I let the car stand and cool off for an hour or so. I wish you could give me a reason for this type of trouble.

(A) The oil you are using may be too thin—and, of course, when your engine heats up, it thins out even more. Oil can be too thin if it's diluted, too light for the season or of low quality.

From G.S.: My car is six years old and overheats frequently. A local mechanic checked every inch of my cooling system but found nothing wrong. A friend who drove my car says there is no clutch pedal play and a slipping clutch (or anything else) that puts an extra load on your engine) can bring about overheating.

(A) Lack of pedal play will cause the clutch to slip—and a slipping clutch (or anything else that puts an extra load on your engine) can bring about overheating.

WET LIGHTS

C.D. inquires: Lately, I notice that moisture has collected inside both headlights, and the light is so diffused it spreads all over the road. I would like to replace them with moisture-proof lights, if such are available.

(A) Most auto parts stores and service stations carry headlights which are permanently sealed against moisture and dirt. Lens and reflector are of one-piece construction.

L.B. asks: My car runs well, gas mileage is good and I use practically no oil. A few days ago, however, I removed the spark plugs and the bases seem to be coated with some kind of white substance. Does this mean anything is wrong?

(A) Whenever a leaded gas is used, it's normal to get white deposits on the plugs after they have seen some service.

NO TRAFFIC DEATHS

NEWTON, Kan. (AP)—Newton (pop. 11,500), Thursday began its third year without a traffic fatality. In observance of the occasion, Newton police handed out 110 free parking tickets to overtime parkers.

Wellington On The Lake

WELLINGTON — After the hurricane of Saturday night, we are enjoying summer weather — fortunately lacking the fervid heat of July. Summer visitors are still with us, reluctant to leave this beautiful resort with its restful park and cooling lake breezes. How we cling to these vanishing summer days, their visit to this northland being so very brief.

On Thursday, August 11th, Mrs. Leona Whyte, of Bath, with her guests, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Whyte and Sandra of Montreal, with Miss Helen Arthur of Belleville, were dinner guests at Lake-on-the-Mountain after which they motored to Wellington and with Miss S. E. Blakely were guests of Mrs. Anderson and Miss Marjorie Blakely at their home at Maple Avenue. They also visited the park.

Mrs. Lela Weeks, Coneseon, spent a few days the guest of Mrs. W. H. Morton, Coneseon St. Mrs. Crawford, of Albany, New York, who is holidaying in her summer cottage here, will return to the States next week to attend a button convention at Utica, N.Y. State. She will be accompanied by her friend, Mrs. Helen Harris.

Miss Marjorie Blakely and her guest, Miss Dorothy Taylor, of Toronto, enjoyed a motor drive to Salmon Point and The Outlet on Tuesday.

Mrs. Charles Wannamaker and her daughter, Mrs. Cannon, and Miss Doreen of Trenton, have returned home after a pleasant holiday, visiting friends at Niagara, London and Guelph.

Mrs. Alex. Tait, Jr., student at Toronto Art School, who is employed during holidays on a pleasure boat from Toronto to Niagara, spent Monday, August 15, at his home here.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The August meeting of the Wellington Women's Institute was held August 16th in the town hall with a large attendance. The hall was attractive with large baskets of flowers and the table beautifully draped. The meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. R. Ellis, with Mrs. Helen Harris, secretary, and Mrs. Norman Foster, pianist. The meeting opened in the usual way. The roll call was answered by each giving a favorite poem of Mrs. Anderson, whose birthday the meeting celebrated.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Helen Harris and Mrs. Edna Platt. Following business discussions, Mrs. Crawford, a summer visitor here, was called on to show her display of buttons. This was very interesting to the members present. Then followed an interview with Mrs. Anderson, who replied to questions concerning her United Empire Loyalist heritage, and her years of teaching. Mrs. Platt in a brief address read a beautiful poem. At the close, Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. Anderson were presented with beautiful flowers. Both expressed their thanks for the gift and for the pleasant meeting. In the social hour refreshments of cake and ice cream were served. Mrs. Anderson cut the birthday cake.

Premier's Action In Barring Papers Called 'Small'

EDMONTON (CP) — W. J. C. Kirby, Progressive Conservative lawyer from Red Deer, said Friday Premier Manning's decision to bar Alberta's two largest newspapers from his press conferences appeared to be a "petty form of retaliation to gratify personal pique."

Speaking in the throne speech debate in the Alberta legislature, he said the premier's action "is an insidious but none the less obvious attempt to stifle free discussion of public affairs and of government personalities and policies."

Mr. Kirby, president of the Alberta Progressive Conservative Association, continued: "It (the action) indicates a state of mind which is foreign to true democracy — a state of mind which cannot tolerate criticism, ridicule or scorn."

NOT PERMITTED

The Edmonton Journal and Calgary Herald have not been permitted to attend press conferences called by Mr. Manning since the June 29 general election which saw the Social Credit forces cut to 37 from 49. Both newspapers took an anti-Social Credit stand during the campaign.

Referring to the Accurate News and Information Act passed in 1937 and subsequently ruled ultra vires of the legislature, Mr. Kirby said the Social Credit government was responsible for the "most calculated and far-reaching plan to curb the freedom of the press ever attempted in a Commonwealth legislature outside the Union of South Africa."

WILL PRESS

VICTORIA (CP)—Premier Bennett said Thursday the British Columbia government will press for a national health scheme, financed by the federal and provincial governments, at the October Dominion-provincial conference. B.C. is prepared, financially, to enter such a scheme "forthwith," he said.

Best wishes from Mayor Both were extended to 32 Boy Scouts from Belleville and district prior to their departure for Niagara-on-the-Lake and the Scout Jamboree. The Scouts with their leader, John Rankin, shown shaking hands with Mayor Both on the city hall steps were shown through the various city hall departments on Wednesday, visited the Northern Electric plant and the Trem Air Station before leaving for the Jamboree on Thursday morning. Sixteen of the Scouts are from Belleville and the remainder from other points in the county.

British Contractors Lured to Canada By Glitter of Seaway Disappointed

By ROBERT RICE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—British contractors, lured to Canada by the glitter of the St. Lawrence seaway, are disappointed—but not desperate.

In the main, they admit they have not grabbed the big building plums they hoped to get, and have lowered their sights accordingly.

Only one of the 15-odd British contractors in Canada has won a contract for the mammoth seaway project. Sir Robert McAlpine and Sons was awarded the $1,500,000 job of laying 11 miles of railway trestle for the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario.

STIFF COMPETITION

The other firms are consolidating their positions with an eye to the future rather than leaping—possibly prematurely and unprofitably—into the keenly competitive seaway market.

One British contractor says competition in Canada is "desperately keen." Canadian and American rivals, solidly entrenched on the spot, are better able to tackle the multi-million dollar tasks on the seaway, because they can act together in bidding for the large jobs.

In contrast, British firms are often not ready to take the costly chance of possible error in trying for the giant contracts.

Yet there is still a large field for British contractors in other industrial and engineering projects, and British firms are expected to be slow but growing strong in the work.

Taylor Woodrow, builder of Britain's first atomic power station, has won a £2,500,000 contract for the largest private residential project in Canada, at Toronto. Another firm, Sir Lindsay Parkinson, with offices in Montreal, has picked up $3,000,000 worth of work on sewers and bridges.

EDMONTON CONTRACT.—Rush and Tomkins Ltd. is doing building work valued at another $3,000,000 in Edmonton.

In Vancouver, John Laing Sons Ltd. has a $6,000,000 contract for office building. John Laing also is carrying out the tremendous industrial project of Anacis Island in British Columbia.

Most of the British firms went to Canada two years ago. Since then there has been a trickle of other contractors jumping the Atlantic, but one British observer says the saturation point may now have been reached.

A treasury spokesman says the general policy is to encourage overseas investment with dollar authorizations whenever possible in Britain's dollar-scarce economy. The Canadian contracts, added to other jobs by British firms elsewhere in the world, have kept British constructional activity at about the same high level, first reached in the early years after the Second World War.

THROWN FROM BUGGY

LAGRANGE, Ind. (AP)—Mrs. Susan Wickey, 58, was killed when a runaway horse threw her from her buggy on a road near here Thursday. Mrs. Wickey was Amish, a Mennonite sect many of whose members disapprove of power-driven vehicles and many other devices.

Canadian Girl Gets Film Part After Long Pull

By SYLVIA HACK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Canadian teenager Dagmar Eberts pinched herself daily for a week when she learned she had landed her first film part.

"But getting up at five in the morning to be on the film set at seven soon convinced me it was no dream," said the 17-year-old blonde, formerly of Montreal.

The tall lass who describes herself as ambitious and determined doesn't even talk in her small role in "All for Mary."

"But it's a start," says Dagmar whose passion for thoroughness has led her through the Sadler's Wells ballet school, the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art, volunteer cabaret singing three or four times a week and a spot of modelling. She's well satisfied to appear in a few scenes in the garb of the glamorous artist—just to let the public know of my existence."

In London since 1948, Dagmar has only a touch left of her Canadian accent—"I find it difficult to believe I'm really a Canadian sometimes"—and lives in the arty Chelsea district.

"I'm well assimilated. I stop around in jeans and a shirt when I'm not working frequenting coffee bars like the majority of the Chelseaites. I even sing hill-billy and calypso numbers in one with a bit of persuasion."

She normally wears no makeup except lipstick offstage, and makes her own clothes when she has time. One of her creations, a red silk model, was so successful she was asked to wear it in the film.

Dagmar started ballet lessons at 12, but halfway through decided to become an actress.

"Thoroughness is the thing," she says. "So I stayed at the ballet school until I was 16. I was offered a role with the opera ballet team but I turned it down."

Instead, she took off for two months through France and Spain, garnering six proposals of marriage en route, including one from a father of eight who introduced her all round.

She turned to modelling on her return—her sister Sara had been one of the top London models—and was accepted by audition for the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art last New Year's Day. She anticipates no easy road to the top. The rugged repertory route will prove "some real stage experience," she expects. Then, perhaps the West End—"If I'm good enough."

Going Places

The Motorist's 'Big Brother'

By SHIRLEY AND BOB SLOANE

The great North American phenomenon of auto touring has given birth to so many more little phenomena from air-conditioned autos through drive-in motels, and trailers to roadside zebra farms—that it's kept us busy writing about it for more than three years now.

But of all these things, nothing is more characteristic of the national passion for organized comfort and convenience than the oldest, best known, and most comprehensive of all the phenomena, the auto clubs. And to most people "auto club" means AAA—the American Automobile Association.

For the past 53 years the AAA has been big brother to all its little motorists. For its approximately 4,000,000 members (and many more who aren't members) it has labored for better roads and the elimination of traffic ticket racketeering; changed our flat tires and hauled us out of the mud; advised us where to sleep and eat on the road and warned us where not to; paid our bail and gone to court for us when we were nailed out of state; plotted our trips, given us maps, made our hotel reservations, sold us insurance, and sometimes even financed our cars.

In fact, in anything to do with going places by car, the AAA has been motorist to motorist.

INDEPENDENT CLUBS

Actually, the AAA is not one big club, but an affiliation of local, more or less independent, clubs with different services and fees, held together by a Washington headquarters which exists for the convenience and coordination of the local clubs' facilities. It is responsible for such things as supplying uniform maps and supervising recommendations.

Membership in a local affiliate is usually $3 for initiation and an annual fee of $15 a year for dues. It may or may not include your wife and kids, which is something to look into before joining.

For this you get, basically, a list of all the clubs, a list of garages authorized to perform emergency road service under uniform terms, an accident insurance policy paying up to $5,000, and if you ever need it, bail should you be arrested as a result of an accident not stemming from irresponsible driving.

The latter, incidentally, is considered by many seasoned drivers to be the most valuable of all the services, in itself well worth the dues. Few casual travelers realize it, but if you are tagged out of state and can't raise bond, you may actually languish in jail until your trial comes up.

Youth for Christ Holds Wiener Roast, Service

Approximately 100 young people gathered to enjoy a wiener roast at Point Anne, the weather being perfect for the gala occasion.

The first part of the evening was devoted to swimming and games under the supervision of Y.F.C. president Ernie Belch. Following this, the young people from Kingston, Madoc, Holloway, Rednersville, Brighton, Plainfield, Marysville and Belleville, enjoyed a most delicious repast of toasted wieners, marshmallows and ice cold drinks.

A fitting conclusion to the evening of fun and fellowship was the surrounding of the bonfire on the shore of beautiful Bay of Quinte when the young people of many denominations gathered to pay tribute in song and testimony to the goodness of God.

WORSHIP SERVICE

The worship service opened with the singing of many lively choruses such as "He Lives," "Rolled Away," and other familiar songs led by Mr. Carl Green. Accompanying Mr. Green were Miss Louise Harris on the accordion; Art and Elmer Davidson with the guitar and mandolin and Fred Futers on the guitar.

The ladies trio from Alliance Tabernacle consisting of Miss Eleanor Buragon, Miss Dorothy Atyeo and Miss Ruth Britnell, rendered two beautiful numbers in song entitled "I Stand Amazed in the Presence of Jesus, the Nazarene," and "Then I Met Jesus."

Mr. Bob Piesbles of Albert College, led in prayer.

Mr. Jim Blackwood, Youth for Christ Director of Bowmanville, and speaker for the evening, chose as his text, Hebrews 2:3, "How shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation?"

He brought the young peoples' attention to the need of making that all important decision that of following the Lord Jesus Christ. He went on to say that "we make decisions everyday of our life in the home and at work but we neglect to make the most important decision of our entire life, one that doesn't govern time, but one that governs all of eternity, that of accepting the lowly Nazarene. "Behold, now is the accepted time. Behold, now is the day of salvation."

The service closed with the invitation in song "Just as I am Without one Plea."

Members Tummon Family Honor Parents at Foxboro

Although their actual anniversary is not until October, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Tummon of Foxboro, were pleasantly surprised recently when all members of their family gathered at the Tummon home to honor their parents.

On October 12th, Mr. and Mrs. Tummon will have been married 40 years.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Tummon are natives of the Tweed district, the bride of 40 years being the former Ethel Finley. The Tummons moved to Foxboro 15 years ago where they operate their farm on No. 14 Highway just west of the village.

They are members of Foxboro United Church, where Mr. Tummon has been a faithful member of the church choir. Mr. Tummon was former MP for South Hastings from 1925 to 1935 and was secretary of the Ontario Hog Producers for several years. The family gathering at the Tummon farm took place following the Elliott family reunion at Tweed earlier in the month. The family presented their father and mother with two lawn chairs, a radio, hymnary and a concordance to the Bible. Mr. and Mrs. Tummon were taken entirely by surprise.

Present at the anniversary party were: Mr. and Mrs. Tummon and Jim, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tummon and family of Alliston; Mr. and Mrs. "Tip" Tummon and family, Collingwood; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tummon and family, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Teddy Thompson and family, Eridale; Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Prever and family, RCAF Station MacDonalda, Manitoba.

Rawdon

RAWDON.—Mr. Jack McEathron attended the funeral of his father, Mr. B. McEathron at Heron United church, on Sunday, August 14. A former pastor, the Rev. Simon Brunson conducted the service.

Mr. McEathron was 93 years of age, and the week previous he visited Mr. and Mrs. James Menzies, Union Road, Rawdon, where he was a former pastor. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Trear, Ellen, John and Elizabeth Rawdon and Miss Lily Maitland.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Flagler and John of Rosemore were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sid Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Mowat Sine attended the funeral of their son-in-law, Mr. J. Sine, at the Belleville General Hospital on Thursday, August 11th, for X-rays and observation tests.

Mr. Jack Hutchison and son of one Branch, spent a few days with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scott, at Wellman's.

Miss Lily Maitland, Prince Edward, spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. James Menzies.

"CONNIE" LEAVES WRACKAGE. The heavy sale on Saturday accompanied by a heavy deluge of rain, made local conditions quite difficult for the heavy trucks that were out on the road.

The heavy rain was a boon to pastures and gardens and was exactly what the country needed. The streets were a mess, broke off limbs, broke down debris, glads and other flowers and the countryside is strewn with leaves, boughs and debris.

The folks on the Amos line were without hydro for five hours beginning at 3:25 p.m. Many farmers used tractors for milking and a lot of folks ate a cold supper (and that included the writer).

However all were thankful the storm was no worse. The rain beat in windows, doors and soaked in every crack and cranny, which marred wallpaper, paint and drapes and left a few spots to remember the event.

Several large trees were broken down along the Carmel road and on concession roads. The lights at 8:25 p.m. were greatly enjoyed after a bout with the coal oil lamp. Telephones were out of order many places till late Sunday, however a few were restored to working order on Sunday forenoon.

VACATION SCHOOL. Rawdon circuit vacation school is scheduled for August 22 to 26 at Mount Pleasant United Church and hall. The Rev. and Mrs. W. G. Fletcher, Allen and Janet expect to return from their holidays at the end of the week. It is expected that the services on the circuit will resume on Sunday, August 21, after a lapse of four holiday Sundays.

Should Study Japan's Floral Art

By Flora M. SAVILLE

While selecting books from a publisher's display recently I noticed a book on flower arrangement. It was an English book with beautiful color plates. All of the pictures contained an over-lavish use of flowers, three or four arrangements and must have been taken from the Victorian era. Today we have changed our tastes to more simple lines, in clothing, home furnishings and flower arrangements.

In Japan and China flower arrangement is an art. If we study their rules we will improve our own skill and develop a sense of balance in line and color.

In the sixth century Japan adopted the art of flower arrangement from China. It became part of their way of life. Rich and poor had to learn and practice the rigid forms prescribed. Girls practiced and studied the art at school and it was part of the daily duty in the home to make proper flower arrangements.

Only certain plants were allowed, and the pattern always followed the natural growth of the plant. The aim was to make it appear as if it were still growing in its natural form. The low or vase represented the earth, the water the surface of the soil from which the plant springs. The flowers were not considered the feature of the arrangement, but part of the plant.

BASIC MOTIF. Heaven, man and earth, the basic motif of all Japanese arrangements, was not established until the 17th century, when the art came to its height. Heaven, the tallest branch, must curve upward with its tip directly over its base. Its height must be one and one-half times the height of the vase.

Earth, the lowest branch, must be horizontal. Its length must be half the length of heaven; earth is half the length of man and has a lateral curve away from man.

Through long practice the student gained great skill in bending branches. Each arrangement is symbolic. Often the black wind-blown tree will be the motif, suggesting winter. Summer is represented by a wide, open-water arrangement and spring by wind-tossed, bud-filled branches.

Our love of mass and color is being tempered. We are learning to apply the simplicity of line of the Japanese, and so doing are finding increasing satisfaction in making flower pictures for our homes.

LIVING FLOWERS. Ike-nana means the creation of "living flowers." For this, not only must the plant material seem to grow naturally, but the supports must also seem natural. The receptacle must be part of the flower piece. Black, dark green, moss green, maroon, soft blue, the earth colors, and gray are good choices for vases and bowls. The form should be simple. Ornate shapes will not be used.

Frogs, or pin-point holders used for supports should be hidden with interesting stones, or foliage.

The material we should copy nature. The highest point should be light in weight and color. A partly opened bud, or a piece of branch with fine foliage will do. Lower down the colors will deepen and their size increase. Thus, the biggest, darkest flowers will be placed at the lowest point. The true artist learns all the rules, then breaks them, to discover new effects.

Wellington. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Pearen, of Niagara, were guests on Wednesday of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Post.

Mrs. Arthur Hargreave and grandson, Timmy Myall of Toronto, are spending this week with Mrs. Phae's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Ogilvy.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bond and boys were guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bond, on Sunday.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. John Watt and family in the death of his mother, Mrs. Gordon Clarke, Bloomfield.

Mr. Tom Nash will accompany Scouts Eddy Vandusen, Darrell Morgan, Dale Ellis and Ronald Snider the Boy Scout jamboree held in Niagara Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Carver and son, Peter, are occupying one of the Stoneburg cottages for the next three weeks.

Among the guests who attended the Scott-McMahon wedding held in Belleville on Saturday were: Mr. and Mrs. Doug Watt, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Baitley, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Chappel, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Tice, Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Don Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ogilvy, Mr. and Mrs. William Yandl, Mr. and Mrs. Doug McFaul and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Snider, Miss Vera Pyne and Mr. and Mrs. Jack McNeill.

The rain and wind on Saturday last caused considerable damage to the hydro and telephone lines. Many trees were uprooted all over the village. The hydro men, Mr. Ralph MacDonald and Mr. Vernon MacDonald, were kept busy all Saturday night trying to clear up lines. The bingo sponsored by the Legion was postponed until a future date, also the pie and ice cream social sponsored by the St. Andrew's Guild.

Miss Mona Peirson and her sister, Miss June Peirson entertained at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Helen Lane of Madoc, formerly of Wellington.

Miss Ida McFaul is enjoying a motor trip through the Muskoka district with her niece, Mrs. Cleo Colling of Belleville.

After spending the past several weeks with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William Yandl, Little Paul Guernsey has returned to his home in West Lake.

Dr. and Mrs. Ray Bennett and Mr. Kraber, of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania (who flew in his own private plane and landed at Picton) spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Will Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Herz of Buffalo, New York, Miss Joan Moore and friends, Toronto, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Moore.

Little David Bridgen had the misfortune to have one tooth knocked out and a cut lip which while practicing on the ball diamond with the Pee Wees on Monday evening.

SLAYS FAMILY. NEW DELHI (AP) — Newspaper reports today said a police inspector in India's Uttar Pradesh state shot and killed his eight children and himself in a bloody climax to a family quarrel.

The inspector was touched off when the slaying beat his wife after the oldest child, a 15-year-old girl, intervened, and the father then killed all the children before shooting himself.

West Huntingdon

WEST HUNTINGDON — The community was grateful to Hurricane Connie for not making an extended visit. The rain accompanying the hurricane delayed the stook threshing, but otherwise was of great benefit. The threshing is continuing this week.

The services in the United Church are being well attended this far in August. The Endeavour Sunday School Class had charge last Sunday. Mr. Phillip Carr gave the sermon and Mrs. Frank Hammond told the children's story.

The scripture lesson was read by Mr. Mac Searles. Mr. Russell Silts conducted the reading of the psalm. Mrs. William Pitt, Mr. and Mrs. John Laisson rendered duets.

Mr. Alex McCurdy offered prayer, next Sunday the W. M. S. will have the service and Mrs. John Wallace will be the special speaker.

Sarah and Arthur Wilson were guests of Mrs. H. H. Spratt at the Old Homestead, Lake St. Peter, Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Mumby, Bonarlaw, were tea hour guests of Mr. and Mrs. Goldie McInroy Sunday evening.

A number from here and Eggleston attended the afternoon service in the Fuller United Church Sunday last. Mr. H. H. Spratt at the former minister, the Rev. Boyd Beckel.

Mrs. William Grant sang a solo by request. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Beckel were entertained at Mr. H. H. Spratt's home.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barry, Oshawa, spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Mac Searles.

The Vacation Bible School which is being held in St. Andrews Church here this week is being well attended. Much credit is due Miss Muriel Craig, who is the director with Miss Beverly Kerick as assistant while Miss Craig is conducting another school at Moira.

A number of the Sunday school workers of the area are also helping. Miss Kreick is the guest of Mrs. John Wallace this week. Miss Marilyn Fitchett is the pianist for the school.

Mrs. Sandy McCurdy and Joan, Belleville, and Miss Sarah Wilson attended a troupe tea in honor of Miss Helen Lane, bride-to-be, at the home of her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. J. F. Laine, Madoc, on Saturday.

Cottage prayer meeting was held Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex McCurdy with Mr. George Jarvis conducting the discussion.

Mr. and Mrs. William Fitchett and Marilyn were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carman Dafeo, Carleton Place, on Sunday.

Many from the community attended Belleville Fair this week.

Allisonville. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Sheppard, of Pennsylvania, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wood were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mrs. Eliza Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hobbs and family were Sunday callers at the home of Messrs. Charles and Arnold McFaul.

Miss Edith McFaul was a guest Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob McFaul and family.

Dr. H. J. Barlow, Edmonton, Alberta, spent Friday as a guest at the home of his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Warner McFaul, Mary, Ellen and Emerson.

Miss Mary Ellen McFaul is spending two weeks of her vacation at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Barlow, at Bonarlaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Warner McFaul and family were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Broadworth, Bonarlaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob McFaul and family are enjoying TV.

Two Chemicals Kill Wild Oats

WINNIPEG (CP) — Two new chemicals, known as IPC and CIPC, have won the first round in the battle of science against wild oats, the toughest and costliest weed. The two chemicals, no longer considered experimental, will be recommended for sale to farmers by the western section of the National Weed Committee.

The effect of the chemicals against wild oats was shown recently at the field crops and field day of the University of Manitoba.

George Friesen, research assistant in charge of weed control in the university's plant science department, spoke to groups of 500 visitors, mostly farmers, about the experiments in controlling wild oats.

Mr. Friesen pointed out five plots where sugar beets, peas, soybeans, sunflowers and rape seed were growing alongside a check plot of wild oats. He said application of four to six pounds of an acre of IPC was doing a good job on the plots demonstrated.

SEVERAL ON TRIAL. He explained the chemical is useful only in row crops. It is worked into the soil before seeds are planted. At the rate of four pounds to the acre, treatment costs $10 an acre.

Among several other new experimental chemicals now on trial at the university, DAA was described as "a herb-killing chemical."

Mr. Friesen pointed out a plot where DAA was applied at the rate of three pounds an acre. It took out wild oats but left barley and flax unimpaired.

He named the chemicals TCA, PDU, and CMU. Of these PDU impressed southern Manitoba's growers of corn for canning. Applied after the corn is planted but where the corn emerges, it controls several weeds effectively.

The research assistant said he hopes chemicals will control wild oats in the ground to a depth of two or three inches in the top soil. Further down, he said, control is unlikely because the chemical becomes too diluted.

MINING TOWN

Winter may bring as much as 20 feet of snow to Murdochville, a new copper-mining town in Quebec, Gaspé peninsula. The town, on the site of Gaspé Copper Mines Ltd., rich mineral deposits, now has a population of 2,000 but expects to grow to 4,000 in a couple of years. The winter scene shows a section of the town with its new homes and multiple dwellings. About a mile distant is the mine and plant of the copper company. (CP Photo).

Murdochville, Site of Great Copper Mine, Being Rapidly Developed Into Model Town

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

MURDOCHVILLE, Que. (CP)—What sort of place is this new town of Murdochville, population 2,000, which copper has built in the heart of Quebec's Gaspé peninsula?

For answer listen to some of the people who saw it grow.

Says John Metz, manager of Gaspé Copper Mines:

"These mountains have the worst bush anywhere for the prospector—rugged, hard to get through, thick and full of deadfalls."

That was Murdochville at the start.

BUNKHOUSE BANK

Miss Joyce Dow, pretty, blonde bank teller:

"When I came here in April, 1952 our bank was in a bunkhouse. The men were certainly surprised when I walked in. Otherwise there were 10 houses and a mudhole."

That was Murdochville a little later.

Says Father Allard, parish priest:

"In 1933 I baptized one child; in 1934 I baptized 26. By far this year I have baptized 24."

That is Murdochville today—the children, the young couples, the new houses and the cars in the driveways.

EVERYTHING NEW

A mile away from the homes is Needle mountain, laden with copper ore, and the big mine buildings; and all around are the evidences of the $40,000,000 spent to bring mine and town into being.

The town, at about 1,600- to 1,900-foot elevation, is ringed on three sides by mountains which rise about 1,000 feet above it, and to the south looks down a long valley through farther wooded mountain ranges.

Its streets are wide, its buildings laid out in neat blocks and it has all modern services.

But as yet it is new, gashed out of the wilds, every bit of cover bulldozed off to avoid fire hazard, the harshness of its raw earth relieved only by great splashes of purple fire weed.

To see its real beauty you have to feel the thrill of something new being created and look ahead to the time when people and living will have made homes and gardens out of houses and building lots.

HOUSES MULTIPLY

Already a landscaping project is under way to bring in topsoil, grass seed, sod, ornamental trees, and the first green lawns are struggling into being.

More than 100 houses have been built, mainly in duplex and multiple form to provide some 300 family units—most of them built by Gaspé Copper Mines and renting for $30, $40 and $50 a month.

Now, however, 15 new houses are being built by private contract for private sale and $50 or more may be up before the year-end. These may be bought for $41 a month including taxes, with interest rates reduced through arrangement of the Quebec government and with $30 of the total applying against capital.

Six hundred men still live in bunkhouses, pay $215 a day for food and lodging, and visit their homes in various Gaspé communities on week ends. Dining rooms, operated by Crawley and McCann Co. Ltd., are open around the clock, serving first breakfast at 5:40 a.m. and last supper at midnight.

COMMUNITY SPIRIT

For amusement there is skiing, with ski-tow, and toboggan slides for children, and next winter there will be curling. There is a recreation association, a large recreation building, badminton, softball, dancing, bridge clubs and a modern motion picture theatre, opened in June.

A recently-formed chamber of commerce is headed by Dr. S. H. Knox, head of Murdochville's 19-knot hospital, Boy Scout and Girl Guide organizations are active.

The Canadian Legion has its own building and has been a leader in all community activities. One of its current projects, with co-operation of Gaspé Copper Mines, is to provide x-ray examination for every woman and child, rounding out the company's x-ray of all employees.

The Catholic church has a fine new parish hall in which services are held, and the United and Anglican churches plan a joint Protestant church, meantime holding services in the town's recreation building.

Nearly 200 children, mostly in lower-age groups, attend a temporary school.

MANY FACILITIES

For shopping there are a department store, several clothing stores, grocery stores, a five cents to $1 store, hardware, drug and jewelry stores. There is a bank, post office, dairy and large gasoline service station.

The privately owned Copper Mountain hotel, which cost $250,000 to build, provides a social centre for both residents and visitors. It has a spacious lobby, a swank cocktail room named the Bonfire lounge after a rich grade of copper ore, and a large dining room which becomes a dance floor on Saturday nights, with soft music by the Copper Kings, a local talent band.

Murdochville was incorporated as a town July 8, 1953, and has a mayor and four councillors appointed by the government for five years or until such time as community integration justifies an election.

Emil Duhamel, manager of the Murdochville branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, is mayor and R. J. McKenna is town superintendent.

Getting in and out of Murdochville is time-consuming and roundabout unless you have a car, and nearly every one seems to have one.

With a car you have hundreds of miles of Gaspé's scenic splendour within reach, but the gravel roads leading to the coasts are hard on tires. Fishing is within easier reach.

RUGGED TERRITORY

The weather opens its full bag of tricks from the moody Gulf of St. Lawrence and follows little pattern. Winter may bring 20 feet of snow but the temperature rarely falls below 10 degrees above zero. Snow, says John B. Watts, chief mining engineer, "is one reason why we keep $2,500,000 worth of items in our mine storehouse. We have to be self-sufficient."

Unlike most of Canada's new towns the airplane had little to do with Murdochville's establishment. Early temporary roads, followed by today's highways, brought it within trucking distance. Nearest rail point is the town of Gaspé, 62 miles away. Nearest water-shipping point is Mont Louis, 90 miles away.

MODERN PIONEERS

Among the new town's memories: Hectic days of bulldozers throwing up stumps left by loggers and flare-throaters burning up the brush.

Jeeps and cars dashing about the construction jobs to give the town its first law-enforcement problem.

Constable Guy Buckley, down from Montreal West, putting an end to the problem with heavy fines.

Otherwise little disorder, few fights—only an odd case of "too many for the road" and a night in a comfortable room in a bunkhouse which constitutes the town jail.

HELP ONE ANOTHER

Summing up, Gabriel Bernard, 1952 law graduate of Laval university, who triples as town secretary-treasurer, notary and justice of the peace, says:

"The problems have been those of a new town, but there is great co-operation and the people help one another."

Summing up further, Mrs. Vincent Capeless, who came from Timmins, Ont., with her husband in 1952, and who looks back to living in a shack and carrying her own water, commented:

"Perhaps it's the pioneer spirit, but it has been a great experience I wouldn't have missed. A place is what you make it. If you want to make it miserable it will be miserable. If you want to make it your home you will be happy."

Economic Future Views Differ

GENEVA PARK, Ont. (CP)—Is Canada's economic future bright or dreary?

Thursday night two experts presented opposing views on question of "western" economy and Canada's in particular.

J. E. Parkinson, who directs economic policy in the federal finance department, said the country has recovered all the ground lost during 1954, "and some more besides."

W. A. Lewis, dean of the faculty of economics and political science at the University of Manchester, said a major depression threatens within three years unless large-scale housing developments are fostered.

The two men were speaking at a conference sponsored by the Canadian Institute on Public Affairs and the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Arctic Scouts Say Dog Sleds Are Smoother

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont. (CP)—Eight quiet-spoken Arctic boys agreed Fri. that dog sleds may be slower than planes and trains but they give a smoother ride.

"Trains," said Canadian Indian scout Andrew Stewart, 15, of Akavik, N.W.T., "are tough and hard to sleep in."

"They move this way," he said in an interview, waving his arm from right to left. "Airplanes" "Oh, the same as the train, only they go this way," waving the arm up and down.

Leader of the 1st Akavik Scout Troop, he and the Akavik boys had just arrived from Calgary where last weekend they joined the Alberta contingent to the eighth world scout jamboree, opening here Saturday.

It is their first trip into civilization.

Some of the boys earned money for their Edmonton-Niagara return train fare by trapping muskrats last winter, others had their money supplemented by missionary organizations. All were transported free of charge from the Arctic to Edmonton by an airplane flying the route and will be returned by air at an oil company's expense.

TIME OUT OVER

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (AP)—After a two month "time out" for new arms, the world's biggest clock started rolling again Wednesday. The huge clock, with a 50-foot diameter, has been perched atop the Colgate Palmolive Co. plant here for 31 years. Ferry riders and residents of lower Manhattan across the Hudson river count on it for accurate time by day and night.

Gaspé's Economy Greatly Stimulated By New Mine's $60,000 Weekly Payroll

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

MURDOCHVILLE, Que. (CP)—Murdochville is not just a new town—it is a revolution in the way of life of a sizeable chunk of Canada.

Its copper mine, plant and town-site have opened up the interior of Quebec's Gaspé peninsula, a picturesque country whose traditional life has hugged its coasts in seasonal occupations of fishing, woodcutting, small farming, handicrafts and catering to tourists.

Says Emil Duhamel, manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia in Murdochville and the town's mayor:

"Gaspé's economy is being changed entirely. Steady work, replacing the days of a little fishing, a little work on the road, other work here and there, but always with idle time."

"Farmers, hitherto with limited outlet for their produce, are increasing production and building up their herds. New business is being provided for wholesalers as far away as Montreal, Mont Joli and even Rimouski, 187 miles distant."

STRENGTHENS WIDE AREA

To cite two items alone: Some 8,000 quarts of milk are trucked into Murdochville daily from Matane, 128 miles, along with butter, eggs and ice cream; and some 1,600 gallons of gasoline are trucked in daily from the town of Gaspé, 62 miles.

Initially, over the last four years, the spending of $40,000,000 by Gaspé Copper Mines Ltd., to establish Murdochville and its mine sent a surge of new life and business around the Gaspé coast and up the lower reaches of the St. Lawrence.

Now, with the mine in production, 600 men are commuting on week ends to their coastal communities and taking with them a large share of the mine's $60,000 weekly payroll.

Business men in Murdochville would like to see more of that money stay at home, and undoubtedly more of it will as miners establish homes here, but whatever happens it will continue a mighty stimulant for the whole area.

It is money for food, clothing, gasoline, cars, electrical equipment, sports goods, amusement, advanced education—everything that goes into a higher standard of living.

BOOMING TOWNS

Murdochville itself has only started to build and it, as is expected, its population increases from 2,000 to 4,000 and perhaps beyond that, it offers markets for lumber, building supplies of all kinds, home furnishings, more food, more clothing.

Mont Louis, on the Gaspé coast 30 miles north of Murdochville, is becoming a handsome port town for incoming waterborne supplies and inter for outgoing copper. To supply the Murdochville smelter it has new oil-storage installation for 225,000 barrels of bunker oil and a new federal-government pier.

Power lines carrying electricity from the north shore of the St. Lawrence for the smelter will also carry power for the peninsula at large, hitherto power-deficient.

This power," says H. G. Brissenden, assistant manager of Gaspé Copper Mines, "is bound to bring in its train a host of other operations."

CUMULATIVE EFFECTS

Business builds business and large industry opens opportunities for smaller industry, and perhaps more important to the Gaspé than the more obvious effect of Murdochville will be the cumulative effect within its already established economy.

Even without Murdochville, Gaspé had felt the pulse-beat of Canada-wide growth, though it felt it had less than its share.

Year after year broad highways have been thrown across its coasts and are being continually improved so that once-isolated communities, dependent on boats in the summer and horses along the beach in winter, have been connected with one another and the outside world. Only about 50 miles of the coastal highway remain to be paved and completion of this is expected to greatly boost tourist travel.

Gaspesia Sulphite Company, subsidiary of Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Co. Ltd., has a newsprint industry at Chandler, on the south coast; Nouvelle, also in the south, ships limestone to New Brunswick; many timber and pulpwood companies are active and other industries have been springing up.

CONQUERING ISOLATION

But Murdochville gave the big push and an interior population centre.

Even with Murdochville, Gaspé's mountainous and wooded interior is barely penetrated. But the way has been opened, 27 miles of highway from the north shore and 62 miles from the east, leading into the town.

Further east, a highway from Ste. Anne Des Monts on the north to New Richmond on the south will shortly bisect the peninsula.

Still further east, on the outskirts of the peninsula, the main highway runs from Mont Joli to Matapédia and into New Brunswick, and midway along it at Causapasc, a 60-mile private timber line makes another ingress into the peninsula. An extension of about 50 miles would connect it with the Ste. Anne Des Monts road.

The 62-mile Gaspé-Murdochville road extends about another 20 miles into the interior to Lake Madeleine and from there the route of the power transmission line offers further transportation possibilities, perhaps with jeep.

Prospectors, hitherto faced with almost inaccessible terrain, are being given better opportunities to follow highways and to fan out through the bush.

EXPANDING PROSPECT

Few think that the 67,000,000 tons of ore in Murdochville's Needle mountain, huge as it is, is all there is to the copper story.

Surface indications give hope for oil. One unsuccessful well has been drilled near Murdochville. Another well is planned. Several other mining companies have programs at various stages, with copper, lead, zinc, silver and gold in mind.

If some of these hopes are fulfilled Murdochville may become a much bigger town than now anticipated, and other inland communities may arise.

The stimulus is not only commercial. School attendance has

Fires on Girl With Air Rifle

TORONTO (CP)—Police told a man who opened fire with an air rifle on a 12-year-old girl who jumped on the bumper of his car Thursday night was arrested and charged with assault and wounding.

They said John Adams, 38, fired the shots after the girl had been warned to stay away from the vehicle, parked in a parking lane-way.

Sandra Woodburn was taken to her home suffering from a leg wound and a bruise on the abdomen, police said. Officers continued the air gun.

stepped up as roads and communications have overcome difficulties of isolation.

A call to higher education is perhaps one of the biggest opportunities and challenges of Gaspé Copper Mines, a highly-mechanized operation with a continuing demand for well-educated and well-trained workers.

Murdochville is also becoming a social centre, with couples flocking from miles around to attend its Saturday night dances and other functions. Almost half the large attendance at the Canadian Legion's New Year's party was from outside districts and towns.

In all its phases Murdochville is the story of resources of mine, power and forests drawing populations into Canada's wilderness, establishing prosperous communities and sending new wealth and employment throughout the country.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By JACK C. CARSON

(Manager, Belleville Bata Senior Baseball Club)

BASEBALL IN BELLEVILLE

First of all a look at the senior picture. Last year the Belleville Baseball Association enjoyed its most successful season. At the end of the season the senior Belleville Bats were declared co-champions with Oakville, due to Hurricane Hazel completely disrupting the final series.

Early in February of this year this writer endeavored to re-organize the old COB to no avail. Letters to Smith's Falls, Brockville, Kingston, Peterborough and Watertown, N.Y., indicated these centres were not interested in playing senior baseball with Belleville. I then wrote the Viaduct League and also the West Toronto League to see if they would be interested in playing baseball here. These illustrious leagues did not even have the courtesy to answer my letters. This was the thanks Belleville received after paying the Toronto team's expenses for the 1954 season, which incidentally cost $975.00. I then contacted the Lakeshore Intermediate League to see if Belleville might play in that league until the OBA playoff time; but this league had already passed a motion to allow only intermediate teams to play in their league.

Only after all this correspondence did the executive then decide that a senior team for 1955 would have to be abandoned. The senior players were then advised to try and line up with other teams in the district so as to keep their hand in for next year if we are able to find a league which will accept us.

It is my opinion that a senior team is a necessity in Belleville. My reason being that after the Belleville Baseball Association Minor Division has started boys at 10 years of age to play baseball and brought them through pee-wees, bantam, midget, juvenile and finally junior, which thanks to Paul Haggis we have this year, these boys have set their sights on finally graduating to senior teams. This is their goal from the first time they don a glove until they eventually make the senior ball club.

It is to the unsung heroes, the managers and coaches of all the minor division teams in the city that I am most proud and happy to have been associated with since the revival of baseball in Belleville since the war. If it had not been for these gentlemen, who seldom get their names in print, it would have been a small part I have played next to impossible. For proof of this you have to look no farther than last year's roster, where practically every member was a graduate of the Belleville Association minors.

Finally, I would like to thank the baseball fans of the city for their loyal support of the senior ball team last year and close with the hope that the 1956 season will again see a senior ball team in Belleville.

WHO'S RIGHT?

Several different accounts of Tuesday's baseball game between Picton and Belleville have reached this department. Kelleher and several of his players stated that Picton were late starting, again leading to "no decision," while the Picton Gazette accuses Kelleher of telling his boys to stall when Picton was ahead.

"Red" Doran, league secretary, was present and claims that the game started on time. This may be true and we are not trying to alibi for the Juniors. Nevertheless, Picton was never on time for a game here this season. Had they arrived here early enough for the second playoff game, the Juniors would likely be in the finals now.

Kelleher's boys were in front when darkness halted activities — the game being played over with the Juniors winning again. Unofficially, Belleville won two games while Picton took one and the other ended in a tie.

Scanning the line score from Picton, we can't see why the final game should be called a tie. The city boys scored six runs in the top of the fifth and Picton came back with one, leaving the Juniors in front 6-4 to open the sixth. Picton scored three runs in this frame but since the inning was not completed, the score should have reverted to the fifth.

Johnny Mowatt figures to clip the high-flying Lightfoots in their final series. Mowatt has a smart, young crew working for him with Art Wright throwing beautiful ball and Johnny ready to enter the fray when needed.

The two clubs split, each team winning twice during the schedule and the four-of-seven finals should provide some good ball. First game is scheduled for Wellington on Tuesday at 6:00 p.m., and the second in "Little Spain" on Wednesday.

Defeats Newcombe of Brooks To Match Record of Winning 20 in Six Consecutive Years

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Yes, there is a National League. Robin Roberts pitched it back into the headlines Friday night—moving the American League race into the shadows for the moment—as he matched the record of four modern-era baseball immortals by winning 20 games in six consecutive seasons.

To do it, the Philadelphia ace out-dueled Brooklyn's big Don Newcombe for the second time in six days, beating the league-leader Dodger 3-2.

Only Lefty Grove, Christy Mathewson, Walter Johnson and Mordecai (Three Finger) Brown—all Hall-of-Famers—had managed the six-year success since 1900.

The battle between Roberts and Newcombe (18-4) at Philadelphia and its record-equalling climax took the play from the American League scrap, which remained unchanged as all four contenders won.

YANKS STILL TOPS

New York Yankees maintained a full game lead over Chicago and Cleveland by whipping Baltimore 8-0 behind Whitey Ford's two-hitter. White Sox stayed three percentage points up on Cleveland by defeating Detroit 3-0 while Indians went 11 innings to edge Kansas City 2-1.

Boston, still 3½ games shy, walked Washington 8-0.

Roberts, the meticulous right-hander who, as is his custom, fiddled with his bitches between pitches, combined his usual control with tight fielding support and some luck to win No. 20. He walked only one, but gave seven hits—Roy Campanella's 27th home run—before he pitched his double play to hold Brooklyn's lead to 2-0 going into the eighth.

NEWK GAVE WAY

Then Newcombe, beaten by the same score by Roberts last Sunday, gave way. After checking Philis on two hits and retiring 15 men in order, the Dodger right-hander was smacked for singles by Eddie Waitkus, Jim Greengrass and Andy Seminick and his lead was trimmed to 2-1.

In the ninth, Newk didn't even get a man out and enabled the tying run to score on his own throwing error. Then Willie Jones laced a single to left, driving in the winning run and handing Newk, who didn't walk a batter, his fourth loss in a row.

The 28-year-old Roberts, who came up in 1948 and since 1950 has won 20-21-23 and 23, made it tough all around for Newcombe. The Dodger ace, a hitter in his own right, fanned twice.

Yankees bombed Baltimore with home runs by Gil McDougald and Mickey Mantle for a 2-0 lead in the first.

WALKED SEVEN

Ford, winning his 15th and handing Orioles their 20th shutout, walked seven.

Billy Pierce brought White Sox home safe, holding Tigers on six hits while striking out six. Tigers now are 10½ games behind.

Indians stayed on pace as Don Mossi and Ray Narleski made the day. Mossi relieved Mike Garcia with none out and runners on third and first in the 11th. He fanned Harry Simpson. Narleski then fanned Hec Lopez and got Jim Fanning on a force out to end As' threat. Hal Naragon's lead - off single against reliever Tom Gorman and pinch singles by Ralph Kiner and Dale Mitchell won it.

BROKE UP DUEL

Sammy White got Red Sox rolling with a sixth-inning homer that broke up Frank Sullivan's duel with Bob Porterfield. Sullivan won his 15th as the Sox got four in the seventh off Porterfield and three in the eighth off Dean Stone.

In the other National League games, Del Crandall and Hank Aaron each slugged two-run homers as Milwaukee beat Chicago 7-0 and moved to within 13 games of Brooklyn; Vern Law held on against homers by Willie Mays (38) and Johnny Antonelli and Pittsburgh

WINS YACHT OPENER
TORONTO (CP)—Denbeigh Taylor of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, Toronto, skipped his six-metre yacht Bibis to victory Friday in the opening race of the three-day George Cup competition.

Taylor had to bring Bibis from behind to win over Stork, skippered by Gerry Castle of Rochester, N.Y.

The tiny Windsor native was in command throughout most of the game as he won his 10th game against six losses. He gave up five scattered hits and struck out 13 Terriers. Twice he struck out the side.

Galt scored both runs in the third inning when Dumouchelle gave up two walks, hit a batter and threw a two-run single to rightfielder Bill Bowman. The side was struck out also.

Elgins blasted lefty Don Lumley for 11 hits as they scored two runs in the second—both scoring on shortstop Herm Mason's homer—and one in each of the third, seventh and eighth.

called to beat New York Giants 8-3. Cincinnati spotted St. Louis three runs in the first before Johnny Klippstein choked off the spree in relief to win 7-5 behind homers by Gus Bell and Wally Post.

Tempestuous Bolt Loses Temper And His Caddy

WESTON, Ont. (CP) — Tempestuous Tommy Bolt lost his temper and his caddy—Friday.

The fiery black-haired golfer from Chattanooga, Tenn., playing in the third round of the Canadian open championship, watched his caddy walk out on him after the 12th hole. An unemployed caddy, following the match, took over from there.

There was no fuss or loud talk. The caddy, who declined to give his name, told a reporter that Bolt had "given me hell all day."

"I need the money but not that badly," he said.

The break came after Bolt had shanked two shots on the 475-yard par-five 12th and got down for a par. The caddy simply walked up to Bolt, told him he had "had it" and walked off.

Bolt at that time was two under. He ended with a three-under 69.

WINS YACHT OPENER
TORONTO (CP)—Denbeigh Taylor of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, Toronto, skipped his six-metre yacht Bibis to victory Friday in the opening race of the three-day George Cup competition.

Taylor had to bring Bibis from behind to win over Stork, skippered by Gerry Castle of Rochester, N.Y.

The tiny Windsor native was in command throughout most of the game as he won his 10th game against six losses. He gave up five scattered hits and struck out 13 Terriers. Twice he struck out the side.

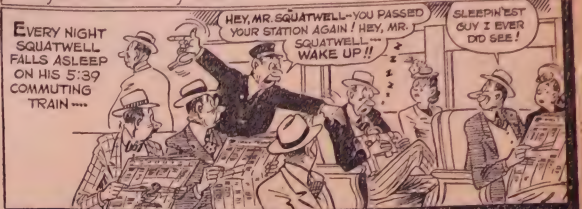

Galt scored both runs in the third inning when Dumouchelle gave up two walks, hit a batter and threw a two-run single to rightfielder Bill Bowman. The side was struck out also.

Elgins blasted lefty Don Lumley for 11 hits as they scored two runs in the second—both scoring on shortstop Herm Mason's homer—and one in each of the third, seventh and eighth.

called to beat New York Giants 8-3. Cincinnati spotted St. Louis three runs in the first before Johnny Klippstein choked off the spree in relief to win 7-5 behind homers by Gus Bell and Wally Post.

Canadian Aquatic Records Take Unmerciful Beating

By LEE EUSTACE

Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — American swim stars, not denying the record-shattering performances of native athletes, have pounced unmercifully on the Canadian aquatic record book and in the process set a new world mark.

A starry quartet from the Walter Reed Hospital Swim Club in Washington, D.C. turned the big trick Friday night in the senior women's 200-yard medley relay as the second finals session of the three-day Canadian swimming and diving championships drew to a close.

The team—Dorothy Gray, Shelley Mann, Wanda Werner and Mary Jane Sears—shattered their own world mark of 4:32.5 with a time of 4:30.5.

A total of 10 records were set Friday, joining 11 new Canadian marks established Thursday. Americans have set 14 of these, including the world record.

Frankie Brunelle of Philadelphia and Helen Stewart of Vancouver are singled out as the individual stars of the meet which concludes today at the McGill University Memorial pool, again with heats in the afternoon and finals at night.

Young Brunelle came through with four record-breaking performances while Miss Stewart set three new marks.

Friday, Brunelle smashed the Canadian record for the junior men's 100-yard back stroke and butterfly events to add to his performances Thursday in the junior men's 100-yard freestyle and senior men's 400-yard medley swim.

He clocked the back stroke in 1:02.6—the old mark was 1:03.7—the old record in 1:03.1—the old record was 1:04.9.

Frank completed the freestyle in the record-breaking time of 33.9 and set a new mark of 4:54.4 in the medley swim.

SET RECORDS
The Vancouver girl established new times in the junior women's 100-yard breast stroke and freestyle events Friday and in the 200-yard medley swim Thursday.

Her time for the breast stroke was 1:19.8, bettering the old record of 1:19.8, and she took the freestyle in 33.9, beating the old time of 1:00.3. The medley swim she completed in 2:33.1.

The double winners included

Charles Stagman of Cincinnati, Shelley Mann and the Ontario section "A" junior women's relay team of the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association.

Stagman and Miss Mann set their record Thursday. Stagman won the senior men's 1,650 freestyle in 19:42.3, chopping 29 seconds off the old record, and took the 200-yard butterfly in 2:21.4, wiping out the previous record of 2:23.4.

IN RECORD TIME
Miss Mann won the senior women's 100-yard freestyle and 200-yard medley events in record time. She finished the freestyle in 58.8 against the previous mark of 1:00.3 and the medley swim in 2:26.4 against 2:51.2.

The Ontario relay team won the 400-yard medley Friday in 4:51.2 to beat the old record of 5:18.4 and swam to victory in the 400-yard freestyle Thursday in 3:16.4 to beat the previous record of 4:20.7.

Dougie Gray came up with one of Friday's standout individual performances in winning the senior women's 400-yard freestyle. She swam the distance in 5:09.5, chopping 23.5 seconds off the previous Canadian record.

Friday several Ontario competitors placed among the first three in various races.

Palmer Shooting for Big Money With Five-Stroke Lead Over Big Field in Canadian Open

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WESTON ONT. (CP)—Arnold Palmer, who abdicated the United States amateur golf title to try his luck with the professionals, has a golden opportunity today to win his first money prize.

With a five-stroke lead over the field, a fair-size blow-up by Arnold seemed about the only thing that could keep him from taking the $15,000 Canadian Open, a turbulent tournament already churned up with ducking spectators who have become shot targets, a hole-in-one and the most fearful par-beating this Toronto suburban course has ever taken.

In addition, spurs has been added by one-day wonders. But all have been eclipsed by the magic weaved by the 25-year-old liner.

The Latrobe, Pa., golfer took his big margin into the final 18 holes with a third-round eight-under-par 64 Friday. Coupled with his 64-67 in the opening rounds, his total is an almost incredible 135—21 strokes under par for the three rounds and lowest 54-hole score ever carded in the 46-year history of the tournament.

CAN EQUAL MARK

Palmer needs a 68 today to equal a 263 Canadian Open record set by a namesake, Johnny Palmer of Baden, N.C., who established the mark three years ago over the St. Charles layout at Winnipeg.

Among those missing today will be defending champion Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon who has been bothered most of the week by the flu. He managed a two-under 70 Friday to follow up 75-73 rounds for a 218 total.

Qualifiers include Stan Leonard of Vancouver who leads the Canadian contingent with 207. Scotty Fraser of Panama City, Fla., the leading amateur with 209, and Jerry Barber of Los Angeles, Cal., who shot a hole-in-one in the first round. He was 11 strokes off the pace Friday with 208.

"If I'm good enough again, playing like I have been I can win it," Palmer said. "If I'm not good enough I won't, and that's all there is to it."

WOULD NOT AGREE

One diebeliever in this piece of logic probably would be Jack Burke, Jr., the handsome sportsman from Kiamisha Lake, N.Y. He went into Friday's round two strokes behind Palmer, fashioned a neat 67 on a string of three and four and fell back another three strokes.

Two strokes behind Burke with 202 are Fred Hawkins, St. Andrews, Ill., and Art Wall, Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa. Bolt is another stroke behind at 203.

This would be a horrible time for Palmer to blow but all indications are that he will step up smartly and take the $2,400 prize money when the post-tournament ceremonies start about 5 p.m. EDT. Any respectable sub-par round would assure him the big pot.

Spectators were the only casualties of the third round. Three were toppled and each time the well-meaning Palmer got a break, and he overdrove the 185-yard 15th, his ball struck a spectator on the forehead, but without serious results, and the ball stopped on the green.

His second shot on the 16th hit another spectator and again the ball bounced just off the green. His drive on the 17th hit a man standing on the edge of the fairway and hopped back to give him a good lie. The par-four 18th was a little different. He was on in two, 15 feet from the cup. His putt was dead on, the ball went in but bounced out to rob him of a birdie.

Forty-six of Friday's 102 starters shot 20 or better, making 217 the qualifying score for today's fourth round. That is one over regulation figures for 54 holes, which is some shucks for any bigtime tournament.

Robinson Must Pay $2,500 Before Fight

CHICAGO (AP)—A sum of $2,500 stands between Sugar Ray Robinson and his middleweight title fight with champion Bobo Olson in Chicago Stadium Nov. 4.

That's the money Lou Radzinski of the Illinois athletic commission says that Robinson is reported to owe to fight promoter Sam Silverman and the Callahan Athletic Club of Boston.

The sum represents losses allegedly incurred by Silverman and the Callahan Athletic Club when Robinson withdrew from a scheduled March 5 bout with George Small," said Radzinski.

Robinson has been suspended in Massachusetts. The Illinois athletic commission has upheld the ban and ruled that Robinson must clear himself with the Massachusetts athletic commission before he can fight Olson here.

Wes Santee Gets Another Crack At 4-Min. Mile

TORONTO (CP)—Wes Santee is convinced he will someday run the mile in under four minutes—and today could be that someday.

The United States' No. 1 miler runs this afternoon in a special race featuring Santee, Fred Dwyer of the U.S. Army and Gordon Pirie of England.

The race is part of the fourth annual Legion day track and field meet and soccer competition at Varsity Stadium.

Santee would not predict outright that he will break the four-minute barrier today. But, if he didn't do it at Varsity, well, he'd do it eventually.

SNAPPED FINGERS

"I don't see any reason to believe I shouldn't do it," the ex-Kansas University star now serving at the Quantico marine base in Virginia, said. "I'm improving, training methods are improving. I missed by half a second in Texas. You know how much half a second is?" He snapped his fingers.

Dwyer, who split victories with Santee and Gunnar Nielsen in three big mile events of the last winter season on the U.S. circuit, wasn't as positive as Santee about the four-minute mile.

"I'm hopeful," he said, "that I will do it eventually. I'm 24, but I don't think I have the physique of a 24-year-old. I think my best run will come."

NOT A MILER

Pirie, who trounced Santee over the mile in 1953, dismissed himself as a miler in the Santee-Dwyer class.

"I'm a six-miler," he said, "and a three-miler. But you can't run six miles every day in the week, so I run the mile occasionally and the half mile sometimes."

Weather for today's race will favor the 23-year-old Santee. He's used to hot, humid weather. The temperature was 90 when he ran his fastest mile, 4:00.6.

Today's forecast calls for a sunny and hot day with a high of 95, due about the time of the race—2:09 p.m. EDT.

Creighton Wins In 12 Frames

SUBBURY (CP)—Creighton Indians scored in the top half of the 12th inning here Friday night for a 5-4 victory over Copper Cliff Redmen and a 1-0 lead in the Nickel Belt Senior Baseball League semi-final.

Johnny Hreljak, who came in relief in the fifth inning, got the Indians out of four jams. He had 12 strikes out.

The score was tied 4-4 in the fifth inning by Copper Cliff from there the game was a pitcher's duel between Hreljak and Copper Cliff relief pitcher Willie Bennett who finally walked home the winning run.

Point Anne Edges Frankford 4-3, Meets Orfuns in Titular Series

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Following the same pattern as the first two games by scoring the deciding tally in the bottom of the ninth, Point Anne edged the Frankford Merchants 4-3 last night to capture their softball semi-finals two games to one. They will now meet the Belleville Orfuns for the league championship.

The series was a hard fought battle and last night's game was no exception. The Merchants got off to a good start with a pair of runs in the initial frame and added another in the top of the fourth while Radnor held the Commodore.

The winners finally hit the score sheet with a trio in the bottom of the fourth for a 3-2 tie until the bottom of the ninth.

Fry Cooke speared Elliott's line drive for the first out of the frame but then bobbled Gilmore's ground ball to put what proved to be the winning tally on base. Bob Hull stroked a double to left centre, the lead runner taking third and with Gerry Goyer stepping to the plate, coach Carl Austin ordered him walked to fill the sacks. His strategy backfired however when Jack Wade drove a ball deep to centre to throw near-perfect ball the rest of the way. Only two of the last 18 men he faced reached first base, those on walks in the eighth and ninth innings. Pat nipped two on strikes and was charged with only the two base-on-balls.

Doug Radnor opened at a terrific clip for the losers and was unbeatable in the early innings. He allowed eight hits while whiffing one batter and passing six.

Pat Maracle came up with a fine performance on the hill for Point Anne, allowing seven hits in the first four frames but settling down to throw near-perfect ball the rest of the way. Only two of the last 18 men he faced reached first base, those on walks in the eighth and ninth innings. Pat nipped two on strikes and was charged with only the two base-on-balls.

Doug Radnor opened at a terrific clip for the losers and was unbeatable in the early innings. He allowed eight hits while whiffing one batter and passing six.

Line-ups: Frankford: Dafeo, Cosgrove, Cooke, B. Rankin, Austin, Wickson, G. Gilmore, Leavitt, Radnor, Point Anne: Elliott, P. Gilmore, Hull, Goyer, Wade, Mulholland, Green, Bennett, Maracle.

Electric Generator Newest Fishing Gadget in Britain

By ARCH MACKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—An electric generator is the latest gadget in British angling gear.

Not everybody is rushing to add one to traditional tackle, but the technique certainly gets results.

It is welcomed strictly as a means to an end—that of clearing undesirable denizens from trout streams. It is just one of a number of measures to provide more and better fresh-water angling for the country's fishermen, estimated between 2,000,000 and 4,000,000.

SIMPLE AND EFFECTIVE

The generator method is simple and effective. Two electrified nets are slung over the side of the boat bearing the generator, and the current lures the fish from yards around.

Eels, pike, perch and other enemies of fruitful trout propagation are sorted out. The trout and salmon netted are heaved back.

This season's warm, sunny weather has indicated the true pressure on existing angling grounds, particularly in the seven home counties around London and in southern England.

"It would be difficult to find a single stretch of water in the home counties that has not already been looked by an angling club," says an official of the Kent river board.

"I don't have a bar to go further afield to cater to all their members."

Rivers have been cleared of weeds and other obstructions in an effort to increase fish resources, depleted by the post-war boom in the sport. Counties, particularly Essex and Kent, have larger-scale restocking under way.

TROUT ADDED

Kent has added trout to four streams, promising to bring the sporty battler within reach of anglers who could not otherwise afford to stalk them on the expensive chalk streams of the south or north.

Essex had a 50-per-cent hatch of salmon for the River Stour, and authorities expect at least some to survive the migration to the sea.

Thousands of Thames anglers are conducting a "better fish" quiz for the Federation of Thames Angling Associations.

A three-mile stretch of the river, which abounds in comparatively sluggish coarse fish, has been selected between Caversham and Sonning. Marked fish are being set free, and anglers will be asked to notify the proper authorities when they are recaptured.

Pollution is one of the bugbears to anglers everywhere in this heavily industrialized country. Latest example is a case on the River Trent, near Nottingham, where an unknown poison killed fish in a 10-mile stretch of the river.

Offending industrial firms can be fined heavily for such pollution.

Gardnar Mulloy In Semi-Finals Of Tennis Tourney

TORONTO (CP)—For a noon-hour player well past what is considered the age of athletic prime, Gardnar Mulloy is holding his own well.

The lawyer from Denver, Col., belied his 44 years Friday with an accomplished 6-3, 6-0, 6-3 victory over Toronto's Jim Bentley to move into the men's singles semi-final at the Ontario International tennis championships here.

I play tennis in my noon-hours now," the touch-travelled veteran said. "It's tough on your tennis when you're up against men who are playing all the time, but I can still win more often than I lose."

Mulloy is top-seeded here and is still fourth-ranked American player. He has been within the top nine in the United States for the last 16 years.

PLAY BETTER

"My father taught me to play tennis when I was 10," he said, "but I never liked the game until he took me to a match and I figured I could play better than they could."

The drawing University of Miami graduate teaches Canadian champion Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., today, and is favored to take the fourth-seeded Canadian Davis cupper.

Bedard has faced Mulloy five times and has yet to take a set from the men's champion.

Mulloy and his employer, Bud Robineau, who left the rained-out national doubles tournament at Boston to come here, faced poorly played men's doubles Friday, lost Stan Griffin of Toronto.

"I'm a doubles player," Mulloy said. "I've won 6-2, 6-2, 6-0 in a listless match."

Bedard moved into the semi-finals by slaying sender John Swann of Vancouver 6-2, 6-2, 6-0 in a listless match.

Top-seeded Sara Mae Turber, blonde housewife from Evansville, Ind., took an error-filled 6-4, 6-3 win from 30-year-old Miriam Riney of Quebec, today, and moved into the finals in women's play against second-ranked Louise Brown.

In women's doubles quarter-finals Pat Longton, Toronto, and Inge Weber, Kitchener, defeated Siegfried Back, Barbara, and Josie Smith, Toronto, 6-3, 6-4.

Cooke dropped Mulholland's pop-up on the outfield grass and the fielder raced all the way to third. This sparked the Commodore and John Green beat out an infield roller for their first hit, scoring one run. Bennett lined a double down the right field line and Jack Elliott drove in both runners with another two-bagger. The winners picked up one hit each in return from then on but were unable to score until the final frame.

Six of the winners' eight hits were doubles. Bob Hull and Phil Bennett each getting two while Gerry Goyer and Elliott had one. John Green helped with two singles. Ross Dafeo poked a brace of singles in defeat with Austin tripping. Singles went to Ramon, Wickson, Gilmore and Radnor.

Line score—R H E Frankford 200 100 000—3 7 3 Point Anne 000 300 001—4 8 2

But while Nelson has been the who's who of the Montreal area, Jim Williams, the Royal left-fielder, has quietly established himself as the league's outstanding lead-off man, and represents the stiffest challenge to Nelson's swash of hitting honors.

Williams slammed out three hits in Montreal's 8-2 conquest of Columbus Friday night to lift his average to .344. His first-pitch home run to open the game got him makes off to a lead they never relinquished.

The blow was Williams' 12th roundtripper. He added his sixth triple later in the contest and already tops the league with 34 two-baggers.

Lefty Tom LaSorda coasted to his sixth triumph behind the 15-hit Royal attack, but the Montrealers picked up no ground on Toronto, which downed last place Richmond 4-1 behind Jack Crimian's four-hit pitching.

Bobby Miccolotta's par of three-baggers led Syracuse to a 4-3 10-inning victory over Buffalo.

A masterful nine-inning relief stint by Emilio Cueche of Havana downed Rochester 8-5.

Whipper Watson Gets Mad, Easily Disposes of Gallagher; Midgets Again Draw Raves

By GARRY ALEXANDER

"Doc" Gallagher proved himself a pretty rugged customer last night in the weekly wrestling card here, pretty rugged that is, while he's on the delivering end of the punishment.

Oh, but the "Doc" was tough. He gouged beautifully, strangled with little or no effort at all and handed out kidney punches while yanking hair as neatly as could be expected. But wait, his opponent, the one and only Whipper Billy Watson, is fighting back.

How's this for you? You gonna let Mr. Watson use "unlabeled" holds as the corkscrew, broadarm licks, bodyslams and headlocks? Well, that's a different story for the "up to last night undefeated Gallagher."

What a shame now he can't win if that little man in the white suit is allowing the opposition to fight back.

Yet folks that's the way she went last night when the Whip took two falls out of three from one Doc named Gallagher.

The big, bad Doc went right to work on our hero at the opening bell and made things plenty tough for a while. He pounded and backed away until low and behold the Whip got mad. Actually we should have warned the Doc what would happen if this kind of stuff kept up, but it's too late now.

Watson retaliated aplenty after taking about nine minutes of the rough-house action. He handed Gallagher a wee bit of his own treatment, smiled happily at the thought of below 100 temperature again and promptly turned the Doc's arm into a live pretzel with his arm-bending corkscrew and walked off with the first fall in ten minutes.

But still our "friend" hadn't worked it into his thick skull that a man can only stand so much and suddenly, as the Crew Cuts would say, Shuboom. He returned to his usual style in the second fall and begged if our belief in clear sportsmanship didn't falter for a minute when referee Sammy Goddard lifted the Gallagher arm. He had just mauled the Whip into a state of weakness (heaving from the heat) and applied the neck-stretch rendering our hero "non de combat" for the second fall.

Gallagher noticed a new weapon at hand as the third fall opened, the ropes. So he hammered the Whip, dragged him to said ropes and ever so roughly dragged his eyeballs across them. Then, but oh, then, he had a brilliant idea. It seems the Doc wasn't exactly buddy-buddy with Mr. Goddard so why not kill two birds with one stone. He grabbed one of each of our ram-ram arms and began their happy little leads together. Down they went. But here we have a moral to our story: "When at first you succeed, don't try again." For by this time the Whip had revised and before yours truly could say G.H.C., picked up the beefy one, smacked him down on his big red back and walked off with the fall and the match. Mr. Goddard, not pleased with the bump on his noggin lost no time in uttering those immortal words, one, two, three, and lifting high the Whipper's arm.

UP TO USUAL TRICKS

The midgets were up to their usual tricks as the Brown Panther and his sidekick Tiny Tim, subbing for Little Beaver, wrestled 30 minutes to a draw with Tom Thumb and Fuzzy Cupid.

Plenty of weird action here as the Panther used his head as a battering ram in fine Prince Malava style, all four used the referee's toy bridge to walk, run or climb upon and Fuzzie and pal put into action as many dirty tricks as any of the big boys.

They continued the battle even after the midgets had been thrown out of the ring.

Sammy Goddard pinned Firpo Zyzko in twenty minutes but the towering, bald and bar-handled, mustached giant gave him quite a going over first.

It was a good card in all with a surprisingly large crowd sweating through it all.

SWIMS STRAIT

TARIFA, Spain (AP)—Spanish swimmer Jaime Cortazar, 25, swam the Strait of Gibraltar Thursday. He started at Punta Marroquí, Spain, and swam slightly more than 22 miles to reach the African coast at Punta Leone in 8 hours, 24 minutes.

There was a possibility of thunder showers here at 8:30 p.m. MST. At Regina, action starts at 7 p.m. MDT and a heat wave with 90-degree temperatures was expected to continue.

In Monday night games Edmonton is at Winnipeg, while Stampeders open the Vancouver season against British Columbia Lions, who won only one game in WIFU play last season.

Eight of the five teams will play 16 games, eight of them at home, by October 29. The two-game, total-season series starts on November 5 and the best-of-three finals on Remembrance Day.

INVITE YANKEES

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Yankees have been invited to make a goodwill trip to Japan, similar to that taken by the Giants two years ago, and there's a good chance they will accept.

No final decision has been made, a Yankee spokesman said.

You are generally lavish in expenditure of energy when interested or sympathetic is aroused. Be sure it is directed to worthy sources. Satisfaction in a job well done is your true reward.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo) —

Your ruling planet promises benefic rewards. Particularly favored are daily business, educational matters, civic and family interests. News in the sports world likely.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) —

Accent your even-tempered disposition. Irritating tendencies can be offset by judicious maneuvering, calm procedure. Avoid gossip and the unambitious.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) —

Step out, bringing in to play your keen judgment, intensity of purpose, economical outlook. Don't let opportunity look pass you. Neither waste talent on wrong objectives.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) —

Auspicious influences to spur on you enterprising Sagittarians. Though you are prone to economize on time and energy, make even better use of minutes. Success is ahead.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) —

Cherish friends as you would rare jewels. They stand by you when the occasion demands. Divert energies from non-essentials. Formulate an improved and workable program.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) —

A day for careful planning and execution of priority items. In p.m. sensible and not-too-strenuous exercise suggested. Social and community affairs, romance favored.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) —

Don't anticipate trouble. Surely everyone has to face it, but don't look for it. Move ahead with confidence. Accent your personality. Seek only wholesome entertainment.

You born today: You were born on the cusp of the Zodiacal Signs Leo and Virgo. Leo was waning.

Virgo in ascendency. You have most traits from Leo, a few from Virgo. Outstanding: personableness, willingness to work hard for what you believe right, vigorous activity, and, yes, at times stubbornness. You love home, good friends, and associates dearly, yet often with those who you wish to humiliate to battle, find fault. When we compliment a person on a good turn, and busy ourselves during free hours with the thought of helping those in need, we do best. Leave no time for irritation. Birthday of Claude Debussy, famous Fr. Music composer; Samuel P. Langley, pioneer airplane construction engineer.

LITTLE GIRL HAS FOX FOR PET

A mild-mannered fox is the playmate of four-year-old Martha Horwath of Peterborough, Ont. The animal wandered into Martha's backyard two months ago and she gave him a good meal. So brother just stayed around where he didn't have to work for his dinner. (Central Press Canadian).

Solunar Notes

The Handwriting on the Wall

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT (Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Solunar Tables)

As stated in my news story of August 14th, my son, Dick, spent most of May and June in Florida, gathering material for magazine articles, taking pictures, and looking over the fishing in the southern part of the state.

Both he and I have been quite familiar with the fishing in Florida since the winter of 1948-49. Dick lived in Miami for three of those years and he is familiar with the entire southern part of the state. As I have said before, Florida is one of the nation's playgrounds. Thus, the conduct of affairs in the state is a matter of national interest insofar as the outdoors is concerned. Dick's report on the trend of Florida fishing is not a pleasant one, but it is a frank and honest statement of conditions as he found them. Here it is:

Pier Five, one of the most famous fishing Meccas in the state of Florida, was crowded with the usual five o'clock crowd of sight-seers watching the charter boats come home to roost.

Finding myself a vantage point, I stood and watched the catches as they hit the dock. This was the high point of the outside fishing, the month of June. Dolphins are in, sail are active, and scattered amberjack and bonito keep the charter-boat angler busy all day.

FISHING POOR

Three sail fish were brought into the pier that evening. One by any standards, was a presentable fish, suitable for mounting. The other two were minnows—about twenty pounds apiece. Five small amberjack and a few dolphin in another boat, a few scattered fish in the rest, and that was the story. After the pictures were taken and the lies were told and the tourists departed, I walked over to one of the skippers and, nodding at one of the little sail left lying on the pier, asked him:

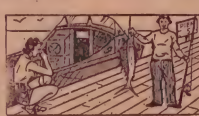

"He glanced up at me with a cynical look on his face. "Ever hear of good advertising, bud? This is the only walk-on pier in Miami. The rest you get your bookings from a central agency. The more fish we lay out here, the busier we stay."

"Finding sail a little tough to get these days," I queried. "Tough!" he exploded. "Sure it's tough! We get fish, but they aren't like they were a few years ago."

When I asked him about putting fish back, he blew up. "What are you, a wise guy? Why should I put fish back—not that I don't want to—when every other skipper here hangs his fish up to draw the sports? You see, these guys to agree to putting them back and you'd be a genius!"

Over on the west coast of Florida, things are as bad or worse. During my stay in the Ten Thousand Islands district, I saw something I still cannot understand. The owner of the camp at which I stayed, a man whose very existence is dependent on the number of fishing dollars he draws into his place each year, fished every morning, using live mullet and never getting a bite. He and his wife would boat from six to twelve large snook-fish running from twelve to twenty-five pounds. These were taken to the local fish house and sold. At twelve cents a pound the monetary return was small.

The day of my departure, I went to the dock where my motor was stored. There, lying in the sun with a heavy concentration of flies hovering about it, was a twenty-four pound snook. The dock owner, who is also a guide, came out as I was admiring it.

"Nice one, ain't he? You want him?" When I asked why the fish had not been put back if he had no use for him, he looked startled. "Put for?"

And so, he rots in the sun.

CRUSADERS DISLIKED

You know, crusaders are, as a general rule, disliked. In this case, I couldn't care less. When dollars and cents have to enter sports fishing, it is one sorry state of affairs. No longer is it possible to catch big snapper and grouper in the average hot-spot—once was in the Keys. Skin diving and even professional fishermen learn, either by education, legislation, or downright experience, that every fish taken is one less to catch the next time. The fishing will not improve. Until "keep what you need to eat and put the rest back" becomes the byword, south Florida fishing will stay in its present doldrums. I hope they wake up in time.

CHARGE CLERK

LONDON (AP) - Police Friday charged an 18-year-old clerk with the murder on the 14th of April in bludgeoning of 46-year-old Mrs. Elizabeth Curran on a suburban golf course. The accused man is Michael Queripel, an employee of the municipal council at Barnet.

Believe me or not, something must be done. The sports and professional fishermen learn, either by education, legislation, or downright experience, that every fish taken is one less to catch the next time. The fishing will not improve. Until "keep what you need to eat and put the rest back" becomes the byword, south Florida fishing will stay in its present doldrums. I hope they wake up in time.

It is an unfortunate thing, but there is a strong feeling of commercialism attached to salt-water angling in Florida. Even the weekend angler, with his private boat, is an authority on what species are bringing the most money at the fish houses. By selling their catches at inflated figures, they manage to pay, in part, the cost of their expenditures.

Over on the west coast of Florida, things are as bad or worse. During my stay in the Ten Thousand Islands district, I saw something I still cannot understand. The owner of the camp at which I stayed, a man whose very existence is dependent on the number of fishing dollars he draws into his place each year, fished every morning, using live mullet and never getting a bite. Shellettes Oust
Air Force Girls,
Will Meet Madoc

Leo Lucicola's Belleville Shellettes carried the right to meet Madoc for the OASA Eastern Ontario women's championship last night by defeating the RCAF lassies 3-6 at the Alameda Field. The Shellettes took the series two games to none with one game tied and clash with Madoc on the latter's diamond Monday evening. Game is under the lights at 8:00 p.m.

The winners scored four runs in the second frame last night to take a 5-1 lead and sailed away to the decision with another pair in the third. RCAF came to life in the ninth to score three runs but the city crew hung on for the decision.

Linda Wag was all the way again for the Shellettes, allowing 10 safe hits while striking out three. Her control was perfect with nary a batter drawing a free pass. Thomas and King shared mound duties in defeat, between them tagged for 15 hits, whiffing two and walking three.

The complete Belleville team participated in the hitting spree. Carolyn Baker spearheaded the attack with three singles, while Eunice Summers and Sandra Shick crashed a double and single each. Mary Ann Ray, Rita Harder and Helen Reeves each collected a brace of singles, while Shirley Fox doubled. Singles went to Lois Batchelor and Linda Wag.

J. Mansell was tops in a losing effort with a home run and single. King and S. Mansell poled a pair of one-baggers each.

The losers committed a trio of errors while the Shellettes misused twice.

Lester Patrick
Ready to Quit
Hockey Scene

VICTORIA (CP)—Lester Patrick (22-year-old son of the great Patrick family of hockey, is expected to sever active connection with Victoria Cougars of the Western Hockey League, a club official said Friday.

Patrick, former head of New York Rangers of the National Hockey League, is the major stockholder in Cougars. Fred Hutchinson, general manager of the Victoria club, said Patrick is completing a deal whereby his sons Lynn and Murray will take over control of Cougars along with Hutchinson. Patrick himself declined comment.

Both Murray (Muzz) and Lynn Patrick are managers of NHL teams. Muzz has Lester's old job as head of the New York club and Lynn heads Boston Bruins.

Oh, I see! This bunker jumper is swinging with a long iron—about a No. 2. The ball is positioned slightly forward of center, perhaps an inch. The club should take the ball just after the bottom of the arc of the swing. And that's true with all long irons—1, 2, 3. With more lofted irons—4, 5, 6 etc., the more open the stance should be and the closer the heels should be together. The more lofted the iron, the shorter the club shaft, so you should stand nearer to the ball. The shorter the shaft the more upright the swing. And the shorter the club—the shorter the backswing. If the highly lofted irons Nos. 6, 7, 8, 9 are correctly swung you inevitably take some divot because the ball is played a bit before center, near the heel of the club. The clubhead does not reach the low point in the arc of the swing until just after clubhead meets the ball. Then a divot has to happen. And, if you're in place the divot. I might be in place the foursome behind you. (Copyright 1955, by John F. Dille Co.)

CRUSADERS DISLIKED

You know, crusaders are, as a general rule, disliked. In this case, I couldn't care less. When dollars and cents have to enter sports fishing, it is one sorry state of affairs. No longer is it possible to catch big snapper and grouper in the average hot-spot—once was in the Keys. Skin diving and even professional fishermen learn, either by education, legislation, or downright experience, that every fish taken is one less to catch the next time. The fishing will not improve. Until "keep what you need to eat and put the rest back" becomes the byword, south Florida fishing will stay in its present doldrums. I hope they wake up in time.

Ebbets Field
To Be Sold
At End of 1957

NEW YORK (AP) - President Walter O'Malley of Brooklyn Dodgers and Mayor Robert Wagner went into conference today and on the result could hinge the future fate of the Brocks.

Dodgers are going to play seven home games in Jersey City next season and that announcement whipped city officials into action. They know O'Malley means business in his efforts to have a new field with adequate parking facilities built for Dodgers.

Before entering the mayor's chamber, O'Malley stoked more fuel on the fire by revealing that Ebbets Field will be sold at the end of the 1957 season.

"That means," he said, "we'll play 77 home games somewhere in 1958. I hope we'll play them in Brooklyn if things move fast enough."

Jet Engine Repair Job for Specialists

High precision is keynote of work being done at jet engine repair plant. So delicate are some of the pieces of mechanism that technicians must scrub up and wear rubber gloves, surgeon-fashion, before beginning operations. Here an inspector examines surface of turbine shaft roller bearings.

Porcupine-like compressor stator blades are checked for flaws. With temperatures of 1100° C. in jet engine combustion chamber, intense heat and carbon take their toll of even strongest metals. Canadian jet engines now on the drawing board will be built of heat-resisting titanium metal.

The whining jet engines that send the RCAF's swept-wing Sabres punching through upper atmosphere at near-sonic speeds are complex labyrinths of pipes, miles of wiring, thousands of delicately-machined parts. Engines must be kept at top operational efficiency, since the intense heat and carbon take their roll of even the strongest metals. Today, in a sprawling jet engine hospital at Toronto's Downsview airport, Sabre engines are overhauled with speed and efficiency. Here, carbon is blown off high precision rotor blades with a jet of crushed walnut husks.

National Film Board Photos by Car Lunney

Welding damaged tail cone of engine. Engines are shipped to Downsview plant in sealed caskets, their inner workings subjected to "black light" rays to search out minute cracks and heat-developed flaws. Repaired engines are given exhaustive operating tests to meet exacting RCAF flight standards.

Compressor rotor from jet engine is lowered into test pit where it is spun at 9100 r.p.m.'s to ensure all rotor blades being secure. Downsview engine hospital is part of a network of gas-turbine assembly plants which have added self-sufficiency to Canada's burgeoning jet aircraft industry.

Police Training School Asked By Association

SUDBURY (CP)—A shooting in Toronto which indirectly took two lives came under discussion here Friday at the annual convention of the Police Association of Ontario.

Out of the debate came a resolution asking the association's legislative committee to study the establishment of a compulsory police training school.

Delegates unanimously agreed that it should be necessary for police officers to attend and qualify at this school before they are allowed to take up active police duties.

The association also voted to seek assistance of the Ontario Chief Constables Association to further the proposal.

DEATH TOLL IN NORTH AFRICA NEAR 1,000

U.S. Flood Toll Climbs Steadily, 300 Dead, Missing

Hundred Parrots Tear Their Way To Fig Feast

PALERMO, Sicily (Reuters) — Wealthy aristocrat Salvo Lauricella watched in amazement Saturday as 100 of his parrots tore at his wire cage with powerful beaks, opened a large hole and fluttered off to freedom in nearby trees. All day they flew from tree to tree devouring figs and squawking triumphantly. At dusk all but seven flew back to their huge cage. Lauricella said afterwards: "The hole will be repaired and a closer watch kept on these parrots. I appreciate their desire for a bit of freedom now and again. But I have 1,800 other expensive birds in my park and I cannot set a precedent."

Workers Decide To 'Scuttle' Labor Boards

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—George Burt, Canadian director of the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL), said Sunday the UAW has decided to "scuttle" conciliation boards. After he spoke 700 members of local 199, UAW, unanimously agreed to authorize the union to take a strike vote in negotiations with McKinnon Industries Ltd., a General Motors subsidiary. "We know the conciliation boards are no good and we've decided to scuttle them," Mr. Burt said. He said conciliation boards had been "maneuvered" by both the federal and provincial governments and personally by Ontario Labor Minister Charles Daley. The union members, workers at the McKinnon plant which employs nearly 5,000 persons in manufacturing automobile engines, transmissions and various other parts, authorized the union to call for a strike vote, if union officials consider such a vote warranted.

CRITICAL OF UNION
Issues in dispute include a union demand for a guaranteed annual wage.

Mr. Burt, top union negotiator in the current dispute with GM, criticized Judge J. C. Anderson of Belleville, chairman of the conciliation board, hearing the GM dispute. He said Mr. Anderson is "a man who doesn't know anything about the problems of the workers."

Richard Courtney, the union's international representative, told the meeting here that the UAW's negotiating committee met 27 times in the last three months with the company without getting any concessions.

Friday night, the union announced at Oshawa that next Wednesday it will start direct negotiations involving 6,000 workers at GM plants here and in Toronto, London and Windsor. These negotiations are being handled separately from those affecting 10,000 workers at the Oshawa plant. Oshawa workers have endorsed the negotiating committee and take a strike vote.

WEST DRAFTS PLANS TO TEST REDS' SINCERITY

Series of Proposals To Be Made at Parleys

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Western allies are working out plans for a series of proposals designed to test real Soviet intentions toward permanent East-West settlement. These plans, still being developed in Washington, London, Paris and Bonn, will be put into operation in a series of important international conferences during the next several months.

These include the United Nations sub-committee on disarmament meeting in New York Aug. 29; Chancellor Adenauer's scheduled visit to Moscow Sept. 9; and the four-power foreign ministers' meeting to open in Geneva Oct. 27.

When these sessions are concluded, Western officials hope to have a much better idea than they now hold of the true aims of Russia's present leaders and the extent of change in Moscow's attitude toward the outside world.

At the UN meeting the United States, working closely with Britain, France and Canada, will press Russia to accept President Eisenhower's proposal for exchange of military blueprints and aerial inspection as a basis to develop a world-wide disarmament program.

OTHER PLAN FAVORED
Eisenhower's advisers are hopeful but not optimistic. They believe that if Russia turns down aerial inspection and insists on restricted ground inspection as in the past, it will mean that Moscow's present leaders are no more prepared than was Stalin to join in effecting a system of international arms reduction control.

Britain believes her plan for joint ground inspection teams is more likely to gain Soviet approval. A foreign office spokesman in London said Saturday Britain fully supports Eisenhower's plan to permit Soviet and American planes to fly over one another's territories and take reconnaissance photos.

But it is felt in diplomatic circles that Prime Minister Eden's more moderate plan might prove a more acceptable one to the Russians for a start on practical disarmament.

Eden proposed in Geneva that joint teams be allowed to inspect military installations within an agreed distance on either side of the Iron Curtain.

4,000 Tribesmen Raid African Town, Cut Children's Throats Like Lambs

By CARL HARTMAN
OUED ZEM, Morocco (AP)—Here in the foothills of the Atlas mountains the French may have had their first taste of a terror campaign combining some of the worst features of East Africa's Mau Mau with the guerrilla warfare plaguing neighboring Algeria. Just two hours' drive from Casablanca, Oued Zem was a pleasant little mining town. But today, more of its 11,000 Moroccan inhabitants have fled to the countryside in fear of French reprisals.

Many of the surviving 700 Europeans are crowded into the French government headquarters. Women nurse their babies and weep for lost relatives while their men, armed with rifles and cartridges, help the foreign legion guard the town.

This is what happened: Saturday was billed in advance as the day of violence and in the popular Casablanca, not in peaceful Oued Zem. Nationalist partisans of the exiled sultan, Mohammed Ben Youssef, were expected to riot in the big commercial centre. The tribe near Oued Zem had ousted France's ouster of Ben

The Princess "Comes of Age"

Princess Margaret poses in Clarence House, her London home, for this 25th birthday portrait. In royal circles, a princess "comes of age" when she is 25, a circumstance certain to cause much speculation concerning her future romantic decisions. (Central Press Canadian).

Margaret's Birthday Passes With No Hint of Engagement

By EDDY GILMORE
BALLATER, Scotland (AP)—Princess Margaret's 25th birthday has passed, with the world no wiser as to her romantic intentions. The princess sat with her sister the Queen and other kin in crowded Craighall parish church Sunday as Rev. John Lamb intoned: "This is Princess Margaret's birthday. May she find the fulfillment of her desires."

The 420 persons who had packed the little church to overflowing watched intently as the pretty young princess bowed her head and moved her lips in silent prayer.

As they looked, they wondered whether she had made her decision—upon reaching the constitutional age set in the Royal Marriage Act—to wed handsome Peter Townsend, 40-year-old war hero and divorced father of two sons.

Before she was 25, the princess could only wed with permission of the Queen. As titular head of the Church of England, which frowns on marriages involving a divorced person, the Queen would have found it difficult to give her consent.

Few actually expected Princess Margaret to make known the details of her heart on her birthday. Should she decide to marry Townsend, she probably would tell the Queen, then notify Parliament. It is believed Parliament would then free her of her royal responsibilities by permitting her to renounce her right to the throne.

Princess Margaret was up bright and early Sunday to observe her birthday. First to greet her were her niece and nephew, Prince Charles and Princess Anne.

The princess appeared happy, although she limped slightly from a fall suffered Saturday while leaving a church charity sale.

Townsend spent most of Sunday with horses at the town of Ostend, Belgium. He now is British air attaché in Brussels, and helped train mounts belonging to a Belgian friend.

Scouts at Jamboree Pray For World Brotherhood, Peace

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont. (CP)—Eleven thousand boy scouts from 68 countries and at least 14 religions prayed Sunday for world brotherhood and peace.

At services in the world's eighth scout jamboree campsite, or at churches in nearby communities, the scouts were led in prayer by two cardinals and two bishops of the Roman Catholic church, three Anglican bishops, the moderator of the United Church of Canada and other leading Canadian churchmen.

Including visiting scouts who joined them, 16,444 scouts went to church, including 14 Christian Scientists and 30 Salvation Army boys, who went to Niagara Falls, Ont., and two Latter Day Saints (Mormons) followers who went to St. Catharines.

Camp headquarters later issued abstracts of the principal sermons, all of which said scouting has an important role in shaping tomorrow's world. All urged scouts to respect one another's race, religion and traditions, while remaining faithful to principles learned in scouting.

The death of a young CBC-TV cameraman, Ian Murray, 26, of Toronto, saddened the Sunday. Murray died when a cable snapped on the crane he was using in a moment to devise angles from which to "shoot" a television show later in the day. The gondola on which his camera was mounted capsized, pitching him to the ground. He suffered a fractured skull and severe internal bleeding and died while being placed in an ambulance for Toronto.

The show, a combined CBC-Columbia Broadcasting System presentation, went on in the afternoon and covered the coming week's jamboree highlights in capsule form.

Four Italian scouts stole the show at a water-sports review on the Niagara river. Given a morning's training in water skiing by Trelle Le Doux, who operates the Niagara Water Ski School, they skied in doubles, fully clothed and flying the Italian flag.

Le Doux forthwith offered to train a representative scout from each contingent during the week.

The Toronto contingent donned a pair of 1812-era costumes and enacted a pageant in nearby Fort George for hundreds of scouts, showing the old ceremony of mounting and changing the guard, and trooping the color. A guards sergeant-major might have winced but the show went over with its spectators.

The jamboree was officially opened Saturday by Governor-General Vincent Massey. The Canadian government then sent greetings Saturday night through Harry Cavell, Liberal member of Parliament for Lincoln. The message was read at a dinner tendered by the town council to 100 representative scouts.

A shortage of firewood 12 restricted campfire activity—a traditional part of scouting—although there is plenty of charcoal in stores for patrol cooking. Camp officials said more than 1,500 logs have been used by the scouts in their construction of gateways to their camps and displays. An appeal has been sent out to nearby farms and citizens asking them to make firewood they may have on hand available.

Pickpockets, who lifted $300 from scouts last week, were inactive Sunday. No thefts were reported.

UNIVERSALLY ECONOMICAL POWER ASSURED

Atomic Parley Finds Cheap Power on Way

By FRANK CAREY

GENEVA (AP)—Universally economical industrial power from nuclear energy may not be just around the corner—but it is certainly on its way fast.

That is clear from reports and discussions at the atom-for-peace conference which closed here Saturday after revealing much new information on the private life of the atom and its uses and potentialities for man's benefit in industry, medicine and agriculture.

The United States put a time schedule of '15 to 20 years' for the realization of nuclear power generally competitive with orthodox fuels in that country, rich in conventional fuels and having relatively few transportation problems.

Canada said atomic power might be cheap enough for some of her needs in a decade. Britain boldly said that by 1975 she expects 40 per cent of her electric power to be furnished by nuclear energy.

And Russia said she would have "several hundred thousand kilowatts" of installed nuclear power in operation by 1960, in addition to a 100,000-kilowatt plant to be completed within a year.

GENETICISTS CAUTIOUS

Hailed as the emblem of the conference was the fact that Soviet and Western scientists—working independently and in secret—came up with almost identical findings regarding a key detail of the uranium fission process.

They made their results known to the world for the first time at the conference. An American official said this close concurrence on results not only gives all countries new assurance about the safety of reactors they've already built, but new confidence to build reactors of higher energies.

Some geneticists called for extreme caution lest radiation in the environment reach a point where it might become harmful. One said that "beyond a definite intensity, further increase in radiation presents a potential hazard to the future of the human race."

To this, some reactor experts commented that in a "well-planned" atomic industry there should be no major problem either from immediate or hereditary effects of radiation.

HAILED AS SUCCESS

The delegates generally hailed the conference as an outstanding success. A second meeting of the world's atomic energy experts appears certain for 1957 or 1958.

The discussions were remarkably free of politics, and most delegates, in hailing the conference as a success, cited the lifting of secrecy as a main achievement. It certainly is true that many scientists presented reports on matters which had previously been classified. However, the scientists are not agreed just how much they learned.

Canada sent a 26-man delegation to the conference, and it is believed some will stay on in Geneva for a small closed-door conference of atomic energy experts on "consideration of the technical aspects of guaranteeing the peaceful uses of atomic energy."

The jamboree was officially opened Saturday by Governor-General Vincent Massey. The Canadian government then sent greetings Saturday night through Harry Cavell, Liberal member of Parliament for Lincoln. The message was read at a dinner tendered by the town council to 100 representative scouts.

A shortage of firewood 12 restricted campfire activity—a traditional part of scouting—although there is plenty of charcoal in stores for patrol cooking. ### French Troops Chase Rebel Bands In Moroccan Hills

Faure and Pinay Hasten To Scene To Restore Peace

CASABLANCA (AP)—French tanks went into action against fighting Moroccans today near Oued Zem.

About 80 French residents were massacred and hundreds of Berber tribesmen were killed Saturday in and near the town, a mining center in the turbulent Tzadja region.

A French official, usually cautious in reporting action, said today: "Operations have started. The legion was searching houses in Oued Zem and the surrounding country. The Moroccans fortified themselves in some houses. Tanks have gone into action and tanks have cannon on them. Planes are standing by."

The French official added that he could not furnish reporters with details but suggested that if they started out over the good auto road and try to join some of the French reinforcements headed for the scene.

REPRISALS FEARED
Fear of racial reprisals meanwhile hung over Morocco as the death toll from weekend riots and guerrilla fighting passed the 1,000 mark.

Paris newspapers went as high as 1,341 dead in Algeria and Morocco. (Reuters news agency this morning reported that the toll had passed the 1,000 mark. The agency also said French troops had wiped out nine Algerian villages that had given shelter to the marauders.)

In a desperate bid to restore peace to France's shattered North African holdings, Premier Faure, Foreign Minister Pinay and other leading French figures hastened to the French resort of Aix les Bains for a week of talks with Moroccan leaders. Their aim is a plan for granting more self-rule to the protectorate.

TANKS PATROL CITIES
Only one incident of violence was reported in the other French protectorate of Tunisia, which recently was granted partial self-rule. One Algerian border was attacked, but the fighting there ended Saturday night.

The Algerian nationalists apparently launched their attack to profit by the Moroccan situation. Most of the large cities in both Morocco and Algeria were silent today as police and troops in armored cars patrolled them.

In Morocco, the fighting continued mainly in the hills and the approaches to the Atlas mountains. The countryside around Marrakech was a scene of numerous incendiary fires Sunday night. Jet fighters patrolled overhead. Tanks clanked through the countryside.

In Morocco, some raids were ominously similar to the Mau Mau tactics of guerrillas which have ripped Britain's Kenya colony.

Worst hit was the little Moroccan mining town of Oued Zem, about 100 miles south of Casablanca. There 4,000 supposedly friendly Berber tribesmen poured down from the hills, shooting, burning and mutilating men, women and children.

SUPPRESS DETAILS
The outbreak at Oued Zem was only one of many. The French resident-general, Gilbert Grandval, suppressed the worst details in the Moroccan press for fear of inciting worse race riots. Grandval was in the Bains today. The first arrival at the resort was Sultan Mohammed V, who was accompanied by his wife, the queen, and their children.

The girl was taken to Sick Children's Hospital and examined. A possible fractured skull was found. She was suffering while she struggled to get free.

Police said she was hanging the outside of her crib and the fact that she was under the influence of drugs was being investigated. Police said Mrs. Harrison was expecting a second child.

Torrid Heat Wave Broken Over Ontario

TORONTO (CP)—Cool air moving in from the northwest is dropping temperatures down 15 and in some cases 20 degrees from the sizzling 90-degree high of the weekend.

Scattered' thundershowers predicted for southern Ontario today have hit Windsor and Centralia already and are moving rapidly in a southeast direction. Windsor, which had a high of 96 Sunday, reported a temperature of 72 this morning.

Many sections of southern Ontario are cloudy in rain anticipation. Showers hit Toronto at noon. The cold front swept across North Bay and Sudbury which chalked up 85-degree temperatures Sunday, dropped to 84 and 65 degrees respectively early today.

The southern section of the province will get its cooling. The Toronto weather bureau reports that a nip is expected across 100 miles of Ontario to Tommy A. Carruthers captured the Bay of Quinte Golf and Country Club championship over the week-end by defeating Doug Green three and two.

The two, both top golfers of the club, met in a 36-hole match play round. Carruthers picked up a 3-hole margin by the 18th hole and held it to win the championship trophy.

Fractures Skull, Skins Forehead
In Bike Crash

On his way home with a party of other motorists following a meet in Kingston, James Venn, 18, of 8 Lemoine street, suffered a fractured skull and fractured forehead, when he was thrown from his motorcycle.

The accident happened Saturday night shortly after midnight about one-and-a-half miles east of Marysville on the old Belleville road. Venn said his motorcycle struck a hole in the road and he was thrown off the machine when he lost control.

He was taken to Belleville hospital by Bush's Ambulance after being treated at the scene by Dr. D. C. McVicker of Deseronto.

Venn's accident was one of three occurring Saturday which sent persons to hospital with injuries.

Saturday morning a car driven by Angelo Diodomino, Port Credit, collided head-on with a motor transport near Marysville, Diodomino's three children, Angelo Jr., 5, Albert 2 and Julia 4, were taken to hospital with chest injuries and facial cuts. Driver of the transport Reginald Huffman of Kingston escaped injury. The Diodomino car was demolished.

Shortly before midnight Saturday an eastbound car driven by Peter Eganow of Hamilton, went out of control west of Deseronto, and rolled across the ditch against the embankment. Charlotte McVey, also of Hamilton, a passenger in the car, was injured and was taken to hospital at Belleville.

St. Thomas'
Rector Named To Ottawa Church

The Rev. W. J. Robinson, rector of St. Thomas' church, has been appointed by the Rt. Rev. E. S. Reed, Lord Bishop of the Diocese of Ottawa, to the rectorship of the Church of St. John the Evangelist in the city of Ottawa and he will assume the duties of his new office early in October. He succeeds the Rev. L. J. Finlay, who has been made rector of St. Bartholomew's church in New York City. Mr. Robinson succeeded the Rev. Canon Northcote Burke as rector of St. John's in Ottawa; the latter is now the Very Rev. Dean of the Anglican Cathedral in Vancouver.

THE REV. W. J. ROBINSON

The Rev. W. J. Robinson is now on holidays and the congregation of St. Thomas' church is uniting with Christ church in the Sunday services during this month. Owing to this arrangement the announcement of Mr. Robinson leaving St. Thomas' was made by Archdeacon J. B. Crease, rector of Christ church, at matins on Sunday in that church. The archdeacon read a message from the rector of St. Thomas' to his parishioners who must be present at the service, advising them of the move he is making. The announcement of Mr. Robinson's appointment as rector of St. John's in Ottawa was also made at matins in that church on Sunday.

The Rev. W. J. Robinson came to Belleville in June 1953, from Napawan where he had been rector of the Church of St. Mary Magdalene for five years. Prior to that time he had been rector of St. James' church in Tweed, for seven-and-a-half years. At St. Thomas' he succeeded the Rev. Arthur Smith, who is now rector of Christ Church, Deer Park, Toronto. During his incumbency at St. Thomas' Mr. Robinson has been highly successful in his work and it is with much regret that the officials and parishioners have learned of his intended move to Ottawa.

He and his wife, the former Isabel Morton, whose father the late Rev. Stanley Morton, was rector and rural dean at Brockville for some years, and whose mother, Mrs. Stanley E. Morton, resides in this city, have made many friends here who will sincerely regret their departure from the city.

The Rev. William J. Robinson in addition to his parochial duties was much interested in work among young people and he also gave his support to worthy public undertakings in the city. He is a popular member of the Kiwanis club and he holds the rank of 1st Captain as a chaplain with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment.

Betty Berry, 23-Yr.-Old Nurse,
First to Swim 18-Mile Reach
From Picton to Deseronto

DESERONTO (Staff) — Betty Berry, a 23-year-old nurse, arrived in the first of her hometown here in the first seconds of Sunday morning and found herself the toast of the town.

Betty was the first person to swim the Bay of Quinte 18-mile reach from Picton to Deseronto. She started at Picton at 10:55 a.m. Saturday and touched shore here 13 hours, five minutes and 17 seconds later. Her actual swimming distance is reckoned at 25 miles, due to her becoming snarled in two currents towards the end of the swim.

Former neighbors, friends, townsfolk and relations, massed into a crowd of 1,000, broke through reinforced police lines to here, took plucky finish as she touched land a few feet west of Deseronto dock.

Among her first words were: "What time is it?"

It was 17 seconds after midnight.

Afterwards, living in wraps at her home and hungrily munching sandwiches she vigorously denied suggestions she was utterly exhausted, posed for photographers and concisely answered a reporter's questions.

Then she dressed and appeared at a Canadian Legion jamboree fair of the main street, where she received an ovation from crowds waiting patiently to see her.

She went to bed at 2 a.m. but was up and about again at 7 a.m.

The small, (height, five ft. 2; weight, 104 lbs.) pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Berry of here, took time from her duties as night nurse at the Oshawa General Hospital to achieve her triumph. An ardent athlete with a wide range of sport interests, she has been swimming since she was a toddler. She has several swimming medals and diving trophies to her credit and came sixth out of an entry of 28 in CNE women's three-mile swim.

Earlier in the morning at Picton, Betty rattled off some tunes on the piano in Prince Edward Yacht Club. She was accompanied by her father, a foreman with Bell Telephone at Belleville, her pilot Charles (Sixty) Wager, Deseronto, and brothers Ronald, 20, Jackie, 15 and sister Verna, 19, all who were in her in the water.

LEGION TO PAY EXPENSES

Dominant figure of the gathering was her father, the man who inspired the swim and interested the Canadian Legion in sponsoring it. The Legion also will pay any expenses incurred by the swim.

Asked about intentions of ever attempting the classic English Channel swim, Betty replied that every swimmer has it on her mind, but it was up to father.

"It is in the back of his mind too," she revealed.

"She always wanted to try a long distance swim," her mother said, while sharing the vigil with townsfolk on the waterfront Saturday night.

"One night when she came home she and her pop got talking about it. He said, 'Why don't you try swimming from Picton to Deseronto?'" She said: "By golly, I think I will."

Shopping Made Easier

At Canadian Tire

Canadian Tire Corporation for many years have built their business on a cash basis, but to keep pace with modern shopping habits, they have inaugurated their own Credit Budget Plan. The highlights of this plan are that a customer may purchase any merchandise or service over $20, with no down payment and weekly payments as low as $1.

On accepted accounts there is no waiting, immediate delivery of any goods can be secured. Under this new scheme there is no outside interviews or references required.

As in all of Canadian Tire Corporation activities, they have been successful in setting up this plan with a minimum cost to the consumer. Carrying charges are much below most other companies.

Obituary

MRS. HUGH MCGUINNESS

(Lonsdale)

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Mary McGuinness, Lonsdale, were held this morning from her late residence to Holy Name of Mary Church, Marysville, where solemn requiem mass was said by Rev. J. Donoghue. Interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery where prayers were said by Father Donoghue.

Present in the sanctuary during mass were Rev. E. Briceford and Rev. G. McAlpine of St. Michael's College, Toronto. Members of the Catholic Women's League formed a guard of honor. The funeral was largely attended.

The late Mrs. McGuinness died at the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston, on Saturday, following an illness of two months.

Born in Read 52 years ago, she was the daughter of Mrs. Agnes Walsh and the late Ed. Walsh and had lived in the district all her life, where she took an active part in church work. She was a member of Holy Name of Mary Church, where she also belonged to the Catholic Women's League and the Altar Society.

She is survived by her husband, Hugh McGuinness, three daughters, Mrs. Harold (Eileen) Murphy, Mrs. Bernard (Bernice) Murphy, also of Marysville, and Mrs. John Pless of Lonsdale and five sons, Edward, Indian River, Frank, Lonsdale; Leon, Clarence and Laverne, at home.

Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. John Pless of Lonsdale and Mrs. Cyril Hunt of Roslin, and two brothers Frank of Shannonville and Thomas of Lonsdale.

ONLY SPECKS OF LIGHT

Shortly after 8 p.m. she was reported about three miles out, then as the light faded into darkness specks of light out on the reach marked the location of her flotilla.

Shortly after 9 p.m. the water started to ruffle and became rougher.

Reports received indicated the swimmer was making little progress. She had been snarled by a current about two miles offshore at Forrester's Island and was determinedly battling it.

Once only did the hearts of everyone fail. That was when a boat, mistaken for the pilot boat drew ashore and someone yelled: "They're bringing her in."

The chagrined watchers, some swearing with disappointment, ran to the dock. The alarm, however, was false and the disappointment relapsed back to chert optimism.

At 10:40 p.m. Marlin reported to the dock Betty was bucking a current about two miles offshore, but swimming strongly.

"I think she'll make it," he added as he pushed out again.

At 11:25 she was reported may be three-quarters of a mile away from the shore, but the flash of white arms could be distinguished in the broad beam of the pilot boat's searchlight.

"She's coming along dandy. She's coming along dandy," he said, but she's going to make it," was the report.

By this time extra OPP officers were helping police keep the docks clear as the crowd grew and anchored beyond the lines.

At 11:45 p.m. she was estimated at less than a quarter-of-a-mile out.

"She's definitely going to make it," they said.

"Come on Betty, while the kix are on one of the escorting boats sparked cheers, whistles and applause on shore.

Then the swimmer's red cap could be seen and the white flash of her regular-stroking arms. The crowd broke through the lines and rushed to the water's edge.

Then 17 seconds into Sunday morning Betty touched shore. She stood up and started to walk up land while flashbulbs blew up about her and her milling well-wishers. She struggled momentarily with her father when he tried to gather her in his arms and carry her toward the stretcher. However, he persisted and she was laid down, looking wan and tired on the stretcher. Her mother stooped to kiss her, then she was carried through the crowd toward an ambulance.

RECOGNIZED FRIENDS

On the way she enquired: "What time is it?" and shouted cheerful recognition of a friend.

Then she was inside the ambulance, her mother beside her, the doors were slammed and the ambulance took off for her home.

About 15 minutes later she was chatting with newspapermen as she sat munching sandwiches and drinking milk in her parents' living room.

As they talked her mother handed her a telegram.

She had difficulty tearing the seal and a reporter took it from her and opened it.

"I've never opened one before," she laughed. "It's the first telegram I've ever had."

It was from her fellow-nurses on the night staff at Oshawa General, Grace Bain.

It read simply: "Good luck. Pulling for you."

Then she stood for photographs with her mother and sister, Verna.

Outside a large crowd of neighbors gathered, peering through the screen door as the bulbs flashed.

Despite suggestions to the contrary, she insisted upon dressing and putting in an appearance at the Legion jamboree, where crowds had been expecting her appearance since 11:30 p.m.

After receiving the plaudits of a proud town and making a short speech she returned home to bed. Just about twelve hours later, as she was swimming with her brothers and sisters off the dock, where the night before she touched ashore, a restaurant-keeper on the main street was answering a customer's query about her town.

"Deseronto," he said, "where the swimmers come from."

Campbellford Rink Wins
O'Keefe Trebles Tournery

The O'Keefe trebles tournament played at the Bowling Club on Saturday afternoon and evening was a complete success. At the conclusion of play, Jimmy Williamson, representative of the firm in this district, presented the beautiful trophy and the accompanying prizes, supplied by the firm, to Lou Glover, J. Ballantyne and Archie Meyers, skip of Campbellford.

In second place was E. Winter, Alf Cooper with Morris Booth of Cobourg as skip, while in third spot was William Holway, Claude D. Tice and Mark Vanner, skip, of the local club. Gregg Davis, Jack Smith and Austin Watkins, skip, also of the host club, was fourth.

The first two game high winners were C. Dick, Louie Papi and Lloyd Smith of the Kingston club, closely followed by Dwight Bennett, L. E. McLean and Webb Kingston of Campbellford. The one-game high was a tie between Morley Galt and Doug McQuarrie of the Kingston club. Mr. Galt took the prizes to Kingston and the two skips are going to have a friendly game to decide the winner. The no-game winner was A. Stokes of Kingston.

Through the co-operation of the committee members, the O'Keefe Bowling Company was approached and kindly consented to sponsor a trebles tournament in this city.

The committee immediately proceeded to action and when play was called on Saturday by the general chairman, Percy Graham, there were 30 rinks entered. This was one of the largest entries for a trebles tournament in the district. Ideal bowling weather favored the players, the greens were exceptionally keen and some excellent bowling was witnessed during the afternoon and evening.

The women's section of the club under the chairmanship of Mrs. Charles A. Mott, served sandwiches, pies and coffee during the play and the tables were well patronized during the day.

SPONSOR THANKED

Mr. Graham, at the conclusion of the tournament, thanked Mr. Williamson for his keen interest in the tournament and the company for their splendid donation of the three top prizes of the tournament.

Mr. Williamson, in replying, thanked all the members of the club for the fine co-operation that had been given and that next year the prizes would be improved to make it the outstanding tournament in the district.

The first prize to the Campbellford rink was three two-suit, er club bags, to the second rink three car packs for clothing. The club purchased the fourth and other prizes out of their own funds.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Prices were quietly irregular in first-hour trading at the Toronto stock exchange today. Activity was only a little better than Friday's three-month low of 981,000 shares. Volume today was 1,065,000.

Industrial changes rarely went to a point, though a few gains in key issues gave the group's index a token advance. Financial institutions and utilities gave the best support.

Base metals moved in a narrow range but were strong enough to nudge the index for the group to a new record high. Fractional gains among the senior issues included Consolidated Smelting, Falconbridge, International Nickel and Noranda.

Uranium scored a few penny advances but most of the seniors lost fractionally.

Beattie-Duquesne was a golds feature, jumping 24 to $1.30 on 87,000 shares.

There was little movement in western oils.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP) — Sales on good and choice slaughter steers and heifers were steady with fed yearlings moving actively strong at the Ontario public stockyards today. The bulk of the offering graded low-medium down and sold slowly. Cows and bulls were slow with sales too few to establish prices on cows. Sales on bulls were 25 cents a hundredweight lower.

Receipts: Cattle 4,600; calves 540; hogs 270; sheep and lambs 630; carryover from Friday 325 stockers.

Prices: Choice steers 20 - 21; with sales to 21.25; good steers 19; mediums 17-19; commons 12-16; good heifers 18-18.50; mediums 16-18; commons 12-16; choice fed yearlings 21-22; with sales to 22.50; good fed yearlings 20-21; mediums 17-20; good heavy bologna bulls 13-13.50; common and medium light bulls down to 10.

Replacement cattle: Some medium stockers at 16-17.50. Calves were steady at 21-23 for good and choice vealers with sales to 23.50; mediums 16-21; commons 10-16; grass calves sold for slaughter 10-12.

There were no prices established on hogs. Lambs were steady at 21 for good handweight ewes and wethers. Bucks discounted $1 a hundredweight while heavy lambs discounted $2. Common and medium lambs were 14-18; good light sheep generally 8; common light and heavy sheep down to 3.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter prices were unchanged here today. The egg market was steady with offerings sufficient for a quiet demand.

Quotations, provided by the Dominion Department of Agriculture: Eggs, in fibre cases, graded: A large 64; A medium 61; A small 39; grade B 38; grade C 28. Wholesale to retail: A large 69; A medium 66; A small 44; grade B 43; grade C 33.

Butter solids: Ontario, first grade tenderable 58; non-tenderable 57 1/2 (nominal).

DOLLAR RATE

MONTREAL (CP) — The U.S. dollar was at a discount of 1 7/16 per cent, the Bank of Canada reported at noon today. Friday's noon rate was 98 17/32 cents. Pound sterling $2.74 1/2, against $2.74 1/2.

JETS COLLIDE

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — Two Swedish "Flying Barrel" jets collided and crashed in west Sweden Sunday, killing both pilots.

Tired But Happy After Long Swim

Veterans Hold Decoration Day

The comrades of two World Wars, who have paid the Supreme sacrifice were honored on Sunday, when 100 members of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans' decorated their graves at the Belleville and St. James cemeteries.

The veterans assembled at the Armouries with Art Hobbs in charge. Led by the Quinte Pipe and the Salvation Army Bands they paraded to Cedar Street, where buses were waiting to take them to the cemeteries. At the cemetery, Archdeacon J. R. Creighton of Christ Church and Captain Leslie of the Salvation Army gave prayers of dedication after which the flowers were deposited on the graves. Bill McKenna was in charge of the floral parade.

MASSEY TOURS NFLD.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Governor-General Vincent Massey stepped off a RCAF North Star aircraft at nearby Torbay airport Sunday to begin a week-long vice-regal tour of Newfoundland. Hundreds flocked to the airport to catch a glimpse of Mr. Massey who defied the hot sun by wearing his familiar homburg, black coat and striped trousers.

Batawa Student Wins Scholarship Worth $1,200

Monika Bruchmann, 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Bruchmann, of Batawa, has been awarded the $1,200 Watson scholarship in German by Queen's University.

Miss Bruchmann, 18, at the time of writing the upper school examinations in June, was the top Grade 13 student at the Belleville Collegiate with nine first class, one second class and one third class honors in 11 papers.

She will enroll at Queen's in September in a course in modern languages. Miss Bruchmann, who came to Canada from Bremen, Germany, with her parents and her 13-year-old sister, Nora, 3 1/2 years ago, has her eye on a career in the diplomatic service.

"I had some English in high school in Germany," she explained in an interview this morning. "We arrived in Canada in April or May and I went to Grade 8 classes at the Dufferin school in Trenton to brush up my English. I started in Grade 11 at the Belleville Collegiate the following September."

Her English was certainly brushed up beautifully as she was one of the few students in the district to win first class honors in both English literature and composition in the recent departmental examinations.

Miss Bruchmann's string of first class honors followed her through Grades 11 and 12 to her successful assault on Grade 13 subjects.

In Grade 12 she placed second in a public speaking contest open to BCI students and won first prize in a school-wide essay contest.

She speaks and writes English, French and German. The family speaks German at home.

"My French is not so good," said Miss Bruchmann, who took first class honors in French authors and French composition along with firsts in English and German.

Three or four hours of study each night was the schedule that produced scholastic results for Miss Bruchmann.

"That is during the year," she said in commenting on her study hours. "At examination time I studied much longer than that."

Miss Bruchmann worked on Saturday afternoons for the first half of the year before quitting work to devote more time to studies. This summer she is working on the production line at the Bata Shoe Co. factory at Batawa making paper boxes.

"I am right in production," she

Betting Spree Blamed for Theft

TORONTO (CP) — Police said a six-month horse betting spree financed by $11,000 from the petty cash of a Toronto lumber company ended Sunday with arrest of the firm's former accountant.

They said Henderson William Howie, 49, a father of two children who never before had been in trouble and who was described as a "model of propriety" by fellow employees, was charged with theft after surrendering to an adjusting company executive Sunday night.

Officers said Howie left the Elgie and Jarvis Lumber Company several days ago and had been sought since a warrant for his arrest was issued Friday. They said none of the money so far has been recovered.

Find New Drug Can Relieve Over-Anxiety

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Wyeth laboratories announced today that a new drug, which it says brings quick and safe relief to those who suffer from tenseness and anxiety, will soon be available to physicians for prescription use.

The firm said the drug, known as equanil, also produces complete recovery from mild neuroses and is useful in keeping alcoholics sober after withdrawal has been completed.

Wyeth added that clinical studies involving more than 300 persons proved that the drug is non-habit-forming, practical and safe.

ANGLERS ANGRY

Dear old Rutgers may be searching for another researcher if Dr. James R. Westman has the temerity to attend any anglers' federation meetings.

Dr. Westman says fish are stupid. Since fish make a living by proving that they are smarter than fishermen, this statement by Dr. Westman has regrettable implications.

Speckled trout fishermen, particularly the dry fly variety, will be especially enraged by Dr. Westman's contention. Truth to tell, the majority of anglers may even find some sneaking admiration for Dr. Westman in their hearts when they contemplate what a stir his pronouncements will cause amongst those purists who contend that every trout in the creel is the result of a wedding of scientific genius equal to that of Einstein and the touch of an artist comparable to Rembrandt.

Around the Quinte district it is possible for a man to buy minnows, or even worms, without donning a disguise and sneaking to the bait shop in the middle of the night for fear of being detected. There are enough pickeral fishermen in the district for them to be able to brave the scorn of the trout fishermen.

But if Dr. Westman had potential allies here he lost them when he singled out pickeral for special comment. They will, he says, take a hook time and again.

There is just one ray of hope. Outside Ontario, pickeral are not pickeral but are wall-eyed pike, except in Quebec where they are dore. Dr. Westman may, therefore, not have been referring to pickeral but to ah—well the fish that is called pickeral where pickeral are not wall-eyed pike, or dore, if you get what we mean.

If this discourse has you all tangled up, it is nothing to the mess you will be in if you follow Dr. Westman's advice about the best fishing spots. They are, he maintains, located in close proximity to the propeller of the angler's motor, which serves to attract, rather than to scare, fish. This is obviously nonsense. If the fisherman trolled within a few feet of the boat he might get tangled up in the motor and it is obviously preferable to get hung up in weeds a couple of hundred feet back every two or three minutes than to risk getting tangled even once in a motor right under his nose where all he has to do is to tilt it to recover his plug and proceed on his way.

As can be seen, Dr. Westman has left himself no loopholes. Trout fishermen, pickeral fishermen, dry fly experts, trollers, even the barefoot boy with his bough off a tree and his bent pin, have all had their skill impugned. First thing we know some university professor will maintain that a black duck cannot distinguish his brother from a blue bill decoy at 800 paces!

PERSPIRATION AND INSPIRATION

Well, anyhow, winter is on its way.

That may not strike the reader as surprising news, but this is not the news column. This column is reserved for comment. If the reader feels that comment on the approach of winter is less than inspiring, then the reader must have discovered a way to keep from perspiring and we shall gladly relinquish as much space as is necessary for the enlightenment of the general public as to how this feat can be achieved.

Perspiration and inspiration may look alike, on paper, and may be romantically linked together in success stories, but around the office of The Ontario Intelligencer they are rarely discovered keeping company.

Perspiration has been a regular caller this summer, while inspiration seems to have been on vacation, probably among the Eskimos. But no, that cannot be, for reports from north of the Arctic circle indicate that it has been hot, there, too.

That turns us around and sends us southward in our search for inspiration, across the equator to that part of the world where the folks have been enjoying winter.

Funny, is it not, that even when it comes to the seasons half the world is opposed to the other half.

Of course, there are degrees of opposition. In some parts of the world, in spite of calendars, it is difficult to determine whether it is summer or winter. Come to think of it, there are numerous places where a man could stand with one leg on the ground that is awaiting winter while the other leg was planted on soil awaiting the coming of summer. All one would have to do to accomplish this feat would be to straddle the equator. The left leg could reasonably expect warmer weather, as summer approached, while the right leg would be justified in anticipating relief from the heat as winter drew nearer.

This is as close as we can come to locating the holiday hangout of inspiration in the Deep, Deep South.

THE NEW AND THE OLD

The summer cottage beds are new.	Unlike the cottage that I kept
Upon the latest stoves they cook.	With stuff the attic used to hold;
They have a modern ice box, too.	Changed has been everything,
The rooms all have the city look.	Except
There's nothing old upon display.	The morning paper two days
No worn and shabby dining set.	Old.
Even the chinaware is gay.	Oh, what a difference time
But still the bathing suits are wet.	makes!
	The merchants modern seem to be
	The butcher sells them tender steaks
There's nothing they have hauled from town.	A joy that was denied to me.
No standing lamps with faded shades.	The stairs don't squeak and never will.
In comfort guests can settle down.	On sturdy hooks the porch swing hangs
They've even slots for razor blades.	Improved is every thing, but still
	From morn to night the screen do bange.

Mr. James Moon has arrived home after a trip to the Pacific Coast.

Chief William Brown of the local fire department, will leave tomorrow for Ottawa where he will attend the annual convention of fire chiefs. The meetings will last during three days.

Mrs. R. Carr and family and Mr. L. Carr have returned to their home in Albany, N.Y., after spending some time at their summer cottage at Rossmore.

Mr. D. C. Clarke of Edmonton, Alberta, is visiting friends here.

Mr. James Henley of this city shipped from here this week five cars of wheat of this season's growth. The price paid was $1.

50 YEARS AGO

August 22, 1905

Mr. W. Pepper has left here to reside in Erie, Pa.

Mr. W. H. Reed has arrived home after an absence of several weeks in Western Canada.

Mr. W. J. Walker left today for Syracuse, N.Y., after spending several weeks here with his parents.

The Rev. W. H. Peake and family of Campbellville will be up residence in this city shortly.

A number of parties were fishing down the bay yesterday and some good catches were made.

Allan Mott and Frank Y. Brenton caught two maskinonge in the Muskeg Bay, the larger of which weighed twenty pounds; they also caught five large pike. P.C. Jones caught a number of fine black bass. Ed. Warham, William Orr and R. McPherson caught a 15 pound maskinonge near Nigger Island also twelve large pike.

How to Lose Washday Blues

(Financial Post)

Here's a new prescription for getting clothes white on washday. And it has nothing to do with new and secret soaps, or detergents, whether blue, green or pink in color.

A letter to a London, England newspaper says: "I own all the latest laundry aids—washing machine, rubber wringer and steam iron. My neighbor has none of these. Every Monday she dumps all her laundry into the bath, adds water and soap, and dances up and down on the dirty clothes, chanting, 'John Peel! And, darn it, her sheets and pillow cases are every bit as clean as mine!'"

May be there's a business angle here. Who knows but what "Un-chained Melody" or "Love Me Or Leave Me" may prove better whitening agents than "John Peel"? The nation's women soon may be dancing and singing every washday. Sheet music sales should boom; appliance makers can start thinking about turning out mechanical dancers, with record players attached. The possibilities in the London woman's discovery are almost limitless.

The Sleeper

(Tracks, C &amp; O Magazine)

With tongue in cheek, the British publication, "Railway Gazette," gives its readers this definition of a "sleeper": "what the British call a railroad tie." A sleeper is one who sleeps. A sleeper is also a place where a sleeper can sleep. And a sleeper is a thing over which runs the sleeper in which the sleeper sleeps; so that the sleeper in the sleeper sleeps while the sleeper runs on the sleeper.

Beavers Solve Farm Problem

(Fort William Times-Journal)

A Siate river farmer watched two beavers pulling a sheaf of freshly cut oats to their house on the dam. Ordinarily you would think a farmer would be displeased by the sight. But not this one. He was smiling. To a friend who was watching with him, the farm owner explained.

"My son and I tried to dam the stream last year to fix up a water hole for the cattle. But we didn't make a very good job of it. Then along came the beaver and they built a dandy for us. They've earned any oats they take."

He also added that because the beavers' favorite food, poplar, was scarce on the farm, he plans to bring in a load of it this fall for their winter rations.

A Toll Road Experiment

(Sherbrooke Record)

It is now clear that toll roads in the United States have been received favorably by the motorist public. The vast majority of motorists apparently do not mind paying a premium for fast and comfortable travel with the result that the United States is quickly building up a system of super-highways that makes Canada's road-building program look shabby indeed by comparison. Canadian authorities are full of doubt why not a tiny little experiment? Build a toll road—less than 100 miles will do—then wait results. If favorable, then build more of them. Then little has been lost.

Torture Revived

(Montreal Star)

Not so very long ago in Europe, torture formed an habitual part of the process of justice. The wretch appearing before his judges was subjected to horrible and sustained pain, during which his questioning was carried on. The practice slowly died out partly because of the slow growth of more humanitarian standards, but mostly, it must be presumed, because no rational man could believe that evidence obtained in such a way was worth a farthing.

Torture is now back again. It has been a commonplace in the 20th century dictatorships. It never died out in China, and the western world must now be reading with horror the account of the ordeals suffered by the young American airmen who have just been released by their captors. The story, not unique by any means, raises fundamental questions about the possibility of "peaceful co-existence." How is it possible to live in open, friendly, fruitful fashion with regimes which resort to such barbarisms? It seems to set certain rigid limits upon the possibility of that peaceful living which we would all like to enjoy.

But a lesser problem, though not unimportant, is the motives which led the Chinese officials to subject these prisoners to torture. What did they seek to gain? Why were they trying to convince with the statements and confessions they extorted in this fashion?

If they wanted to convince their own people that this U.S. plane was filled with spies and flying over their country, all they had to do was to tell them so. China would have accepted it. If some convincing detail were needed all the authorities had to do was to invent all the details they wanted.

If, on the other hand, they wanted to convince not their own people but the outside world, why do they believe that statements evoked by torture are worth the paper they are written on? No body in the western world would believe a word of them. Once the word "torture" is uttered, disbelief is universal. What about the neutral nations? Do these peoples believe statements wrung from prisoners by torture? We doubt it.

If this reasoning is correct, the explanation for torture lies somewhere else; and that somewhere lies in the area of calculated sadism. If the results of the torture are worthless, torture must be imposed because of the pleasure enjoyed by the torturers.

This horrible conclusion may not be correct, but what other reason can there be?

Hecklers

Take Notice

(Cornwall Standard-Freeholder)

The little town of Wishek, N.D., may have made history the other day. Its baseball team in Beaver Valley League has been a consistent loser, so the fans in the bleachers challenged the regulars to a game, claiming that they could pick up a team from the spectators that would better represent the town.

Challenge was accepted and the game was played. The score was: Regulars 18, Fans 1.

The considered order of back seat drivers, kibitzers, old grays Monday morning quarterbacks, second-guessers, gallery gobs, tongue twisters, bleachers experts, druggist rowdies, sidewalk engineers and rangers Battling Nelsons may now take notice.

The long-suffering regulars, enduring the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune, are finally vindicated.

Old-Fashioned Hygiene

(Dora Barnard)

In the Harrisonville (Mo.) Democrat-Missourian.

We read and hear so much about making the drinking water pure these days that I am made to wonder how we all lived to be grown in my day.

I remember we had a table in the kitchen next to the door and one thing on it was a cedar water bucket with brass hoops. Our mother kept those hoops polished until they shone. In that bucket was either a dipper or a gourd from which we all drank. (Isn't that a terrible thought.)

The water had been drawn from the well at the back of the kitchen with a rope and bucket, until later we had a pump installed. It seems to me now that the water was colder and clearer than any of our refrigerator kept water of today.

On the same table as the water bucket was a soap dish, with a roller towel hanging on the back of the door. Never had any "his" or "hers" on them; they belonged to the entire family and when they were dirty a clean one was placed on the roller.

Tramp Miner Builds North

(Sudbury Star)

In spite of the inherent truth in the sentiment, an orator or writer is open to an accusation of being trite when he points out that Northern Ontario owes as much to the bushman, prospector and miner as it does to the broker and engineers. It is an honest statement, but, like, "It isn't the heat it's the humidity," is taken for granted.

However, the superintendent of Algonquin Uranium Mines' Quirk Lake property, M. A. Upman, came up with a new twist on an old topic. His comment was made during a tour of the uranium area by Sudbury and Blind River members of Chambers of Commerce.

The fact that it was not prompted in any way by his listeners, added to the obvious sincerity of the enthusiastic mine official.

He pointed out that in the early development stages of mines such as those 30 miles back in the bush in the Blind River area there is virtually nothing which would attract a home-loving man. And yet, shafts have to be sunk, ore bodies proved up and numerous other jobs done before the mine can progress to get into where it belongs in the established industry with a rounded community for its employees.

"Tramp miners," as he called them, are the men who take a pride in the work he does, but who wants to set off over the hill when the challenge of the development job is over. If all Canadians tied their hats to their hearthstones, the north would be a long way from its present stature.

It is a good thing for Canada that there is the man with a stick in the foot, who takes a pride in the work he does, but who wants to set off over the hill when the challenge of the development job is over. If all Canadians tied their hats to their hearthstones, the north would be a long way from its present stature.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

Well, Why Not Look And See?

Uh-huh. I know. Had the same trouble myself six or eight years ago. Along about the fourth or fifth and a nagging little pain or discomfort would develop in the left hypochondrium. Nothing to speak of, it was something to worry about. Some kind of malignancy, I surmised, morbidly. Sometimes I kept on playing and the spell passed. Other times I relinquished my place to another bowler.

This occurred from time to time for several months. Finally my boss Mickey and the Young Spine made an appointment with a doctor whose professional ability and honesty I admit the doctor gave me his usual thorough examination and, perhaps surmising what I was worrying about, requested X-ray study of the progress of an operation, through the gastro-intestinal tract. The diagnosis was as the doctor had suspected before he asked for X-ray corroboration, diverticulitis.

Diverticulitis is the presence of intestinal diverticula. Diverticula are pouches or pockets leading off from the main tube or canal. Sometimes a diverticulum becomes irritated or inflamed (diverticulitis). This is no doubt what caused my beliches. Never mind what I worried when I learned I had diverticulitis. Most adults have a diverticulum or two, and only exceptionally does the condition ever cause any trouble. If mine should ever interfere with my bowling I'll spend a week in hospital and have a diverticulectomy. I like to recall the pleasant eight days I spent in hospital when my appendix was removed by the late Dr. A. H. Baker of Elmira, who applied to surgery an extraordinary combination of skill, judgment, gentleness and conscience.

My experience as a patient with sangerous appendicitis and my experience as a subject of dental surgery were both fortunate because the one made me unafraid of general surgery, the other made me unafraid of dental surgery.

So, of course I'm not afraid of surgery.

How do you feel about it, stupid?

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

"ONE OF THE LEAST OF THESE"

John Wesley was not only a poor old woman and poor little great revivalist preacher but a children and poor drunks and great of great erudition, and cul-poor criminals were on his mind. Throughout the whole of his from morning until night, and from life he was a Fellow of Oxford the beginning of his life until his death at a great age. He was said to have made a half-million of money.

Yet this man gave his life for the poor and the outcast. He was a contemporary of Dr. Samuel Johnson, and the good Doctor loved him through his clothes and divide above everything stimulating conversation. He regarded Wesley as among themselves a little more than a little small change.

Wesley, to the glory of God, gave his life to the poor and humble, and as he entered the pearly gates "because," said Johnson, "he had he must have heard a voice saying to go and pray with some old woman."

The glory of Wesley was that the brethren, ye have done it unto me."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

LOOK FORWARD

One of the last messages that Thomas Edison delivered to the world was in which he told us to "Look Forward". This, and to have faith. Here was a man once a news boy who, through his inventions, could easily have become the richest man in the world—but he only wanted to accomplish one thing—to benefit all mankind, which he did!

We can't turn about and live yesterday over, nor can we safely substitute Tomorrow for Today. The one safe decision to make is to have faith, and make it the habit of one's life to "Look Forward". There is progress all around and the world as a whole is benefited.

Peace and good will among nations are just as possible and practical as the same among individuals. By thinking and talking war is to look backward. There never will be a Utopia, but it's a nice thing to dream about. We keep perfecting in the mind the way of life of guiding lamps along the way of life. They point us Forward.

There is nothing in this world that can't be improved. I note that that's why they send them in the one great automobile concern has taken over this idea and used it in their advertising. They call it "The New Look", but what it really amounts to is the looking forward of the entire organization. What that idea gets support there has to be progress.

Success is a succession of many a successful try. The thing that kept Edison so happy was that he was forever trying to invent scores of things that he knew called for use. Few realize the large number of inventions initiated solely by Edison. He cared little for mere money. He devoted all his time to getting useful things on the way—leaving to others the job of perfecting them. We can all "Look Forward". It easily can be the salvation of many. Think forward ideas and you will go forward! Never stand still.

AT HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Carr of Stirling, will be "at home" to friends and relatives, on Tuesday, August 23rd, from 2-4 and 7-10 p.m., on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Thompson were recent visitors in Arden, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Marsh Thompson.

Rev. J. V. Ryan of Britt, Ontario, and sister, St. Blanche of Port Arthur, with friend, spent the noon hour on Friday with their aunt, Mrs. Annie Cain, Station Street.

FAMILY REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Martin, Howard Street, have returned from spending an enjoyable week of reunion with their two sons and five daughters and their families at Kennebec Kamp. Twenty-three were present for the week, including Mr. and Mrs. Sid Martin, Carol and Wanda of Frankford; Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Martin, Marilyn and Donald, of Grand Forks, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Woodcock, Glenn and Gary of Napaw, Mr. and Mrs. Rob French and Janet and Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Atchison, Sharon and David, of Ottawa; and the Misses Edna and Enid Martin, of Toronto.

Women's Activities

BETHANY W.M.S.-W.A.

The ladies of the Bethany W.M.S. and W.A. met at the home of Mrs. Bert Martin and Mrs. C. C. Davis, Thursday evening, with an attendance of 13.

Mrs. Martin presided. The worship service opened with quiet music and call to worship.

The theme was "A Door of Understanding", a reading by Mrs. Martin.

Mrs. George Sills read the scripture. Guided meditation was led by the president.

Prayers of confession and petition were read in unison.

The program was in charge of Mrs. J. Ritz and Mrs. F. Walker. It included a reading by Mrs. Larry Walker, entitled "Wanted Today, Two Eyes", and a reading "Too Much" by Mrs. Russell Ritz.

Another reading by Mrs. F. Walker, "Father of Wonder Drug Rescued Millions", was rendered.

The study book was given by Mrs. John Ritz as well as Stewardship reading and the Mizpah benediction.

Mrs. Martin conducted the business period. The offering was taken and the treasurer's report given. It was decided to have an auction sale in October. A letter of thanks was read from Mrs. Harold Ruppert.

A temperance reading by Mrs. Harry Walker, "Alcohol, the Great Remover", was given.

The program for next month will be prepared by Mrs. Cooley. Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Davis served refreshments and a social time was spent.

TRINITY W.A.

MADOC—The members of Trinity W.A., had a pleasant outing last Wednesday afternoon when they visited Mrs. Arthur Parks at her cottage, Moira Lake, and held the regular August meeting.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Perry Bronson, vice-president, took charge of the meeting and opened with all singing the theme song.

Mrs. C. Whytock was in charge of the worship service. The theme was "The Good Shepherd". Mrs. J. Hayton read the Bible lesson as recorded in John's gospel, while Mrs. Whytock read comments on the story.

Miss Keene was in charge of the program. Assisting her were Mrs. Lawson who gave a reading "An Old-Fashioned Ladies' Aid" and Mrs. Fred Fleming reading "When Sunday was Special." Mrs. McCoy gave a reading "Company for Sunday", and a riddle contest concluded the program. A pleasant social time followed and all enjoyed refreshments. A vote of thanks was tendered the hostess.

SNAKE CHARMER ARRESTED
HARLAN, Ky. (AP)—A snake-handling preacher was arrested Sunday at church services designed to "conquer" a rattlesnake that fatally bit one of the cult's ministers. Minutes after he handled four snakes before a congregation of about 2,000, Kentucky state police arrested Rev. William Vernon of Knoxville, Va., and charged him with state law forbidding the handling of snakes.

Weddings

FORESTELL—MOSSMAN

A lovely, double-ring wedding was solemnized in Holy Rosary church, Belleville, by the Rev. Michael Simson, on Saturday, July 23rd, at 9:00 a.m., before a background of white and pink gladioli, when Marilyn Elizabeth Mossman, of Belleville, R.R. 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Mossman, became the bride of Gerald Edward Forestell of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Forestell.

Mr. Robert Burke, as soloist, rendered "Ave Maria," "The Wedding Hymn," "O Lord I Am Not Worthy," and "Jesus, Heart All Burning," accompanied at the organ by Sister Mary Wilhelmina. Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Roy C. Mossman, the bride wore a charming gown of white nylon net over satin with matching bolero of Chantilly lace buttoned to the waistline, having long, lily pointed sleeves. Her finger-tip veil of tulle illusion was held by a lace headpiece mingled with rosebuds and rhinestones, and she carried a cascade bouquet of red garnet rosebuds and baby's breath with streamers.

Miss Phyllis Gauthier, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, attired in a floor length gown of pink nylon net over taffeta. She wore a matching headpiece and mitts, and carried a Colonial bouquet of pastel-tinted sweetpeas, rosebuds and baby's breath.

Mr. Donald Forestell of Corbyville, Ontario, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. Joseph Forestell of Stirling, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. Keith Cooney of Belleville, were ushers.

Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held at the Golden Acre Inn, Kingston Road, where the bride's mother, wearing navy sheer with matching white and blue accessories, received the guests.

The bridegroom's mother, who was attired in powder blue crepe with matching lace and white accessories, both the bride's mother and the bridegroom's mother wore pink rose corsages.

For travelling to Niagara Falls, the bride chose powder blue organdy with white accessories, and corsage of white orchids. Mr. and Mrs. Forestell are residing in Belleville.

Guests were present from Peterborough, Oshawa, Campbellford, Stirling and Read.

Following the reception at Golden Acre Inn, afternoon tea was served at the bride's home, which was profusely adorned with summer flowers for the occasion.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was the honored guest at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. E. J. Blute, Belleville.

O'CONNOR—VADER

Gladioli, chrysanthemums and asters formed a pretty setting in Christ Church, Belleville, for the marriage of Mildred Thelma Vader of Coe Hill, Ontario, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Vader, to Cecil Francis O'Connor of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. V. O'Connor on Saturday, August 6, at 2:00 p.m. Archdeacon J. B. Creagan, rector of the church, officiated.

The traditional wedding music was provided by the church organist, Mr. John Croyden Withers, who accompanied the four choir boys in their rendition of appropriate wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Edwin Vader, the bride was charmingly gowned in white Chantilly lace and net over satin, featuring a fitted, strapless bodice with matching bolero jacket with Peter Pan collar, trim with sequins and seed pearls, and having long sheath-like sleeves pointed over the wrists. The full skirt was of tiered net over satin. Her finger-tip lace veil was held by a headpiece of white lace and satin sprinkled with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Mary Vader, who was gowned in pale mauve net over tulle with matching headpiece, and carrying a nosegay of pink and white carnations.

Mr. Norman O'Connor, of Oshawa, attended the bridegroom, while the ushers were Mr. Bud Pligden, of Actinolite, cousin of the bridegroom and Mr. Albert Vader of Coe Hill, brother of the bride.

The wedding reception was held at the Golden Acre Inn, where the bride's mother, wearing navy and white sheer with matching accessories and corsage of red carnations received the 55 guests.

She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who was attired in navy and white nylon with matching accessories and corsage of pink carnations.

For travelling to Buffalo, and Niagara Falls, N.Y., the bride chose pale blue linen with pink accessories and corsage of pink roses.

Guests attended from Toronto, Barrie, Oshawa, Pefferlaw, Corbyville, Foxboro, Lakefield, Madoc and Actinolite. Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor will reside in Belleville.

The bridegroom's gift to his bride was a triple strand of pearls; to his groomsmen, and ushers, tie bars and cuff links. The bride's gift to her bridegroom, tie bar and cuff links; to her attendant, mother-of-pearl necklace with matching bracelet.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was the guest of honor at a wiener roast, held at Presqu'ile Point by the O.S.D. staff, when she was presented a damask tablecloth; a pantry shower was held at the home of Mrs. Len Mason.

The bridegroom was the recipient of an electric coffee pot by the Finkle Electric firm.

MUIRHEAD—GIBSON

St. Thomas' Anglican church, Belleville, was the setting on Saturday, August 20, at 11:30 a.m., for a lovely late summer wedding when Diane Marilyn Gibson of Belleville, daughter of Mrs. H. Roy Gibson and the late Mr. Gibson, became the bride of William Hugh Muirhead, of Belleville, son of Mrs. Robert L. S. Muirhead, and the late Mr. Muirhead. The Rev. W. J. Robinson, rector of the church, officiated before an altar adorned with white Shasta daisy 'mums, and gladioli, while ferns graced the chancel steps and white satin bows designated the guest pews.

Mr. John C. Withers, organist of Christ church, presided at the organ console, and accompanied the soloist, Miss Willo Wilkes, who sang, "The Lord's Prayer," and "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her eldest brother, Mr. Robert W. Gibson, wore a lovely bridal gown of white tulle, with overskirts of nylon tulle, featuring a redingote of fine Chantilly lace. Her finger-tip veil of silk net flowed from a Chantilly lace-covered cap, and she carried a white Bible crested with Stephanotis and trailing ivy.

Miss Janet Anderson of Barrie, Ontario, as maid of honor and Mrs. Leroy McBrien, of Belleville, as bridesmaid, were identically gowned in ballerina length Nile green tulle featuring overskirts of nylon tulle, lace bodices and jackets, with small lace-trimmed caps as headpieces. They carried bouquets of pale yellow, Shasta daisy 'mums and ivy.

Mr. William Clare, of Stirling, was groomsmen, while Mr. Leroy McBrien of Belleville, and Mr. Jack W. Gibson of Belleville, brother of the bride were ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Masonic Temple, Belleville, which was prettily decorated with wrought iron standards of candles and ferns for the occasion. The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake flanked by crystal candelabra with pink and white candles pink Shasta daisy 'mums and ivy.

The bride's mother received, attired in rose and gold organza tulle, in street length with corsage of gold cymbidium orchids. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother who wore dusty blue, in street length, with corsage of white Shasta daisy 'mums and Stephanotis.

The bride chose a cornflower blue and white polished cotton dress ensemble with white accessories, for the wedding trip to Haliburton and other northern points. Upon their return, the happy couple will reside in Belleville.

Guests were present from British Columbia, Toronto, Kingston, Niagara Falls, Welland, Hastings, New Toronto, Port Credit, Barrie, Peterborough, Oshawa, London and Belleville.

Prior to her marriage, the bride was entertained at a dinner party given in her honor by Mrs. Carl Read and Miss Janet Read; at several showers given by Miss Margaret Wakefield of Toronto; Mrs. LeRoy McBrien of Belleville and by Mrs. Alf. Wilkes also of Belleville; at a tea given by Mrs. W. L. Langlois, Belleville; a trousseau tea, given by her mother, Mrs. H. Roy Gibson and at a desert and coffee party given by Mrs. McGuire and Mrs. Gilbert Scott at Mrs. P. C. McGuire's summer home at Oak Lake.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

FOR 25, HE SOUNDS PRETTY CHILDISH

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

Three weeks ago, the boy I have been going steady with and I had a slight disagreement. It was mostly my fault, so I wrote him a letter and apologized.

We live in different towns, so usually we see each other only on week-ends. Since I wrote him, I have not heard anything from him, so I don't know if he has accepted my apology or if he still feels the same. He has told me many times that he loves me, and up until now I have not had any reason to doubt it. We are both 25 years old.

After writing the first letter, I wrote twice more, just like we always have, but not having received any answer, I feel a little silly, and wonder if I should keep writing or wait until I hear from him.

Would it be wise to call him on the phone?—A.D.

Dear A.D.: If I were you, I wouldn't write any more letters, or make any phone calls, until you receive a reply from this chap that indicates he really wants to make up and resume your friendship. I certainly don't think he's acting very courteously toward you, especially after you acknowledged that the disagreement was mostly your fault, and apologized. If he wants to be so rude as not to answer you, leave him alone to sulk.

Moreover, I can't say that I think such behavior makes him look like a shining prospect as a husband, in case you have marriage in mind. Any young man who, at 25, acts so childishly wouldn't be much fun to live with. Maybe it's a good thing this happened, to show him up for the immature person he is. Anyhow, I advise you not to keep after him to make up, but to hold off and let him make the next approach.

MAYBE HE'S MORE INVOLVED THAN HE ADMITS

Dear Beatrice Fairfax: I am 16, and about six months ago met a wonderful boy. I have known a lot of boys, some nice and some not nice, and I can tell the difference.

Unfortunately, this boy I like got mixed up in a little trouble. It was really another boy's fault. But a friend of my mother's saw it in the paper and showed it to her, and she said I couldn't see him any more. When he phoned me, my mother got on the phone and gave him the dickens. He explained, and she seemed to understand that he was innocent.

But since then he hasn't acted the same. He shows very little interest in me. I know he's a good boy, and since I love him more than ever now, I'm afraid of losing him.—S.

Dear S: If you had told me what the "little trouble" was that this boy got into, I'd know better what to say to you. It's quite possible, of course, that he might have been unwittingly involved, but that happens so rarely that I can't help wondering. It's also possible that he was more worried than he cares to admit, and that could be why he avoids you now.

I'd suggest that you go out with other friends for awhile, and keep an eye on his behavior. After all, you haven't known him too long, and there are certainly others around your town about whose record there is no question. Better choose your friends from among them.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMIESON

GOOD GROOMING FOR TEEN-AGERS

If you are a young lady in your teens in this late summer of 1955, congratulations! Chances are that you are healthier, happier, prettier and have a better figure than any of your predecessors did at the same age.

But, your face it, kids. Are you neater? Better groomed? If you can honestly answer "yes," fine! The picture is perfect. But if you can't, it's truly a pity. For, with all the assets at your disposal, why spoil them by sloppy dressing, carelessness in applying make-up or worse yet, complete indifference in applying make-up or, worse yet, to the condition of your hair, skin and clothes?

When you come right down to it, good grooming is simply a habit. And it's just as easy to cultivate good habits as bad ones—easier, in fact, for when you cultivate good grooming habits you can see the results—and the picture in your mirror will be infinitely pleasing.

Good grooming starts from the skin out, so why not check up on yourself?

Is your body (and this includes your face and hair) scrupulously clean always?

What about your underwear? Is it always fresh, crisp and clean? Is it always mended and does it fit properly? Or are you guilty of going out with the hems of slips showing? Or, worse yet, with safety pins holding up bra straps or petticoat elastics?

Are your shoes well polished or are they scuffed and run down at the heels?

Do you wear a girly or garter belt so that skirts fit trimly and stockings are properly held up without skidding down?

Is your dress always neatly pressed and completely spotless? And your accessories—especially white ones—are they always spanking clean, crisp and fresh looking, or are you guilty of going out with "white" shoes, bags, blouses or collar and cuffs which verge more on the "tattletale gray" of advertising fame? Take a good look in your mirror and see how you rate where good grooming is concerned. And, if you don't measure up, how's about trying to pretty up the picture? Believe it or not, He will notice.

I'd suggest that you go out with other friends for awhile, and keep an eye on his behavior. After all, you haven't known him too long, and there are certainly others around your town about whose record there is no question. Better choose your friends from among them.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BECKMAN

INVITATIONS TO FAR-AWAY RELATIVES AND FRIENDS

Dear Mrs. Beckman:

We are the parents of the prospective groom, and our question concerns the wedding list we will be asked to furnish. The wedding is to be in California, in the city where the bride's family lives. As it will be far too distant for relatives and friends of our family to attend, shall I still have formal invitations to the reception as well as to the church ceremony sent to close relatives and friends? If I do this, I know I may be criticized by some, but still I feel that it is the only correct thing to do, as I think that an invitation to the church would not be sufficient. What is your point of view about this?—C.

I entirely agree with you . . . that the wedding invitations to relatives and friends should include both the invitation to the church ceremony and to the reception. Even though they live so far away that they could not possibly come to the wedding, sending them the "complete" invitation should mean to them the friendly and warm-hearted message. "Please know that we would so very much like to have you with us, if it were possible for you to come . . . to both the ceremony and the reception." That is what such a thoughtful invitation should mean to a relative or friend. If they were not sent, criticism might be justified for this omission, but I couldn't understand criticism of their being sent.

If some relatives or friends think this invitation to the reception "calls for" a wedding present, the answer is that one sends a wedding present only if one wishes to . . . otherwise simply accept or regret the invitation, and be appreciative of the thought that prompted the sending of the invitation.

GOOD IDEA . . . SEND THE NEWLY-DISCOVERED COOK-BOOK

Dear Mrs. Beckman:

Over last week-end my husband and I were invited to visit a married couple who are dear friends of ours. We each have written a bread-and-butter letter (my nice husband always writes one too!) but I haven't yet sent a guest present, which we very much want to do. But that's never easy in their case, for they seem to "have everything." Dorothy and I always have a wonderful time swapping recipes, for we are both cooking enthusiasts. Recently I came across what I think is a really exceptional cookbook, and when I was there, I didn't see it on her shelf of cookbooks. I think she'd like it, and I'd like to send it to our thank-you-for-the-wonderful-visit present. But my husband thinks it might carry a suggestion that we didn't like her recipes. Do you agree with this point of view?—Anne R.

No, Ma'am! I've never known a cooking enthusiast who didn't heartily welcome another cookbook. And I couldn't imagine your friend, with whom you have the stimulating habit of exchanging recipes, regarding a new cookbook as any kind of criticism of her cooking. Have fun sending her your discovery . . . she will, I'm sure, have fun receiving it!

TRIM TWEED REEFER

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

The "A" line leads to trim smartness and the desired silhouette in many of the new clothes. It is the dominant line in this trim, useful, modified reefer coat, the fabric diagonal tweed in black and white with a red taffeta lining. The double breasted coat is obtained with the aid of twelve black ball buttons. Classic notched collar and low-placed pockets at the side accentuate the line. The coat is semi-fitted with skirt belting moderately at the hem. A good choice for the first general wear coat of the new season.

Women's Institute

WALLBRIDGE W.I.

The August meeting of the Wallbridge Women's Institute was held in the church hall with Mrs. A. Fisher as hostess and the president, Mrs. H. Phillips, presided.

Members are proud of the 4-H club girls who went to Peterborough and received Class A in all entries. Much credit is due to their leader, Mrs. Ross, who has recently moved to Belleville. Mrs. H. Ketcheson read a most appropriate card from the Institute and club members and Mrs. Ross was presented with cups and saucers and a hammered aluminum tray to show the W.I.'s appreciation and the high esteem in which she is held.

Thinking all, Mrs. Ross said she had enjoyed working with the girls who were all co-operative. The remainder of the meeting took the form of a business session, in which plans and arrangements were made for catering and also the display at the fair.

After the meeting closed the hostess and her committee served refreshments.

The New Look in Vegetables

By Mary Moore

Max said "Those Europeans could make good soup out of that melon rind on your plate. Our people here start out to make soup with a chicken, a bunch of celery, a basket of tomatoes and I don't know what all. What they need most is a liberal dash of imagination."

I've let that indictment sink in for three days and have to reluctantly agree with Max, on principle.

I think that most of us do not try to make do with what we have on hand. Instead of going out to the supermarket and buying a great load of groceries when we expect guests, I think we would reduce our house-keeping expenditures if we took stock, very carefully.

I'm lecturing to myself as much as to anyone.

I had a large eggplant in the refrigerator but dismissed it as a possible vegetable for dinner because I did not want to be bothered with the last-minute eggplant-crumbing-frying of it. I also felt it was not one of the most popular of vegetables.

This attitude would not do at all. There were to be five of us for dinner so I decided to serve the eggplant a couple of different ways and ask for opinions. I had fun doing it and our guests enjoyed being judges.

STUFFED EGGPLANT

(Cook No. 1)

I cut the big eggplant into halves. I put one half in a pot, round side down, added one inch boiling water and covered it and boiled it gently for 1-2 hour. When it was tender and soft I drained it and carefully scooped out the centre into a bowl, leaving the walls with the skin on intact. In 2 tablespoons butter I lightly sautéed for about three minutes, 2 tablespoons each chopped green onion tops and chopped green pepper. I added them to the scooped-out pulp with six very finely rolled cracker crumbs, generous shakes of salt, pepper and MSG and mixed it well. I refilled the skin, topped it with more cracker crumbs (3 finely rolled), dotted the top with about 1 tablespoon butter and baked it about 1-2 hour at 375 deg. Fahr. To serve five adequately you would have to use both eggplant halves and double all of the other ingredients. What I have described above would not serve more than three adequately. The other half of the eggplant I worked on this way:

This would serve four. Pare half of a raw eggplant. Cut into 1-4 inch thick slices. Arrange in alternating layers with four small peeled and sliced to-

Books Try to Explain Entry Of Germany in First World War

By REINHOLD G. ENSZ

BERLIN (AP)—History is being rewritten in Germany. The result is like a two-headed calf. The biggest job of rewriting is being done on the Soviet side of the line that splits Germany into Communist East and capitalist West. The urge is still under fairly tight rein in West Germany, but even so books have already appeared which cause a foreigner to look twice.

BETTER WORKOUT

Take the chapters which try to explain why Germany entered the First World War. Historians in Communist East Germany simply blame "imperialists" on both sides. West German and West Berlin historians give themselves a better workout.

They go into detailed explanations of how a rapidly expanding industrial capacity forced Germany to "engage in world trade." The reasons for the First World War lie in (1) the entry of Germany into world trade; (2) the world's political tensions, caused by the conquest of trade sources and outlets; (3) the mutual distrust and with it the related armaments race.

Another book, used during the seventh and eighth school years in both West Berlin and Karlsruhe, puts the blame on Austria.

The East German books make no bones about the direction of their allegiance. All capitalists are plunderers; all Communists (particularly Russian Communists) are good.

CHRIST UNMENTIONED

Although the East German books are filled with pictures and accounts of the lives of Marx, Lenin, Stalin and other Soviet prophets, there is no mention of the birth of Christ.

Although Christ is ignored, Christianity and its effect on the Roman Empire, are noted. The book says many early Christians were converted because they were promised proper burials in a graveyard, and because free meals sometimes accompanied religious services.

The East German books say: "The use of the atom bomb on Japan was designed not so much to bring a rapid end to the war, but rather to frighten the people and make them plant to the will of the U.S."

There is no mention of the 1948-49 blockade of West Berlin, when the Russians tried to starve out the beleaguered city.

One event which is not ignored is the Russian revolution of 1917. Chapter after chapter is devoted to it. Concluding one of the chapters is this remarkable assertion: "The great socialist October revolution opened a new epoch in the history of mankind, an epoch in which people can live and work free from every kind of exploitation."

THOUSANDS VISIT SHIPS

NEW YORK (CP)—Six Canadian and 16 United States warships played host to more than 22,000 visitors here during the weekend in an open house marking U.S.-Canadian naval week. Docked at north river piers, the vessels were units of an eight-ship Canadian task group and a 24-ship American task force taking part in the observances.

CALLS SAAR ELECTIONS

SAARBRUECKEN (Reuters)—Saarland Premier Johannes Hoffmann said today a new Saar parliament will be elected Dec. 4 following the Oct. 23 plebiscite on the Saar statute which would put the Saar under the West European Union pending a German peace treaty.

Northern Route Approved For Gas Pipeline

OTTAWA (CP)—Financial obstacles are still blocking a start on the natural gas pipeline from Alberta to the east, but permission has been granted the company planning to build the $350,000,000 line to swing farther north along the Great Lakes once the project does begin.

It was learned Saturday that the board of transport commissioners have approved an order for Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., for a route change that would swing the line from a southerly to a northerly path above the Great Lakes.

The switch would carry Alberta gas through the northern Ontario communities of Orient Bay, Geraldton, Long Lac, Hearst, Kapuskasing, Timmins and Earleton on its way to Montreal. The southerly course originally planned touched Schreiber, Marathon, Hawk Junction, Chapleau and Sudbury.

LINE LENGTHENED

Under the new arrangement, which would add 139 miles to the pipeline and stretch its total length to about 2,340 miles, Sudbury will be served by a branch line starting from a point near the Marten river.

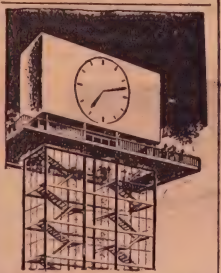

Trans-Canada applied for the change early this year and has estimated the northerly route will offer better sales prospects and cheaper construction costs in the "clay belt" beyond the rocky coastal areas of Lake Superior and Lake Huron.

With the company still unable to finance this largest of private Canadian construction jobs in decades, the federal, Ontario and Alberta governments are considering several ways of bringing the gas east.

INTERIM PLAN

One plan reported gaining increasing federal support would have the Ontario government provide help in laying the pipe to Ontario now with a view to selling surplus gas from the Toronto end into the United States.

Trans-Canada, meanwhile, has announced an interim arrangement whereby it will sell Alberta gas to the Tennessee Gas Transmission Company at the Manitoba - U.S. border and buy U.S. gas from

Paper Misspells Own Name For Fifty Years

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—The Providence Journal Sunday confessed a distressing thing—the 135-year-old paper has been misspelling its own name for more than 50 years.

On every day without interruption since April 29, 1848, The Journal has been running its title in large, black old English letters at the top of page one.

Two sharp-eyed readers in Attleboro, Mass., discovered recently what has eluded proofreaders for decades. The "J" in Journal was actually an "I".

Sunday The Journal boasted a new masthead—done correctly this time with a hand-cut red pen.

ATOM EXPERTS MEET

GENEVA (AP)—The United Nations said Sunday night a small group of atomic energy experts from Canada, Czechoslovakia, The Soviet Union, France, Britain and the United States will meet in Geneva for the next few days. ## Trotting-Horse Stallions Perish In Barn Fire

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Three of Canada's best trotting-horse breeding stallions were burned to death during the week-end in one of six Ontario farm fires which caused at least $110,000 damage.

The three stallions, valued at $10,000, died Saturday in a barn fire caused by lightning at Glendale stock farms just north of New Liskeard. They were among seven horses in the big I-shaped barn, owned by Jim Brown.

Lightning struck a corner of the building and appeared to explode. Count Hanover, a son of Billy Up rect; Goodwill Bill, son of Volomite, world champion sire; and Ned Abbye, a half-brother of Greyhound, died in the blaze along with a yearling, a foal, a gelding and a pony.

No Sir!... Ain't nothin' finer than that silky-smooth VARIABLE PITCH DYNAFLOW!

(AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION)

That's a mighty powerful statement. But then, Buick's a mighty powerful car... with an elegant appearance, luxurious roadside manners, and the sweetest motion this side of heaven.

And Buick's traditional roadability and performance are even more exciting with the unbeatable thrills of Variable Pitch Dynaflow automatic transmission.

To forget our manners for a moment and talk business, here's why Dynaflow is the finest automatic transmission you can drive.

Inside the Dynaflow unit are twenty propeller-like blades. When you hold your foot on the gas pedal in the normal way, they spin at their high-economy angle—and you enjoy many more miles from every tankful of gas. But when the need arises, you simply press way down—and you switch the pitch of these blades for high performance.

Instantly you're off and away. Instantly, you're at full-power acceleration, in a safely-surge of forward momentum that's thrilling beyond all previous motoring experience.

It's an unforgettable thrill—from the finest automatic transmission in the industry.

Drive a Buick soon. You're bound to agree that Dynaflow is really something to sing about.

*Variable Pitch Dynaflow automatic transmission is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at modest extra cost on other series.

Think Pope Will Announce Finding of St. Peter's Bones

By PATRICK CROSSE

ROME (Reuters) — Pope Pius soon may announce a sensational archaeological discovery—the finding of the bones of St. Peter, chief of the apostles.

In the solitude of his summer villa at Castel Gandolfo, 12 miles south of Rome, the pontiff is said to be preparing documents to which he attaches great importance.

The report coincides with hints that more than two years of research have established beyond reasonable doubt that in a precious casket kept in the Pope's private chapel lie the human remains of St. Peter, the first pope.

If Pope Pius confirms this finding it will mean the triumphant conclusion of 15 years of daring excavation beneath the colossal bulk of the Basilica of St. Peter in the Vatican.

ANNOUNCED DISCOVERY
In his Christmas message to the world in 1950, Pope Pius announced the finding of St. Peter's tomb directly beneath the high altar of the basilica.

The apostle was martyred in 64 or 67 A. D. in Nero's circus, flanking the site of the present basilica. In his 1950 Christmas message, the Pope declared:

"The essential question is: has the tomb of St. Peter really been rediscovered?"

"To this question the final conclusion of the excavations and of the researches replies with a most clear 'yes'."

MAY BE RELICS
"A second question, subordinate to the first, concerns the relics of the saint. Have they been found?"

"At the edge of the sepulchre were found the remains of human bones, of which, however, it is not possible to prove with certainty that they belong to the mortal body of the apostle."

"This leaves intact, however, the historic reality of the tomb."

Total secrecy has descended for the last five years on the fate of the bones. It was known that they were carried with the deepest veneration to the pontiff's private chapel, next to his bedroom on the third floor of the Vatican palace, and it was reported that he had ordered a detailed scientific study of them.

NEGATIVE AT FIRST
The Pope's statement in 1950 that it was impossible to prove that they were the bones of St. Peter indicated that the first result of the studies was negative.

But now it is hinted that later research has established the existence of fragments of an entire body, less the head.

This ties up with the ancient tradition that the head of St. Peter, together with that of St. Paul, is preserved in the high altar of the Lateran Basilica of St. John, the cathedral of Rome on the opposite side of the city.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By "CHICK" APPEL

(Sports Editor Stratford Beacon-Herald)

In accepting an invitation from George H. Carver, who we chose to dub "Teller of the Tallest Fish Tales in Captivity," we debated at some length as to its nature, and eventually arrived at the conclusion that subjects concerning Belleville sport and sportsmen would perhaps be the most acceptable to readers of the Belleville Ontario Intelligence.

Mention of Belleville immediately brought to mind Carver's predecessor, the late Ken Colling, one whom we knew well and respected as a real honest-to-gosh sportsman. We trust this reference to Ken will not be the means of bringing heartbreaks back to his surviving relatives, yet there was one incident in his life that we have never forgotten, and one which stamped him as a little guy with a heart as big as your head and one who had more plain ordinary guts than the average guy.

It was usually a yearly occasion to renew friendships with Ken at the annual meeting of the Ontario Baseball Association, of which he was an executive member for years. And it was on the occasion of the last time we saw Ken alive, the annual meeting of the Ontario Baseball Association at Hamilton, that we really realized what a great chap he actually was.

May we be pardoned in explaining that Ken was hospitalized in a Hamilton sanitarium with the disease that eventually proved fatal. We had just checked into a Hamilton hotel and were heading for the executive meeting when we bumped into Ken in the corridor. We never did get to that meeting, but we had a much more enjoyable time in our two-man annual reunion.

Ken knew then that his days were numbered, but the average layman would never have known it by the cheery disposition and happy three hours he and yours truly spent together in that hotel room.

It was not until then that we really discovered what a big man the little guy was. Ken admitted, to our sorrow, that he had not long to live, but said that while he was still alive he intended to enjoy as much of life as he could under the circumstances.

Not long after he passed away and with him went one of the country's finest sportsmen. One who contributed a real service to Belleville sports and sports in general. We have never forgotten his courage in the face of such a bleak future, nor will we ever forget that when Ken went to meet his Maker, Canada suffered an irreparable loss in what constitutes good, clean sportsmanship and splendid citizenry.

Of more recent times we came to know and appreciate the friendship of another former resident of Belleville, although not a native son, Pat Wilson, former coach of the Belleville baseball team. Pat came to Stratford four years ago to act as playing-coach of the Stratford Indians of the Senior "A" O.H.A.

It is history now how Pat welded just a mediocre team into an Allan Cup finalist the first season he was here. We were present at the first workout of candidates for that team, and felt sorry for Pat when only ten players turned out.

Eventually more players were added to the roster, but certainly when the schedule opened few would give the Indians much chance of getting anywhere because they were composed almost solely of homebrews, with only about five of them having had previous senior experience.

Into that squad Pat Wilson instilled the chief requisite of any championship club—team spirit and harmony. That combination of ingredients, plus constant practice, converted the Indians into a team that won the O.H.A. championship and eliminated such good teams as Pembroke Lumber Kings and Soo Greyhounds before bowing to Fort Frances Canadians in the Canadian finals. The Indians had been riddled with injuries, which left them with two defencesmen, Pat and 18-year-old Tommy Walker. Pat played over 50 minutes of the last game of the finals at Fort Frances.

Coming down to the present, it's good to know that Belleville has another grand sportsman, who refuses to let his city fade from the senior hockey picture, despite two previous seasons of financial failure.

We are not acquainted with this gent, Don McNevin, but hope to have the pleasure some time of meeting him and mulling him for his generous public spirit in taking over sponsorship of the Belleville team in senior "B" hockey when the situation looked hopeless.

We know from over 25 years of sports writing that Stratford would not occupy the prominent place it does in sports today were it not for the civic pride and generosity of a few individuals. The same spirit seems to prevail in Belleville, and Don McNevin deserves the undivided support of every citizen of his city in a venture that has been a bad gamble of recent years.

In handing some well-merited bouquets to Belleville sports and sportsmen, we would be remiss in our duty if we failed to refer to the regular conductor of this column, who will be returning home in a few weeks with his customary tales about the big ones that got away.

Like Ken Colling before him, we usually manage to renew acquaintances with George Carver once a year at the annual meeting of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association. It may appear a little like sounding off about a member of the fraternity, but it is a fact, nevertheless, that George is a staunch booster of athletics for the youngsters. He is a great booster of minor sports, as we have been for years.

In confessing that we have never visited Belleville other than while passing through on the chow chow, the hope is that some day that desire can be realized. One would almost conclude that a boost for Belleville is just an idle thought. Far from it, we admire what is being done and appreciate the few acquaintances we have there, including Claude "Tie and Tools" Holway, the latter a former Stratford hockey player.

Brooks Have Not Resembled Flag Winners Since All-Star Break; Lose Ten of Last 14

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baseball folks were beginning to wonder today whether Brooklyn may be heading for the most spectacular smash-up in the long Dodger tradition of blowing pennants.

Actually, it would take a complete Brooklyn collapse together with an incredible finish by either of the two top contenders—Milwaukee or New York—to accomplish the miracle. But those who still recall the late season slides of Dodgers in 1942 and 1951 are convinced nothing is impossible.

Win or lose, Dodgers haven't resembled pennant winners since the all-star break. Beaten for the third straight time by Philadelphia Sunday 6-4, Dodgers limped home with a record of 10 losses in their last 14 games, cutting their 1954 game lead of Aug. 12 over Milwaukee to 11 in nine days.

BRVES ROLL ON

Manager Walter Alston is sufficiently concerned to have ordered a rare late-season workout today.

Braves, continuing their battle against huge odds, won their fifth in a row, humbling Chicago Cubs 8-1 and Cincinnati shut out St. Louis 4-0 behind the four-hit pitching of rookie Don Gross. Rain washed out the scheduled double-header between Giants and Pirates in Pittsburgh.

The slumping Dodgers managed only six hits off Herman Webber who won his 10th with the relief help of Jack Meyer. Homers by Willie Jones, who hit a grand slammer in the third, Glen Gorman and Del Ennis accounted for Philadelphia's six Dodger pitchers.

Veteran outfielders Bobby Thomson and Andy Pafko rapped three hits apiece and Thomson drove in three runs to spark the Braves. Right-hander Bob "Buhl" spaced seven Cub hits for his 12th victory and seventh in his last eight starts. Outfielder Wally Post drove in three runs with his 31st home run and a single in Reds' victory over Cardinals. Harvey Haddix was the victim, dropping his 12th against 10 victories.

SOX WIN PAIR

Chicago's relentless White Sox climbed within half a game—two percentage points—of New York's American-League leading Yankees, sweeping a double-header from Detroit 2-0 and 8-2. Yanks dumped Baltimore 6-1, while third-place Cleveland remained one game from the top by walloping Kansas City 9-4. Fourth-place Boston, 4½ games short, beat Washington 4-1.

The Yankees home runs proved the undoing of veteran southpaw Eddie Lopat, making his first Yankee Stadium start against his former mates. Hank Bauer hit his 15th in the second, Bill Skowron his 11th and Mickey Mantle his 32nd in the third.

Don Larsen pitched the six-hit triumph to give the Yankees their 10th victory in the last 11 starts and their 18th in 20 meetings with the Orioles. It was Larsen's fifth straight since he was recalled from Denver July 30.

Jose Santiago, in relief of starter Bob Lemon, was credited with the Cleveland victory. Lemon was tagged for all Kansas City's runs in the second.

LEADERS WIN SATURDAY

A three-run outburst against loser Chuck Stobbs the eighth snapped a 1-1 deadlock and gave rookie George Susce his seventh triumph. Sammy White with a home run and a double, drove in two Boston runs.

Saturday, all three American League leaders won. Yankees defeated Orioles 3-2. Chicago nipped the Tigers 8-7. The Indians downed Kansas City 5-1 and the Senators downed the Red Sox 6-2.

Brooklyn bowed to Philadelphia 3-2. The Braves whipped the Cubs 6-1. The Giants took a 14-9 decision over the Pirates and Cincinnati won 7-4 over St. Louis.

Montreal Royals Again on Top In Int. League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When they get around to handing out rookie of the year honors in the International League, it will be impossible to overlook Jackie Brandt's credentials.

The Rochester centerfielder salvaged what seemed to be a lost cause Sunday with a last-inning, two-out, three-run homer to give Rochester a 12-11 victory over Richmond in the second game of a doubleheader. His leadoff round-tripper off Jim Konstanty in the seventh of the first game tied it at 1-1 and his mates went on to win it, 3-1.

Montreal jumped into first place with a pair of one-run victories at Syracuse, 2-1 and 3-2. The Toronto Maple Leafs fell 4½ game back into second, losing 2-0 to Havana's Pat Scantlebury. The Leafs led 11-7 after 5½ innings of the second game, which was called because of a curfew.

The Buffalo Bisons opened a four-game spread between themselves and cellar-dwelling Richmond by virtue of 8-2 and 9-6 victories over Columbus. Brandt's game-winning blow was his fourth homer in the last three games and his 12th of the season. The 21-year-old speedster has 19 stolen bases to his credit and is tied for the league lead in doubles and triples with 34 and 11, respectively.

It was tight pitching that put Montreal back atop the league. Glenn Cox, who went the route in the opener, saw the Chiefs score a run and load the bases in the ninth, but he got pinch-hitter Lynn Lovengrup to rap into a double play and wrapped up his 10th triumph.

Arnold Palmer Scores First Pro Victory in Canadian Open

By JACK SULLIVAN

Canadian Press Staff Writer

WESTON, Ont. (CP)—Young Arnold Palmer has proved himself as a qualified member of the elite and tough professional golf fraternity. He did it Saturday by winning the Canadian Open with a near-record 265.

It was Palmer's first pro victory and it was by no means a fluke. The newcomer darkhorse roving the tournament trail came up with a satisfying last-round two-under-par 70 after shaking off the jitters and a menacing challenge from veteran Fred Hawkins of St. Andrews.

The 22-hole total for the 25-year-old native of Latrobe, Pa., was only two strokes off the Canadian Open mark, 23 under par and four up on Jack Burke, Jr., of Kiamnesia Lake, N.Y., who carded a 269 for second place. Hawkins was third with 270 and Vancouver's Stan Leonard, shooting a brilliant seven-under-par 65 last round, was fourth with 272. Doug Ford, also from Kiamnesia Lake, was fifth with 273.

MAY BE LOWEST

It was a tremendous performance for Leonard and his score could rank as possibly the lowest for a Canadian in the 46-year history of the tournament. Leonard, who quit his job as pro at a Vancouver club this year to give the big-time circuit a full-time fling, shot three sub-par rounds and hit even par 72 on his third 18.

He collected $1,200 plus $300 as low Canadian.

But it was Palmer who caught the attention of the huge crowds that stampeded over the Weston Golf Club course in suburban Toronto.

Shortly after the Pennsylvanian pocketed the $2,400 first—prize money, he headed for Montreal and the $25,800 Open starting on Thursday. En route, he stopped for a spot of fishing "or some relaxation" with Tommy Bolt, the Chattanooga, Tenn., floundering who finished in sixth position with 274.

Palmer, winner of the 1954 U.S.

amateur title, came here virtually unknown amongst such old pros as Burke, Hawkins, Bolt, Ed and Marty Furgol, Jerry Barber, Sam Snead, Ted Kroil and others. It didn't take him long to establish himself.

He blazed home the first round in 64, a score that ordinarily would nail down first place but another unknown, Charlie Sifford from Philadelphia, stole the honors and the headlines with a record-equaling 63.

That was a flash in the pan for Sifford who ended in a 19th-place tie with $205 in prize money.

LEADS FOR GOOD

Just to prove he wasn't shooting over his head, Palmer scored a 67 on the second 18 and took over the lead for good. One or two others made threatening passes at his lead but he came right back with another 64 for a 54-hole total of 195, the lowest since the tournament started back in 1904.

Burke started Saturday's round five strokes in arrears and Hawkins was seven. Burke never seriously threatened, finishing with a 69, but Hawkins came awfully close to scoring an upset and his first win in the Open.

He played in a threesome with Palmer and Bolt and tossed a par, birdie, eagle, birdie and par at Palmer in the first five holes to chop the lead to only two strokes.

Palmer was one over par at that stage with a birdie on the third and a two-over-par six on the 30-yard fifth hole.

The huge gallery sensed trouble but Palmer pulled himself together, completed the nine in one-under-par 35 with birdies on the seventh and ninth while Hawkins finished with 33, shooting a one-over-par five on the ninth. Each posted a 35 on the back nine.

Defending champion Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon never was in the running. Bothered by the flu, he started the tournament with a 75, added a 73 and then a 70 for a 218 total and failed to qualify for the final 18.

Low amateur honors went to Scotty Fraser of Panama City, Fla., with 283. Moe Norman, Canadian amateur champion from Kitchener was second low play-for-fun golfer with 286.

"These Little Leaguers have a tough time telling off the umpire right to his face!"

Kitchener-Waterloo Team Selected as Olympic Hockey Entry at Cortina, Italy, in Feb.

TORONTO (CP)—Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, twice winners of the Allan Cup in the last three years, have been chosen to carry Canada's bid for a sixth Olympic hockey championship.

Dutchmen were selected during the weekend by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association to defend the title at the 1956 winter games at Cortina, Italy from Jan. 26 to Feb. 4.

Edmonton Mercurys won the crown for Canada for the fifth time at Oslo, Norway, in the 1948 games. Only once since hockey became a part of the Olympics in 1924 has another country taken the championship in 1936 when a British team, sprinkled with Canadian players, won.

Following an executive meeting here Sunday, the CAHA announced its selection in the form of an invitation to the Dutchmen. It was a foregone conclusion that they would accept. Two months ago the club announced it would go to the games if chosen.

The Ontario Hockey Association Senior 'A' League team won the Allan Cup, emblematic of senior hockey supremacy in Canada, last spring with a 4-1 triumph in games in the best-of-seven final against Fort William Beavers.

Dutchmen lost out in the previous season to Penitents Vs, who last year won the world championship. Three years ago, Kitchener-Waterloo defeated the Vs for the cup.

Final arrangements for the trip remain to be completed, but CAHA secretary George Dudley of Midland, Ont., said Sunday plans now are to fly the team to Italy Jan. 19, 1956, with the return scheduled about the end of the first week in February.

MAY PLAY IN RUSSIA
Dudley said the CAHA has ruled against an exhibition game in Europe before or after the games because terms offered by European arenas are inadequate. However, it is understood the team may try on its own to arrange a few exhibitions, including two in Moscow, where Dutchmen would become the first Canadian team to play hockey.

J. F. (Bunny) Ahearne of London, president of the European section of the International Ice Hockey Federation, attended the CAHA meeting, reporting on the European situation and terms offered for exhibition games. His report, details of which were not available, prompted the CAHA's decision.

At least 13 members of last year's Dutchmen are believed eligible for the Olympic hockey tournament. Among these are the club's best-scoring forwards.

Five reinstated professionals, defencemen Clare Marun, formerly with Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League; Bud Kemp of Hamilton, an International League player; and Joe Schertel, with Hershey of the American League; and centres Jackie Hamilton, ex-National Hockey League, and Jackie White, who played with Cleveland in the AHL—are considered ineligible.

In the twin cities of Kitchener and Waterloo, news of the Dutchmen's selection brought applause from civic and sports leaders.

Mayors Don Webber of Kitchener and Frank Bauer of Waterloo said the selection was a significant sports milestone for the hockey-minded twin cities. Dutchmen would bring honor to their community and to Canada.

Ray Bauer, past president of the club, said:

"It is the greatest hockey opportunity ever received. We're sure they'll acquit themselves in a manner that will add to Canada's prestige in the hockey world."

London Majors Chase Jinx Of Southpaws

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

London Majors, so bedevilled by southpaw pitching in this season's Senior Intercounty Baseball League that even Galt's lefties could down them, revamped themselves on Kitchener's left-hander Bill Allen Saturday night when they trounced the second-place Panthers 16-5.

The southpaw jinx must be native to the area. Brantford's lefty Earl MacDonald pitched the Red Sox to an 8-2 win over St. Thomas Elgins. Brantford fans might wish that London would continue to be lined to the Sox as they gain that half game they need to tie with London for a fourth place playoff spot.

Meanwhile, Galt fans saw their team defeated on its home field by the league-leading Oshawa Merchants. Wilmer Fields, the Intercounty's leading hitter, whacked the Merchants to a 12-7 victory.

At Sudbury, the Creighton Indians scored in the top half of the 12th inning to beat Copper Cliff Redmen 5-4. The win gave the Indians a 1-0 lead in the Nickel Belt Senior Baseball League semi-finals.

NINE IN THREE
The Niagara District Baseball League also saw its first semi-final action this weekend as Stamford Kerrios, who finished third in the regular season, defeated the champion Welland Seniors 6-4.

At London, the Majors teed off on Allen early, scoring nine runs in three innings. All told, the Majors collected 18 hits, including two home runs by Russ Ewen, three doubles and a pair of triples.

Right-hander Bob Simpson went the route for London and held the Panthers to eight hits.

Brantford southpaw Earl MacDonald pitched a seven-hitter to gain his fourth straight win. The Sox collected 11 hits for eight runs, most of them from St. Thomas lefty Bill Jamieson whom they knocked out of the box in the seventh.

Galt again brought up the rear—now 16 games out of first place and five behind their nearest rival, Brantford.

Imperials Hire Assistant Coach

SARNIA (CP)—Lindsay Lauro, former fullback at the University of Pittsburgh, arrived Saturday to take up assistant coaching duties with the Imperials of the Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union.

Lauro joins head coach Bob Friedlund and assistant Carl Depasqua on the Imperials' coaching staff and will assume his duties today.

Friedlund for the last five seasons was chief assistant coach at the University of Pittsburgh and Depasqua after starring for the school's varsity team as a quarterback took up the work of freshman coach and scout.

Lauro played for Chicago Cardinals in 1951. He has been assistant coach for the last three seasons at Dickinson College in Carlisle, Pa. He is 31 and single.

Fracture Records At Swim Meet In Montreal

By LEE EUSTACE

Canadians Press Staff Writer
MONTREAL (CP)—With a newly-elected executive installed in office, the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association now can get down to the job of editing its sadly-battered record books.

To new president Don W. Mitcham of Montreal and his officers—particularly records chairman Fletcher Winter of Vancouver—falls the job of listing 29 new Canadian marks after the hectic three-day Canadian swimming and diving championships, which wound up Saturday night.

The highlight of the record-breaking spree was the establishment of an unofficial world record by a starry female quartet from the Walter Reed Hospital Swim Club in Washington, D.C.

Mary Jane Sears, Shelley Mann, Douglas Gray and Wanda Werner, who individually and as a team broke seven records, topped their performance with a time of 4:30.5 in the senior women's 400-yard medley relay.

Among the Canadians, the leading swimmer was 16-year-old Helen Stewart of Vancouver's Amateur Swimming Club.

OLYMPIC PROSPECT
A gold-medal winner in the Pan-American Games at Mexico City last spring and a top Olympic prospect, Miss Stewart set new Canadian times for the junior women's 200-yard medley, 100-yard freestyle and the 100-yard breast stroke.

The Ontario section of the C.A.S.A. put up entries that tumbled three more marks. The junior women's relay team accounted for records in the 400-yard freestyle and 400-yard medley while the senior men's relay team established a new time in the 400-yard freestyle event.

Other Canadians with precedent-setting performances were Reg Griffin and Susan Sangster of Vancouver, Sara Barber of Brantford, Ont., and Lenora Fisher of Ocean Falls, B.C.

Miss Sangster swam the junior women's 400-yard free style in 5:29.1 for a record with Miss Barber second. Miss Barber was third in the junior women's 100-yard butterfly Saturday as Portia Hancock of Indianapolis broke the Canadian record.

Bantams Whip Peterborough In OASA Game

Elliott's Regents of Belleville, captured the first game in their two-of-three OASA bantam play-downs in Peterborough on Saturday, whipping the Peterborough club 14-9. The return game will take place here next Saturday.

Belleville took a commanding 8-0 lead in the initial frame and were never headed, although the home club narrowed the margin to 11-8 in the sixth with a big five-run spurge.

Ted Hook and Dick Clapp formed the winning battery with Hook allowing 11 hits, striking out five and walking three. Six errors made his task all the more difficult. Morrison hurled for Peterborough, giving up 14 hits, while fanning four and passing nine. Cullen caught, while his team committed by two errors.

Jim Hook spearheaded the Belleville attack with five singles. Brother Ted helped his own cause with a home run and a brace of singles as Langabeer crashed a home and double. Keller and Lewis rounded out the 14 hits, with two singles each.

Morrison was in defeat with a circuit blast and two singles while Mak-enaw tripled and added a brace of singles. Worryboy and Mak-enaw punched a pair of one-baggers each.

Belleville line-up — Keller, Clapp, Langabeer, Lewis, Morrison, Scrimshaw, T. Hook, Stoneburg, J. Hook.

Heat Kills Four-Minute Mile As Wes Santee Defeats Pirie

TORONTO (CP)—The heat of the afternoon and a snail-pace three-mile race that isn't a race, he said. The time was too slow. None of the runners would keep up the pace after the half.

"It was just too hot to run," said the British ace, who is more noted for his three- and six-mile running. He would have to open up a wide lead and then try to hold it if he was going to beat Santee.

Dwyer, "But I couldn't do that in heat."

Pirie will get another chance at Santee in about two weeks when the two run at the Canadian National Exhibition here.

EXTRA MILEAGE FOR CANADIAN DRIVERS!

Improved Esso gasolines and new Marvelube motor oil used together give these results!

1. MORE MILEAGE
2. IMPROVED GETAWAY
3. LESS ENGINE DEPOSITS

Here's proof from Imperial Oil's research laboratories

This research technician checks a gasoline quality test. Tests like this show improved Esso Gasolines burn cleaner—leave less engine deposits that rob cars of power. Research also reveals that when new Marvelube is used with Esso gasolines there is an even greater reduction in deposits.

In this full scale engine, wear and other effects of engine operating conditions are measured using different combinations of fuel and lubricating oils. In addition to laboratory tests, three years of road tests prove that Esso gasolines and Marvelube used together result in faster getaway and more mileage.

The best of Tall Tales

A big game hunter was caught in a dangerous position when his rifle jammed as he was being charged by a wounded bull elephant. Fortunately the gun was fitted with telescopic sights and with great presence of mind the hunter reversed the gun and looked at the elephant through the wrong end of the telescope. This brought the elephant down to about six inches high and the hunter was able to kill it by stamping his boot on its neck.

CONSERVATION

Ketcha Kormer

by the ROVING SECRETARY of the CARLING CONSERVATION CLUB

Every summer holiday we run into dozens of anglers angling on the river. Naturally, they are round and about. Due no doubt to their own deep love of fishing, we try to give them a little instruction in the proper use of their equipment. After all, we want everyone who is interested to reap the maximum amount of enjoyment from this great sport.

One of the most disheartening things we come across — it's really a near tragedy when you look at it from the novice's viewpoint — is that frequently a beginner's rod is totally unsuited to the purpose for which it was originally purchased. Many of these people have informed us that they went about it this way. They walked into a tackle shop, asked for a reasonably good reel and line and a casting rod. They've come out with reel and line all right (the latter sometimes too heavy, but not totally unsuitable) and a trolling rod — short, stiff, and quite the wrong thing for casting.

Here you have a thoroughly disillusioned angler in the making. Naturally he doesn't want to throw the new outfit away. It's all he has. He wants to be able to learn to cast a lure, but it's practically impossible for him — or anyone else for that matter — to cast properly with the equipment at hand. The whole purpose of this week's Kormer is to pass along a hint or two to those of you who are angling. The purchase of fishing tackle, our rod must be suitably light to cast with. Anything under five and one half feet is too short; six feet is better. A good way is to gauge the rod against your own height. It should be almost as long as you are tall. Once you've checked the rod for length, go over it for flexibility. The tip must be thoroughly flexible, and the butt must have sufficient strength that your casts may be made with only a very slight wrist action. With these conditions met, your next problem is the line. It should be full — either with line or with an arbour cover to make up the bulk. Most important, it should have a level winding device and an adjustment for tension on the revolving spool.

Let's presume you've gone over all these things, and you're satisfied with the equipment. The most neglected single item (at least to our knowledge) is oil. We rarely see a reel that has been regularly oiled. After all, a good reel is a piece of fine machinery, and it should be applied after every day's use. If you expect a reel to give the best performance for which it was designed, look after it!

There's one other point. Many a tedious hour is spent in the process of unravelling a backlash because of the line or with the reel in a position of overstrain. The reel should be properly oiled. Each lure has a slightly different weight, you know, and for this reason the spool of the reel should never be allowed to run free. Adjust the drag so that it will just shake down nicely. All clear? Simplicity itself, really. Now you're in business, so — light lines!

Russians Win
MOSCOW (Reuters).—Russia Sunday pointed up its world soccer cup potentialities by beating a strong German side, present holders of the world championships, 3-2 in an international match at Dynamo Stadium.

After scoring first, the Russians were held to 1-1 at halftime and interval. But two quick goals halfway through the second half carried them victory over a side which included eight of Germany's world cup team.

SWAPS WINS EIGHTH
CHICAGO (AP).—Sensational Swaps, leading all the way but never by more than 2½ lengths, won the one-length victory over the fast-talking Traffic Judge Saturday to win the $146,425 American Derby.

Rox C. Ellsworth's chestnut colt, making his debut on the grass course, covered the 1.3-mile distance in a record-making time of 1:54.3. It equaled the American-bred mark recently set by Flamingo in the Arlington Handicap.

Jockey Willie Shoemaker rode Swaps to his eighth successive triumph as a three-year-old.

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Odd hands in bridge are becoming as common as rumors of flying saucers. To be worthy of a second thought they must be tied in with some special occasion. The audience had just heard my talk on sacrifice bidding. The basic theme of this, of course, was that it pays to take a sacrifice loss of less than opponents can make at their own bid. In the exhibition game that followed came this deal:

NORTH

▲ A 5
♥ 8 6 5 4 2
♦ 9 8 7
♣ 7 2

WEST

▲ 8 7 3
♥ K J 10
♦ 9 5 4 3 2 6
♣ 8

EAST

▲ K Q J 10
♥ A K Q J
♦ 10 7 3
♣ K

SOUTH

▲ 9 6 4 2
♥ 7
♦ A J 10 9 8 5 4 3
♣ A

East was dealer and the bidding went:

East South West North
2♥ Pass 3♥ Pass
3♥ Pass 4♥ Pass
4♥ Pass 5♥ Pass
5♥ Pass 6♥ Pass
6♥ Pass All Pass

The opening bid of two in suit is signal for going to at least a game. So, south waited patiently until the other side made up its mind as to how high it could go. The first three rounds of bidding followed lesson rules. Lack of enough aces kept east and west from probing for slam. What is why they were willing to stop at a game contract.

Sitting back in the bushes until then, south came in with the six club bid as an intended sacrifice. This was in accordance with my earlier explanation of the advisability of a compensating loss. There was no way of knowing in advance that east and west could not make game. Nor that the intended sacrifice was not a sacrifice after all. Because the slam in clubs was not denied, those who know bridge realize how much they do not know. And even then they often don't.

Upsets Mark Close of Ont. Tennis Tourney

TORONTO (CP).—Hot weather and upsets marked the close of the Ontario international tennis championships as top-seeded players wilted in 90-degree temperatures.

Methodical Johann Kuperburger of South Africa, brought to the United States largely through the efforts of Gardiner Mulloy, dropped in straight sets 6-4, 6-3, 9-7 Sunday to win the men's singles title. Kuperburger had never before taken a set from the American.

Mrs. Louise Brown of Toronto turned the tables on favored Sara Mae Turber of Evansville, Ind., 6-4, 6-4 Saturday to win the women's singles.

Kuperburger, now attending the University of Miami, used smooth deep-court play and a deceptive serve on the sun-dried Toronto Lawn Tennis Club courts to upset the 44-year-old Mulloy.

DOUBLE WINNER
Mulloy was still showing signs of weariness following his three-hour match with the Canadian champion Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., Saturday in the semi-finals. The American finally disposed of Bedard 6-1, 4-6, 7-5, 9-7.

Despite her loss in the women's singles Mrs. Turber came through with two titles, defeating Kuperburger as a double winner.

The two teamed in the mixed doubles to whip Mrs. Brown and Austin Macpherson of Toronto 6-1, 6-4 in the final. Mrs. Turber then joined forces with Toronto's Ann Bagge to outlast Mrs. Brown and Dorothy Hurst of Toronto 3-6, 6-4, 8-6 for the women's doubles crown.

Bedard and Don Fong of Toronto, Canadian doubles champions, needed only three sets to defeat Kuperburger and Lorne Main of Toronto 6-1, 6-6, 6-2 in the men's doubles final. Fong ranked him sixth among doubles players in the United States, the only Canadian ever to make the first 10 there.

SOCCER TEAMS TIE
DUBLIN (AP).—Mánu and Dublin tied 7-7 Sunday in the second semi-final of the all-Ireland football championships played at Croke Park in a downpour of rain.

In the first semi-final week Cavan and Kerry also tied.

New Basketball Deal for Canada Is Announced

MONTREAL (CP).—A new basketball deal for Canada and a two-in-one tournament for Vancouver in March were announced here Saturday by the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association.

CABA secretary Al Irwin said a four-team tournament to be held at Vancouver March 23-28 will combine both the Canadian title play-off and the Olympic trials.

The old round-robin system is being scrapped in the interests of producing a stronger champion team, said Irwin.

The British Columbia Basketball Association will be host to the tournament and all teams will have expenses paid, Irwin said.

CABA also altered its system covering entry of college teams into the national playoffs.

CAN CHALLENGE CHAMP
"Under the new system, the university team in each province must come into our plans through the provincial basketball setup," said Irwin.

In 1948 and 1952, on the other hand, the CABA winner, the college winner, and from the finalists most of the Olympic team members were chosen.

The new plan means that when a provincial CABA champ is named the top college squad can challenge for the right to continue competition for the national crown. To give provincial squads greatest strength, the CABA is giving the right to the winner to choose any player from among eliminated teams.

B.C., as host and defending champion, is an automatic entry in the Vancouver playoffs. Alberta, as western finalist, and Ontario, as national runner-up, also will be automatic contestants. The other three associations who have senior titles—Quebec, Manitoba and Ottawa district—will meet for the fourth berth.

Sailor on Leave Conquers Stretch Of 18 Miles

MAGOG, Que. (CP).—Lake Memphremagog, an elongated stretch of water that spans the Canada-United States border, was conquered for the first time Sunday by a 19-year-old sailor home on leave.

Daily Connors, a six-foot two-inch tall from HMCS Resolute, swam the 32.8 miles from Newport, Vt., to Magog in 18 hours and 50 minutes.

Connors' swim came during a violent thunderstorm. His goggles were fogged much of the time and his eyes blinded by body grease.

COULD DO IT AGAIN
After a short rest Sunday afternoon, he was the guest of honor at a victory celebration which saw thousands of tourists and residents come to the streets of Magog.

The swimmer's mother, Mrs. Johnny Connors of Magog, herself a former championship swimmer, travelled beside her son in a small boat and occasionally swam beside him.

When he walked ashore, Connors felt "first class."

"Why, with a little rest I think I could do it all over again," he said.

WINS SOUTHPAW GOLF
PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man. (CP).—Al Patterson of the Winnipeg Southclub captured the Canadian left-handed golfers' championship today after a five-hole playoff with Bill Spriggs of Portage la Prairie.

Both Patterson and Spriggs wound up the official 18-hole contest over the par 72 Mayfair course with scores of 77. Ed Gade of Winnipeg was one stroke back at 78.

South Hastings Baseball League

Cannifon earned their way into the South Hastings baseball final series with Shannonville over the week-end by downing Latta 12-1.

Oliver hurled the distance for the victor's allowing just two hits while Stan Reid worked the first seven innings to take the loss. He gave up ten hits before Hal relieved him.

Rollins accounted for the loser's only runs with a circuit blast while the complete Cannifon club participated in their hitting. Marner and Cole with doubles paced the attack.

Lineups: Cannifon: Harder, Marner, Stolkier, MacDonald, Sheffield, Moore, Cole, Baker, Oliver.

Latta—F. Roy, Meeks, Glass, Sullivan, Pats, Rollins, G. Gow, S. Reid, H. Reid.

LINE SCORE:
Cannifon 035 005 1—12 12 0
Latta 010 000 0—1 2 4

Tennis Tourney Dominated By Michigan Blonde

OTTAWA (CP).—A Canadian won the junior men's title Saturday but a 15-year-old girl from Hamtramck, Mich., dominated the final day's play of the Canadian junior tennis championships.

Smith Chapman of Montreal defeated Francois Godebout of Waterloo, Ont., 2-6, 6-1, 6-1 to become the first Canadian-born player to win the junior men's championship play. It was also the first all-Canadian men's final in the tournament's history.

But Phyllis Saganski of Hamtramck, Mich., won three titles Saturday, raising her tournament total to four.

The blonde bombshell downed 1954 winner Ann Barclay of Vancouver 6-4, 6-1 to take the girls' singles championship.

She also copped two pairs titles. First she teamed up with Virginia Hesse, also of Hamtramck, to take the girls' doubles 6-3, 6-3 over Miss Barclay and Judy Travis of Rye, N.Y. Then she joined another Hamtramck player, Gerald Dubie, against Chapman and Eleanor Dodge of Montreal to win the junior mixed doubles 6-3, 6-3.

STAYS IN CANADA
Miss Saganski Friday teamed with Miss Hesse to win the junior women's doubles with a victory over Miss Barclay and Miss Dodge. But the Hamtramck star failed in her bid for the main women's crown when Miss Dodge defeated her in the final round Thursday to keep the junior women's singles title in Canada.

The crown has been held for the last four years by Mariette Laframboise of Montreal, for which this year is too old to play as a junior.

Another Canadian win was in the junior men's doubles, captured Friday by Peter Barnard and John Bassett of Montreal.

Most of the meet's other laurels went to United States players.

Miss Hesse and Ray Senkowski of Hamtramck Saturday won the boys' and girls' mixed doubles, defeating Miss Saganski and Yvon Leblanc of Montreal 3-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Earlier, Miss Hesse won the juvenile girls' singles championship, Gerald Dubie earlier won the boys' singles crown and joined club-mate Senkowski to take the boys' doubles from Bill Rankin and David Woodworth of Halifax.

Brockville Wins Light Eights At Regatta

OTTAWA (CP).—A crew of light eights from the Brockville, Ont., Rowing Club Saturday won the P. D. Ross Trophy, previously open only to university rowers, in the feature race of the Ottawa Rowing Club regatta.

The Brockville contingent, proving themselves superior in the open heavy eights competition, covered the mile and 550 yards on the Ottawa river in 16 minutes and 18 seconds to capture the trophy named for the late publisher of the Ottawa Journal.

Previously, the trophy was up for annual competition between the University of Ottawa and McMaster University, Hamilton, McMaster won the first four years. Last year the University of Ottawa was unable to enter a crew for the fifth running and it was postponed until this year.

Now, the trophy will be up for annual competition between open heavy eights at the Ottawa Rowing Club's annual regatta.

Brockville passed the pace-setting Toronto Argonauts at the half-way mark and held the lead. Ottawa Rowing Club placed third and Hamilton Leaders were fourth.

Crew of the Brockville entry: Vince Rooney, stroke; Jack Rooney, Bob Clampton, Gerry McInroe, Dennis Delaney, Mike Ford, Roger Carr, Bob Billings, bow; Twink Foddy, Cox.

Brockville won four of the five rowing events. In addition to the heavy eights, Brockville crews won the light four, the heavy four and the light eight.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Tuesday, August 23, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Fine rays abound. Take advantage of good situations. Remember that a willing mind and earnest effort make a journey easy. Hours in the P. M. especially favor family interests.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Use caution and thought before plunging ahead. Heading in the wrong direction or in an incorrect manner will waste time, vitality. Essentials first, then lesser projects.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Proceed with a logical and a pre-planned schedule. Excellent influences favor personal and business matters, civic and government interests. Romance play, under good aspects in the P. M.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Don't cut up your day with unrelated, disjointed activities. Determine what is important, then stick to it until accomplished.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Confusion can be a factor now. Waste no time on trifles, disregard annoyances. Spend time, energy on routine assignments. If extra time is available, relax, clear mind for tomorrow.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo) — Like Gemini, you have fine prospects now. Move with due speed and you should turn in a record performance. Seek advice of older, wiser head.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Avoid taking chances; in balance and allocate tasks in the order der of their importance. Whether needs are small or large, proper preparation is the keyword.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Today is yours to make of what you will. The time is ripe for great accomplishment. Pay heed and project your enthusiasm to the point of the greatest good.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Vibrations are similar to those of Gemini. Educational and literary interests, international affairs, investing in sound projects highly favored. Check your disposition.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Encouraging influences; step out and produce. Results without effort not in the stars.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Mind your "P's" and "Q's". Special attention to details suggested. Promote your interests with vigor and the day can be excellent. Build confidence in yourself, your goals.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Aims may be realized or fall within striking distance now. Cooperation with right forces and people is the answer. Don't ignore intelligent advice, hints.

YOU BORN TODAY: You are a cuspal zodiacal native, born on the change of Sign - in your case, the change from Leo to Virgo. Some of the impulsive fire of Leo is tempered by Virgo's practicality. You are innately fond of home-life, can get along especially well with children, though are sometimes too critical of adult members of your family. Talent is diversified in Virgo. You could do well in a public position. Religion, earnestness, avoidance of strain or fretting, and taking daily irritations with a smile are the recipe for contentment, ultimate success. Birthdate: W. E. Henley, poet, critic, editor; Louis XVI, King of France.

Lloyd Tucker
Has Stroke Lead
In First 18

NAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — Lloyd Tucker of Kitchener Rockway shot a 70 Sunday to take a narrow one-stroke lead over a field of 88 amateur and pro golfers after the first 18 holes of the second annual Niagara parks commission open.

One of three players to shatter par, Tucker took the lead on the lengthy 6,590-yard Niagara parks commission golf course when he carded a two-under par 34 on the first nine. He came home in even par figures for a 70. Paul O'Leary of Bismarck, N.D., and Bob Burns of Fort Erie, tied for second with 71.

The gallery at this $1,500 event followed amateur Moe Norman, Canadian amateur champ. But Moe found the heat and the long course far from his liking and carded a 76.

DEATH FOLLOWS STORM
KINGSTON, Jamaica (Reuters) — Between 40,000 and 70,000 persons are starving and hundreds are dying daily in Jamaica, southwest Haiti, which was devastated last October by Hurricane Hazel. It was reported here Saturday, Jamaica is rushing help to the republic.

It is reported here Saturday, Jamaica is rushing help to the republic. It voted $1,000 to buy cow liver oil, vitamin B complex and other high-concentrated food.

After two years of secrecy, the U.S. army revealed that it has been busy engaged in ringing Chicago with Nike sites such as the one pictured here at suburban Niles. From the Nikes can be launched these giant, pencil-shaped missiles which are provided with "electronic brains" capable of following and destroying enemy aircraft. Launcher at left has achieved almost perfect alignment. (Central Press Canadian).

FROM THE MAGGIE TO MANHATTAN

A four-day visit to Manhattan ahead of them these sailors make short work of tying up their ship, HMCS Magnificent, at the North River, New York. The carrier was one of six Canadian and two British naval vessels to bring 3,000 sailors to New York for an informal visit. (Central Press Canadian).

Calgary Stamps,
Regina Roughies
Win in West

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Opening night jitters—or butterfingers, at least—played a predominant role on the western football scene Saturday night.

In Calgary before 14,000 spectators, Calgary Stampeders scored a touchdown after Edmonton Eskimos fumbled, then Edmonton retaliated after a Calgary fumble. Stamps held a margin on kicking points until the final five minutes when the Grey Cup champion Eskimos won the game 13-10 with a converted touchdown.

At Regina, Saskatchewan Roughriders downed Winnipeg Blue Bombers 17-7 with three majors on a pitchout interception, two following Winnipeg fumbles—as 13,500 fans witnessed a generally lively Western Interprovincial Football Union encounter.

The WIFU's 40-game schedule continues tonight when Stampeders go against British Columbia Lions at Vancouver and Eskimos meet Bombers at Winnipeg.

Quarterback Buddy Leake's second and third plays for Winnipeg resulted in two Saskatchewan touchdowns within three minutes after the opening run.

He fumbled on his second play, and Riders recovered and marched 22 yards to Ken Carpenter's first major. After the kickoff, Leake's pitchout to fullback Pat Olschak was snared by end Gord Sturtridge who ran to Saskatchewan's second touchdown. Guard Reg Whitehouse converted both.

After a 56-yard pass play with halfback Leo Lewis, Leake scored and converted Bombers' only major. Defensive half and quarter Gerry Vincent kicked a single.

River Valley
M.A. Entertains
Baby Band

STIRLING — On Tuesday, members of River Valley Missionary Auxiliary entertained the Baby Band and their leader, Mrs. Gerald Brooks, and the boys' group. There were 15 adults and 15 children in attendance.

Mrs. Ernest Carr opened the Auxiliary meeting and conducted the usual business.

Mrs. Gerald Brooks told the various mite box stories. Each child had a part on the program, and Miss Adeline Bush told an interesting story.

GAMES ENJOYED

The program was followed by games on the lawn and each child received a balloon.

The hostess set one long table, where all the children were seated. The place cards were novelty umbrellas. The usual refreshments, with fruit jellies, were served.

In honor of the birthday anniversary of the hostess, whose natal day was Wednesday, the 17th, the lunch committee, Mrs. Bob Philip and Mrs. Alex. Bush provided a decorated birthday cake which was enjoyed by all.

The afternoon was a decided success.

Battered Ship Is Being Towed Toward Scotland

LONDON (AP) — The battered British freighter Argoeborn, wallowing under gale-force winds and 18-foot waves, inched slowly toward shelter off Scotland today, towed by the little salvage tug Salvea.

"She made about 50 miles toward the shore during the night, but the weather is worsening and it will be a miracle if she makes it," a spokesman for the 7,133-ton freighter's owners said.

At last report, the Argoeborn was about 180 miles west of the butt of Lewis, northernmost point of the Outer Hebrides.

Capt. George Watson, 46-year-old master of the Argoeborn, and chief officer Kenneth Seaman were finally forced to abandon their ship Sunday night after 53 hours aboard her crippled bridge.

The Argoeborn was put out of action by an engine-room fire Friday. Her crew were taken aboard the Swedish passenger liner Kungsholm, en route to New York, but Watson and Seaman elected to remain on board.

The Argoeborn was carrying coal from the United States to Copenhagen.

Road Accidents Take 25 Lives In East Canada

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Highway accidents took 25 lives in eastern Canada during the week-end, accounting for the majority of the 37 violent deaths reported. A Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Sunday showed Ontario had the highest toll with 16 deaths. Quebec had 11, New Brunswick five, Nova Scotia three and Newfoundland two. In Ontario 10 persons died in traffic accidents, four were drowned, a baby was suffocated and a CBC technician died after a 20-foot fall from a crane. The worst accident occurred in the northern New Brunswick town of Jacquet River where a two-car collision on a narrow bridge claimed four lives.

Dead are Walter Elslinger, 22, and Joseph Elslinger, 19, Nash Creek, N.B.; Joseph O'Neill, 26, Culligan; and Stewart MacAllister, 26, Jacquet River.

Ian Gordon Murray, 26, of Toronto, was fatally injured at the World Scout Jamboree at Niagara-on-the-Lake when the crane bucket in which his television camera was mounted tipped and threw him to the ground.

Margaret Knew Size of Nylons Man Wanted

BALLATER, Scotland (AP) — Princess Margaret stood behind a counter selling nylon stockings and nylons at a church bazaar Saturday.

A young man finally edged through the crowd to the counter and asked for a pair of nylons. "What size?" asked the princess. "I don't know," the young man replied, blushing, "but they are for a young lady about your size."

"Oh," said Margaret, "then you'll want eight."

Water Hemlock Threat to Cattle

Water Hemlock is a weed, native to North America, that is extremely dangerous to livestock. The roots though small as walnuts, contain a poison which can kill an animal in fifteen minutes when eaten in the spring, reports the Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. This is a perennial weed which can be distinguished by the purple joints and purple spots on the furrowed, erect and hollow stems which grow to six feet in height. The leaves are lance shaped, deeply toothed, compound and arranged alternately on the stem. The flowers grow in umbrella like clusters of dull white blossoms and appear from July to September. Water Hemlock is common in swamps, low ground, along ditches and the sides of rivers where it spreads by offshoots from the base of the stem or by its abundant seed.

Water Hemlock is a member of the parsley family and is sometimes called musquash root, spotted cowbane or beaver poison. Although all parts of the plant contain poison, animals may eat limited amounts of the tops mixed with hay without ill effects. The roots have been known to cause poisoning in humans who have mistaken them for parsnips, artichokes or other edible roots.

HAND PULLING BEST

The method of control most commonly used is hand pulling. Care must be taken to remove all plants from the water so that the poison cannot spread through that medium. One application of 2, 4-D can be used to control the top growth when applied at eight ounces of actual acid per acre. To kill the roots, however, several applications of 2, 4-D at sixteen ounces of actual acid per acre may be required. 2, 4-D should only be used while the plants are growing.

When the plants are killed by chemicals the tuber-like, fleshy, spindle shaped roots remain in the soil. Livestock, attracted to them by their strong odor, could still become poisoned by eating them. The symptoms of poisoning from water hemlock are labored breathing, frothing at the mouth, loss of sight, diarrhea and great pain which frequently ends in death.

In order to avoid loss of livestock all areas infested with water hemlock should be located and the animals kept out of the area until all the plants, including all of the roots, are removed and totally destroyed.

French Forces Attack At Dawn On 60-Mile Front

Death Toll Is Almost 1,700 In Morocco and in Algeria

CASABLANCA, Morocco (CP)—French forces today sprang a dawn attack against Moroccan rebels south of Casablanca in a punishing follow-up to the weekend anti-French riots and fighting.

Planes and tanks supported the powerful forces in this morning's assault on a 60-mile front from Oued Zem to Kenitra, two of the main centres of the weekend rioting.

The attack was believed here to be a continuation of the drive which the French opened Monday against Berber warriors entrenched in the hills above Oued Zem, where some 50 Europeans were massacred and mutilated.

A large-scale clean-up was expected as big troop movements were reported during the night around Kenitra, Oued Zem and Khoulouga. In all three towns, Moroccan rebels had rioted in favor of ousted Sultan Sidi Mohammed ben Youssef, deposed by the French two years ago for alleged pro-nationalist sympathies.

1700 DEAD

The death toll has been unofficially estimated at a total of almost 1,700 in this French North African province and in neighboring Algeria since Saturday — the second anniversary of ben Youssef's deposition.

The zone of Kasba Tala in Morocco, where Gen. Raymond Duval, commander of French troops in Morocco, was killed in a plane crash Monday, was declared a "zone of insecurity."

Starting in an area about 60 miles southeast of Casablanca, automobiles are being allowed to travel only in armed convoys. The convoys will leave three times daily from Khoulouga toward Oued Zem, scene of the bloodiest single incident in Saturday's Moroccan outbreak.

Excavations At Iroquois Village Site End

STONY LAKE, Ont. (CP)—Excavations on the Iroquois village site on the Stony Lake farm of Lyle Quackenbush near Peterborough ended for the season Monday. Anthropologists regard the work as the most important done in the area for some time.

W. Richard Adams of the University of Indiana, who heads the expedition of United States and Canadian scientists, said the site gave more information than the previously discovered Indian petroglyphs—rock carvings.

The party started work in June. During preliminary excavations they located a longhouse. Detailed work revealed the outlines of the lodge, three fire pits and two burials beneath the floor.

The burials, not usually found in or near a village site, particularly puzzle the scientists.

The party now has moved its camp to nearby Rice Lake where they will be engaged in a preliminary survey of the serpent mounds.

ALBANY, N. Y. (CP)—Broderick Albany said his Siena college ring back, two years after losing it in Korea. A detail of Koreans found the ring last fall while cleaning out old United States army installations and a Siena man in the army there sent it to the college.

Rev. Benjamin Kuhn, college alumni director, traced Spindoff by his initials and the graduation date—1952—engraved on the ring.

10 DIE, 30 HURT AS SCHOOL BUS HIT BY TRAIN

Tennessee Driver Says Cars Blocked His View

SPRING CITY, Tenn. (AP)—A long freight train, its whistle blowing shrilly, rammed into a loaded school bus here Monday, killing 10 youngsters and injuring 30 others and the bus driver.

The yellow-painted bus was midway across the downtown grade crossing when the 100-car train smashed into it at an estimated speed of 45 miles an hour.

Bystanders—some whose children were aboard the bus—stood horrified as the little bodies were flung along the tracks from the crumpled, twisted wreckage.

The children, ranging in age from 6 to 12, had just begun the second week of school. All were killed or injured. They were taken to hospitals and funeral homes over a wire area, delaying identification for hours.

DRIVER CHARGED

At least five of the 21 held in hospital overnight were described as in serious condition. Nine other students and the bus driver, Raymond Moore, 39, were treated and released.

Moore, who had started driving a school bus only last week, said he stopped at the crossing but his view was blocked by four parked cars.

When I started across the tracks I saw it (the train) and heard the engineer blowing his whistle," he said. "I prayed I would make it, but I knew I was too late."

Moore was charged with manslaughter and released on bond. Gene Crisp said he reached the scene seconds after the crash. Shattered glass and school books lay among the mangled bodies.

"My two boys came running toward me out of the dust, hollering 'Daddy, Daddy.' I was never so glad to see anybody in my life."

"PUFF OF SMOKE"

Police Chief Raymond Powers said he heard the crash, looked up and saw a "puff of smoke."

"When the smoke cleared, people began picking up bodies of the children and loading them into cars and ambulances."

Paul Gilles, engineer of the Southern Railway train, estimated his speed at 45 miles an hour at the time of the impact. Gilles also was charged with manslaughter, highway patrolmen said.

Spring City schools, as in many other rural Tennessee areas, start classes in August in order to allow a harvest time recess.

The accident happened at a crossing equipped with automatic warning lights. State highway patrol Sgt. Cecil Strader quoted Moore as saying the signal device was not working. But Strader said several bystanders reported the lights were working properly.

Train Crash Kills 18

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — A fast electric express train carrying school children and commuters rammed into the rear of another train today at a fog-shrouded station on Buenos Aires outskirts.

First reports indicated a death toll of 15 to 18 and 45 to 55 injured.

CAVE-IN Buries FOUR

SCUNTHORPE, England (AP)—An ironstone mine cave-in early today buried alive four workmen and injured three others. The roof of the mine collapsed during a drilling operation while the men were working at a depth of 120 feet. The four killed were smothered under debris.

India's Ambassador to United States, Aide Asked to Leave Dining Room

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Because a restaurant supervisor thought they were Negroes, India's ambassador to the United States and his secretary were asked to leave the dining room of a swank eatery here Monday.

Mrs. Mary Alley, the supervisor, was reported by a witness to have said that she asked the pair to leave the room. "The law's the law," Mrs. Alley was quoted as saying.

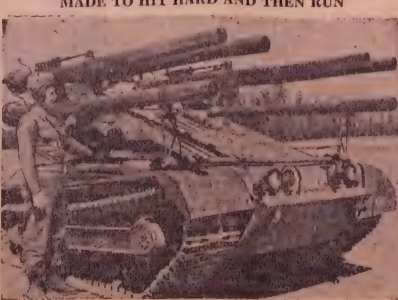

The witness, Frank Gribble, Houston public relations counsel, said she "thought they were Negroes."

Texas law forbids serving Negroes and white people in the same room. Houston's contract with the federal government, however, bans discrimination at the international airport — where the incident occurred in the Horizon House restaurant.

The Houston Post says that at least six witnesses told of hearing Mrs. Alley ask the ambassador, Gaganvir Lal Bahadur Mehta, and his secretary, B. A. Rajagopalan, to leave the dining room.

The ambassador and his secretary looked at each other, smiled, and complied. They made no protest and followed Mrs. Alley into a small dining room back of the cashier's cage.

John P. Stephens, executive assistant to Houston Mayor Roy Hofheinz, said the incident was a "questionable" application to the dining room. He said there had been two similar incidents since spring, one involving Cubans,

Erie Storm Drowns Skipper But His Bride, Age 70, Saved

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—The Little Lady a 16-foot honeymoon cruiser named by her proud 78-year-old skipper in honor of his bride, capsized in storm-swept Lake Erie Monday. The skipper was drowned. His wife was saved after floundering three hours in a life belt.

Only one rare bit of luck kept Mrs. Harvey Hecker, 70, from drowning. By chance, Herbert Durst of nearby North East, Pa., saw the couple's capsized boat in the heaving surf and pulled Mrs. Hecker from the water. She was in fair condition today at an Erie hospital.

Neither Hecker nor his bride could swim. But that didn't keep her from traveling several thousand miles in the cruiser after they were married May 21 in Florida.

Hecker didn't make his first long boat trip until he was 75. With a smile, he told a reporter, "I don't know how I got so lucky."

"Maybe I'm a damn fool, but I'm going to have some fun before I die."

In 1952 he put together a 16-foot skiff from a pre-cut mail-order kit. He took it 4,000 miles around the country and said the trip cost him only $100, although it took 10 months.

He was living in Florida when he met the former Mrs. Louise Lussier, and they were married shortly after. Ten days later they started on the leisurely trip which ended Monday.

The adventurous Hecker assembled the boat in which he carefully planned his honeymoon. It was equipped with two 10-horsepower motors. It had no radio, but the couple usually pulled into port at night and stopped in hotels.

They never had serious trouble on their trip up the inland waterway to New York.

The storm Monday came up suddenly. The craft started to fall to pieces.

Mrs. Hecker said both she and her husband were tossed into the water shortly after they donned their life preservers. After the storm subsided, Durst went to the shore to check on the condition of his boat. He saw the couple and launched his craft. When he reached the scene Hecker was dead and his wife semi-conscious.

Four Scouts Score Triumph In Jamboree's First Display

By BILL BOSS

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont. (CP)—Eight hundred boys from France and her colonies—white and black, Christian, Jewish and Moslem—told the story of brotherhood through scouting Monday night at the World Scout jamboree.

The pageant was the first major spectacle of a week-long program. British scouts held its stage tonight.

Invigorated by a wind-and-rain storm earlier in the day, motorists and spectators had found a deeper comradeship through pitching in to save their campsites, and the French-colonial display capped it off.

Neither the French pageant, nor the Scandinavian and Italian displays which followed it, were affected by the absence of the arena stage's huge backdrop—toppled in the mid-day storm which also leveled many a tent and whipped crockery, table cloths and scout hats from out of the billowing food shelters.

The themes developed by the boys from continental France, Morocco, Algeria and French Equatorial Africa emerged simply and directly, easily understood visually by any of the 10,000 scouts of 68 nationalities and 20-odd languages represented.

Each of the three displays was on a mass scale, with more than 300 costumed scouts participating.

The first showed cardboard-belted Gauls, who lived in a village some 2,000 years ago ranged in opposing armies. They fought forward and backward until some genius was inspired to throw a ball among them and the battle became a hockey match.

The second showed the battle of Fontenoy when, in 1745, the Duke of Saxe defeated the English and the Austrians. Another battle, and another ball, this time producing a soccer match with the British defeating the French 1-0.

The third was a massive collage of the folk stories, myths and legends of those lands. Medical authorities reported 132 cases of poison ivy Monday, mainly in the French-speaking Canadian area. Eight cases were severe, with six detained in hospital for treatment.

REWEDES AT 92

BENEVENTO, Italy (AP)—Caroline de Luca, 92-year-old man, died Monday for the fifth time. The bride was Maria Grazia Saginario, a 64-year-old weaver.

STORMS PLAGUE CANADA FROM COAST TO COAST

High Winds, Hail, Rain, Lightning Prominent

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Violent and unexpected storms of little duration have plagued sections of Canada from the Maritimes to the Prairies during the last two days.

High winds, hail, heavy rain and lightning have struck communities in New Brunswick, Ontario and Manitoba. No serious injuries to persons have been reported, but the turbulent elements have combined to wreck communications systems, flood underpasses, disrupt transportations, uproot trees and damage buildings.

Most recent of the baby hurricanes raced through New Brunswick Monday from Maine, isolating towns and disrupting telephone and telegraph systems for about three hours.

CROPS DAMAGED

Several communities in Ontario including Lindsay reported "small twisters" Sunday and Monday. They brought winds which produced gusts of gale force, sudden downpours of rain and uprooted many trees. Cars and buildings were reported damaged by winds and falling objects.

A hail storm with winds up to 62 miles an hour damaged crops to the extent of an estimated $300,000 near Portage la Prairie early Monday. Roof of the arena there was torn off and many farm buildings were upset.

Most of the storms struck in areas sweltering in near-record and record temperatures. However, Halifax and Yarmouth, N.S., chalked up record temperatures of 89 and 82, but were missed by the blizzards.

Thousands of ducks were reported killed during a hail storm which struck the lower Lake Winnipeg area Saturday. They had been feeding in grain fields when the storm struck.

Sudan Mutiny Is Collapsing

KHARTOUM (AP) — Airborne government troops Monday attacked Torit, mudhut village on the Nile river in southern Sudan by rebellious soldiers Wednesday.

There are signs that the army uprising in the three southern provinces was collapsing. In Cairo, a British embassy spokesman said the Torit mutiny had radiated they were ready to give up. The spokesman added 136 mutineers had surrendered at Omdurman, north of the British protectorate of Uganda.

Uganda's communications by the government here said 158 mutineers had surrendered at Yei, 100 miles south of Juba, capital of Equatoria province. They three armed their arms after being rounded up by loyal forces from northern Sudan.

SLIPS FROM BANK

BOSTON (AP) — A 2-year-old boy, who refused to join his friends on a raft he considered unsafe, was drowned Monday when he slipped from a bank into Port Point channel. Everett D. Bell Jr., slipped as he watched his friends from the shore.

Survivors Tell How Arabs Hacked Patients Lying in Hospital Beds

OUED ZEM, Morocco (Reuters)

European survivors, their eyes still mirroring the horror of Saturday's Moroccan massacre in this little town, today told how Arabs had hacked patients lying in their hospital beds.

One of the related how a little group of women and one male hospital official held off repeated attacks by rioters with the aid of one revolver.

The head of the hospital, a Dr. Fischbacher, had spent most of Friday night in the operating theatre fighting for the life of a little boy. When all danger had passed, the doctor went to his house across the street to catch a few hours of sleep.

In the morning, as he left the house, he was met by a frenzied crowd of demonstrators. Three shots rang out and the doctor fell. The Moroccan tore into his body with stones, sticks and kicks before leaving it lying in the road and storming the hospital.

Terror—staying patients—men, women and children—were slain with axes.

The little boy, still bandaged from his operation, was slashed to death and his body set on fire. A woman and her three children who had sought refuge in the hospital from the mobs in the streets were murdered among the overturned beds and smashed hospital equipment.

Some of the nurses, together with the almoner (the hospital official who assesses how much should be charged for treatment) and Mrs. Fischbacher, escaped to a nearby hut where they barricaded the door and windows.

For six hours, with the aid of the almoner's revolver, the small group managed to hold off continued attacks.

Only two bullets remained in the chamber of the revolver when a hostile Legion patrol finally came to the rescue.

British Airmen Try Round-Trip Atlantic Flight

Canberra Jet at New York 7½ Hours After Take-Off

NEW YORK (Reuters) — A British Canberra jet plane took off from Floyd Bennett naval air station at 10:23 a.m. EDT today on the second leg of an attempted double crossing of the Atlantic in under 15 hours.

The twin-jet plane had arrived at Floyd Bennett at 9:48 a.m. after taking seven hours and 31 minutes for the east-west crossing from Croydon airport, outside London.

After "buzzing" Floyd Bennett the plane landed four minutes later, and the refueling was done in 31 minutes.

Their westward crossing time was almost on the nose with expectations. They had aimed to make it in 7½ hours, with tail winds cutting their return time by an hour.

TRIP MADE BEFORE

That would mean a 14-hour trip, covering 6,500 miles.

The fliers, pilot John Hackett and navigator Peter Moneypanny, were flying a photo reconnaissance version of the RAF's Canberra jet bomber.

Although a round trip over the Atlantic in a single day was made in 1952, it was over a different route — from Northern Ireland to Gander, Newfoundland and back—2,766 miles shorter than the London-New York course.

The two pilots left London at 2:17 a.m. EDT and they hoped to get back by 4:15 p.m. EDT—which will be 9:15 p.m. in London.

Four Civilians Die as U.S. Army Plane Hits House

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—A C-119 Flying Boxcar from the Charleston air force base crashed into three private homes near the base early today, killing at least 10 persons.

The dead included four civilians and six of the crew of 11, the base public information office said.

The plane exploded after the crash.

The plane developed engine trouble shortly after takeoff. The pilot apparently tried to return to the base. The ship hit a tree in the centre of a densely populated settlement.

It plowed into one house, exploded, and catapulted into two others. Wreckage of the plane was strewn over a wide area.

The crash scene was just west of U.S. Highway 52, a main route into Charleston, and about 10 miles from the centre of town.

HANG TAX RESISTERS

LONDON (AP) — Britain's foreign office is investigating reports that seven Somali tribesmen have been hanged by authorities in Ethiopia for resisting payment of back taxes. More public executions of Somalis are reported planned for the same sort of offence, according to word received from a British consular mission in Ethiopia.

Arrest Woman In Cheque Case

TORONTO (CP) — Police investigating a series of cheque frauds at Ontario banks said they arrested a woman and seized a number of rubber stamps Monday at a Shelburne, Ont., farm.

They said the investigation was started after a number of forged cheques were passed at banks in Toronto, Brampton, Guelph and Shelburne areas. They said the frauds took place during the last 12 months and involved a total of $10,000.

Arlene June Brown, 29, of Shelburne has been charged with uttering a forged $3,700 cheque at a midtown Toronto branch of Toronto — Dominion Bank, police said.

HARRY LOW DIES

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Harry Low, 67, prominent Windsor businessman for several years, died yesterday Sunday after a short illness. Mr. Low was a former president of the Trenton Valley Die Casters Corporation. He was former vice-president of Carling Brewing Company, London, Ont.

CITY &amp; DISTRICT NEWS

REMAND ACCUSED FOR SENTENCE

Convicted on a charge of stealing a boat from Point Anne, Clinton Bagley, 23, of Belleville was remanded for sentence by Magistrate T. Y. Willis in magistrate's court Monday.

Other charges against Bagley of stealing an outboard motor and gasoline tank are still to be heard police stated.

Robbery Charge Will Be Heard At Marmora

James Orville Ross, charged with robbing the Toronto-Dominion bank at Marmora of $5,492 last June 29th, was remanded for one week in magistrate's court today to allow the accused to obtain counsel.

Ross was brought to Belleville from Toronto last week and was remanded until today.

The Marmora bank was entered during the morning of June 29th by two men posing as furnace repair men. Employees were tied up and the two men escaped with $5,492 in bank funds.

Ross will appear in Marmora court next Wednesday, Aug. 31st, in answer to the charge.

Deseronto Legion Branch to Honor Betty Berry

Betty Berry, Deseronto's heroine of the Bay of Quinte swim, will have her feat officially hailed by her hometown Sept. 3.

The tribute, being organized by the local branch of Canadian Legion who sponsored her Pleiton-tion swim last week-end, is organizing the event, to be known as "Betty Berry Day."

Her conquering of the 18-mile stretch last Saturday touched off such a reception by her proud townfolk it was decided that something more auspicious in keeping with her triumph, should be staged. While Betty was making an impromptu speech in early hours of Sunday to a throng at a Legion jamboree fair, members of the organization already were forming the idea for the event.

Although the plan now is in the definite stage, organization so far is still tentative. The Legion will hold an organizational meeting tomorrow night to lay plans and schedules for the big day, Harry Fraser, president of the Deseronto branch announced.

Presentations and gifts will be made the spunky 23-year-old nurse, who now has become the sweetheart of the town. Among the presentations definite at the moment is the gift of a watch from the merchants of the town. Mr. Fraser said, while it is likely many more tributes will be added by the council and other organizations.

Also to be presented to her will be the proceeds from spontaneous donations dropped in a milk can by the spectators at the waterfront and at the jamboree Saturday night. The proceeds from a pool, organized by the Legion in the form of time-predictions on Betty's arrival at Deseronto, also will be presented to her.

Winner of a $50 prize from the pool was Mrs. Don Fothergill of Deseronto, who made the closest guess on the finishing time of the swim.

Shopping Made Easier At Canadian Tire

Canadian Tire Corporation for many years have built their business on a cash basis, but to keep pace with modern shopping habits, they have inaugurated their own Credit Budget Plan. The highlights of this plan are that a customer may purchase on credit, on no down payment and weekly payments as low as $1.

On accepted accounts there is no waiting, immediate delivery of any goods can be secured. Under this new scheme there is no outside interviews or references required.

As in all of Canadian Tire Corporation activities, they have been successful in setting up this plan with a minimum cost to the consumer. Carrying charges are much below most other companies.

Cooler Weather Brings Lighter Market Trading

Business on the local market this morning was light, cooler weather probably having an adverse effect on open-air trading.

Tomatoes were 40 cents a six-quart basket, while corn ranged from 40-50 cents. Marrows were 10-15 cents a bushel, cucumbers brought 40 cents a basket for slicers, 65 cents for dills and up to $1.25 for gherkins. Carrots were 10 cents a bunch and cabbage 10-15 cents a head. Potatoes were 50 cents a basket and beets 60 cents a basket. Onions were 75 cents a basket and 25 cents a quart box.

There will be no objectionable fumes to bother either workers or residents living near the plant.

He promised as soon as the company had moved into its new location that the public would be welcomed at a special opening day.

Mr. Walsh was introduced by Pore McGuire and thanked by Jack Deacon.

Obituary

MRS. GEORGE H. PAULEY

The funeral of Mrs. Annie Pauley, widow of George H. Pauley, 89 Octavia St., was held Monday, August 22nd, from the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home to Christ church where the service was conducted by Archdeacon J. B. Creenag assisted by Rev. Everett Smith.

Bearers were C. E. Cameron, M. B. Sutton, R. H. Godden, S. H. Millard, J. W. Harwood and Arthur Ellis.

Interment took place in Belleville cemetery.

BILLA KETCHESON (R. R. 1, Halloway)

The funeral of Billa Ketcheson, R.R. 1, Halloway, was held Monday, August 22nd, from the chapel of the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home. Rev. W. T. Middleton conducted the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Foster sang "Goodnight and Good Morning".

Bearers were Shervin Cronkwright, Roscoe Robson, Glen Ish, Earl Dickey, Earl Sayers and Roy Chambers.

Interment took place in Victoria cemetery.

MRS. LEO T. HOULIHAN (Belleville - Sarnia)

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary A. Houlihan, Sarnia, and a native of Belleville, were held at Sarnia Saturday. Interment was in Our Lady of Mercy cemetery there.

Mrs. Houlihan died August 18 in hospital. She was 55.

Born in Belleville, she had lived in Sarnia since 1939. A Roman Catholic, she was active in church activities in her adopted city. She was a member of the Catholic Women's League and of the city's St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary, of which she was first secretary on that organization's formation in 1946.

Besides her husband, Leo T. Houlihan, she is survived by a son, Leo F., a star player with the Sarnia Sailors hockey team, and two grandchildren, all of Sarnia.

Also surviving are two brothers, Frank Deacon, of Belleville, and Fred Deacon, Windsor.

WINNIPEG. (CP)—Robert Sanford Riley, 29, director and general manager of Dominion Bronze and Iron Co., died here Monday, after a prolonged illness.

For five years he worked with Dominion Engineering in Montreal, before moving to Winnipeg to take charge of Dominion Bronze and Iron in 1954. He is a brother of Oliver S. Riley, president of Winnipeg Enterprises and former president of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Mr. Riley is survived by Mrs. Riley and three children: Sanford Jr.; Patrick and Nancy. Mrs. Riley is the former Meribeth Stobie, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George H. Stobie, now of Toronto, but formerly of Belleville.

Russian Farm Leaders Ready To Visit Canada

WASHINGTON (AP)—Twelve visiting Soviet farm leaders found up their official United States itinerary today after six weeks of visits to farms and factories. They leave for Canada Thursday.

An early visit to the department of agriculture experimental station at Beltsville, Md., was to be followed by a lunch at the National Press Club and a statement by the Soviet delegation head, Vladimir Matskevich, on the delegation's trip.

Tonight one group of about half the Russians is proceeding to New York. Another group, including Matskevich, will remain in Washington overnight and join the others in New York Wednesday morning, a Soviet embassy spokesman said.

On Thursday they will all proceed to Canada. Matskevich has stated that they plan visits to the western wheat growing provinces and also to Ontario and Quebec.

The Russians plan to spend two weeks in Canada and then return to the U.S.S.R.

MARILYN ABSENT

About 370 guests were entertained Monday night at the Soviet reception in honor of the delegation. Marilyn Monroe had been invited, but did not attend. Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson was the host. He said that Matskevich but didn't drink any of the vodka.

Benson said that the Russians during their trip and in their session at the department of agriculture Monday had shown they were really interested in learning about agricultural questions.

INDIANS DIE ATTACKING GOA

Indian Nationalists, sworn to free Goa from Portuguese rule, are shown (top) cheering as they marched on the protectorate demanding its liberation. Repulsed by gunfire, they carry their dead and wounded (bottom) from the scene. At least 22 Indians were killed and more than 2000 wounded in the border skirmish. After this incident, India and Portugal announced end of diplomatic relations. (Central Press Canada).

Police Probing Reported Theft Of 25 Coats

TRENTON. (Special)—Trenton police are investigating the reported theft of 25 assorted children's coats from the Debutante Shop on Dundas Street during business hours, Monday afternoon.

The 25 spring coats in size ranges of between eight and 12 years were valued at $15 each, it was reported.

No details as to how the theft was committed were available with the exception that the coats were said to have been taken during the business hours. Trenton police reported the theft at 5:45 p.m.

The Debutante Shop is operated by Mrs. Insley and has been in operation for a number of years.

ST. ANDREWS, N.B. (CP)—Defence Production Minister Howe said today it is "quite possible" the United States government has assumed the cost of flying saucer research at the Malton plant of Avro Canada Limited.

Commenting on a copyright story by the Toronto Globe and Mail that flying saucer research at Malton has become the exclusive property of the U.S. Air Force, Mr. Howe said Avro was free to make any deal it wanted.

He said in an interview at his cottage here that he had no knowledge of such an arrangement, but "it could be quite possible."

"We dropped the subject," he said, "because we thought the money could be used directly for more useful purposes."

Two Canadian Sailors Killed East of Cobourg

COBOURG (CP)—Two Canadian sailors were killed early Monday when their car crashed into a transport on a highway 10 miles east of here.

Dead are Ted Robbie, 17, RR3, Kettle; and John A. Lang, RR7, Peterborough.

A third person in the car, David Brockwell, an airman who lives on RRI at Ida, was severely injured. Driver of the transport, Elmer Kirk, Toronto, sustained a broken shoulder.

Police say the car apparently pulled out to pass another car and crashed head-on into the transport which was going east with 10 tons of steel.

They said they do not know who was driving the car. The stretch of highway on which the accident occurred has been the scene of five highway fatalities in the last three weeks.

Changes Will Lighten Burden In Certain Depts.

TORONTO (CP)—Following last week's Ontario cabinet changes in which several department heads were changed and two new men brought to the cabinet, Premier Frost Monday announced changes within some department branches.

The registrar-general's branch—vital statistics—will be added to the department of George Dunbar, provincial secretary. The Ontario fuel board will be the responsibility of Provincial Treasurer Dana Porter, who helped create the board when he was attorney-general.

Administration of rural telephone and rural hydro departments will come under W. A. Goodfellow's department of municipal affairs.

The premier said the changes are designed to lighten the burden of certain overloaded departments.

IN MEMORIAM

McFARLAND—In loving memory of my dear mother, Della Mae McFarland, who passed away 2 years ago today. A wonderful mother, woman and aid. One who was better God never made. A wonderful worker, so loyal and true. One in a million—that Mother was you.

Just say your judgment, always right. Honest and liberal, ever upright. Loved by your friends and all whom you knew.

Our wonderful Mother—that Mother was you.

Sadly missed by son Stanley, daughter-in-law, Minnie, and grandchildren.

CONNERS—In loving memory of Mrs. Alta Connors, who passed away August 22, 1955. While you, dear mother, rest and sleep. Your loving memory we'll always keep.

Ever remembered by Verna, Vera, Jerry and George.

McFARLAND—In loving memory of my dear mother, Della Mae McFarland, who passed away August 22, 1953.

She is gone but not forgotten. And as dawn's another year. In our lonely hours, thinking Thoughts of her are always near. Days of sadness still come over us. Friends may think the wound is healed.

But they still know the sorrow. That lies within the heart concealed. Lovingly remembered by once who loved her dearly. Your loving daughter Eva, son-in-law Boyd, and grandchildren, Bob and Billie.

MITCHELL—In loving memory of a dear daughter, Margaret Rose Mitchell, who passed away August 23, 1954.

We who loved you sadly miss you. As it dawns another year. In our lonely hours, thinking Thoughts of you are ever near.

Lovingly remembered by mother, father, sisters and brothers.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials turned market trading today. Golds, base metals and western oils were mixed but managed narrow index gains. Activity in industrial stocks was scant. Most of the selling came in liquors, steels and refining oils. There was some demand for papers and manufactures. General Motors added a point and Fraser's. Dow Brewery was off $1. Among base metals there was continued interest in coppers. Cold stream, apparently sparked by favorable drilling reports, gained 7 to $1.04 on 329,000 shares. New Highridge was up to $1.03, trading 170,000 shares. Lightly firmer were Normetal, Noranda, Nudulama, Eastern Smelting and Granduc. Hudson Bay, International Nickel, Opemiska, Sheritt and Cassiar were easier. Uraniums were irregular with changes mostly small. Algom advanced 3/4 to lead the upward issues. Respart was 11 better at 68 following a report that the company will shortly seek a production contract. Midcon dipped in western oils. The stock was off 10 at 24,900 shares. Sullivan and Sylvanite notched gains of a few pennies in golds. Holding companies were trendless.

Matti Kivinen, Finnish Scout, Good Ambassador at Jamboree

Editor's Note: The International Boy Scout Jamboree at Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., is being reported in newspapers from many lands. This story, about a scout from Finland, was written by an Associated Press reporter from the United States.)

By TOM BENTON

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont. (AP) — If the Republic of Finland had set out deliberately to pick an envoy who could make friends with the world, it couldn't have picked a better boy than Matti Kivinen.

Matti, a 17-year-old high school student, is one of Finland's nine-member contingent to the eighth World Scout Jamboree in this Canadian town.

The Finns didn't mind the rain and dampness a bit Monday night as they sat around their little mess tent and talked about scouting and life in general in their native land. The Finns earlier had joined with the Danish, Swedish and Norwegian contingents in a bus tour of the northeastern part of the United States before coming to the jamboree site.

ADOPT A HABIT

"We have seen so much," said Matti. "Everything is so great. And the traffic!" He threw up his hands in horror. Matti, a husky blonde youth, said one of the things that impressed him and his mates about

BELTS TRADED

Because of the distance they came, the Finns brought little to trade. But after four jamboree days there wasn't a Finnish belt in the lot—there were Austrian belts, Canadian belts, American belts, British belts.

The Finns brought one handsome little item with them, however, that caught plenty of eyes—a patented tent that zips up tight, will hold two people and doesn't need stakes. It is slung on a pliable bamboo frame work and is called a "sopu" — meaning, in rough translation, "practical." The Finns, along with the contingents from the other 67 countries, take their food from central commissaries and cook it themselves. And what was that delectable Finnish specialty being whipped up over the charcoal fire? Hamburgers.

Wind and Rain Damaged Fruit

TORONTO (CP) — Severe damage was caused to fruit crops in some sections of southern Ontario by the wind and rain storm in the wake of hurricane Connie last week, the Ontario department of agriculture said today in its weekly report.

In southern and western Ontario many peaches and pears were blown or badly bruised. Plums have been hard hit by rot. Most areas reported that the rain helped pastures, now "greening up" despite last week's heat wave.

Spring grain is reported harvested throughout the province with threshing completed in most sections.

In eastern Ontario, where the least amount of rain fell, milk production is reported going up. But farmers in some areas say more rain is needed before fall wheat can be seeded.

In some sections of the province post-harvest seeding is under way. Western Ontario reports farmers in the tobacco belt are having great difficulty getting experienced seasonal help.

Northern Ontario reports harvesting completed nearly everywhere with variable yields. A good red clover crop is forecast.

Eisenhower Flies to Inspect Storm Damage

NEW YORK (AP) — The vast extent of havoc caused by floods in the northeast United States last weekend came into sharpened focus today as workmen dug into the debris and surveyed the huge job ahead.

President Eisenhower flew east from his summer headquarters in Dever to make a personal inspection of the wrecked area in which at least 180 persons lost their lives.

The devastation stretched in a broad arc through northeastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island. The president scheduled a conference with governors of these states at Hartford, Conn., following his inspection of the damage from the air.

Persons killed by the flood or in accidents connected with it, including electrocution by fallen wires, were counted by states as follows: Pennsylvania, 93; Connecticut, 60; Massachusetts, 13; Rhode Island, 1; New Jersey, 6; New York, 4; and Virginia, 3.

Virginia suffered less destruction than the other six states and was the only one not designated a disaster area eligible for federal relief aid.

CONNECTICUT HARD HIT

Even today there was still no firm overall estimate of the damage costs, but Connecticut appeared to have suffered the most. Preliminary estimates found 3,000 people were left jobless in the state by the floods which sprang from rain dropped by the exhausted Hurricane Diane.

Removal of mud and wreckage dumped by the flood will be a gigantic problem itself, without considering the rebuilding that must follow.

Li-Gen. Thomas W. Herron, commander of the U.S. 2nd Army, looked over part of the mutilated flood area and declared: "If there was an atom-bombing it couldn't have caused more damage."

Farmer's Wife Forced to Feed Masked Gunman

DELHI, Ont. (CP) — Police said Monday a masked gunman who forced a farmer's wife to give him food Sunday may be the lone bandit who last week walked away from an Ottawa bank with $4,000.

Mrs. Shirley Buys told police she was vacuuming an upstairs hall at her tobacco farm when she heard footsteps and turned round, face to face with a masked intruder.

"Do what I tell you and you won't get hurt," the tall man in the black mask told her.

He ordered her to get him food. She made him thick ham sandwiches and he told her he hadn't eaten for 48 hours. She said while she made the sandwiches he searched unsuccessfully for money in his coat drawers and then devoured some ice cream he found in a freezer.

Mrs. Buys said before he left the gunman told her not to call the police before midnight.

Unemployment Fell Further During July

OTTAWA (CP) — Unemployment continued to decline in July as demands for labor rose at a faster rate than in 1954, the bureau of statistics reported today.

The bureau's monthly labor survey estimated 150,000 persons were jobless and seeking work in the week ended July 23, compared with 157,000 a month earlier and 172,000 in the corresponding week of 1954.

Science Aids Maritime Oyster Farmers

An Ellerslie, P.E.I., oyster fisherman makes a "spat" collector by dipping cardboard egg crate in concrete. Collectors provide oyster spat (larvae) with a clean firm bottom on which to settle and develop. Technique now in use was developed by Fisheries Research Board.

Fall planting of oysters on privately-leased beds will bring dollar harvest to this Maritime oyster man in 5 to 8 years when mollusks reach marketable size. Oyster farming is big business: fishermen annually share in the $1,000,000 from the sale of this 80,000 barrel crop.

Using scissors-like tongs, twenty-foot long, these Malpeque Bay oyster fishermen are shown harvesting part of Canada's annual million dollar oyster crop. TONGING technique is much the same as that used over three centuries ago when French explorer Champlain learned from Indians how to hook oysters through the ice of frozen Acadian lakes and inlets. Today, business-wise restaurateurs serve customers from both sides of the border with oysters fried, stewed or fresh on the half-shell, shipped thousands of miles in special containers.

August fifteenth opening of oyster fishing on privately-leased beds sees fleet of dories setting out into Malpeque Bay, P.E.I. Fishermen working public grounds generally concentrate on beds fairly close to shore, leaving larger beds in center of bay to big commercial companies. To preserve east coast beds, which by 1900 were almost totally depleted by overfishing and the ravages of mussel, drills and starfish, the federal Fisheries Research Board was set up to bring science to the aid of the oyster industry.

National Film Board Photos by Guy Eloua

At Fisheries Research Board biological station at Ellerslie, spat is collected from concrete-coated egg crates fed through thrashing machine. Work of 20th century biologists has done much to increase oyster harvest, and to improve quality of the humble bivalve.

Despite hard protective shell, the oyster is prey to sea enemies like mussel, drill and starfish, and is subject to disease in germ-ridden waters. Quicklime, spread over oyster beds, is used as control against enemies, without harming commercially-valuable shellfish.

PENGUIN PROTESTS LOSS OF EGG

A king penguin swears in Antartic dialect as George Scott, head keeper of the Bronx zoo in New York, holds an egg that failed to hatch after the normal 55 days because it was cracked. Scott, unable to explain that the first penguin egg in the zoo's history was no good, had to remove it forcibly. He was well pecked as he took it from the webbed foot on which it was carried.

Will Establish New Licence To Sell 'Bait'

TORONTO (CP) — The 1955 amendments to the Ontario fishery regulations are expected to affect fishermen and dealers and benefit tourist outfitters and sporting goods stores. It was announced Monday. Changes include the replacing of the terms "minnows" and "bait" with the word "bait-fish" and the establishment of a "bait-fish dealer's licence." The three licences for catching bait-fish are unchanged: the commercial seine net, the commercial dip net, and the commercial trap net licences. Holders of these three licences will be permitted to sell the fish taken to anglers or to holders of the bait-fish dealer's licence. The new licence for bait-fish fell into the water.

dealers will be required by those who purchase minnows for resale," said Clare E. Mapledoram, Ontario minister of lands and forests, in the announcement. Operators of establishments for raising bait-fish in private waters would be covered by the new licence. Consequently, the announcement says, the licence will place no heavier fishing burden on streams or lakes.

Govt. Receives Offer for Surplus Federal Butter

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government has received an offer for some 8,000,000 pounds of surplus federal butter for shipment overseas, it was learned Monday. An informant said the first price proposed by the butter dealer who made the offer is too low but that negotiations may be reopened if the dealer is willing to increase his price. Name of the dealer and prices involved were not disclosed. It is understood the dealer planned to ship the butter to West Germany. From there it might be reshipped to other points, perhaps to Iron Curtain countries. Under previous deal, some 300,000 pounds of Canadian butter were shipped to Communist Czechoslovakia. The Czechs got the butter for 37 cents a pound, 21 cents below the federal support price of 58.

Weddings

LETESKY—TOBIN

The Church of St. Mark the Evangelist, Prescott, Ontario, was the scene of a wedding of widespread interest on Saturday morning when, with white gladioli and myriad tapers adorning the altar, Mary Louise Tobin, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Tobin, exchanged wedding vows with Dr. John Francis Letersky, son of Mr. Francis Letersky, of Annapolis, Ontario, and the late Mrs. Letersky. The Very Rev. Martin E. James officiated at the Nuptial Mass.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. W. C. Donovan and the soloist was Mr. Richard Tobin, brother of the bride.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white antique taffeta designed with a bouffant skirt, fitted bodice and cap sleeves. The portrait necklace was banded with imported Alencon lace, the cut-out floral pattern of the lace forming a scalloped edging for the neckline. Her long gauntlets were of matching white antique taffeta. Her finger ring illusion tulle veil was attached to a sweetheart-shaped veil of white antique taffeta and trimmed with scallops of seed pearls. She carried a crescent bouquet of white gladioli flowers and stephanotis.

Miss Barbara Dubrule, of Prescott, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Theresa Letersky, of Kingston, sister of the groom, and Miss Anna Rush of Stoco.

The maid of honor wore a waist-length gown of cream blue taffeta, with a bouffant skirt, fitted bodice with cap sleeves. On her head she wore a matching half-cap of taffeta edged with narrow scallops of the taffeta and trimmed with seed pearls and a rose veil. The gowns and hats of the bridesmaids were identical with those worn by the maid of honor, only in dawn rose taffeta. Each carried a bouquet of baby mums of pink and blue with stephanotis.

Dr. Thomas A. McNally of Marmora, was groomsmen. The ushers were, Mr. James Tobin and Mr. John Tobin brothers of the bride Mr. Thomas Charbonneau and Mr. Donald McCartney. The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, the bride's mother wearing a dress of slate blue embroidered taffeta with navy accessories and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Letersky, the groom's step-mother, wore blue and white check taffeta with black accessories and orchid corsage.

After travelling to the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania, the bride chose a pink suit with brown accessories, an orchid corsage.

The bride is a teacher at the Ontario School for the Deaf at Belleville, while the groom is a graduate of the School of Dentistry at the University of Toronto.

Prior to her marriage, Miss Tobin was guest of honor at a number of social functions. Miss Anna Rush, Miss W. Huffman and Mrs. W. J. Ryan entertained at a miscellaneous shower at Belleville; Mrs. W. J. Tobin at a luncheon in Ottawa; the Misses Mary and Margaret McCartney, Mrs. E. McParlan and Mrs. Allan McAttee, at a miscellaneous shower at the former's home in Prescott; Mrs. J. M. White and Mrs. R. M. Smith at a buffet supper at the former's home in Prescott; Mrs. L. E. Downey and Mrs. L. P. Clark at a dinner in Kingston; Misses Ruth Peterson and Beverly Taylor, at a china shower at the Peterson's summer home, Prescott; Mrs. C. T. O'Connell, at a tea and crystal shower at her home; Mrs. Joseph Dubrule and Mrs. H. M. Watson, at a luncheon, and on the eve of the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Dubrule and Miss Barbara Dubrule entertained the principals and attendants and out-of-town guests at a buffet supper follow-

Baron of Beef Is Roasted For Birthday

BALLATER, Scotland. (CP) — Rain Monday night washed out an outdoor barbecue and Princess Margaret's delayed birthday celebration was held indoors at Balmoral Castle.

A baron of beef, personally selected by the Duke of Edinburgh, which was to have been roasted on a steel spit, appeared as roasts instead. A baron of beef is two joints or sirloins not cut at the backbone.

The Duke had pointed out a black bullock on the Royal Balmoral estate and said: "That's the very thing for Margaret's birthday party."

Guests invited to help Margaret celebrate her 25th birthday included First Sea-Lord Admiral Earl Mountbatten, the Duke's uncle, and Countess Mountbatten, who flew up for the occasion.

Others were the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester, Prince Michael of Kent, Prince George and Princess Sophie of Hanover, the Master of Elphinstone (Margaret's cousin) and the Hon. Dominic Elliott, son of the Earl of Minto.

Hosts were the Queen and the Duke, assisted by the Queen Mother.

Before the start of the Princess' party the Queen's children, Princess Anne and Prince Charles, had a party of their own. Twenty of their young friends from the Balmoral neighborhood spent about two hours with the royal children, playing and having tea.

ing the rehearsal. Guests were present from Ottawa, Annapolis, North Bay, Birmingham, N.Y., Syracuse, N.Y.; Belleville; Kingston, Peterborough, Montreal, Que., Marmora, Corbyville, Stoco, Sudbury, Toronto and Kemptonville.

30 Guests Honor Departing Friend

Last Tuesday evening about 30 guests sat down to a chafon dinner at Mr. and Mrs. Sam Elliott's, R.R. 6, Belleville, in honor of Mrs. C. E. Gammon, who has resided with them for the past four years, but who is leaving soon for her new home in Colborne.

After the dinner, Mrs. Maude Elliott, assisted by Mary Jane and Judy Lewis of Belleville, presented Mrs. Gammon with a shower of beautiful gifts and wished her God's richest blessing in her new home.

Mrs. Gammon expressed her gratitude to her friends for their kindness.

Women's Institute

FOXBORO W.I.

For its August meeting, the Foxboro Women's Institute held an open air meeting at the home of Mrs. W. L. Johnston. Mrs. C. Hubble presided and opened the meeting in the usual manner.

It was decided that Mrs. La Rue buy the blinds for the windows of the school auditorium.

Mrs. Hayton offered to take in the display to the fair and it was decided to have Mrs. M. B. Shorey take charge of the display.

Mrs. Bamber gave a short but interesting report on "Citizenship."

It was decided that the discussion regarding the committee for collecting for showers, be tabled for the September meeting.

Mrs. F. Prindle, who is convenor for "Historical Research," gave a most interesting reading from the book compiled by the Carmel district for their celebration of their centennial.

Much time and discussion were taken up by catering for the fair.

Sixteen members and two visitors were present.

Refreshments of "Freshe" and fruit bread by the hostess and her assistants were served following the close of the meeting.

ADDRESSES LAWYERS

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Dag Hammarskjöld, secretary-general of the United Nations, said Monday night the most revolutionary development in international law in 200 years was "the outlawry of aggressive force as a means of settling disputes" between nations. Hammarskjöld told the 78th annual meeting of the American Bar Association that "details and consequences" of the law have not been completely worked out "but it has been firmly established."

Poetess Honored At W.I. Meeting

The Wellington Women's Institute held its regular monthly meeting in the town hall last Tuesday evening. The meeting opened with the president, Mrs. Ralph Ellis in the chair, who welcomed about 40 members and guests. This being the day after the birthday of Mrs. Helen B. Anderson (poetess), this grand lady was the honored guest of the evening. The roll call was answered by "Your Favorite Poem," with every one present giving the title and some reading a verse of one of Helen B. Anderson's many beautiful poems.

A card of thanks was read from Miss Mary Marvin. Mrs. Welbanks also thanked the institute for fruit sent her during her illness.

It was moved by Mrs. B. Blakey that all bills be paid. Mrs. Harris reported that $76.40 had been received at the pie and ice cream social on the previous Saturday night, also that all bills be paid.

A discussion on the Boy Scouts followed with Mrs. Jackson moving that a donation be given of $25 to help take five of the local Scouts to the World Jamboree in Niagara. Another discussion followed on whether W.I. should put on a skit for the Area convention.

BIRTHDAY DONATIONS

The birthday box was swelled by five members having birthdays in October. Mrs. J. Denard, Mrs. C. Broadbridge, Mrs. C. Stoneburg, Mrs. J. Ogilvy and Miss Lynda Smith. This being the end of the birthday box year, it was opened and $14.75 was found in the box.

Hostesses for next month will be Mrs. Reid and Mrs. Carson. Mrs. Gerald Stoneburg gave a few highlights of her trip, with the Hillier's Women's Institute, to Stratford, which was enjoyed by all who went on the trip. Mrs. Stoneburg suggested the Wellington W.I. hire a bus and go to the Toronto Exhibition for a day.

Any one wishing to go, get in contact with Mrs. Gerald Stoneburg.

Mrs. Platt and Mrs. Harris took over the program. Mrs. Bishop had "Current Events." Mrs. Crawford, a guest of Mrs. Harris, gave a fine display of some of her beautiful Biblical buttons. These were most interesting and many lovely buttons were shown including a frame of the Royal Family buttons.

Mrs. Harris called the honored guest, Mrs. Helen B. Anderson (who had celebrated her birthday on Monday), and asked her a few questions concerning her United Empire Loyalist heritage. Mrs. Anderson was born in Gilead, and taught school for 20 years. Mrs. Platt read one of Mrs. Anderson's poems and presented her with a beautiful basket of gladioli for which Mrs. Anderson thanked every one for their kindness to her.

Mrs. Crawford was also presented with a nice bouquet of gladioli.

Refreshments were served including a lovely birthday cake which was cut by Mrs. Anderson.

Parkdale Veterans' Assoc. Picnic At Crystal Beach
With perfect picnic weather, Parkdale Veterans' Association held its annual picnic at Crystal Beach on Sunday 21st, with great success, with approximately 130 present.

RACES
At three p.m., the races began with the following results:

Girls 2—Karen Priest, Irene Taylor; boys 2—Denny Corn, Gary Doyle; girls 3—Marilyn May; boys 3—Duncan Salter, Steven Bazuk, Steven Cone and Bobby Hudson (tie); girls 4-5—Sandra Cone, Betty Bannan; boys 4-5—Robbie Rolston, Ronnie Bazuk, Paul Hutt; girls 6-7—Cathy May, Gail McAuley; boys 6-7—Mike Taylor, Bill Hutt; girls 8-9—Marie Taylor, Joanne Colligan; boys 8-9—Tommy Locke, Rodney Salter; girls 10-11—Ruth Bannan; boys 10-11—Bill Burley, Ronnie Stratton; girls 12-13—Jane Gray, Joyce McLaughlin; boys 12-13—Rickey Locke, Mike Colligan.

EGG THROWING—Mr. and Mrs. G. Locke. Ladies' race—Bertha Brown, men's race—Bill Cone; novelty race—Mr. and Mrs. V. Allen; bubble gum contest—Gail McAuley, Ronny Stratton.

A presentation was then made to Jean Frost, the park supervisor, for the wonderful training she has given the children this summer. Supper was enjoyed at 6 p.m. with most of the parents relaxing on the beach while the children had that one last fling at the water before returning home. The tug-of-war and ball game scheduled for after supper were cancelled due to the strenuous afternoon races. It is hoped the fathers will be in better physical condition next year.

"THE MONSTER" BEGINS JOB OF MOVING TOWNS IN PATH OF ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY

Townpeople of Iroquois, Ontario, have dubbed this house-moving equipment the "Monster." It was imported from the U.S. to move homes to the new townsite selected when the St. Lawrence plans showed Iroquois to be under water. The Monster has already begun the job of transporting the homes, while citizens stare at its manoeuvres in awe and admiration. Tires on the Monster are 10 feet high and cost $6,000 each, and it required nine railway cars to move it to Iroquois. Assembled and ready for operations, as shown here, it requires a 75-foot parking space. It can move a two-storey house, residents and all, and will transport 600 houses over rolling farmland to new sites. (Central Press Canadian.)

Theatre Building Will Be Erected To House Festival

By JOHN PATERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP)—Canada's leading theatrical attraction, the Stratford Shakespearean Festival, plans to erect a permanent theatre building on the banks of the Avon river for the 1957 season. Tom Patterson, founder and director of planning, said Monday the permanent structure will maintain the same festival atmosphere the tent has created.

The building will be constructed around the platform stage designed by Tanya Moisewitch in association with Tyrone Guthrie, famed British director who has been connected with the festival since it was started three years ago.

LANGHAM SIGNS CONTRACT
A three-year contract, with options, has been signed by director Michael Langham, brilliant young British producer who this season directed "Julius Caesar." Mr. Langham, who will return to England in October for a short time, will live in Stratford with his wife, actress Helen Burns, and his son, Miss Moisewitch, who has designed the costumes and decor for all of the festival's seven productions, will return next season. One of England's leading designers, who has worked with Dr. Guthrie on the festival since it was started, an innovation for the 1955 season, the music festival, held in a concert hall during the drama season, will be repeated next year.

Dr. Guthrie will remain with the festival as artistic consultant.

USE TENT AGAIN
Dr. Guthrie, a striking, volatile man who is noted for his caustic wit, is credited with much of the festival's international success. With Miss Moisewitch, Dr. Guthrie collaborated on the "dramatic" stage. This puts into the audience on three sides, has seven playing levels and a balcony.

The Toronto architectural firm of Routhwaite and Fairfield, who designed the blue-valued tent in which the festival has been produced since 1953, have submitted the initial concept for the permanent structure. Mr. Patterson said the tent will be used again in 1956. It holds 1,972 persons.

Regarding plans for next year's drama season, Mr. Langham said a definite announcement of the plays, the dates of the season and the names of the artists involved, will be made by late autumn.

Despite Surplus of Rice, Wheat Replaces Staple Food of Asians

By L. S. CHAKALES

ROME (AP)—Rice, the staple food for a billion Asians, is yielding ground to wheat.

The United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization says to some extent "a permanent change" has taken place in the food habits of the teeming Orient. Because of the postwar rice shortage and the attractive terms that went with wheat supplies, "there has been an expansion in the consumption of wheat at the expense of rice" in the Far East, the FAO reported in an extensive study.

Despite a present surplus of rice, wheat is continuing to press its slight but definite advance in the rice-producing area of the world. There continues an overall import of 4,500,000 tons of the grain into the Far East as compared with 3,000,000 tons before the war. Before the war about 13 per cent of the world's wheat went into export channels. The figure is now 17 per cent.

MOST VALUABLE CROP
On the other hand, about 8.5 per cent of the rice crop was exported. This has slumped now to five per cent.

Rice not only is more valuable than any other crop, including wheat, cotton or corn, but more valuable than the world's crude oil, coal or pig iron annual production, FAO said. One official estimated its annual value at $18,300,000,000.

Paddy rice production, including an estimated 50,000,000 tons in Communist China, totals approximately 235,000,000 tons yearly. This makes approximately 145,000,000 metric tons of milled rice, which is what you usually eat. Ninety per cent of this production is consumed in the Far East, or monsoon Asia, which also produces about 90 per cent of the rice.

With increasing rice self-sufficiency in many countries, rice's role as an international commodity is slipping.

India, under the impetus of a government-sponsored rice self-sufficiency program, is virtually out of the import market. Before the war India was the biggest importer of rice in the world. Import figures dramatically illustrate India's improving position. In 1951 it imported 4,700,000 tons of rice. Last year it imported 800,000 tons, primarily to build up reserves. Wheat has made inroads in India, some of it from the bulging granaries of America.

RICE MARKETS SCARCE
Japan is another country where wheat has gained ground since the war. In the prewar period the only important food grain imported by Japan was rice. Now rice totals only important food grain imported by Japan was rice. Now rice totals only 30 per cent of the food grains imported. Wheat figures heavily in Nippon's present food imports.

Indonesia also is approaching self-sufficiency in rice, FAO said. A U.S.-sponsored program to reclaim land made Greece self-sufficient in rice three years ago. Ceylon used to import some 2,000,000 tons of rice yearly. The most rice imported in any year after the war was 400,000 tons in 1953. On the other hand, the import of wheat skyrocketed from 25,000 tons pre-war to 370,000 in 1953.

Burma is the biggest rice exporter but is having trouble finding markets in the face of present surplus. Burma and second-place Thailand have surpluses of between 600,000 and 700,000 tons each.

In the United States production has increased 150 per cent since the war, while exports have jumped 670 per cent. But surpluses now existing and falling prices are making it difficult for the United States to find markets.

Communist China grows more rice than any country in the world—about 50,000,000 tons of paddy rice. In prewar days, China was an importer. In the immediate postwar period net imports continued, assisted by international aid. Since the Communists took over the country, exports appear to have been exceeding imports.

but there are some indications this trend may be reversed. There are no official statistics available on current Red Chinese production of rice.

Premier Bennett Denies Knowledge Of Sub-Contract

VICTORIA (CP)—Premier Bennett says he did not know of a sub-contract for school construction involving one of his hardware stores until he read about it in a newspaper.

The Social Credit premier made the statement at a press conference Monday following disclosure that Bennett Stores of Vernon, B.C., had been awarded a sub-contract for the Williams Lake school.

Mr. Bennett asserted the deal was "100 per cent legitimate" as British Columbia political leaders called for his resignation.

He said the contract was "competitive and free enterprise, the type of business which is secured only by the company and without government interference."

Liberal leader Arthur Laing said restrictions of the B.C. Constitution Act on members of the legislature are so "specific and strict" that the premier has left himself "in an impossible position."

Denne Finlayson, Progressive Conservative leader, also said the premier "must resign" to be consistent with his "outspoken criticism" of people who do business with the government while sitting in the legislature.

Bennett stores at Vernon received a $10,610 sub-contract for installation of plumbing, heating and roofing of a new $85,000 school at Williams Lake. Contract for the school was awarded to David Howrie, Ltd., of Vernon.

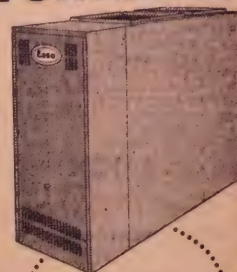

Mr. Bennett said the Howrie contract was made with the Williams Lake school board, an "autonomous body," and that Bennett Stores sub-contracted with Howrie. He denied implications that the firm is receiving money from the treasury because the B.C. government makes grants to school districts for new construction.

Scouts in Exile Want to Join Movement

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont. (CP) — Representatives of seven scouting organizations in exile tried Sunday to persuade the international bureau of the Boy Scout movement to let them join the scouting movement.

The meeting, kept secret, saw representatives of Polish, Ukrainian, Latvian, Estonian, Lithuanian, White Russian and Hungarian scouts in exile gather with Maj. Gen. Dan Spry, director of the bureau, and his staff.

John Miska of Chicago, who did not attend but who today found himself unofficial spokesman for the group, said the impression afterward was that the attempt was not successful.

Gen. Spry, in conference all morning, has not been available for comment. His headquarters said no minutes were kept of the meeting.

WANTS AFFILIATION

The group, known variously as the Boy Scouts in Exile and the conference of Scouts from Behind the Iron Curtain, wants to affiliate with the international movement, retaining its autonomy.

Mr. Miska said the aim is to enable scouts from those countries, where world scouting has been quashed, to revive it when they are liberated.

"If we go into the national groups we shall be dispersed," he said in an interview today, "and not prepared for the task we take up when we go back."

"My personal opinion," he said, "is that the fact that our country (Poland) was sold to the Russians should have no influence on the international bureau or on the movement."

"If it has been, then the movement is under political influence. LACK COUNTRY

"A second reason given is that we have no country. But in 1913 when Poland was under three different states the Polish group was invited to Birmingham by Lord Baden-Powell (founder of the movement) and our leader received from him a badge of merit."

Gen. Spry, at a press conference last week, said such boy scouts, by decision of the international conference in 1949, are expected to join the associations of their host country. They retain the right to their own language, forms of ceremony, culture and tradition in their groups. He gave examples of Swedish and Latvian groups in Canada, all of whose proceedings are in their own languages.

Mr. Miska said he knows that is the case in Canada. "But in the United States," he said, "boy scouts from Lithuania who joined the Boy Scouts of America were forbidden to use their own language."

SON FOR DAMONE'S

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Pier Angeli gave birth Sunday to the baby she almost lost last winter because of an accident aboard an airplane. It's an eight-pound, 13-ounce boy and both the young actress and her son are reported in fine condition. Miss Angeli, wife of singer Vic Damone, fractured her pelvis when she fell in an airliner last February. She had been confined to her home since the accident.

34,169 Families Made Homeless By Flood Waters

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American national Red Cross said today an incomplete survey shows 34,169 families were routed from their homes by flood waters in six eastern states.

The survey showed 439 homes entirely destroyed and nearly 14,000 damaged.

The Red Cross said the health problem in Pennsylvania was complicated by thousands of dead chickens and many head of livestock, drowned as the waters rose. It announced Sunday it was making an initial appropriation of $2,000,000 for preliminary phases of its flood relief operations and issued an appeal for contributions.

Little Benny's Notebook

The man was telling the news over the breakfast room radio this morning, saying, And now let us turn our attention to recent developments in the Far East. Even from the most optimistic viewpoint the situation looks ominous, he said.

Ha ha, ma said, and pop said, I beg your pardon?

I said ha ha and I meant every word of it, ma said. I don't take the slightest stock in a single thing he says, she said, and pop said, I was under the impression that you had implicit faith in Clever's DeWitt and his interpretation of the news.

And so I had, but I haven't any more, ma said. Not since he started to end up every broadcast by singing the praises of Suddins Suda, she said, and pop said, Didn't he always?

No, a 2nd man used to step in and talk about the wonders of Suddins Suda, ma said. For land sakes the only wonder about it is how they can keep on selling it when all it does is make your eyes water and your hands dry and your dishes smelly. Naturally I wasn't so narrow minded as to hold Clever's DeWitt responsible for what the other man said, but now that he has taken Suddins Suda on his own shoulders, I don't believe anything he says about anything. Do you blame me, William? she said.

Not a bit, my dear, I blame Clever's DeWitt, pop said, and ma said, Anyway, he's not the only news broadcaster that's on at this time, I'll just turn the dial. Which she did, and another man was saying, So remember, ladies study Flakes cost less and give more, and now, returning to the political scene, things look much brighter in the Far East. That's better, ma said, I wouldn't be without Fluffy Flakes for anything she said.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Should the Belleville Orfuns get by Kingston in their quest for the OASA Senior "B" championship they will be pitted against Peterborough and one of the best pitchers in Ontario in the second round.

A youthful Mormon Elder from Arizona, Ray Judd, is the fellow we're talking about. Judd hurls for the Lakefield Lumbermen, and last Thursday night threw a no-hitter against Seabrook Motors to win the Peterborough softball championship for his team. Judd faced 28 men, while fanning 17. The only man to reach first base did so when the catcher dropped a third strike and failed to tag the batter.

This fact alone may not place Judd among the truly great softball pitchers, but when you take a glance at his record for the past three months, you'll see what we mean when we tag him tops.

The Lakefield club is a weak-hitting aggregation, while Seabrook's combine good pitching, expert fielding and a power-packed lineup and yet the Lumbermen finished but one game behind the motor squad in league standing.

Ray Judd is the reason. The Lumbermen started their terrific pace on June 2nd and since that date the fireballer has won 17 games, all route-going efforts. His strikeout record for that period was a phenomenal 253 in 19 games for an average of 13.3 per game.

Coach Bill Spafford of the Orfuns, travelled to Peterborough one evening not long ago and watched Mr. Judd hurl a neat three-hitter, striking out 12. When asked what he thought of the hurler, Spafford rattled off a line of adjectives that would shock Webster in his prime.

As was said before, if and when the Orfuns get by Kingston, the local fans will see some exceptional pitching when Bobby Green or Bob Hunter match slants with Judd.

TAG TEAM BOUT

Tag-team wrestling returns to Memorial Arena this Friday night when Karl Von Schober and Fritz Von Erich, those towering German villains, resume their battle with Prince Malaya.

The Prince will be a new partner for this one and a very capable fellow he is, too. None other than the Vancouver strong boy, Doug Hepburn, who recently turned from weight lifting to the grunt-and-groan trade.

Hepburn has made quite a start since Whipper Watson undertook his training, stopping most of the opposition in short order. He and Malaya will be a fearsome pair but their work will be cut out for them.

Followers of wrestling in this district have to look back a long way before finding a pair that can hand out punishment like the Vons. They're downright "ornery" from the word go, using every trick in the book and plenty of their own private methods to dispose of everybody and anything that dares step into the ring with them.

It should be a terrific brawl Friday night, and to get the spectators in the mood, Sammy "Mr. Canada" Berg, will tangle with Pat Fraley. The opener sees Red Varnone tangle with Mexico's gift to the wrestling game, Don Lewin. Action gets under way at 8.45 p.m.

HERE AND THERE . . .

Goldie's Shellers and Parkdale meet for the city peewee baseball title. Congratulations go out from this department to Miss Betty Berry for her Picton-to-Deseronto swim last Saturday. . . . According to manager Art Casterton of the Kingston Goodyears, George MacGregor and Johnny Myke have hung up their skates for good. . . . The Kingston Saints outbatted Point Anne in an exhibition softball game in the "Pen" over the week-end. . . . Orfuns play host to Kingston in OASA Senior "B" playdowns tonight, while Point Anne is at Trenton for an intermediate "A" game. Both are first games with return battles on Thursday. . . . The boat races which were scheduled for Point Anne some time ago, but were postponed, will be held on Sunday, August 28th. . . . Famous four-man softball team, the King and His Court, will play a Kingston all-star team in the Limestone City on September 2nd. . . . No dates for the OBA playdowns at time of writing, but they should be available any day now. . . . Johnny Mowatt's Wellington club opens its titular series for the city and district baseball championship and the new Frank Grandame trophy tonight. . . . How are the holidays coming, G.H.C.?

COMPETE IN MOSCOW

LONDON (AP)—Britain will send a track and field team of 66 men and women to Moscow and Prague for international meets next month. British distance runner Chris Chetaway will compete only in the Moscow meet Sept. 11. He will return to London on business while other Britons go to Prague for competition Sept. 14-15. Other stars in the team include four-minute miler Brian Hewson, and former distance world record holder Gordon Pirie.

Only 4½ Games Separate League-Leading Yankees From Fourth-Place Boston Red Sox

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The crucial has become the commonplace in the fantastic American League pennant race. One slip could end the hopes of any of the four contenders.

Only 4½ games separate the league-leading New York Yankees from the fourth-place Boston Red Sox. In between stand Chicago White Sox, half a game behind the Yankees, and Cleveland Indians, one game back.

Someone has to crack. Yet no one shows any signs of giving in. On paper at least, all four are getting stronger.

The Yankees' home-run power again is asserting itself and the New York pitching is in order. White Sox again have Dick Donovan, their ace pitcher, on the firing line for the stretch. He was laid up for three weeks because of an appendicitis.

SOX HANGING ON
The Indians appear ready to roll with a four-game winning streak. The Red Sox, hanging on doggedly, are backing up their pitchers with timely hitting. And Ivan Delock's pitching has been a revelation.

Boston and Cleveland clash head-on tonight while the Yankees and White Sox have easier assignments. Casey Stengel's men face Detroit Tigers, who have been cooled off to the extent that they're out of the running now 13 games back, while the White Sox play the bad Baltimore Orioles in a two-nighter.

Something that could decide the race in a hurry would be for one team to get hot. The Indians have four in a row now, but much of their trouble has been that for every three or four they win, they promptly blow three of four. After they finish with the Red Sox, they must entertain the Yankees in a three-game set.

STACKED AGAINST BRAVES
In the National League, the only question is when will the Brooklyn Dodgers snap out of their slump. They've lost 10 of their last 14 games and at the moment are 11 games ahead of Milwaukee Braves.

Braves are hot, but the figures are stacked against them even if the Brooks decide to turn over and play dead. Walt Alston's crew has a 13-game advantage on the losing side with 34 games left to play. The magic number is 22.

A storm rainout set the only action on Monday's schedule—a doubleheader between New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates. The rains came in the top of the fifth of the opener with the score tied 1-1. They'll be played at a later date in New York.

Merchants Take It on Chin From Elgins

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

With only five days left to play in the regular Senior Intercounty Baseball League schedule, it looks as though the league might be heading for some unexpected upsets, especially in that hotly contested fourth-place playoff spot.

The payoff should come Wednesday night when Brantford Red Sox meet London Majors, both currently tied for the spot, to fight it out. Brantford has four and London has three games left to play.

Meanwhile Brantford has clumped that flimsy half-game lead London has flourished for some weeks now when they defeated the Elgins Kitchener Panthers Monday night 4-0.

The league-leading Oshawa Merchants also suffered a setback at the hands of St. Thomas Elgins, 7-1.

In the Niagara District Baseball League, Stamford Kerrios made it two wins in a row over Welland Goodyears when they defeated the Welland team a 7-5 defeat in the league semi-finals.

But it's the Intercounty's top teams—Kitchener and Oshawa—who will have to watch their batting if they expect to fend off St. Thomas, London and Brantford, hot on the trail for pennant blood.

Brantford's Harry Fisher shut out the Panthers on six hits to score his win. It was his ninth of the season. Stan Breard and Shanty Clifford hit homers for the winners.

For Kitchener, Don Oberholzer, making his first appearance on the mound, went the distance. Dennis Brodeur was the only player with more than one hit for the Panthers.

Meanwhile, Oshawa registered a stunning surprise when Gene Flax of the Elgins turned them back with some masterful pitching. He didn't allow a single walk and while striking out only five, was always in control of the game.

The Elgins amassed three unearned runs in the first to moundman Wilmer Fields' consternation. They earned two more in the eighth, two in the ninth, and kept the Merchants scoreless till the last frame.

Havana Cubans Eke Out 4-3 Win Over Maple Leafs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four of the eight pitchers nominated for "most valuable pitcher" in the International League hurled Monday night.

Result—One victory and three defeats. Only Ken Lehman of Montreal made it to the winners' circle, blanking Syracuse 1-0, in the first game of a doubleheader. The Royals dropped the second game.

Mel Heim, Rochester's entry for top honors, blew a two-run lead to Richmond after two were out in the ninth to lose his eighth victory against the same club in the ninth. A three-run rally in the seventh inning gave the Red Wings a 6-5 triumph in the first game at the expense of contender Bill Voiselle, who now sports a 7-5 mark.

Jack Crimian (17-6) and Jose Bracho (9-3) nominees of Toronto and Havana, watched the action from the bench as the Cubans put a 4-3 triumph over the Leafs with a single tally in the ninth inning.

Columbus' Dutch Romberger (7-4) and Bennie Flowers (9-8) of Buffalo never got a chance to loosen up as the contest was washed out.

Lehman, who fashioned a perfect no-hitter in his last outing, tossed a sparkling four-hitter. He was matched by the last of the nominated octet, Jim Owens. The Syracuse righty fanned six but made one bad pitch—a home run ball to Royal shortstop Chico Fernandez in the ninth inning.

Lehman, the Leafs' slugging first baseman, suddenly left the game while at bat in the eighth complaining of severe stomach pain. He was taken to a hospital, where officials indicated he may be recovering from appendicitis.

The Leafs, trailing Montreal now by a game and a half, would be hard put to replace Lehman, who has swatted 26 home runs this season.

A two-base error by Bobby Rodriguez, and two sacrifices pushed over the winning run for the Cubans and sent Leaf reliever Ray Shore to his fourth defeat. Vicente Amor notched his third victory in going the distance for Havana.

Bismarck Golfer Wins First Prize In Golf Tourney

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Shooting consistent golf through broiling sun and driving rain, Paul O'Leary of Bismarck, N.D., Monday won the $500 first prize in the two-day second annual Niagara Parks commission tournament.

O'Leary, with a final-round 72, carded a one-over-par 217 to win the 54-hole medal play event. He had a four-stroke lead over second place Bob Burns of Fort Erie's Cherry Hill Club.

The lanky United States shotsmith went into the 18-hole round of the tournament Monday tied with Larry Edwards of the North Hutton Club in Georgetown. Edwards blew to a 78 to finish in a four-way tie for fourth place.

Burns took the second-place $300 prize money with a 75 in the final round for a 221 total, one stroke better than Bill Mahwinney of Vancouver who won third place and $200.

Last year's winner, Lloyd Tucker of Kitchener, who was two strokes behind O'Leary after 36 holes, skidded to a 223 total and a share of fourth spot.

Amateur honors in the two-day affair went to Toronto's Jerry Magee. The Lambton star edged Canadian amateur champion Moe Norman by one stroke. Magee finished with a 227 while the Kitchener Rockway ace, who held a two-stroke lead after 36 holes, mushed to a 78 on the final 18 for a 228.

Two St. Catharines golfers were entered. Bill Kozak shot a 78 Monday for a final score of 231 and Bill Weynrowski, an amateur, carded 81 for 235.

Moore Guarantees Marciano Return Bout if He Wins

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—If Rocky Marciano belts his sparring partners around with extra vigor in the next few days, they can blame it on Archie Moore.

The heavyweight champion has been doing a slow burn since the 38-year-old Moore, a psychology student, tossed the gauntlet to Rocky at their contract signing ceremony Monday afternoon.

It happened when the fighters posed for television and newsreels. Moore and the challenger were asked to make statements. Commission chairman Julius Helfand sat between them.

Archie, sporting a mustache and a flourishing goatee, was the first to speak. "Rocky, I do expect to win your title."

Marciano's eyebrows shot up at the unexpected thrust. After a moment's pause, he turned to Archie and replied: "Archie, you sure have created a lot of interest in this fight. I'll be ready on Sept. 20 for the fight of my life."

The confident light heavyweight king has said before that he expects to beat Rocky but the surprising part was that he said it to his face. It usually isn't done.

Al Well, Rocky's manager, was more disturbed than his meal ticket, but over a different matter. The round man was seething over Helfand's refusal to approve a private document calling for return bout within 90 days and for Moore to put up $100,000 in escrow to guarantee the second bout if the challenger won.

Moore and his manager, Charley Johnston, signed a separate pact in addition to the regular contract for the title fight at Yankee Stadium, Sept. 20. They agreed, at Well's insistence, that $100,000 of Moore's expected $250,000 purse would be held in escrow by promoter James D. Norris to guarantee the return.

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTESTH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Use not only a "good plate" but "denture breath". Get FASTESTH at any drug counter.

Pastoral Island
To Be Utilized
For Housing Units

MONTREAL (CP)—A tiny, pastoral island in the St. Lawrence river off suburban Verdun may have a population of 30,000 within a few years, it was learned Monday.

Development of the island into a large residential area, the dream of a Montreal real estate syndicate, has been brought closer to realization by an announcement that a new bridge will be built across the St.
Lawrence.

The four-lane bridge will rest on the island which is two miles long and one mile wide, site of a Roman Catholic convent for nearly two centuries.

The island, owned by sisters of the Notre Dame Congregation since 1788, has mostly been devoted to cattle grazing and vegetable raising.

MODERN DEVELOPMENT

It was recently purchased by a syndicate of Montreal businessmen who propose to erect "some of North America's most modern housing."

The federal government decision to construct the bridge, in line with the St. Lawrence seaway project, will give the new owners of the island ample access to the land.

Development lies in the hands of Quebec Homes and Mortgage Corporation which plans to build 4,000 housing units as soon as facilities are available.

An earlier attempt to buy the

by Ned Riddle island, by a different group, was turned down by the congregation of Notre Dame because the nuns disapproved of plans to turn it into an amusement park.

Mr. Gewurz said the new owners have offered the nuns permanent possession of the buildings, they have on the island.

"I consider it our responsibility to create something beautiful on the island which the nuns have held so dear," he said.

However, one sister of the congregation, which for many years have operated a retreat there, said earlier "if the island should become public, there wouldn't be much point in operating a rest home."

St. Lawrence seaway development, at one time, was considered a threat to the island because of flooding. However, seaway plans, finally adopted, leave the island untouched.

There has been no announcement of the sale price of the island.

FLOODS, STORMS CAUSE OVER 200 DEATHS IN EASTERN U.S.

In an area extending over eight eastern states of the U.S., more than 200 persons are known to have lost their lives in a series of floods that have destroyed bridges and dams and wrecked whole communities. Suburban and farming community officials and Red Cross workers are laboring around the clock, searching for bodies, rescuing marooned citizens and animals while doctors and nurses administer thousands of injections of anti-typhoid serum to prevent an epidemic. Here people stand on the roofs of their homes at Port Jervis, N.Y., waiting to be rescued by helicopter. (Central Press Canadian Photos.)

U.S. to Assume Costs of Saucer Research at Avro

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail says the United States government has assumed costs for research at the suburban Malton plant of Avro Canada Limited into the possibilities of a so-called flying saucer type of military aircraft.

Its copyright story by James Hornick says details of the contract are secret as is the amount of money involved. It is learned, however, that negotiations were completed several months ago. They made the project the exclusive property of the U.S. Air Force.

Regular progress reports are being made to the USAF's air research and development command, with headquarters at Baltimore. Regular visits are made to Malton by ARDC officers to examine results at first hand.

"U.S. military security now shields every aspect of the research. It is so strict that, except with special permission, Canadian government and military leaders and many officials of the Avro companies are denied access to the flying saucer laboratories."

The Canadian government last year withdrew its support of the project, undertaken three years ago. The paper says the aircraft embodies "revolutionary principles of flight and propulsion." In its early planning stages it resembled a saucer with one end chipped off.

The objective was to create a high-speed, high-altitude fighter which could take off and land vertically, thus dispensing with costly, vulnerable runway systems.

In Ottawa deputy defence production minister Golden said he was not aware of such an arrangement between the U.S. government and Avro, but that it was possible the U.S. had decided to help the aircraft company with the project. He said he was certain Canada's interests would be protected in any such arrangement.

Defence Production Minister Howe said last year the Canadian government had decided to end its support of the project because its possibilities did not seem to war-

Canada House in New York
Foreseen as 'Prestige' Building

By RUSSELL ELMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP) — Early next year, wreckers will move in on a Fifth Avenue site to clear the way for construction of 25-odd storeys of Canada House, long a dream of Consul-General Ray Lawson. The skyscraper at the corner of Fifth Avenue and 54th street will house the Canadian consulate, Canadian tourist bureau, offices of Canadian National Railways, Trans-Canada Air Lines and the National Film Board, a New York branch of the Royal Bank of Canada and other Canadian concerns.

Lawson has had the project in mind since he came to New York three years ago. At present Canadian offices are scattered all over New York and not even the government offices are all in the same building.

LONG TREK NOW

Says Lawson: "If I want to go to a Canadian bank now I've got to trek miles from the consulate in the British Empire building in Rockefeller Center down to Wall Street."

Lawson envisages Canada House as a "prestige" building, of which "every Canadian can be proud."

For Canada House will be as Canadian as any building that has ever been built outside Canada. It was conceived by a Canadian; it is financed almost entirely by Canadians; it will be primarily Canadian-designed and its backers hope that eventually it will belong to the Canadian people.

Lawson attributes the success of the project to "the enthusiasm of a group of Canadian industrialists," whom he does not wish to identify until the list of backers of the house is complete. But it was Lawson, himself, an experienced businessman and a former lieutenant-governor of Ontario, who did most of the spadework.

CANADIAN CLUB FIRST

He first brought up the idea of a Canada House at the Canadian Club's 50th anniversary dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel two years ago. The club, with a 1,400 membership, showed interest in moving their quarters to an all-Canadian building but later decided to stay put.

Undeterred by the loss of the club's support, Lawson then spent his spare time briefing friends in the business world on the project. The response was favorable and a group of Canadian businessmen from nearly every province and two Americans each pledged $100,000 investment and formed

Canada House (New York) Ltd. After 25 years when they have their original investments back, these sponsors will offer the building to the people of Canada without costing the taxpayer a cent. If the government of Canada accepts the gift, and Lawson believes it will, it will be the first property owned by the Canadian government in New York.

$2,000,000 SITE

For about $2,000,000 and with some help from William Zeckendorf, the well-known realtor, in making the purchase, Lawson got his "ideal" site on property once owned by James D. Rockefeller.

Only five blocks from fashionable Central Park South, two from Park Avenue, two from Rockefeller Center, three from Broadway and within walking distance of Grand Central and Times Square, Canada House will be pretty well in the centre of things. Furthermore, the site is almost directly on top of a subway station.

The architects have not yet decided on the final design, but Lawson says it won't be a "glass-house."

"We're not going to skimp on the budget," says Lawson, who estimates Canada House will cost between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000, in addition to the cost of the land. Lawson says the building will be about 24 or 26 storeys tall with the upper floors stepped-back from the street in accordance with New York zoning laws.

The building will have a distinctive Canadian character and Lawson hopes a maple leaf lounge and movie hall will be built. A Canadian coat-of-arms decorating the main Fifth Avenue entrance has been suggested.

Strip Prisoners
After They Help
Pair to Escape

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — More than 100 Nebraska reformatory prisoners who staged a bottle-tossing and fire-setting rumpus were stripped of their clothing and tossed into tiny cells of the institution's "maximum security" jail late Monday night.

Superintendent George Morris said the trouble started when two prisoners fled a late work detail and hid on the roof of the cell block.

Other prisoners, knowing the two were on the roof, tried to deflect attention of searchers by tossing bottles into corridors, then by setting papers and rags on fire and tossing them out. They were successful in attracting enough attention that the two fleeing prisoners got away over a fence.

VOYAGE CUT SHORT

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—A Dutch couple and a Spanish seaman who drifted for weeks in their crippled 40-foot motor boat were towed into port by a fishing boat at an end. Fifty-five-year-old Alberto Koostra of Amsterdam and his wife Alicia, 40, said they sailed through three hurricanes on their trip. With them was Juan Enrique Morales, 37.

Most Modern, Shortest stroke V8's in any leading truck!

New Chevrolet Task-Force Trucks

All Chevrolet truck V8's are of oversquare design, with an ultra-short stroke that's smaller than the bore!

Be sure you don't buy a truck V8 that's out of date! Here's the measure of a truly modern V8 engine—Chevrolet's advanced oversquare design. It means less friction... greater efficiency... longer engine life!

Here are more dollar-saving reasons why new Chevrolet trucks offer you the most modern V8's your money can buy!

Modern 12-Volt Electrical System

You get double the punch for quicker starting (up to 30 percent faster cranking speed) and more efficient ignition for finer performance. Also, you have a greater reserve of electrical power.

Gas-Saving High-Compression Ratio

With a high 7.5 to 1 compression ratio, Chevrolet's new V8 truck engines squeeze extra power and work — out of every tankful of gas. Your ton-mile hauling costs go down with this modern V8 power on the job!

Extra-High Power Per Pound

The compact, powerful features of these advanced V8's results in high power output per pound of engine weight. This means that more of the power is actually available for hauling.

Advanced Aircraft-Type Valves

A completely new valve train design permits each valve to function independently — as in modern aircraft engines. Valve action is more positive at all speeds for finer, smoother performance.

Floating Oil Intake . . . Full-Pressure Lubrication

New floating oil intake selects the cleanest oil for engine lubrication. Full-pressure lubrication system provides positive protection for vital engine parts . . . extends engine life.

V8 standard in the new L.C.F. models, an available option in all others except Forward-Control models.

Year after year . . . Canada's best selling trucks!

For Hasty Pees
Is Unveiled

"I serve." That expression of dedication to duty now has taken a tangible form for the members of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment sergeants' mess.

Sunday, a memorial shield bearing the above device was unveiled in the mess hall, a tribute to the late RSM WO1 Alec Lacey. The shield is now presented annually to the most valuable active member of the mess, the receiver this year being Sgt. G. E. Carter, chairman of the mess committee.

It is presented by honorary members: J. M. Cousins, H. D. Willerton, J. Murphy, T. F. Gill and G. Lancaster.

Previous to the unveiling ceremonies members of the mess took part in the veterans' decoration day when they marched to Belleville cemetery and placed wreaths on the graves of former mess members. After the tribute to departed comrades they returned to the armories for the official ceremony of unveiling the memorial shield.

Jack Murphy was spokesman for the group at the unveiling.

Mercury Drops
To 36 Degrees
In N. Hastings

After a long period of torrid temperature during which the minimum of clothing was the order of the day, North Hastings residents reached for the bed blankets last night.

County councillors attending the summer session of county council today stated that the thermometer dropped to a chilly 35 degrees last night.

"It was almost down to frost," stated Duncannon Reeve Tracey Adams. "In fact I thought there had been frost, but the thermometer said only 35°."

Reeve Ray Hannah, of Fort Stewart, said he had been sure there was frost, but investigation proved he had been mistaken by the exceptionally heavy dew. He said the temperature in his district was also a chilly 35 degrees.

Police Blotter

City police are looking for someone with the appreciation of a mouse and the appetite of a horse. Last night Cook's cheese warehouse on the government dock was broken into. A report on an insecure door on the warehouse was phoned to headquarters shortly after 10 o'clock. There could only be one thing missing from the warehouse—cheese.

After investigation police reported someone had forced a way into the warehouse and eaten about five pounds of cheese from two large cheese in the stock. Nothing else was touched. Elsewhere on the night watch the peace was well kept in the city, headquarters only having to attend to routine matters.

Car Crashes Head-On Into Motor Bike, Rider Killed

Peter Leatherland, 23-year-old Batavia man, was fatally injured Tuesday night when the motorcycle he was riding on No. 33 highway in Frankford village was struck head-on by a car, which had turned out to pass another vehicle.

Leatherland was riding north from his home into Frankford, when a southbound auto driven by Russell Smith, Frankford, is said to have turned out to pass another car and met the motorcycle head-on. Smith escaped with a shaking up when his car went into the ditch.

The accident took place just at the southern limits of Frankford opposite Chase's Garage. The mishap occurred shortly before nine o'clock.

The accident victim was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Leatherland of King George Crescent, Batavia.

An inquest has been ordered looking into the death of the young soldier. The inquest is being held today at 1 p.m. at Frankford. A post-mortem is being conducted this morning by Dr. W. A. L. MacDonald of Trenton.

Provincial Constable Ivan Tinkess with Cpl. Reg. Rackham investigated, assisted by Police Chief Ed. McGeechie of Frankford.

General Graham
To Give Picnic
For Officers

Saturday next, Canada's No. 1 soldier will entertain officers of the regiment that started him on his military career—the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment.

Lt.-Gen. H. D. Graham, who has been appointed Chief of General Staff, will give a picnic party at Cobourg beach for all officers of the regiment and their families.

Lt.-Gen. Graham has issued a statement in which he has requested all officers, who ever served with the regiment, to attend the event.

The man, who has been given the nation's top military commission started as a lieutenant in the Hastings and Prince Edward regiment in 1922, when the 49th Hastings and the Prince Edward regiments were amalgamated.

He served continuously as a lieutenant, captain and major in the regiment until 1939, when he enlisted in Canada's active service. He went overseas as 2-IC of the regiment, taking over as commanding officer in 1941. He subsequently commanded the 5th Canadian Brigade and returned to Canada as commander of the 1st Brigade, of which the Hastings and Prince Edward regiment was part.

MRS. CHARLES V. SCOTT

CAMPBELLFORD — Funeral services were conducted on Friday afternoon for Mrs. Charles V. Scott, the former Henrietta Elizabeth Frederick.

Mrs. Scott died suddenly at the Campbellford Memorial Hospital on Wednesday afternoon. She was 46 years of age. Born in Campbellford, she was the daughter of the late George Frederick and former Margaret Laird, who survives. She was a lifelong resident of the community and had been ill only a short time. She was a member of St. John's United Church.

Surviving besides her mother and husband are three daughters, Mrs. Ross Reid (Lorraine) of Oshawa; Joan and Nancy of Campbellford, also one son, George, also of Campbellford. There are also three sisters surviving: Mrs. Herb Payne (Dorothy) of Peterborough; Mrs. James Duff (Helen) of Hastings, and Donna, at home; two brothers, Francis (Danny) Frederick of Campbellford and Gerald Frederick of Peterborough.

Services were conducted from Mrs. Scott's late residence at 88 Bridge St. West, with the Rev. Dr. D. M. Smith of St. John's officiating. After the service the cortege left for burial in Maple Grove cemetery on Highway 30, near Havelock.

The bearers were: Laurie Nesbitt, Jack Brunton, Ross Reid, Fred Duff, James Duff and Herb Payne.

IVAN MERLE SPENCER
(R.R. 3, Stirling)

Ivan Merle Spencer, R.R. 3, Stirling, died in Belleville General Hospital on Tuesday, August 23rd, after having been ill in hospital for two weeks. He was in his 60th year.

The deceased was born in Rawdon township, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Spencer, and lived in Rawdon district all his life. He is survived by his parents, his wife, the former Una Rowe; one daughter, Mrs. Don (Helen) Holbert of Moira; three sons, Frank, of Mount Pleasant; Don of West Huntingdon; Ray, at home; and eight grandchildren.

Also surviving him is a brother, Ernest C. Spencer of Mount Pleasant.

The deceased was a farmer. He was a member of Mount Pleasant United Church and was steward of the church at the time of his death.

The body is resting at his late residence. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

PETER GORDON
LEATHERLAND
(Batavia)

Peter Gordon Leatherland, 16 King George Crescent, Batavia, died suddenly Tuesday, August 23rd, when the motorcycle he was riding collided with a car at Frankford. He was in his 24th year.

The deceased was born in England, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Leatherland, and lived in England prior to taking up residence in Batavia three and one half years ago.

He was a member of the Anglican church and was employed by the Belleville Knitting Co.

He is survived by his parents and two sisters, Mrs. Stephen Herman and Miss Marian Leatherland, both of Batavia.

The deceased is resting at the Rowe Funeral Home, Frankford. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

MRS. GEORGE DREWRY

Mrs. Nancy Drewry, widow of George Drewry, died Wednesday, August 24th, in the Belcrest Nursing Home after having been in failing health for some time. She was in her 95th year.

The deceased was born in Rawdon township, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Philip Caverley, and lived in the Quinte district all her life. She had been staying at the Belcrest Nursing Home for a short time after having lived for ten years at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Elgie, Everett St. She lived for some time in Stirling.

She is survived by five sons: William of Rawdon township; Fred of Toronto; Earl of Dearborn, Mich.; Everett of Tilsonburg; Gordon, of Rochester, N.Y., and two daughters, Mrs. William (Pearl) Flick of Florida, and Mrs. Fred (Evelyn) Elgie of Belleville.

The deceased was a member of Stirling Presbyterian Church.

The deceased is resting at the Thomas C. Thompson Funeral Chapel. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

Councillors Discuss Several Resolutions from Other Counties

Hastings county councillors today convened for their annual summer session with Warden Jas. H. Sprackett welcoming members for the three-day convocation.

In welcoming the county reeves Warden Sprackett referred to the exceptionally dry weather which had been experienced during the summer, but at the same time, Hastings had been lucky in comparison with other counties. Despite the drought crops had been very good.

The warden invited all members to visit the recently renovated county engineer's office some time during the session. The office had been completely done over at a cost of slightly under $2,500.

Reading of communications and discussion of resolutions from other counties took up most of the morning session.

Council concurred in a Lincoln county resolution calling for early adoption by the federal government of a national health scheme.

NO ACTION TAKEN

No action was taken on a Grey county resolution asking that education costs be borne one-third each by the province, the dominion government and the municipalities.

Reeve Lloyd "Bud" Price of Elzevir, pointed out that many municipalities now pay less than one-third of education costs. "It would pay many municipalities to leave this alone," he said.

Reeve Charles Buskard said this was a question for the experts to decide. He thought considerable pressure had already been brought to bear and he was certain something would be done to relieve the real estate taxpayer's burden.

"We can safely leave this aside," he commented.

Council endorsed an Oxford county resolution calling for the weed "yellow rocket" to be raised to a prohibited category in grass seeds. The resolution also asked for more rigid enforcement of grass seed standards.

Reeve Earl Sager of Madoc township said considerable yellow rocket had been seen in his township this year.

No action was taken on another Grey county resolution asking for an additional charge on hunting licences to set up a fund for payment of livestock killed by hunters during the deer hunting season.

Neither was any action taken on a Lennox and Addington county resolution asking that deer hunting camps be limited to ten men and that the duck hunting season be set back two weeks to October 1st.

NO ACTION TAKEN

Councillors failed to agree with another resolution calling for railways to letter their boxcars with luminous paint as a further safety measure for motorists using highways at night.

A request for the county to facilitate the sale of school debentures to pay for the construction of a new proposed addition to the Bancroft high school was received from the North Hastings High School Board. It was pointed out, however, that the Department of Education had not yet given final approval for the construction of the school and would not do so until firm prices were received.

The North Hastings board has authorized its architect to call for tenders for the construction of the school addition. Estimated cost is $125,000. The matter was laid over until the next session of council.

County weed inspector Harry Coulter addressed council briefly commenting on the work accom-

Playground Field
Day on Friday

The Belleville Recreation Committee will hold their annual playground field day on Friday of this week at the East-Hill playgrounds.

This day-long program completes the summer playground activities each year with boys and girls from all 11 playgrounds taking part. The playgrounds gathering the most points at the end of the day's activities, both in senior and junior, receive plaques while individual winners are awarded ribbons.

A varied program is planned with foot races, horse shoes, contests of all sorts of competitive sports beginning early in the day and running through until late afternoon. Free movies will be shown in the evening with parents invited.

The children are given free coke and ice cream throughout the day with Recreational Director, Red Doran, in charge, aided by other members of the committee. Presentations will be made in the evening with Jack Devine of CJBQ broadcasting directly from the playgrounds.

Shopping Made Easier
At Canadian Tire

Canadian Tire Corporation for many years have bettered their business on a cash basis, but to keep pace with modern shopping habits, they have inaugurated their own Credit Budget Plan. The highlights of this plan are that a customer may purchase any merchandise or service over $20, with no down payment and weekly payments as low as $1.

On account accounts there is no waiting, immediate delivery of any goods can be secured. Under this new scheme there is no outside interviews or references required.

As in all of Canadian Tire Corporation activities, they have been successful in setting up this plan with a minimum cost to the consumer. Carrying charges are much below most other companies.

CARDS OF THANKS

The family of the late Glen Reid wish to acknowledge the thoughtful expressions of sympathy of friends and neighbours during their recent bereavement in the loss of their loving son and father; also for the many beautiful flowers and use of cars.

IN APPRECIATION

On behalf of Dad and myself I would like to thank all those people who worked and planned to organize the swim, without whose help I could not have done it. To Cecil Dennison who provided an excellent boat "Sixty" Vagor who did a tremendous job of piloting, to Harry DeRus who assisted in the swim, to Johnny Punched who helped row the mile, to Floyd Macdonald and Lord, who worked to police an open course, to my sister Vera and brothers Jackie and Donald who paced me part of the way; to Elsiea Foley who saw and encouraged me throughout the swim. To all these people go my most humble thanks, and shall always remember them for it.

—Betty Berry.

Cloyne Child Is Killed By Father's Truck

KINGSTON (CP) — Two-year-old Ray Armstrong died Tuesday on the way to hospital after being run over by a truck being backed by his father in the front yard of their home four miles north of Cloyne on Highway 41.

Councillors Pleased By Renovations

Hastings county councillors voted their collective approval today as they visited the recently renovated county engineer's office and viewed the transformation, which had taken place since the last session.

Office renovations were approved during the last session and since then the ceiling in the engineer's office has been lowered nearly three feet and ceiling tile applied. Walls have been done over with plywood and V-jointed wallboard and new asphalt tile has been laid on the floors.

Affording additional space for the engineer's office staff a small room used formerly for storage has been fitted out as a typing room.

Total cost of the work done by Armstrong's of Stirling, is expected to run slightly under $2,500.

Kiwanians Hear Strange Story Told by Judge

Because three of Rochester's most hardened criminals wanted to make money they netted thousands. Because one man went looking for two dollars off they were netted by police. This peculiar angle on the solving of one of Rochester's most brazen crime waves was recounted to Belleville Kiwanis here yesterday by Judge Cass Henry, judge of Monroe County.

Judge Henry, speaking to the club's weekly meeting, used the above story to highlight part of his address.

This particular instance in the 33 Rochester crime annals was also one of the toughest from the police standpoint. A wave of safe thefts had hit the city and it appeared the crooks responsible had a fool-proof scheme. They had, except one of them seemed to have a little miserly streak and this brought the entire scheme down about their heads.

The method of operation worked so: First a car or truck would be stolen after a likely location was picked for the robbery. While police prowled cars were returning to headquarters at the end of the night beat, the trio entered the marked building, lifted the safe out into the truck and then disappeared to a rented garage, here the stolen truck and the safe were left to await opening at the criminals' leisure.

Once hiring a garage they paid only four dollars of its six-dollar rental promising the owner to return later with the two dollars. They didn't so he went looking for them in his garage and found there, the result of a night's work of the boys. The following day the crooks walked into a police trap as they returned to loot the safe.

THE BIG SLEEP

Like to live dangerously? Well, whether we like it or not, that is the way we live, if we are to believe John Pfeiffer. Writing in "Coronet" magazine, he says that the average person is "really one wide awake and alert" for only about sixteen minutes every day.

Pfeiffer does not draw the inference that this is a dangerous way to live. In fact, he seems to view the situation in an entirely different light. "Psychologists," he says, "estimate that on the average you spend only about 60 seconds out of every hour doing things that call for anything approaching complete vigilance." In other words, you only need to be wide awake and alert for 16 minutes a day.

Now it is true, as he says, that much of what we do we do automatically, while we are thinking about something else. He chooses to mention driving a car to work, over a familiar route, as one example. This may be a task in which we can spend 59 minutes out of every hour "in a kind of half-sleep." But the other minute we must be wide awake and alert or an accident will occur. Perhaps that is why so many people die.

Perhaps this "half-sleep" habit is why so many people make mistakes in familiar tasks. Perhaps it is why so many are bored. Perhaps unconscious recognition of this fact is why so many people select hobbies or pastimes which challenge them.

Perhaps "wake up and live" would be a good motto for many of us.

A SAD PROPOSAL

According to a British newspaper, proposals for curbing strikes which will be considered by the British Cabinet include "withholding National Assistance and income tax repayments."

We plead ignorance as to exactly what is meant by "National Assistance," but if it is some form of unemployment insurance or relief then no legitimate objection can be made to withholding it in the case of strikes.

Surely, though, the repayment of income taxes in excess of what was due is in a different category. This money is not the Government's but the taxpayer's. That the taxpayer may be on strike, even if the strike in question has been ruled illegal, would not appear to justify the Government from delaying paying its debt to the taxpayer. To penalize a man in this manner is surely unjust, since it is a penalty applied without recourse to the courts and one which will apply to some but not to all of the strikers.

The fact that such a suggestion could not only be made but, apparently, could be given serious consideration is a sad commentary on political morality in a nation in which this morality is probably as high, or higher, than in any other nation in the world. The good end, to prevent strikes, is apparently considered to justify any means, even delay in paying a just debt.

DILEMMA

Representative Louis Rabaut of Michigan has enthusiastically described for the United States Congressional Record an invention by Detroit safety engineer, Carl Rashid. The invention consists of a radar screen installed in a car in such a manner that it is "guaranteed to halt the car should anyone or anything get in its path."

This sounds like a marvelous invention. There is only one catch. What happens if two automobiles both equipped with this radar screen approach each other?

There is the old story about the dangerous street intersection in an Irish town. Finally the town fathers got together and issued an edict which they were sure would stop all further accidents at this intersection.

"If two vehicles approach the intersection of North and West streets at the same time both vehicles must come to a complete stop," the council ruled. "Furthermore," it continued, "neither vehicle shall proceed until the other has departed."

That law could be broken—and doubtless was. But if two fool-proof radar screens both refuse to let a car proceed while another is blocking its path no amount of law-breaking impulses will help.

DEPRESSING FIGURES

Rather depressing are figures released by the British Audit Bureau of Circulation showing the sales of British national daily newspapers during the first six months of this year.

The Communist Daily Worker, with an average daily net sale of 33,422 copies, has the lowest sales of any of the ten national dailies listed, but the Manchester Guardian, with a circulation of 156,154, and the London Times, with 221,972, occupy ninth and eighth places respectively on the list. In striking contrast, the London Daily Mirror had a circulation of 4,725,122 copies.

There is something amiss in the reading habits of a nation which would prefer the Daily Mirror to the Manchester Guardian by a margin of over 30 to one.

Nor can any comfort be gleaned from the fact that, while newspaper sales, generally speaking, fell during the first half of this year from the marks set in the same period in 1954, the London Times and the Manchester Guardian registered increases. The Daily Worker had an increase, too.

WALKIE-TALKIE

(A secret service agent carries a "walkie-talkie" when he accompanies Eisenhower on the golf course.—News item.)

Mr. President, I've read it and I wonder if it's true. That a secret service fellow when he reads the course with you takes a "walkie-talkie" with him?

Well, in games that I have played I've had many "walkie-talkies" who made chattering a trade.

On the green when I was trying to run down a three-foot putt

I could hear some "walkie-talkie" for his mouth was never shut.

When I missed a shot completely, though no service man was he,

An advising "walkie-talkie" would be there to counsel me.

Your official "walkie-talkie" in a bag is hid from sight.

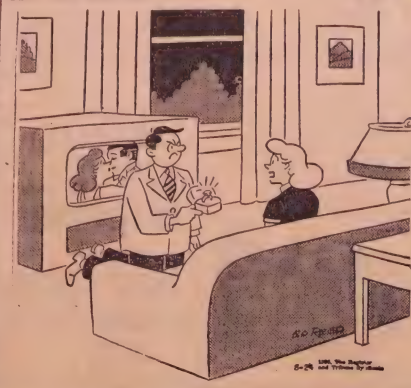

But the ones I had were always at my left hand or right.

In our club we've several fellows who are talking all the time.

And if silence can be golden they have never earned a dime.

Maskegon fishing in the bay has been decidedly good during the past week. A few days ago seven maskegon were caught and yesterday two beauties were caught by Mr. J. B. Clarke.

The fish were caught in Muskegon Bay and weighed 27 and 24 pounds.

Messrs. George Grills, E. F. Milburn, Joseph D. Clarke and R. Weller left today for a few days cruise among the 1000 Islands on Mr. Milburn's fine sailing craft.

Everything is ready for the rebuilding of the revetment wall on the east side of the river from the lower bridge to the park roadway. It will take three months to do the job.

Meaning of Apartheid

(Letter in the New York Times by Alan Paton, South African author of "Cry, the Beloved Country" and "Too Late the Phalarope")

It will be known to many of your readers that Kent School, Connecticut, offered to Stephen Ramasodi, a pupil at St. Peter's School Rosetown, Johannesburg, the opportunity to complete his education at Kent School.

This was, as you know, the chance of a lifetime. Stephen, who is 16 years old, would have been, to my knowledge, the first African boy from our country to enjoy such an opportunity. His father, who is a faithful member of the same church that maintains both St. Peter's and Kent School, is also headmaster of a large African school in Pretoria, was willing that his son should accept this opportunity.

Mr. Ramasodi considered both the prospect and the consequences of whatever the consequences might be, his son should accept this lifetime chance.

It was the South African Government which determined otherwise. First the South African police refused to issue the certificate of character without which your country would not allow Stephen to enter. The Department of the Interior would not grant a passport without this certificate. This department also consulted the Department of Native Affairs, which is responsible for the African people of the Union.

Finally, the headmaster of St. Peter's School informed the authorities that he would have to give the facts to the press and the public. This stung the Minister of Native Affairs into immediate action. He replied that he would not be intimidated by persons who he took to be agitators, and meantime the Department of the Interior stated that the passport had been refused on the grounds that it was not in Stephen's true interests to allow him to go to America.

Many Americans have no doubt tried to understand the true meaning of the Bantu Education Act, which act places all African education under the Minister of Native Affairs. One of the real meanings of this act is to be seen in this action of the Minister. One true meaning of apartheid is clearly indicated here.

I do not pretend that all African people are equipped by tradition and education to participate fully in the life of a Western and industrial society, but they want to be, they try to be, and they attain success in many of their endeavors. They want nothing more than to participate in the life of the Family of Nations. They want nothing more than to understand the world in which they live, and to see it if they can. It is this deep and passionate desire that our Government thwarts continually, ultimately in vain. It is true, but immediately with intolerable consequences to human individuals.

The State Information Office of the Union will no doubt try to find this unjust act. I do not know how many Americans and Europeans will be convinced by their arguments. I assure you, sir, that there will not be only one single African on the continent.

ALAN PATON, Kioof, Natal, South Africa, Aug. 4, 1955.

Bouquets To George Tustin

(By Tempers, writing from Ottawa, in Financial Times, Montreal)

The Conservatives leave here a lot stronger than they were when they came here. The party which exists on the eve of August is a much better party than entered here in the long nights of sub zero January.

First the Tories are a tougher fighting party; second, their internal loyalty is better; thirdly, their morale is better; fourthly and finally, their morale is tops.

So often have the PCs said they were going to do a thing. Then after a brave start, they fizzled out. They were not even all noise. They were mostly absentees. They lost every battle to the Pullmans. The old Tuesday to Thursday crowds inevitably scuttled every worth while effort. Drew's Conservatives until the middle of June had more and bigger homing pigeons than any dove they ever saw.

This new-found courage I attribute to two reasons. The first is George Drew; the second is George Tustin. In the case of Drew, his courage has been tremendous. Always a man whose courage was the best if his judgment was the worst, this time both his judgment and his courage were superlative. But raw courage itself, however commendable, is by no means a rare thing nor is it specially valuable.

Maybe I have things all mixed up, but the Campaign of Troy was not won by half forgotten Hector's bravery, but by Ulysses' guile.

Now I am not going so far as to move a wooden horse into George Tustin's front yard. But I am saying that the acting whip from Napoleon really proved to be a slicker and a smoother. His big battles were all waged against that old varmint, General Lassitude, in the Tories.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

Why Not Consult An Osteopath?

Forty-eight years ago Dr. Joel Goldthwait published (JAMA, 8-31-'07) the first description of sprain or strain of the sacro-iliac joint. Prior to that time if the possibility of movement at this joint was recognized at all it was recognized by the osteopaths.

Goldthwait's writings irked the big shots of the profession, and they have never given him credit for his contribution. "We were only kidding. You can't practise your profession until you shall have gone hand to hand to the politicians on the state board, who will put you through their examination, and one of the other censors. So, being young and inexperienced, he was called in the mangle behavior, we can begin to practise."

7 Railwaymen Hurt as Trains Collide on Bridge

LOWELL, Mass. (AP)—Ten cars of a 13-car Boston-Montreal train and at least two cars from a freight train were derailed in wild disorder after a collision on a bridge over the Concord river shortly before midnight Tuesday.

Seven crew members were injured, one seriously. None of the passenger train's occupants required treatment of any kind, a spokesman for the Boston and Maine Railroad said.

All the passengers on the Montreal train were able to continue their journey in a relief train sent from Boston.

A railroad spokesman said a tank car in the freight train jumped the track on a six-arch bridge shortly before the Boston-Montreal Red Wing came along.

The Red Wing struck the tank car and sent it sprawling into the river. Only three sleepers remained on the track of the Montreal train's 13 cars. The others jumped the rails and stopped in a crazy zig-zag pattern on the track bed and the bridge.

Jap Physician Denies Statement

TOKYO (AP)—The chief physician in charge of Japan's 23 Bikini hydrogen bomb victims today challenged a United States defence department statement that jaundice from blood transfusions caused the death last October of fisherman Aikichi Kuboyama.

He reaffirmed his belief that death resulted from radiation sickness.

Dr. Kazuo Kiyoshika the doctor in direct charge of the atomic fall-out victims, conducted the autopsy on Kuboyama in the presence of U.S. specialists. He said all agreed that Kuboyama's liver and bone marrow contained radioactive elements, apparently as the result of breathing dust from the hydrogen bomb fall-out in March, 1954.

"Most of the 23 Bikini patients alike suffered from jaundice — after what we were inclined to consider damage done to blood-producing organs by the inhaled fall-out," he said.

CAPTURE DOCUMENTS

BAGHDAD (Reuters)—Iraqi police claimed today to have captured highly important documents and large quantities of anti-government literature in arresting 12 leading Communists this week. The Communists, hunted for a long time, were members of cells in Baghdad and in southern Iraq, it was officially stated.

ARREST RED AGENTS

FRANKFURT (AP)—Four German Communist agents are under arrest here for spying on Allied military construction projects in West Germany. Frankfurt police announced Sunday night. The four were alleged to have been pressed into Red espionage while visiting relatives in East Germany.

Longshoremen Staging Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—A widespread longshoremen's strike today threatened to cripple shipping on the Manhattan waterfront.

The wildcat walkout, sparked by the denial of a work permit to one man and fed by long-standing union resentment against the official waterfront commission, began Monday at the Grace Line terminal and spread Tuesday to other Manhattan piers. At least 14 ships were affected.

The strike Tuesday caught the Queen Mary midway through unloading operations. When dock workers walked off, leaving passengers stranded with their baggage, the Cunard Line's office personnel pitched in to help.

The big liner was set to sail on schedule today without unloading much of the 150 tons of incoming cargo that she had brought here. In addition to hampering passenger operations, the strike stopped work on freighters tied up in Manhattan. Some 70 cargo ships are in port.

FALL BRINGS DEATH

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Mack Hopson, 37, rolled off a diving board where he was sleeping, struck his neck on the ragged edge of a coffee can used as an ash tray and bled to death. Hopson, a construction worker, severed the jugular vein in his neck. He died 35 minutes later.

670-Pound Tropical Turtle Is Harpooned

HALIFAX (CP)—A fisherman said today he almost lost out in a "nip-and-tuck" battle with a 670-pound tropical turtle harpooned off Halifax.

Howard Smith of nearby Sambro said he landed the seven-foot turtle Sunday after an hour-long battle.

Fisheries officials here recalled that a turtle tipping the scales at 1,400 pounds had been landed in Cape Breton waters just a few days ago. It was also of a tropical species.

Just why these tropical turtles are headed northward is not known but there has been speculation that the Atlantic is getting warmer and attracting them away from their natural home. Turtles of half a ton are common in the Gulf of Mexico.

HOPES BARRIERS REMOVED

MOSCOW (Reuters)—The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia has called for the removal of political barriers to international trade and the development of business links between nations to strengthen peace and security. "The conviction is growing in Western business circles that economic interests ultimately will open a way and that discrimination in world trade will be eliminated," the newspaper says.

Bank Is Robbed At Saint John

LANCASTER, N.B. (CP)—Roadblocks were maintained Tuesday night on roads leading out of Lancaster and neighboring Saint John after a gun-waving bandit held up a Toronto-Dominion bank branch here and escaped with about $5,600.

Bank manager Carl H. Seip grabbed a revolver and followed the man into the street where he fired two shots after the bandit who had jumped into a car. The car, stolen earlier, was later recovered in downtown Saint John across the St. John river from here.

Little Negro Girl Correctly Spells Long Sentence

NEW YORK (AP)—Little Gloria Lockerman, a champion speller from Baltimore, Tuesday night piled up her television quiz show winnings to $16,000 by spelling off this entire sentence:

"The belligerent astigmatic anthropologist annihilated innumerable chrysanthemums."

The 12-year-old Negro girl, dressed spic and span in her Sunday best and grinning like a Cheshire kitten, had almost no trouble with the tricky words.

Next week she can try for $32,000 on the CBS program, "The $64,000 Question."

Because of Gloria's age, her grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Key, decides whether the girl should continue.

If she tries for $32,000 next week and misses, she gets a consolation prize of $4,000. If she tries and makes it, she can go on to $64,000 the final week. All her winnings will be kept in a trust fund for her education and until she comes of age.

MOTHERS-IN-LAW BLAMED

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—Doctors treating stomach patients should question them on their domestic lives—because mothers-in-law may be the cause of their ulcers, a doctor says. Mothers-in-law often induce ulcers in young married people, Dr. R. K. Doig, of the Melbourne Medical Research Centre, told the Australian Medical Congress.

Ticket of Leave May Be Given Jail Inmates

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Manitoba government is planning a daring innovation at Headingly provincial jail, scene of two riots and other minor disturbances within the last six months.

The province has asked the federal government for permission to allow some inmates of the jail, located 16 miles west of Winnipeg, a 48-hour "ticket of leave" every three months.

The plan was recommended in the report of a three-man commission set up to investigate the situation as a result of a riot there last Dec. 19.

The commission proposed that once every three months during the term of their sentences, prisoners "whose good conduct merits special recognition" be allowed a 48-hour "home leave" pass which would allow them to leave the jail without escort.

RENEW HOME TIES

The thought behind the leave-granting was to allow prisoners to make contact with prospective employers, to let them deal with domestic and personal problems and to renew home and family ties, "thus assisting in their rehabilitation."

The jail houses men serving terms up to two years less a day.

Legend Says Plane Carried Hitler's Treasure

LINZ, Austria (Reuters)—A diver Tuesday discovered 280 feet down in a lake near here a German warplane which local legend says was carrying Hitler's personal treasure and secret files when it crashed in 1945.

"A load of platinum" was the description given to part of the cargo.

The legend is based on the date of the crash April 17, 1945, in the last days of Hitler's Reich, when Hitler was considering setting up an "Alpine fortress."

The wreckage of the Messerschmitt 210, which in 1945 was one of Germany's latest twin-engine fighters, will be brought ashore "in the next few days," local officials said.

IVANHOE W.M.S.

The August meeting of Ivanhoe W.M.S. was held at home of Mrs. Percy Cooney. The president presided. Ten members and four visitors were present.

Business was discussed and Mrs. Stan Prest and Mrs. Percy Cooney were appointed to attend the School for Leaders at Whitby.

Mrs. Earl Benson closed this part of the meeting and took charge of the rest of the meeting. The Scripture, Romans 12: 1-2-9-13 was read by Mrs. Mac McMullen. Reading was given by Mrs. Keith Bray "An Inward God." Mrs. Stan Prest gave a reading on the word "Go", followed by a reading by Mrs. Arthur Wood, "It Isn't the Church, It's You."

Mrs. Benson thanked Mrs. Cooney for opening her home. The hostess served refreshments and a social half hour was spent.

Interest Centres on Margaret on Royal Public Appearance

For Princess Anne and Prince Charles, the charity sale arranged by their mother and grandmother was a picnic. Queen Elizabeth and the Queen Mother took part in the outdoor sale arranged to raise money for Crathie Church near Balmoral Castle, Scotland, and the Prince and Princess wandered around the items for sale, having a fine time at their indoor window-shopping. (Central Press Canadian Photos).

Public interest in the charity sale was increased by the presence of Princess Margaret and her latest escort, Dominic Elliot, eligible Scots bachelor, right. New 25, and permitted to marry without the Queen's consent, Margaret's selection of Elliot as escort has caused rumors that she has decided against marrying Group Capt. Peter Townsend.

Clinical tests prove that ARRID, now with Perstop, is 1½ times as effective as other leading deodorants. Arrid's antiseptic protection keeps underarms dry and odourless.

1. Safely stops perspiration and odour.
2. Will not irritate normal skin.
3. Protects clothes from stains and clinging odours.
4. Soft, gentle vanishing cream. Never dries out.
5. Easy to use! Rub Arrid in, rub perspiration and odour out.

More Canadians use Arrid than any other deodorant.

Women's Activities

SALIM W.A.

The August meeting of Salem W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Gladys Sine, Stirling, on Thursday of last week. There were 24 members and nine visitors present.

The president, Mrs. Holden, opened the meeting and welcomed all.

A card of appreciation was read from the family of the late Mr. Mumby.

Mrs. Carter took charge of the program. Mrs. Lorne Hagerman read the Scripture lesson. Mrs. A. Ray led in prayer. Mary and Margaret Ray and Barbara Twiddy sang. Mrs. Edwin Warren gave a reading on "Thoughts for Our Time" and Miss Joan Twiddy favored with a piano solo.

The topic was given by Miss Edna Tanner entitled "The Good Shepherd" based on the 23rd Psalm.

Mrs. J. B. Hagerman gave a reading.

Mrs. Wickens moved a vote of thanks to the hostess after which a social half hour was enjoyed by all.

RECEIVES DEED FOR CHILD

GREENWOOD, S. C. (AP)—The clerk of court's office here has received a deed signed by a woman to "grant, bargain, sell and release" her minor child. It carried the sum of $5. Deeding of children in South Carolina still is legal.

Montreal Needs Fifth Volume 'Golden Book'

MONTREAL (CP)—The "Golden Book," Montreal's register of the visiting great, has expanded into another volume, the fifth.

Since Marshal Joffre of France signed the first volume at the inauguration of a new municipal library, May 13, 1917, nearly 50,000 persons have provided autographs. Volume five, its red leather cover still fresh and bright, sits on a wooden pedestal beside the desk of Mayor Jean Drapeau. The first entry is that of Guy Baou, the French consul in Montreal. The signatures of a group of visiting French newspaper-owners are next.

Though the earliest and the latest signatures are years apart, they have one thing in common with those of many adult visitors—they are almost illegible. Exceptions are the boys and girls who clearly and laboriously signed the golden book as "mayors" of Montreal's playgrounds.

A study in contrasts is provided by the signatures of Queen Marie of Romania who took most of a page to scrawl the royal cipher with what was obviously an overfull pen, and musician Mischa Elman whose neat writing has been unspooled by signing a multitude of autograph books.

All ages are well-represented, from the Hargreaves quadruplets, 20 months old, to Paul Duroy, a 104-year-old visitor from Dover, N.H.

Visitors come from all parts of the world, including Dogpatch, U.S.A., represented by cartoonist Al Capp.

MINERS WIN RAISE

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DO YOU HAVE THE REASON YOUR MOTHER FEELS AS SHE DOES?

Dear Beatrice Fairfax: I'm 20 years old, and I think I'm old enough to go to work or to parties, picnics or even to the movies. But my mother won't allow me to go, either alone or with girl friends who invite me. All she can do is go when my married sister goes, or with my sister-in-law. And they don't go out very often, because they have a lot of kids to look after.

I'm more like a prisoner than a living human being, and I'm so tired of being lonesome that sometimes I think I'll go crazy and do something wrong. It's like being a bird in a cage that wants to fly far, far away and never return. That's the way my mind is working, so please give me some advice. I'll be watching for it. —Miss B. C.

Dear Miss B. C.: Why do you suppose your mother is so strict?

Was she, by any chance, brought up in another country where girls, especially unmarried ones, are allowed little freedom, and she holds on to the ideas of "the old country" even though she sees that it's different here? Or does she live a very restricted life herself and want you to stay at home to keep her company? Or do you think she may be afraid that if you had a lot of friends and interests outside your home you might meet some man who would want to marry you and take you away from her?

Give this some thought, because I believe it would help solve the problem if we could figure out the reason why your mother limits your activities so rigidly.

I'm sure it can't be that she is worried lest you might get into some kind of trouble.

I fully agree with you that any young woman of 20 should be able to go out, either with friends or by herself, and I think, too, that it would be very good for you if you were to find some sort of job. I gather that your mother doesn't want that, either.

Of course you don't want just to defy your mother, and go out and do as you please in spite of her, for that would only make things worse. It's true that perhaps, eventually, it may be wise for you to leave home and go out on your own if her attitude remains the same. But first, I think, everything possible should be done to change her attitude before you take any drastic step.

How do your sister and your sister-in-law feel about this matter? Can't they talk to your mother and explain to her that you should be having some life of your own? If you can't get them to help you, then I think you should go to someone else who would try to see what might be done.

How about the minister of your church. Do you know him well, and would he be the sort of person to whom you could tell your problem and who might be able to approach your mother in a tactful way? If so, call him up on the telephone, or write him a letter, and ask if you may come and have a talk

PRACTICAL EXERCISE FOR THE BUSY HOMEMAKER

Overweight homemakers are often heard to complain that they cannot understand their extra poundage with all the "exercise" they do — running up and down stairs, making beds, dusting, mopping and dozens of other chores. Well, to a certain extent it's true. Housework does require a great deal of exercise, but the trouble is that most women don't do it properly. This is not to say that their homes are not immaculately clean. Their homemaking may be superb. But it's the "exercise" part that isn't done properly. And when it is not done properly, housework can be extremely fatiguing.

There are ways, however, in which to lighten these burdens and improve the figure at the same time. Since, with many women, what they call overweight is actually flabbiness from muscles which have lost tone, the first thing they should concentrate upon is to make every chore a means of restoring that tone. Let's take a simple thing like picking things up from the floor — and if your household revolves about the activities of several children, you probably do this dozens of times a day. Chances are, though, that when you go to pick them up, you bend over to do so. This is the tiring way to do it. Instead, train yourself to "squat" when you do such chores. Holding like spine erect, bend the knees slowly and effortlessly and when you have reached the squatting position, do your picking up, then rise in the same easy manner. When pushing the vacuum cleaner around, don't lunge forward and tire back muscles. Instead, hold your chest high and your spine as straight as a rod. Your mid-section should be perfectly flat, knees relaxed and slightly bent. If you have to bend your body, do it from the hips. Don't stoop. And while you're at it, stretch those muscles in the midsection. Stretching is the best possible way of taking off inches.

In fact, you can make every household chore a figure-beautifying exercise. Stretch when you're hanging clothes, as you dust, clean shelves and wardrobes. Make every movement a rhythmic one and work with swift, clean strokes. You'll find that not only is your housework made easier and less fatiguing but that there will be a noticeable improvement in your figure.

"Let's Eat Supper Outside Tonight"

By Mary Moore

"When we were in Cornwall" (That's the new way to start a conversation. The old way when "When I had my operation.") Well anyway when we were "over there" I knelt down and inspected closely Dr. Andrews' beautiful lawn. It had been moved to his house by a former owner, fifteen years before. Not only did the former owner bring his furniture, he brought his lawn and I'm glad he did. It was a perfect, thick, green carpet and on close examination I found tiny ferns and vines tightly interwoven through the small grass blades.

I've ordered ten pounds of grass seed in an optimistic effort to improve the grass around our barbecue, which gets trampled once or twice per week regularly. Because portable gasoline stoves and barbecues and permanent barbecues are becoming more common properties every day, I'm encouraged (although I need very little encouragement) to have another fling at giving you more out-of-door menus that our crowd loved.

Of course we've had steak and kabobs and hamburgers and wiener but for the first time I served ham cooked out-of-doors. You can serve exactly the same thing indoors on your lovely white stove if you are allergic to ants and hornets. Seriously though since the new transpor-tant wrap has been available all of the food may be covered most of the time, but still be seen. The small flying, prying, unwanted guests are completely thwarted by it. I used to spend half of my time waving flies away from the butter. Now I have time to eat.

BARBECUED HAM SLICES
To make four large servings have the butcher slice you four four-ounce slices of ready-to-put ham about 1-4 inch thick. Mix together 1-2 cup juice drained from canned pineapple slices, 2 or 4 tablespoons soy sauce, 1-4 teaspoon ginger and 2 slices from a garlic clove. Place ham slices in shallow dish, pour sauce over and store in refrigerator about 2 hours. Broil or pan-fry about four inches from source of heat—don't discard the sauce though—just drain it off the slices before broiling them. Turn over slices and brown other side. If desired some pineapple slices may be heated through and browned during last four minutes. When serving spoon some of the sauce over the ham slices. If pineapple slices are served place them on the ham slices before spooning sauce over. Sautéed parboiled sweet potatoes are good with this.

This month and next fruit is so abundant we have to serve it often to keep it used up. If we decide to have peaches or melons it is Pete's and Doris' chore to prepare them at the last minute before dessert is served. They clear away a load of plates on their inside trip and return with melons with orange sherbet and which is an upside down cake, ready-to-serve, when it comes from the oven. Bottom Layer—Two tablespoons butter (or margarine), 1-4 cup each brown sugar, chopped nuts, crushed cereal flakes. Melt the butter in bottom of 8-inch square baking pan. Mix and sprinkle sugar, nuts flakes evenly over it. Let stand while preparing Batter: 1 1-2 cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 cup shortening, 2-3 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1-2 cup milk, 1-4 teaspoon lemon extract. Sift together sifted flour, baking powder and salt. Cream together shortening and sugar until fluffy. Add egg and lemon rind and beat well. Add flour mixture alternately with milk and lemon extract. Mix until well blended. Pour into prepared pan and bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for about 30 minutes. Invert over serving plate at once, leaving pan over cake for a minute to allow coating to run over cake. Wonderful with coffee.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

CONCERNING FEE TO CLERGYMAN FOR A CHRISTENING

Dear Mrs. Beekman: What is the customary fee given a clergyman for a christening?

There is never any required "fee" to the clergyman for a christening. But usually after the christening the child's father hands the clergyman an envelope containing an appropriate amount. This amount depends on what he can afford, on whether or not the family are regular members of the congregation and on the plans for post-christening entertainment. For a very small christening, five or ten dollars is the more or less customary amount. For a larger christening fifteen to twenty-five dollars may be given, and more if the christening is followed by a very large luncheon or reception or tea.

LOVING GESTURE TO GROOM'S PARENTS

Dear Mrs. Beekman: Should I send one of our formal wedding invitations to the groom's mother? — M.F.

Since you and the groom's mother will be (or should be) in close touch with each other about all the plans for the wedding, you may not, of course send her a formal invitation to "invite" her to the wedding. That wouldn't make sense. However, to show your devoted and gracious thought of her and the family, I suggest that, just as soon as you receive the finished engraved invitations, you enclose several of these (in complete sets) in a large envelope and send them to your fiancée's mother. With the invitations enclose a warm-hearted note saying like this: "Tommy and I wanted his mother and father to have these invitations, just arrived as keepsakes, if you wish, of the Day in which you two are such a very important part. "Dearest love to you both, from both of us."

The daytime dress is very much in the new season's fashion parade, not just the casual little go-to-market dress but unobtrusively smart numbers designed to take a woman through a busy day looking and feeling crisply smart. One such is this good-looking fashioned of black jersey, the skirt lined in crepe for more body. A narrow band of white braid and decorative white piping livens up the sailor collar and performs the same duty for the cuffs. Zippered front below a white dickey. The pockets are slashed into the hipline and outlined in patches.

Manufacturer's Note:

The cheese experts at Ingersoll could have rushed a make-shift spread to Canadian two years ago. Instead, they spent the intervening time experimenting with and finally perfecting a real cheese spread. The reward of their efforts is now available to you—a product that derives its goodness from mellow, fully aged Canadian cheddar.

Use this delicious new Ingersoll product the way you would any other cheese spread.

Spread it for Snacks and Sandwiches.

Heat it for use as a Sauce.

Let it melt in appetizing hot dishes.

INGERSOLL CHEESE CO. LTD., Ingersoll, Ont. — Makers of fine cheese since 1880.

Then notice the one wonderful difference —

INGERSOLL CHEESE SPREAD HAS A FLAVOR THAT IS REAL CHEESE...

ALL CHEESE... AND NOTHING BUT CHEESE!

S.S. Kresge Co. Shows Faith in Future Of Quinte Area by Tripling Size of Store

Managing Director

R. C. DAVIES

Demonstrating fullest confidence in the future growth of Belleville and district, the S. S. Kresge Company in recent months have expanded their store floor area by three and a half times over the former space occupied.

After months of construction and alterations, the new store will be opened to the public on Thursday morning, its 15,000 feet of floor space featuring all new store fittings and many added lines of merchandise.

"We feel confident that the business is there and that Belleville will continue to grow," stated store manager David Lunn as he directed preparations for Thursday's store re-opening.

He stated that the new Kresge store was a definite addition to the city's shopping district and "the better the shopping district is, the more people come to shop."

And it wasn't just an idle boast when Mr. Lunn said the new Kresge store was a definite addition to the shopping district. The store has been greatly extended and runs full width to the extreme west end of the enlarged building. Ceiling of the old portion of the store and the new section has been matched in with eight-foot continuous tube fluorescent lighting.

A modern store front has been added, featuring a "see-through" door.

On entering the store the impression gained is that the store is entirely new. In fact it may as well be new. Hardwood floors have been matched in and there are new counters and display cases throughout.

A big percentage of the counters are the latest model developed by Kresge's featuring metal perforated tops allowing any desired arrangement of glass divisions. Counters have sliding doors on storage space beneath. New cash registers have been installed throughout.

The new lunch counter with 36 stools is a store feature of which the manager is proud. Considerably larger than before, the lunch department features stainless steel kitchen equipment with a separate kitchen for preparation of heavier meals.

Large stock space. Although added storage space has been provided in the basement, the main storage room for the new store is above the main floor. An elevator runs from the basement to the second floor. In all 9,000 square feet of stock room space has been provided.

With 1,300 lineal feet of counter space the counter space in the new store has been more than tripled. The former store had only 400 feet of counter space. Also the sales staff will be tripled, the new store to employ 115 persons.

With the store operations being carried on on three different levsince the first of the year is Mr. David Lunn, who came to the city in January from Kitchener. Mr. Lunn has had 17 years' experience with Kresge's. Mr. and Mrs. Lunn with their 19-year-old son live on George Street.

NO CEREMONY

There will be no opening frills or ceremony when the key is turned in the new Kresge's store Thursday morning.

"If this had been a completely new store we possibly would have arranged some kind of an official opening, but after all Kresge's have been here since 1932.

"After 23 years the Kresge's name is well known in Belleville," he said.

Wife of Union Man Locks Husband Out

CHICAGO (AP) — When the United Auto Workers (CIO) called a strike at the Harrison Sheet Metal Company they ran squarely up against Mrs. Esther Quigley—wife of a union man.

Her husband, Andrew Quigley, is a steward for Local 1214 of the UAW which represents 450 employees of the firm.

What irked her most, Mrs. Quigley told reporters, was that the walkout a week ago came while negotiations for a new wage contract were in progress.

"Our kids need milk," she said. "Lots of mothers whose husbands work there—their kids are crying for milk."

"And why? Because the men won't go back to work and let negotiations go on while they're working."

So, Mrs. Quigley said, she has locked her husband out of the house. The strike continued Tuesday.

Three Sudbury Youths Killed

SUDBURY (CP) — Three Sudbury youths were killed late Tuesday night in an accident on Highway 17 about 20 miles west of here, involving a car and stake truck loaded with three tons of bread.

Provincial police identified the dead as William Rose, 20, Fred Mutch, 20, and Orest Sawka, 21. Driver of the truck was identified as Lawrence Limoges, 19, of Gatchell. He was treated in hospital for a small forehead cut and released.

Police are still investigating.

Detroit Executive Officer Heads Kresge Company

F. P. WILLIAMS

President and general manager of the S. S. Kresge Company is Franklin P. Williams. Prior to his election in May 1953, Mr. Williams was vice-president in charge of merchandising. He has been with the company 38 years.

As president and general manager of the 690-store firm, Mr. Williams directs the company in all fields of activity — sales, present store improvements, locations of new units and general operating policies. His headquarters are in Detroit, Michigan.

Mr. Williams was born and educated in Frankfort, Ky., and from 1911 to 1915 attended the University of Kentucky at Lexington.

Starting in 1915 in the stockroom of the Kresge store in Louisville, he became floorman, then assistant manager of that store and was appointed to management of his first store in Burlington, Iowa. Next he managed the Kresge store in Bloomington, Ill., and in 1920 was appointed to superintendent of stores, a supervisory position, which he filled for eight years.

Mr. Williams was appointed to manage the Louisville store in 1923, the store in which he had years there, he was appointed to begin as a stockman. After five years he was named a board director in 1947 and made vice-president in charge of merchandising. He continued as merchandizing vice-president until his elevation to the presidency.

In 1942 Mr. Williams went to Detroit to manage the company's largest store for four years following which he was moved to the company's main headquarters as director of sales.

Mr. Williams was named a board director in 1947 and made vice-president in charge of merchandising. He continued as merchandizing vice-president until his elevation to the presidency.

LIVING COSTS RISE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs in the United States edged up in July for the second consecutive month to the highest point in 1955. The index announced Tuesday by the labor department showed a rise of 3-10ths of one per cent in July, the largest increase since May, 1954.

Drunk Drivers To Be Issued Red Licences

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario motorists who lose their licences for drunk driving are going to have their renewed licences branded.

Highways Minister Allen said Tuesday night licences renewed after a cancellation will be printed on red paper and will be stamped "reinstated."

Reinstated motorists will be forced to carry these licences for at least two years and they will be renewable only at the main licensing office in the Parliament Buildings here, he said.

Purpose of the move, the minister said, will be to identify the driver with a record when a police officer requires the presentation of his licence or a magistrate is imposing a penalty for any subsequent offence.

REVERSE COLORS

The reason for the cancellation of the original licence will be noted on the reinstated one.

Highways department officials also announced that the 1955 licence plates will carry blue figures on a white background, a reversal of this year's plates.

Production of more than 1,500,000 plates now is under way at the Guelph reformatory, they said. There will be no letters on the plates, except for doctors, until the first million have been issued.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED

TORONTO (CP) — A mother who police said left her two-year-old daughter in a movie theatre while she drank beer in a beverage room, Tuesday was placed on a year's suspended sentence.

Mrs. June Matthews, 36, pleaded guilty to a charge of abandoning her daughter, Marlene, Aug. 6.

Havana on Saturday Night Portrayed by Cuban Scouts Is Jamboree Pageant Feature

By BILL ROSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont. — A long mock snake, exploding fireworks as the Cuban boy scouts portrayed Havana on a Saturday night.

Ten thousand scouts and relatives crowded the World Scout Jamboree arena Tuesday night to watch the Cuban dancers, their accompaniment beated lively on native instruments by a walking orchestra, weaved a pulsating series of dances that transported Cuba's Spanish-Negro-aboriginal atmosphere to Canada.

A long mock snake, supported by several dancers, revellers playing instruments, carrying flares and singing a catchy samba, joined the display. Overhead, fireworks burst incessantly, and when the show ended to a crashing ovation, the ground was littered with streamers.

The Cubans and Jamaican, Dutch and Australian scouts' displays were the buildup to the evening's main pageant—a display of scouting by the United Kingdom contingent.

SCOUTS ON TOURS

They wound up a day of intra-camp visits, journeys to Niagara Falls by 3,000 scouts and a series of presentations. The program to day sees still more scouts view the falls—raising the total to date to 9,000—and others visit Toronto, Hamilton, and Lewiston-Queenston as luncheon or picnic guests of outside organizations.

Unidentified hero of the U.K. show was Eros—a handsome scout, scantily draped in the god of Pheidippides' characteristic pose—whose assignment was to stand on a pedestal in the centre of a scene recapturing London's flavor. What the 15-mile-an-hour breeze did to his gossamer undertrappings alone, raised goose-pimples on spectators 200 yards distant.

Theme of the display was scouting at the patrol level, with the variety of activities it embraces. Campfires, athletics, callisthenics, Irish and Scottish reels and comedy sketches involving tumbling illustrated the diversity of Britain's cultures.

ASK FRENCH COMMENTARY

French-speaking scouts from both Canada and France—resorted Tuesday night to chants to enforce demands that announcements and commentaries during the pageants be repeated in French so they could understand.

The narration was given in English and French for the Jamaican display—an appeal for federation of Jamaica and others of Britain's Caribbean possessions—but for

Speed Is Urged In Harnessing H-Bomb for Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two members of the congressional atomic energy committee are urging the United States Atomic Energy Commission to proceed with all possible speed on harnessing the H-bomb for peaceful purposes.

Senator Clinton Anderson (Dem., N.M.), committee chairman, and Representative Melvin Price (Dem., Ill.), head of the research and development sub-committee, said they believe the Geneva atomic-for-peace conference should give impetus to this project.

They were part of a committee delegation which returned Tuesday from the conference.

Anderson said "we know we are in a race for this type of development," and added that there were clear indications at Geneva that Russia, Britain and India also were working at the problem.

ASKS MORE RESEARCHERS

The senator said "only a handful" of American scientists are assigned to the research. He suggested that the number be increased.

However, Representative Carl Hinshaw (Rep., Calif.), another committee member who was at Geneva, said he felt U.S. progress on this work had been "as fast as could be expected" considering the extreme difficulties.

Homi J. Bhabha, Indian scientist who was president of the Geneva conference, brought the problem into the open with a speech in which he predicted that the H-bomb might be harnessed in 20 years and all of the world's energy problems solved.

Following this, AEC chairman Lewis L. Strauss disclosed that the U.S. had been engaged in a "moderate program" of research in the field and had made some progress.

Negotiations To Be Resumed On Thursday

OSHAWA (CP) — Negotiations between the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL) and General Motors Corporation of Canada will be resumed Thursday after a 26-day lapse, it was learned Tuesday.

The conference was originally scheduled to be held today.

The last meeting was held before a conciliation board Aug. 9 when the union's Canadian director, George Burt, walked out saying it was "useless" to negotiate.

Union officials said they will negotiate directly with the company in talks involving 6,000 workers in GM plants at Toronto, London, Windsor and St. Catharines.

These will be separate from discussions affecting 10,000 workers at the Oshawa plant, where the executive has been given authority by a membership vote to call the strike vote.

Little progress has been made on the basic issues so far. The UAW is asking an across-the-board increase bringing minimum wages up to $1.95 an hour and other benefits including a health program and the guaranteed annual wage.

Officials now are awaiting the conciliation board report by chairman Judge J. C. Anderson of Belleville, which must be submitted before Sept. 2. Under the provincial labor code, a seven-day waiting period is required after that date, so that the union would be unable to strike before Sept. 9.

Pulled from Water

WICKED POINT, Ont. (AP) — Severe leg cramps Tuesday night ended a Rochester, N. Y., man's attempt to swim 50 miles across Lake Ontario.

Wesley Struble, 29-year-old appliance salesman, was pulled from the water at 6:05 p. m. EDT after swimming 15 miles. He began the swim at 12:06 p. m.

Struble said he will not try to swim the lake again this year but will make another attempt early next year.

none of the others.

The Netherlands display showed in costume the dramatic form the story of Holland's centuries — old battle against the sea, culminating in the 1953 floods which resulted in help flowing from Canada, the United States and other countries.

The Australians illustrated "why the kangaroo jumps" with a sequence of Maori dances.

None carried French narrations and the French boys didn't like it. Neither did the British pageant.

Jamboree officials in charge apologized over the public-address system that translations had not been provided. They were unavailable later for comment as to whether the matter would be remedied for later performances.

While others are planning to achieve fame by swimming across Lake Ontario, F.S. Joe Botting of Ontario's RCAF Eglinton station plans to be the first person to pilot a model boat across the lake by remote control. Joe, whose model boats and planes have won him several European trophies, says the little craft, shown here, will travel at 15 mph and respond to his radio signals. (Central Press Canadian).

Commission Doubts Sincerity Of Suggestion by Steel Workers

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — The three-man royal commission on coastal shipping—which ended its lakehead sittings Tuesday—said it doubted the sincerity of a United Steel Workers of America suggestion that Canada should reserve her coastal shipping for Canadian ships and also suggested Canadian shipping and shipbuilding.

The Steel Workers' Union, through its spokesman James C. Hill, had insisted that both measures would be required for adequate defence purposes.

Commission member W. N. Wickwire of Halifax asked: "Are you sincerely interested in maintaining defence or in maintaining a high wage level?"

He said the union's suggestion concerning the necessity of both restrictions and subsidies "casts a serious doubt."

Commission chairman, Mr. Justice W. E. Spence of the Ontario Supreme Court, questioned the union spokesman regarding the closing of the Midland shipyards shortly after the union became bargaining agent for the workers.

The chairman asked whether the shipyards had been closed because the management felt it was unable to meet operating costs.

The union spokesman denied that. "High wage rates were the cause," he said. "We are not asking for a wage increase before the commission and make such suggestions if its sole purpose had been to maintain high salaries."

Commission members asked whether it would not be better for the matter of defence to be taken care of by general taxation and not by placing the major share on ship workers.

The chairman said the Port Arthur shipyards and other yards had done a remarkable job in meeting the demands of the last war. "Why can they not do it again if necessary?"

Last representative from the Lakehead to address the commission was Mayor F. O. Robinson, who urged the commission to realize the economy of the lakehead labor code, a seven-day waiting period is required after that date, so that the union would be unable to strike before Sept. 9.

Second RCAF Officer Named To High Defence Dept. Post

OTTAWA (CP) — The growing importance of the air force in Canada's defence system is seen in the appointment of a second senior RCAF officer to a high defence department post.

It was learned Tuesday that 53-year-old Air Commodore C. Frederick Johns was appointed assistant deputy minister in charge of construction, engineering and properties June 22—just 14 days after the announcement that Air Marshal Frank R. Miller, 47, would become deputy defence minister.

An official said Air Commodore Johns' appointment was not announced at the time because it was considered an "internal matter."

An informant said, however, that his appointment so hard on the heels of Air Marshal Miller's might have provoked charges that the defence department is being brought under air force control. It was understood, too, that a press release on Air Commodore Johns' appointment was prepared by the air force but never released.

Air Commodore Johns moved up to his new post from executive assistant to the deputy minister. He will continue his previous duties directing construction, engineering and properties but with more authority.

In charge of the defence department's vast tri-service construction program, he recently completed supervision of army and air force construction projects in France and Germany.

Air Marshal Miller entered the department from the RCAF as successor to C. M. (Bud) Drury, former army brigadier who returned to private business. He became a civilian when his appointment went into effect Aug. 15.

Need 100 Million To Provide U.S. Flood Relief

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States administration checked its available resources and conferred with congressional leaders today as it sought to provide up to $100,000,000 for flood relief without a special session of Congress.

That figure on the needs of the water-ravaged northeastern states was given Tuesday by Val Peterson, civil defence administrator, after a White House conference with eight agencies to work surveying what they can do immediately.

President Eisenhower said Tuesday he will call a special session of Congress if it is needed to make enough relief funds available. Most legislators expressed hope that the money can be obtained out of appropriations already made.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said after the agency conference, however, that a special session "is always in the picture and is still a possibility until we get further along with our discussions."

Li-Gen, S. D. Sturges Jr., chief of army engineering, announced today that he has ordered immediate mobilization of military and civilian engineering and construction personnel to remove debris, health and safety hazards and to restore public facilities temporarily.

Forty-eight engineering officers headed northward today from Fort Belvoir, Va., and others were called from eastern centres and southern states to supplement field parties already at work in the New England area.

TOLL SET AT 173

There still was massive distress. The revised death toll was 173, with many persons missing. It broke down this way: Pennsylvania, 100 dead, an increase of seven over the previous report; an unknown number missing.

Connecticut, 49 dead, a decrease of 11 after state police completed a search of 71 known missing. Massachusetts, 13 dead. New Jersey, six dead. New York, four dead.

Rhode Island, one dead. Hundreds of persons wandered the drenched, mucky streets of wrecked towns, sleeping and eating in public buildings.

Tentative damage ranged around $300,000,000.

Connecticut assessed its losses at more than $1,000,000,000. Massachusetts at $1,000,000,000. Pennsylvania at $500,000,000 to $1,000,000,000. Rhode Island and New Jersey at $100,000,000 each or more. No figures have been given for flood-gauged southern New York.

Star to Donate Special Prizes For Women

TORONTO (CP) — The Star says it will donate $2,500 in prize money for women swimmers in the Canadian National Exhibition's 32-mile Lake Ontario swim Sept. 5.

The CNE is awarding $15,000 to the winner, $5,000 for second, $2,000 for third, $1,000 for fourth and $500 for fifth. The first woman to finish will receive $1,500 from the CNE, plus the general prize money if she finishes in any of the first five places.

However, it is known that it will be recommended to the exhibition board that if any others finish the swim they be awarded $1,000.

Former Mountie's Report On Vancouver Underworld Crititized at Police Hearing

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — A five-year-old undercover report which cleared high police officers of secret charges of corruption was criticized here as a "report from the underworld."

Lawyer G. L. Murray told the Tupper commission investigating Vancouver's police department that Terry Parsloe, 45-year-old former RCMP sergeant and author of the undercover report, had "cleared the police chief with a report from the underworld."

The Tupper commission reconvened Tuesday after a two-week adjournment due to Mr. Parsloe's illness. It is investigating charges of corruption and graft within the Vancouver police department.

Similar charges led to Charles Thompson, mayor of Vancouver in 1950-51, an Attorney-General Gordon Wismar's recommendation hiring Mr. Parsloe to make his investigation.

In both the Parsloe investigation and at the Tupper hearings last week, Det.-Sgt. Len Cuthbert said he had taken bribes and split them with Police Chief Walter Mulligan.

CRITICIZES REPORT

Mr. Parsloe's report cleared the chief and other high officers on all counts. It followed a three-month investigation during which the private investigator was paid $1,000 fee and $700 in expenses.

During cross-examination of Mr. Parsloe Tuesday, Mr. Murray, counsel for the Toronto weekly tabloid Flash, whose articles helped spark the Tupper commission, criticized Mr. Parsloe's report for its lack of names. It listed sources as "Contact 1," "Contact 2," and so on.

Mr. Parsloe said he could not recall the names of the agents he employed to ask questions "in the underworld."

Neil Fleishman, lawyer for Flash reporter Ray Munro, said: "I put it to you that you didn't write this report."

"And I'm putting it right back to you that I did," Mr. Parsloe snapped.

Mr. Fleishman was the target of a public rebuke as the hearing opened Tuesday.

Speaking of statements Mr. Fleishman admitted making before a coroner's jury inquiring into the death of police superintendent Harry Whelan, commissioner Reginald Tupper said:

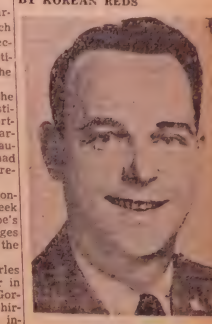

"In my opinion, your conduct was an affront to the legal profession and an insult to me as commissioner to suggest that I would allow improper cross-examination."

At the inquest, Mr. Fleishman testified he had warned Supt. Whelan that Chief Mulligan planned to smear him at the commission hearing. He said he also warned the officer to be prepared for cross-examination on the deaths of his daughter and father—both suicides.

Two days later, Supt. Whelan shot himself.

Mr. Fleishman apologized for his words.

Hillier South

HILLIER SOUTH — It was welcome news when hurricane 'Diane' did not follow the course of 'Connie' which struck this part of Ontario. High winds, blowing down trees, interrupting telephone service and hydro power. Power was off on Saturday afternoon as well as Sunday morning. The heavy rain was really welcomed generally by all farmers.

Many housewives are helping in canning factories to avoid any loss of over ripened fruit. There are two tomato factories on borders of Wellington and three operating in Wellington. The canners expect to run corn after the 20th.

Many of the residents were interested in the event of Miss Helen Lane's wedding at Madoc on the 20th. Helen was well known having lived here when the Rev. and Mrs. Lane served this district for so many years. Best wishes and congratulations are extended.

Mr. and Mrs. W. St. Pierre and family, Belleville, are holidaying with friends. Even here beside the water, the depressive heat is felt. The Rose Hall W. A. has postponed its August meeting to a future time.

Sunday School at Rose Hall was well attended last Sunday. The Intermediate School, under direction of their leader, Miss V. Itead, conducted the devotional service. Mr. Clapp addressed the Bible class.

Sorry to learn of Mr. R. Dunn's illness, and trust for a speedy recovery.

Mr. Ross Benway, who has been laid up with broken leg, was taken to Trenton Memorial Hospital this week for appendicitis operation.

Friends from Foxboro visited Mr. and Mrs. A. Wanamaker recently.

Many W. I. members regret to hear of the death of Mrs. M. Fluke at Cherry Valley. Sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McLean, Peterborough, visited their respective parents over last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. L. McCartney entertained friends on Sunday last. Miss Lois Monro, Port Colborne, is spending holidays with Mrs. A.

C. Pettigall and family.

Mr. Timmetman is renovating their home by building a new addition to their present store apartment.

Best wishes for a bon voyage to Miss Barbara Redner who set sail on the sea of matrimony last Saturday at Centre Church. Barbara was guest speaker at the W. I. meetings also W. A. groups and has many interested friends in this community.

Congratulations are also extended to Mr. and Mrs. Scott, who were married in Belleville a week ago. Mr. Scott teaches in W. C. S. and Mrs. Scott has lived at Hubbs Creek with her father Mr. McMahon.

was most enjoyed, evading the heat of the day. Returning homeward, several visited the historic Fort Henry, then having time to go on shopping tour in Kingston stores and partake of refreshments.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By CEC. PERDUE
(Sports Editor, Peterborough Examiner)

With the crust of an ex-army major, scribe George Cary of this fair borough, recently asked yours truly to do a guest sports column for him as he vacationed. This writer, never having gained a commission with the RCA, is used to obeying the brass. And so, slipping his hand past his nose, he saluted smartly and said, "Yes, sir." It is indeed a pleasure to address the good burghers of Bella Villa, a city we off have visited both for fun and on duty as sports scribe of the Peterborough Examiner. We have worked for years down this way with good fellows like Claude Tice, the late Ken Colling, and in more recent years with George.

Keen rivalry in the field of athletics has long existed between Belleville and Peterborough. In our time we recall stirring mound duels featuring Lefty Goyer of the Nationals and Peter's right-hand ace, Al Heckman, and the days of the mighty Mills brothers, Weir, Casey, Jack Williams, Walt Gerow and those other diamond champions along the shores of Quinte's Bay. And of Max Swanson, Shiner Johnston, Herb Wolff, Jim Hall, Hap Harrison and those other good Peter's players. Remember 'em? Great ball in that old Central Ontario League. They drew big crowds, too, in Kingston, Belleville, Oshawa, Peterborough, and various other centres in this part of the province, as it was the best amateur ball served up in Ontario. At least of semi-pro calibre.

Later, about the middle 30s, there was a good revival of the old COBL. That's when Knotty Lee piloted the Petes, Joe Daley the Kingston Ponies, Matty Matthews, Oshawa Generals, and Walt Gerow the strong Belleville club. Many a hot scrap in those lean, hungry days. Alas, times have changed—and for the worse. There is no COBL any more. Nev Thompson, long-time secretary of this league, will be among oldtimers shaking his head sadly over this. Indeed, senior baseball is leader than Herr Hitler in both Belleville and Peterborough, while Kingston struggles along with an intermediate city loop, and Oshawa bathes in red ink in non-support of an intercounty League entry. Alas.

As a matter of fact, sports aren't nearly as healthy in this city as they should be. We well recall covering intermediate OBLA grid games here more than a decade ago. As well as intermediate lacrosse. But they, too, have folded their tents like the Arabs and slipped silently away. It was just touch-and-go this summer if senior 'B' hockey would survive in Belleville's arena, but prospects appear brighter now. Will junior OHA play return to the scene?

We in Peterborough lost out on senior ball, but we do have OHA senior and junior clubs, the best OHA intermediate team, the Canadian champs in senior 'A' lacrosse, a first-rate men's softball circuit, and plenty of boxing. More fan support in Belleville, we think, would put this city back on the sports map where it belongs. An outsider, sometimes, can speak quite frankly, and we're pointing this out as constructive criticism.

Won't be long now until hockey hits the sports pages regularly. At this writing, we fear that the Petes won't be showing in the Quinte arena this winter. However, there's no sure yet. Owing to heavy travelling expenses, and poor support in a poor rink in the Liffitt City, the Petes may go in a grouping of the OHA senior 'B' from Whitby, Orillia, Newmarket and Stouffville, leaving Belleville in with Kingston, Cornwall, Brockville and perhaps Clinton. But one year from now Peterborough will have its new Memorial Centre built at a cost of about $300,000. Then the Petes will be ready to play anywhere as a modern arena means fine support from the public. So, bear with us, please, for one more year in hockey.

In the past, Peterborough has stolen some fine athletes from Belleville. Young Walt Gerow for a season; Lorne Bateman, a fine softball hurler, who is a big shot there now in real estate; Honey Tompkins, a top hockeyist, and a number of others. Belleville, too, has lost a few from Peterborough. Just last winter, the Memos had two nifty puckists from our town in Jake Wade and Arnie Dugan. So it goes. There has always been keen sports rivalry between these centres, and let us hope there always will be. Who can forget those thrilling puck play-offs between the Trenton Flyers and Petes on your ice before the Second World War? The Flyers were adopted heartily by Quinte fans, and they were fine players.

But enough for now. We're not getting paid for this, so why pound our fingers to the knuckles on the typewriter for Carver? Who does the stylish stout think he is, anyway, to ask really hard-working scribblers to fill in for him while he fells by a lake with a tall, cool one and hopes no pickered disturbs his hook? However, it is a pleasure to talk to you good folk in Belleville, one of our favorite cities to visit along the sports' beat. Nice to meander out of the Queen's and chat along the main stem with Twig Woodley, Sonny Green, Peeney Mills, Vern Goyer, or who is next. Hope to be back there soon covering a senior ball game again, or even a football tussle, as well as hockey. Who knows? Thanks, and s'long.

"I forgot my golf hook, old man. Would you just run in for it while I have him tow me around the lake once more?"

Hurler Has Not Won Game Since July 31; White Sox In Top Spot of American

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don Newcombe, ace of Brooklyn Dodgers' pitching staff, must be wondering today whether he'll ever connect for his 19th victory of the season.

Thanks to some power hitting by Carl Furillo and Duke Snider, Dodgers snapped out of slump Tuesday night to defeat Chicago Cubs 6-4, but Newcombe wasn't around for the finish. Cubs rapped him for three runs in the second inning to go ahead 4-3 and Newcombe retired in the third with a strained shoulder muscle.

It was his fifth shot at victory No. 19 since he beat St. Louis July 31 to run his season's record to 18-1. The victory boosted Brooklyn's National League lead to 12 games over Milwaukee, defeated 4-3 by Philadelphia Phillies.

The American League race, meanwhile, continued on its merry whirl. Chicago White Sox took over first place by two percentage points over New York Yankees, with Boston Red Sox only 3 1/2 games back in fourth place.

SPLIT TWIN BILL
Chicago split a twin bill with Baltimore Orioles, winning the opener 6-2 and then losing 10-3. Yankees committed five errors, and Detroit thumped New York 7-2. Ted Williams had another big night, driving in four runs as Boston defeated Cleveland Indians 8-3. This left Cleveland in third place, a game behind Chicago and New York. Kansas City edged Washington 4-3.

In other National League games, St. Louis Cardinals beat New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates edged Cincinnati Redlegs, both by 2-1 scores.

Newcombe will be in shape to pitch his next turn, the club physician said. Don Bessent relieved Newcombe and pitched the sixth victory without defeat when Furillo hit his 21st homer with one on in the seventh.

Stan Lopata singled with the bases full in the ninth as Phillies scored three times to defeat Milwaukee. Jack Meyer, ace reliever, got the decision after taking over from Murray Dickson in the ninth.

FOUR ERRORS
Four Baltimore errors aided Chicago in winning the opener, while Virgil Trucks gained his 13th victory. Bob Kennedy homered for Sox. In the second game, however, Sox muffed a chance to take a clear league lead when Orioles racked four Chicago hurlers for 15 hits.

At Detroit, New York's defenses fell apart and Bob Turley was named a March hero. Tiger rookie Frank Lary went all the way, spacing eight hits. Turley suffered his 12th defeat against 13 wins.

Williams drove in four runs with a two-run homer, his 23rd, and a double to prevent a defeat from joining Chicago and New York in a three-way traffic jam atop the league. Tom Brewer got his ninth victory for Boston while Herb Score was losing his 10th game.

Vic Power batted in three runs, two with a homer, to pace Athletics' attack over Washington. Roy Sievers blasted his 20th and 21st home runs for Senators.

With the bases loaded in the eighth inning, Bill Sarni of St. Louis dribbled a slow roller down the third-base line that hit the bag for a single, scoring Stan Musial with the run that beat Giants.

Vernon Law scattered six hits to make his season record 9-8 as Pirates downed Cincinnati.

Woodbine Park Will Continue Harness Racing

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Jockey Club announced Tuesday that Woodbine Park will be kept open for harness racing after the last racing meeting is held at the historic course from Sept. 3 to Sept. 27.

Thoroughbred racing will move to the OJC's new course on the southwestern outskirts of Toronto near Malton airport in May of next year.

The OJC said harness racing at Woodbine has proved so popular this summer the directors have decided to continue trotting and pacing races there.

Steve Hatfield Cut by Sarnia

SARNIA (CP)—Steve Hatfield, import halfback who at one time played for Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four Football Union, has been cut by Sarnia Imperials of the Ontario Rugby Football Union. It was announced Tuesday.

Before playing with Ottawa, Hatfield had troyouts with Chicago Cardinals and New York Giants of the National Football League.

The Imperials now are down to the four-man import limit permitted in the ORFU.

NHL Rivals Square Off In Preview of $26,000 Open

MONTREAL (CP)—August heat not with standing, Rocket Richard and Jean Beliveau of the Montreal Canadiens will match cunning and power today against Toronto Maple Leafs' Ted Kennedy and Sid Smith — two old National Hockey League rivals.

But stakes are taboo and body-checking will definitely be frowned upon. And Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffron will perform the menial duties of a caddy.

The hockey stars will be teeing off for an 18-hole golf match in preview of the third annual $26,000 open which starts at Summerlea Golf Club here Thursday.

The four-day, 72-hole medal-play meet is expected to see a field of more than 140 professionals and amateurs trying to join Doug Ford of Klamath Lake, N. Y., who copped the inaugural win over the same layout in 1953 with a 265, and Bud Holscher of Santa Monica Calif., whose 269 won last year's Open at Toronto Scarborough.

PALMER ON HAND
The major Open purse, in addition to first prize of $5,000, provides $2,750 for second place and $2,100 for third. There is a total of $1,800 in special Canadian prizes.

Tournament officials Tuesday reported the arrival of Julius Boros of Mid-Pines, N. C., who cleaned up in the "world" Tam O'Shanter tournament a few weeks ago. The field includes Arnold Palmer.

Point Anne Wallops Trenton 13-6, Takes Game Lead in Int 'A' Series

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Taking a 5-0 lead in the first inning to stay in front all the way, Point Anne whipped Trenton Royal Hotel 13-6 in the opening game of their two-game series in Trenton last night.

The Cementmen had little trouble as they built up a 10-0 lead by the sixth frame and added three in the final two frames. The winner's defence weakened near the end of the fixture with four errors paving way for Trenton's five tallies.

Bobby Hull, making his first start of the year on the mound, went the distance and stopped Trenton on five safeties. He nipped five on third strikes, while issuing three free passes and hitting two. Hull was felled on his way to a shut out until errors and wildness on his own part plated three runs in the seventh.

Bill Mitts opened on the hill for Trenton and took the loss in two innings pitched. He allowed seven runs on five hits, walking two and hitting a batter. Stan Cooper completed the game, tagged for nine more hits, whiffing six and walking three. Wild pitches and passed balls hindered his cause.

BATTED AROUND

Point Anne batted around in the initial frame, Gilmour singling with one out and Roger Mallory's double which went through the rightfielder scoring the first two markers. A hit by Goy, a two-bagger, walk and Mulholland's single accounted for three more. Miron's throwing error led off the second put Trenton in trouble again. A fielder's choice, walk, Hull's sharp single and another error upped the score to 7-0.

Jack Elliott drove in two more Cementmen tallies in the fifth with a single following Mulholland's hit and a walk to Green. Mallory's single and Gerry Goy's double to left-centre made it 10-0.

Hull lost his control in the seventh, walking the first batter, hitting the next and then tossing wild on an attempted forceout for Trenton's initial run. Green's error on a strikeout, a fielder's choice and Foshay's single netted two more. Scott walked in the eighth and Barr smashed a ball to the fence in left field scoring one run. He tried for a homer but was cut down at the plate on a beautiful relay, Whalen to Wade to Green. Two errors gave Trenton their final marker in the ninth.

MULHOLLAND BIG GUN

Pat Gilmour doubled in the 8th for the Pointers and scored later on Goy's long fly while their final runs came on Mulholland's triple, Whalen's double and Bennett's single.

Sam Mulholland was the big gun for the winners with a triple and two singles. Pat Gilmour, Roger Mallory and Bob Hull each claimed a double and single, while Phil Bennett had a brace of singles. Goy and Whalen doubled while Jack Elliott had a single.

Barr with a triple and single was best in a losing effort while Ernie Curtis had two singles. Foshay also hit safely before being ejected from the game by plate umpire Mike Whalen for unkindly remarks in the top of the ninth. The fielding gem of the game came in the ninth when D. Cooper raced a country mile to pull in Mallory's long drive which would have gone for a two-run homer. The return game is scheduled for the Point at 6:00 p.m. Thursday night.

Lineups:

Point Anne: Elliott, Gilmour, Mallory, Goy, Hull, Wade, Mulholland, Green, Bennett, Whalen, Trenton: Foshay, Miron, Curtis, Mitts, Scott, D. Cooper, Barr, S. Cooper, Lawrence, Wannamaker, Istead.

Umpires: Mike Whalen (P), and Mac Carson (B). Time: 1:58.

Tiger-Cats Expect to Field Fastest Team in Their History

By R. J. HANLEY

Canadian Press Correspondent

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton

Tiger-Cats, with swift ends and backs to catch the payoff passes from quarterback Nobby Wirkowski, expect to field the fastest club in their history in this fall's Big Four football campaign.

Wirkowski, cast off by Toronto

Argonauts in their rebuilding program, is the key man in the swift new offensive which gets its first chips-down test in Toronto Sept. 3, against the Argos in the opening game of the league schedule.

Coached by Carl Voyles, who guided the club into the post-schedule playoffs four times in his five seasons, the Tiger-Cats showed some of their running and passing potential in pre-season exhibitions.

They downed Calgary Stampeders here handsily, squeezed out a last-minute victory over the Blue

Bombers in Winnipeg but lost to the Grey Cup champion Eskimos in Edmonton.

PRE-SEASON TRADES

Wirkowski, halfback Johnny Fedosoff and guard Jack McGee all came to the Tiger-Cats from the Argos in a pre-season trade for defensive half Dick Brown. They acquired tackle Merv Collins in a later deal with Argos for Pete

Wolley, since retired.

Voyles, and assistant coaches

Ralph Szabo and Terry Moss had more than 30 Americans in the camp when training started but the number has since been reduced to 15, five of them from last year's team.

The club had a long list of Canadian boys trying out and there are still 23 with the club, 16 of them from last year's team.

Still shopping for tackles to bolster a line which has shown some defensive weaknesses, Voyles recently acquired Zolton Novaca, ex-

Windsor tackle, from Ottawa in exchange for Don Bailey, running quarterback from Penn State who lost out to Wirkowski for the pivot spot.

Early in the season the Tiger-

Cats had differences with the Cleveland Browns over Tex Robinson, big Negro fullback who was claimed by both clubs. Tiger-Cats decided to leave Robinson in Cleveland on the understanding that the Browns would send up one good player in his place. Voyles' preference would be a tackle and while several players have been suggested by the Browns he has not yet accepted one.

Along the front wall, two veterans will be turning out again, captain Eddie Bevan and Vince Scott, two of the toughest guards in the Big Four.

In the backfield, Lou Kusserow has been the most prominent in early season work. It was Lou who broke up a possible game-winning Winnipeg pass play in the last minutes of the 1954 Grey Cup final, won by Hamilton.

Also in the backfield is Hal Waggoner who works well as pass receiver and as running half. Bernie Cusick, the rookie dazle favorite of the fans, has been out of action for two weeks with a severe thigh bruise and his future now is in some doubt.

SHOW PROMISE

New Americans who show promise include Bill McElroy, young fullback from Mississippi Southern; Ted Connor, a tackle from Nebraska, and Blackie Kincaid, a halfback from Washington Redskins.

Among last year's Canadians, Ron Howell and Ray Truant, both flying wings, have shown well along with Tip Logan, the place-kicking end, and Ray Ramsey, ace passer.

Tiger-Cats open their home season at the 19,000-seat Civic Stadium here Monday, Sept. 5, against Argos. About 8,000 season tickets have been sold in a price range up to $18. Single tickets run from $1 to $3.50.

Although the club's budget is reported to be one of the smallest of any Canadian professional football team, neither coach nor members of the executive will reveal what the figure is. The estimate is that it runs about $250,000.

game. I don't know about you but nearly every high handicap golfer wastes six strokes or so on a round by putting effort into short shots with highly lofted clubs. Such players are using almost nothing but their right wrists. Here's the way to play these shots. Keep the left arm stretched out as though it were the spoke of a wheel. And, on these short shots cock the wrists earlier than you would in a full swing. Little or no pivot. Then swing the club down through the ball with the left arm. Pour the hands and wrists in as the ball is hit. The club's left will lift the ball up giving you good flight and placement. Because of the stroker saved on this one kind of shot—and because he'll get more two putt greens—a "100" shooter should knock five strokes off his game. (Copyright 1955, John F. Dille Co.)

Brantford Sox Half-Game Up Over London

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Brantford Red Sox gained three points and a one-game lead over London Majors when they defeated second-place Kitchener Panthers 3-1 in a Senior Inter-county Baseball League game Monday night.

However, their triumph in the battle for a fourth-place playoff spot in the Inter-county finals might prove fleeting. Brantford has played two more games than London, has only three left to play, while the Majors still have five to go.

Meanwhile, London—also bent on that fourth spot—took their game with Galt Ferriers by a 4-1 margin. Creighton Indians of the Nickel Belt League made it two in a row over Copper Cliff Redmen with a 5-0 shutout in the semi-finals. The win puts the Indians on top for the best-of-seven series, despite the fact that as third place team they were underdogs to the league-leading Redmen when the league schedule closed.

HITS LONG HOMER In the Niagara Falls District League, the unpredictable Niagara Falls Cataracts, after failing to beat the Fort Erie Hortons in six regular league meetings, pounded a trio of Horton hurfers for 17 hits and an easy 10-3 triumph.

Only a handful of chilled spectators witnessed the Brantford spectacle as righthander Don Robertson held the Panthers to seven hits and fanned five to gain the decision over Johnny Ambrose. The Kitchener hurler lost his 10th straight this season.

Gordie McCracken's triple deep into left field in the fifth with two on produced the win. Three went home on that one. Their other run came in the third when Doug Cossey poked one of the longest homers ever seen in the Galt park, over the right field fence at the 383-foot mark.

Bill Best of the Majors had an edge over Galt's Jessup in a tight piling duel, though each gave up only seven hits. Best fanned 11 batters to Jessup's six.

WILL TRY AGAIN KINGSVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Marathon swimmer Ray Muench, 29, said Tuesday he will make another try to swim the 18 miles between Pelee Island and the mainland on Thursday. Muench first tried the swim last week, but was stopped by the Lake Erie currents.

SIGNS VALDES, COCKELL NEW YORK (AP)—British boxer and promoter Jack Solomon said Tuesday he has signed Cuba's Nino Valdes to meet Don Cockell, British heavyweight champion, in a 10-round bout in London's White City Stadium, Sept. 13.

Orfuns Whip Kingston 7-2 In First Game of Series

Five Belleville Orfuns came home in the sixth inning last night at the CNRAA Park as the locals used the big inning to whip Kingston's Warren's Orphans 7-2 in the first game of the first round OASA senior "B" playoffs.

Second game of the best-of-three series will be played in Kingston on Thursday night.

The big sixth inning broke up a tight pitching duel between Belleville's Bob Hunter and Kingston's Don Goodfellow.

Jack Wardhaugh was on the scoring end of a double steal on Doug Hull in the third inning for the locals first tally. Joe Levandoski evened the count in the top of the fourth with a lead-off line drive home run to the left field.

The big rally got under way in the sixth with two men out and Batchelor on second via a walk and a stolen base. Vic Bromley, slatted Batchelor with a Texas League loop that dropped untouched as the second baseman converged on it. Don Locke walked, moving Bromley to second and Dave Jones doubled to right to score Bromley.

Jack Wardhaugh then blasted a double to centre field driving in the sixth with two men out and a diving first baseman. Barclay singled to right to put Wardhaugh on third and then stole second. Hull fled to centre to end the inning.

Kingston scored a single run in the seventh on a single by Gilmore, a fielder's choice, a single by Greenham and an error at short on Tinkess' grounder.

A walk to White loaded the bases and brought cleanup man Levandoski to bat. Hunter fired two quick strikes and retired Joe on a sky-high hoist to second base. Melroy replaced Scrutton on the Kingston mound to open the seventh. In the eighth Dave Jones walked and scored on a passed ball, a wild pitch and Jack Wardhaugh's squeeze bunt.

Hunter went all the way for the Orfuns, walking three, striking out five and giving up six hits for two runs.

Goodfellow took the loss for Kingston, walking three, striking out two, and giving up seven hits for six runs in 5 2/3 innings. Scrutton gave up two hits for one run in 1/3 inning and Melroy walked two, struck out one, and gave up one hit for one run in two innings of relief.

Wardhaugh led the locals at bat with a double and two singles in five trips. Don Locke had two singles in three official trips.

Greenham had two singles in four at bats in leading off for Kingston. Levandoski, Aitken, Gilmore and McGeehan had lone safeties.

The lineup: Kingston: Greenham rf, replaced by Melroy p, in 7th, replaced by Nuthall in 9th; Tinkess, 3d; White, ss; Levandoski, 1b; Stinson, cf; Aitken, 2b; Gilmore, 1b; McGeehan, c; Goodfellow, p, replaced by Scrutton, p, in 6th, rf in 7th.

TV-Radio Column

Television, Radio Useful Journalists During Hurricanes

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Television and radio were indispensable, useful journalists last weekend. As floods swept wide areas of the northeast United States, television demonstrated the effectiveness of good films in telling dramatic story. Most important, the three big networks were fast in bringing the story to the screen. By Friday evening, when the total picture of devastation still was incomplete, they were on the air with coherent stories, aptly illustrated with dramatic films.

Within a 45-minute period the TV networks laid it on the line in the competitive spirit that makes one hope there never will be only a single network. First came John Daly of ABC, then Walter Cronkite of CBS and finally John Cameron Swartz of NBC.

Good JOB DONE
Another news break late Friday was the court-martial sentencing of Sgt. James Gallagher to life imprisonment for causing the deaths of two fellow prisoners in a North Korean camp in 1951. Again television displayed its journalistic effectiveness when reporters interviewed the calm, unflinching Gallagher after his sentencing. To at least one viewer Daly was the most effective reporter of the news event. Without editorial indulgence, he left the event itself raise profound questions in the minds of his audience.

It's as important a function of journalism to raise questions as to answer them. Because Daly knows this he's a good journalist. Speaking of ABC, an interesting concept in radio journalism made its debut on ABC radio last week-end. "It's time, produced by ABC and Time magazine, has 18 five-minute dramatic news programs each week-end. It employs many narrators; Westbrook van Voorhis is narrator. "It's time" does not try to make everything sound portentous and significant. Much of it is like reading light, brief features in your newspaper.

Words are powerful. So are pictures. On "Let's Take a Trip" (CBS-TV) Sunday afternoon, both combined to present an excellent—and at times moving—study of the international brotherhood of youth. The scene was the eighth World Scout Jamboree at Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont. The CBC cooperated with CBS in the camera work. Boys from many lands showed their crafts and skills. What could have been a diffuse program had sharp clarity and focus because all events were seen through the inquiring young minds of Ginger McManus and Pud Flanagan, regular participants on the program.

Movie Column

Grapevine Has Labelled Movie 'Sleeper' Even Before Finished

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Walter Brennan is Hollywood's biggest booster for store-bought teeth. He's starred in "Goodbye, My Lady," which the Hollywood grapevine already has tabbed a sleeper even before it's finished.

Brennan, only actor to hold three Oscars, usually doesn't comment on how good his role is, but this time he says: "I've had a lot of good parts in my time but this is the greatest. And I never would have got it if it hadn't been for my Reubens (false teeth)."

Many Hollywood actors have false teeth, but Brennan is the only one un-actorish enough ever to be seen on the screen without them.

The story calls for a toothless old man who rears a young boy (Brandon De Wilde) in a swamp home. Phil Harris, playing a backwoods storekeeper, is the only other name in the cast.

For the first time in Hollywood memory the movie is being shot in continuity. Usually movies are made like jig saw puzzles, with no one knowing the end result until all the pieces are put together.

There is no particular reason why this one is being shot in order fashion except that it just worked out that way in the shooting script.

That explains why the "sleeper" word got about so quickly. The only other recent picture that hit the grapevine so fast was "Marty".

It's Brennan's first picture for Batjac Productions, the John Wayne-Bob Fellows outfit, and also his first for veteran director Bill Wellman.

But it won't be the last.

MORE SEATS FOR CUP
VANCOUVER (CP) — Another 3,000 seats will be added to Empire Stadium here for the Grey Cup football final next November. Officials made the announcement Tuesday after the biggest crowd ever to watch a Canadian football game overflowed the year-old stadium's 25,500 seats Tuesday night as British Columbia Lions defeated Calgary Stampeders 14-9.

AT THE BELLE — Glamorous Mara Lane is the exciting actress who stars in the title role of "Angela," a new suspense story now playing at the Belle Theatre. Filmed entirely in Italy this play also features Dennis O'Keefe and Rossano Brazzi.

AT THE MC CARTHY
Wave Holds USN Tops Film Roles

Janice Vaughan, 21, judged "the most beautiful WAVE in the Eleventh Naval District" turned her back on an offered movie contract following her appearance in Universal-International's "Francis In The Navy," starring Donald O'Connor, Martha Hyer, and Francis, the talking mule, and opening Thursday at the McCarthy Theatre.

The attractive WAVE was signed for her acting debut by Director Arthur Lubin when he was attracted to her beauty and acting potential while the film company was photographing location scenes for the new comedy at the Coronado (Calif.) Amphibious Naval Base.

She was brought to Hollywood where she appeared before the cameras in several important scenes and then returned to her Naval base. When studio executives viewed "Francis," of her acting assignment a studio contract was offered. WAVE Vaughan replied she preferred her Navy career and besides she thought "that movie-making was too trying."

AT THE CAPITOL — Forbidden lovers in the forbidden land of Morocco, Jeff Chandler and Rhonda Fleming are co-starring in "Yankee Doodle," based on Edison Marshall's best-seller. Lee J. Cobb, Mamie Van Doren, Bart Roberts and the eight winning Miss Universe Beauties are featured. On the same program in Technicolor, "Destiny," starring Audie Murphy, Mari Blanchard, Thomas Mitchell and Edgar Buchanan. Both hits open at the Capitol Theatre Thursday.

WANTS DODGERS
LOS ANGELES (AP) — If Brooklyn Dodgers are co-starred in Los Angeles officially wants them. The city council Monday named members Rosalind Wyman and Ed Roybal to discuss the possibilities with Horace Stoneham, Giants president, and Walter O'Malley, president of the Dodgers. Previous attempts to lure a major club here have failed, largely because the area does not boast an adequate ball park.

Leafs Return to First Place By Half-Game Over Montreal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ray Shero, Toronto relief pitcher, must possess some sort of record for "getting the most with the least."

Shero pitched exactly 1 1/3 of an inning in Tuesday night's International League contest between the Leafs and Havana's Sugar Kings, but added two victories to his won and lost record.

And Shero's other victory? That came when Sunday's suspended game was completed before Tuesday's regular contest. The Leafs maintained their previous 11-7 lead to give Shero, who had worked a tough 2 1/3 of an inning in that one, another triumph.

With the Montreal Royals dropping a twin-bill to Syracuse, 2-1, 6-3, the Leafs went back into first place by 1/2 game. Syracuse meanwhile moved to within 2 1/2 games of Rochester's fourth-place 7th Wings. The Wings won a single encounter with Richmond 6-3 on Vern Benson's tie-breaking ninth-inning home run.

Buffalo wheeled Columbus twice 7-3 and 8-2, and assured itself of at least a split in the season series with the Jets.

The home run ball proved the undoing of Royal hurler Pete Wojcik and Tom Lasorda, who was named Chief hurler Lynn Lovenguth allowed only four hits apiece, but Bobby Micelotta's roundtrip on the second-place team was not enough for Lovenguth, who surrendered his 14th triumph of the season.

HAMILTON (CP) — Coach Carl Voytes of the Big Four Hamilton Tiger-Cats Tuesday night fired one tackle, then hired another to replace him in a shuffle designed to plug a hole in the T-Cat line.

Released is Ted Connor, University of Nebraska graduate, who worked out with Toronto Argonauts last year.

In his place Voytes put 22-year-old Gordon Holz, a former 245-pound Minnesota University player who was released by Ottawa Roughriders this year after a try-out.

CANADIAN WDS TRAPSHOOT
VANDALIA, Ohio (AP) — George Genereux of Saskatoon, 29-year-old senior medical student at the University of Saskatchewan, Tuesday won the class AA championship of North America at the Grand American trapshoot.

The youthful Canadian, winner of the Olympic trapshoot title at Helsinki, in 1952, defeated Ned Lilly, Stanton, 31th, 25-24, in a shoot-off after they had tied with perfect score of 200 in the 16-yard feature event.

Minor Softball

Rotary Club exploded for all their runs in the first inning last night as they whipped Grills 16-9 in a game was playoff fixture. The win gave Rotary the best-of-three city semi-finals two games to none, qualifying them for the finals against Mott's Lumber.

Gaffney sweated the distance for the victory, fanning three and was charged with eight walks while Blakely caught. Burn pitched for Grills, allowed 10 hits, fanned five and walked nine. Boyle was his battery mate.

Gaffney paced his club's attack with a home run and triple while Grills hit a three-bagger. Dugan claimed a brace of singles in defeat.

Man Three Days At Gorge Bottom With Broken Leg

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—A three-day ordeal ended Tuesday for Edward Dumphy, 51, of Toronto, who is believed to have fallen 100 feet down the gorge Saturday while trying to escape from the heat.

Dumphy was rescued Tuesday night by Hydro security guards and Niagara Falls firemen. Rescuers had to lower a basket to provide him with medical treatment before bringing him out.

The man's difficulty was first noticed by Earl Wesley, an employee of the Niagara Parks Commission, who was cutting weeds. He found a small bag containing a man's clothing and then heard Dumphy shouting.

Dr. James Szabo of Orlando, Fla., here on vacation, was lowered in a basket to treat the man for a broken leg and head cuts.

Two Hydro security officers, Syd Abbott and Earl Hicks, climbed down and administered first aid.

When the firemen arrived they extended an aerial ladder from the bank and lowered ropes 100 feet to reach the man.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain. Thousands have been relieved—without resort to surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations. Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H*. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Hockey Meeting For Senior 'B' Clubs Called

Lorne Cook, 1st vice-president of the Ontario Hockey Association, has called a meeting of team executives from the Eastern Ontario Senior "B" hockey league for Monday, August 29, at the Kingston Community Centre.

The meeting was originally scheduled for September 11, but according to some clubs as to which grouping they will participate in this coming season has made the advancement necessary. More time will be needed for such scheduling and schedules and such should there be more than one grouping.

All teams which participated in last year's schedule have been notified of the meeting which goes under way at 8:00 p.m. Sponsor Don McNevin of the Belleville Memos will attend.

Measure Aimed At Protecting Fields from Weeds

In a measure aimed at affording farmers greater protection against the possibility of weed seeds being introduced to their farms through purchase of seeds, Hastings county councillors passed a resolution Wednesday asking that it be made compulsory for tags on seed bags to state the various types of weed seeds in the sample.

Reeve Cecil Ketcheson of Thurlow township, in introducing the resolution pointed out that many farmers are having obnoxious weeds introduced to their farms through purchase of seed from seed houses.

"Many weed seeds cannot be taken out of clover and grass seed samples, but farmers at least have the right to know just what weed seeds are in the samples they are buying," he said.

Reeve Ketcheson said the same requirement of weed seeds being listed on all samples of seed purchased should apply to grain as well as grass seed.

The resolution will be forwarded to the appropriate branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Shopping Made Easier At Canadian Tire

Canadian Tire Corporation for many years have built their business on a cash basis, but to keep pace with modern shopping habits, they have inaugurated their own Credit Budget Plan. The highlights of this plan are that a customer may purchase any merchandise or service over $20, with no down payment and weekly payments as low as $1.

On accepted accounts there is no waiting, immediate delivery of any goods can be secured. Under this new scheme there is no outside interviews or references required.

As in all of Canadian Tire Corporation activities, they have been successful in setting up this plan with a minimum cost to the customer. Carrying charges are much below most other companies.

Extensive Repairs to County Court House Near Completion

Extensive repairs and redecoration of county court house property has been in progress during the summer months. Hastings county councillors were told at their Wednesday session.

Reeve Earl Sager of Madoc township, as chairman of the finance and public property committee, noted in his report to council that new copper eavestroughs had been installed at the court house at a cost of $2,196.

In addition considerable painting and decorating had been done at the court house with the main court room walls, ceiling and woodwork having been painted; the windows repaired and furniture varnished.

He noted that the work of redecoration had been done by prison labor, the cost being only for the cost of the materials used. Pillars in front of the court house have been painted and repaired.

Work recommended by the chairman included redecoration of the law library and painting of the outside walls of the court room. Other renovation work completed during the summer was in the road engineer's office which had been completely done over at a cost of slightly less than $2,500.

Five-Year Closed Season On Partridge Asked by County

Viewing with alarm the fact that partridge are being rapidly diminished in the northern townships, Hastings county councillors this morning passed a resolution asking for the closing of the partridge season for a period of five years.

The matter was introduced by Reeve Theodore Tryon of Bancroft who felt that whether or not any recommendation was forthcoming, that either should be discussed in council and brought to the attention of the department.

Councillors noted that only this year the department had extended the season with Reeve Lloyd Price recommending that the department must feel there are more partridge or else hunters are poor shots.

VERY SCARCE

But County Warden James H. Sprackett said partridge were very scarce in his township. Although he carried a gun during the partridge season he had not shot a bird in the past three years.

Reeve Tracey Adams of Dunnsgang introduced the resolution calling for the closing of the partridge season for five years and it was passed without further discussion.

Reports of the board of management of the county home, and of the juvenile and family court and C.A.S. committee were read.

In the county home report by Deputy Reeve J. B. Harder of Sidney township, it was noted the home now has 202 residents, 124 male and 78 female, 44 of whom were from Belleville. Maximum capacity of the home is 240 residents, it was stated.

Work on the county farm had been completed for the year with 1100 bushels of grain threshed and over 1000 quarts of raspberries picked. The good raspberry crop was attributed to the use of a sprinkling system purchased three years ago.

FARM LIVESTOCK
Livestock on the farm included a team of horses, 80 head of cattle, including 25 mature cows, and 75 to 85 pigs of all ages.

New entrance gates to the county home property have been erected with lights installed. Cost had been slightly under $1,500.

Council members were loud in their praise of the new colored stone entrance gates and complimented the county home committee on work done.

General opinion of councillors was that the gates were a very definite improvement to the county home property.

Committee chairman Harder stated that a legacy fund of $500 from Grace Egan would go toward defraying the cost of the new gateway. The plaque on the gateway entrance carried an inscription in her memory.

Deputy Reeve Alf Wickett of Thurlow, chairman of the publicity committee, presented a verbal report and commented on the tourist folder published by the Belleville Chamber of Commerce. He said he was very pleased with the acceptance of the folders which were being handed out at the rate of up to 20 per day, mostly to American tourists.

Mr. Wickett believed the folder was splendid advertising for county resort owners who he thought should take a more advantage of this form of advertising. He hoped the folder met with the approval of council.

FAMILY COURT REPORT

The report of the juvenile and family court and C.A.S. committee.

Approval had been given by the committee for the purchase of a new microfilming machine for the registry office, the cost after trade in of the old machine being $2,698. Two and a half of the registry office record books have been microfilmed since the purchase of the new machine.

Reeve Charles Buskard, chairman of the administration of justice board, presented his report showing net costs of administration of justice to be $16,953.70 for the first quarter of the year. Of this amount Belleville's share is $4,846.62, and that of the town of Trenton $2,524.68.

There was a brief discussion by councillors on a resolution from Grey county asking that the profits of the sheriff's office be returned to the county by the provincial government. Council concurred in the resolution.

County Assessor Cecil Geen reported briefly noting that the reassessment of the townships of Carleton Place, Mayne, Herschel and Monticello was underway. This left only the town of Deseronto to be reassessed.

There was a brief discussion on what should be done with equalized assessments for county purposes when a portion of one municipality was annexed by another. The county assessor was authorized to write to the assessing department to ascertain the proper procedure.

Police Believe They Have Caught 'Shovel Burglar'

DETROIT (AP) — After a five-year hunt capped by the aid of hundreds of citizen volunteers, police believe they have caught Detroit's "shovel burglar."

Officers say he is William E. Schlitz, 44, a plumbing salesman who has served four terms in Southern Michigan prison. Schlitz, police allege, supplemented his income as a salesman by looting homes of between $10,000 and $15,000 a year.

For five years the shovel burglar's routine never varied. He operated only on Friday nights between 9 and 11 p.m., taking a "vacation" between May and September and during the deer-hunting season.

He stole only from fashionable neighborhoods in Detroit's northeast side.

Each Friday, after spotting a darkened house, he would steal a shovel from the nearest open garage, pry open a window, crawl inside the home and carry off cash, jewelry and anything else of value that caught his eye.

After looting several homes, he would stick the shovel in the ground outside the last house he visited as his personal "calling card."

Over the five years nearly 1,000 homes were looted in this manner. Police were baffled.

The burglaries suddenly halted last April 9. That was the date Ignatius Keop spotted a man prying open a window with a shovel at a nearby house.

Keop and two neighbors, one of them with a shotgun, raced to the house and captured a man they identified as Schlitz.

Schlitz pleaded guilty Wednesday to a charge of attempted burglary, but denied any of the 1,000-odd other burglaries. Judge O. Z. Ide freed him on $2,500 bond for sentence Sept. 13.

Must Return Girl Born in Prison To French Mother

NUERNBERG, Germany (AP) — The last United States court in Germany ruled today that the foster parents of a 12-year-old girl must return the child to her mother in France. The foster parents have fought for years to keep her.

In its final decision before shutting down, the U.S. Court of Appeals dismissed an appeal by the foster parents to retain custody of the girl, Josette Cadina Philipp.

The court upheld an April 1 lower court decision that the foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Skrabanek, must turn over Josette to her mother, Mrs. Georges Philipp, 51, a hotel employee in Marseille.

The high commission court found beyond a "reasonable doubt" that the child was born in 1943 in a German prison, where her mother was awaiting trial for alleged affiliation with a French resistance group.

The Skrabaneks based their appeal on a contention that there was doubt that Mrs. Cadina was the real mother.

PLAN BIG LINER

SOUTHAMPTON (Reuters) — A new sister ship for the $3,000 ton liner United States, holder of the North Atlantic crossing record, will be built in America. Clarence Morse, chairman of the United States maritime board, said here Wednesday night. Morse said the new ship would cost more than $100,000 and take three years to build.

Massey Visits Newfoundland Wilderness

ABOARD VICE REGAL TRAIN

Nfld. (CP) — Governor-General Vincent Massey spent Wednesday deep in the wilderness of central Newfoundland, 20 miles from the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

The Gulf Toppals are a series of peaks jutting up out of highlands 1,582 feet above sea level. They get their name because they resemble the rigging of old wind-jammers.

This dignified little train halted at Lake Bond about 10 p.m. for eight hours to let Mr. Massey and his party get a night's sleep unimpeded by jolts and sways.

The governor-general's train is made up of three new sleeping and lounge cars, a baggage car, box car and steam engine all painted and polished to a glitter.

TO BOARD FRIGATE

Today it is scheduled to haul in to Corner Brook for a full day's stop. Mr. Massey leaves Corner Brook by train Friday for Botwood where he goes aboard the frigate Buckingham to visit the northeast coast. He leaves Newfoundland Sunday.

Canadian Nurse Refuses to Talk In Probe of Reds

NEW YORK (AP) — Six more nurses, including a hospital nurse from Canada who risked her chances of becoming a United States citizen, have invoked the Fifth Amendment before New York state legislators investigating alleged Communist activities in some summer camps for children and adults.

The nurse, pretty Janet Moore from Winnipeg, refused Wednesday to tell a joint legislative committee who recommended two summer resorts to her.

The committee chairman, state Senator Edward Larkin, told the witness he was "amazed that you would risk so much for people you hardly know."

The nurse, a tall brunette in her late 30s, replied:

"They're not people I hardly know. They're friends and acquaintances. . . It is not only for my friends, but it is in connection with my beliefs."

CAMP SUSPECTED

The committee, which holds its fourth day of hearings today, subpoenaed Miss Moore in efforts to demonstrate that some resorts have been used by Communists for the acquisition of new party members.

Miss Moore was not questioned about her political beliefs. After Miss Moore testified, the committee counsel, former state senator Bernard Tompkins, said: "We have every reason to believe that determined efforts were made to recruit this girl into the party."

Miss Moore said she realized that her silence might jeopardize her hospital job, in which she recently was promoted, and her chances of getting the U.S. citizenship she has sought.

NOTHING DETRIMENTAL
She told the committee, however: "I feel I have done nothing detrimental to this country."

Crippled Vessel Reaches Port In Hebrides

BROAD BAY, Outer Hebrides—(AP) — The crippled British freighter Argobeam reached port in these North Scottish islands today, crowning with success her captain's courageous decision not to abandon his ship as a drifting wreck on the high seas.

The saga began early last Friday when the Argobeam, her engine room flooded and listing to port, flashed an SOS. She was 300 miles from land and wallowing in a wild Atlantic gale.

Members of the floundering ship's crew jumped into the churning seas — all but Capt. George "Watusi" and mate Kenneth Seaman — and were picked up by the passing Swedish liner Kungsholm.

The captain and his mate stood in the 7,133-ton vessel for 60 harrowing hours until the tugs Salvada and Melinda III arrived. Their brave vigil prevented the Argobeam becoming a prize of the sea that could have claimed by any passing-by as salvage.

The captain and the mate saw the Argobeam anchored safely before going ashore.

Says Atomic Bomb Too Small a Force To Stop Hurricane

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States weather bureau says the explosion of an atomic bomb within a hurricane probably would increase rather than diminish the storm's fury.

The proposal, made originally by Senator W. Kerr Scott (Dem., N.C.), was raised recently by a Texas petroleum geophysicist in a letter to Senator Lyndon Johnson (Dem., Tex.), who passed the query on to the government's weather experts.

F. W. Reichelderfer, chief of the weather bureau, in a letter Johnson released today said the possibility of such experiments had been given considerable study.

"From all we know at present," Reichelderfer wrote, "the explosion of an atomic bomb within a hurricane would be more likely to increase the intensity of the storm than to decrease it, but we believe the effect would be small in any case."

"No method is known, at present, by which atomic energy could be used to oppose the natural development of the storm, nor to influence its motion. Hurricanes move along primarily with the large-scale air currents in which they are embedded, and atomic bombs are clearly too small to change these large-scale currents."

Parched Summers Few Clover Crops Ruin Apiarists

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — G. F. Townsend, provincial apiarist and secretary of the Ontario Beekeepers Association at Guelph, said Wednesday parched summers and new kinds of crops are threatening the livelihood of Ontario's beekeepers. He said the only hope for many will be to move into northern and eastern Ontario.

In an interview here, Mr. Townsend said bankruptcy for the apiarists may harm Canada's nurserymen too. He said bees are needed for cross-pollination of fruits and seeds, and their passing may bring a slump to the nursery industry's multi-million dollar assets in southern and southwestern Ontario.

In 1949 there were approximately 6,500 beekeepers registered with the Ontario provincial apiarist. Last year, Mr. Townsend said, there were 3,700. The 1954 honey-production of 6,000,000 lbs compared with the previous average of 15,500,000 lbs.

Mr. Townsend said the major reason for the decline is in streamlined agricultural methods. He said there are few fields of sweet clover, most fruitful of all nectar sources. Increasing cash crop areas also have eliminated lands formerly supplying nectar crops or flowers. Many roadsides have been sprayed to kill flower banks where bees once gathered their food.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Industrial and base metal issues nosed up to new index highs in first-hour trading at the Toronto stock exchange today. Buying was unhurried with the 11 a.m. volume a moderate 1,250,000 shares compared with Wednesday's 1,042,000. Utilities and financial institutions were most in demand among industrials with irregular support from other sections. Price movements were small, extending to two points at best in high-price issues. Ford A added 2, Shawinigan 1 1/4. Around a point better were Aluminum, Interprovincial Utilities and Southern Co.

The base metal index improved on the strength of narrow gains in key issues. Consolidated Smelting, International Nickel, Coppercorp, United Asbestos and Highland Bell gained. Maybrun was active, losing 25 to $1.35 on 50,000 shares. Cuddeback dropped 9 to 92 on 47,000 shares. Coniagans and Grandue were a little lower.

There was mild interest in uranium issues. Algon added 1/2 point, issues chalked up losses of a few pennies. In a lightly easier western oil section, Home Oil, Sapphire and Okalla moved off. Triad was ahead. Lower-priced golds were in some demand. Broulain Reef gained 24 to $1.80 on 36,000 shares. Dragon, Bralorne, Bevon and Preston eased. Dome was firmer. McIntyre eased a point.

There was little change in holding companies.

History of Hastings and Prince Edward Regt. to Be Published Soon

Sandwiched between five or many times in battle the famous Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment now at last has been jammed between the covers of a book.

In a letter in the mails today to nearly 2,000 members the regimental association proudly says: "At last after more than four years' work by our executive our dream has become a reality. It is with considerable pride we are able to announce that our history is in the hands of the publishers and will be ready by October 10, for distribution."

The letters, mailed yesterday by Robert Scott, secretary-treasurer of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regimental Association, will go as far afield as South Africa.

The volume, a fond hope of the regimental association, has been realized through the pen of a former officer of the regiment, Farley Mowat.

Now resident in Palgrave, Ont., he has spent nearly five years, according to the history of the regiment with which he once served in action. He started as a lieutenant of the Hastings and Prince Edward and was also intelligence officer for the regiment. Later he was transferred to the First Canadian Brigade as intelligence officer.

The special edition of the volume, which will be available to members of the association and those presently serving with the unit will include a casualty list, 25 pages of photos and maps of the regiment's famous battle fields.

An auspicious send-off also will be given the volume. Lord Tweedsmuir, former commanding officer of the regiment in Italy, will arrive at the association's annual reunion this year to dedicate the history. The reunion is being postponed a few days until October 16-17, in order to facilitate the attendance of Lord Tweedsmuir.

The boys and girls are home from the Black Memorial played in Peterborough on Wednesday afternoon and as usual all report a splendid time. The greens were fast with wide draws on each side and some excellent bowling was seen. Belleville Club sent a large contingent to the tournament, which included Jerry Hyde and his mother, Mrs. C. L. Hyde, Mr. and Mrs. Cleo H. Colling, Mr. and Mrs. Orio Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Graham, Austin Watkins and his mother, Mrs. George Watkins, W. B. "Skil" Vandervoort and Miss Margaret Fairbairn, winners of the trophy last year, Mr. and Mrs. "Al" Wonnacott, "Davey" Davidson and Mrs. C. A. Mott, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Vigne, Fred Harper and Mrs. Rita Lloyd, while Mrs. Cliff Argue played with Archie Meyers a Roman Catholic priest, pleaded guilty in court Wednesday to a charge of assault involving a seven-year-old Chinese girl. He was remanded in custody for sentence Aug. 30.

He was arrested after the child picked him out of line-up of priests in a downtown church.

Cancel Inquest On Leatherland

An inquest into the death of Peter Leatherland, a Batawa who was fatally injured Tuesday night at Frankford, was cancelled yesterday.

The inquest was scheduled to take place yesterday afternoon. Leatherland was killed when an automobile was reported to have met his motorcycle head-on. The fatality occurred at the south end of Frankford about nine p.m.

Linked with the wave of anti-government protests were strong rumors Wednesday night in Casablanca that the Moroccan resident-general, Gilbert Grandval, had resigned or was about to quit the post he took over only six weeks ago. French residents have accused Grandval of a soft policy which emboldened the nationalists to attack.

Faure told a press conference Wednesday night, however, that Grandval had neither resigned nor been recalled. He said he plans to have the resident-general come here for the final stages of the Moroccan talks, probably Friday or Saturday.

French troops in North Africa moved ahead, meanwhile, with vengeful cleanup operations.

Convertiplane Is Given First Test Flight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The army today announced the first flight by a revolutionary aircraft being developed for it, and designed to employ the most useful features of a helicopter and a conventional plane.

The flight was at the Fort Worth, Tex., plant of Bell Aircraft Corp., builders of the XV-3 convertiplane, and was confined to the helicopter performance.

In appearance, the convertiplane looks much like a conventional, but stubby-bodied aircraft. Mounted on the upper tips of the wings are three-bladed rotor-propellers. Takeoff, the rotors whirl horizontally as on a helicopter. Once the desired altitude is reached, the pilot can tilt the rotors into the position of normal airplane propellers.

Noisy Child, 9, Beaten to Death By Grandfather

TEXAS CITY, Tex. (AP) — A 78-year-old Texas City man was charged with the fatal beating Wednesday night of his nine-year-old granddaughter because she made too much noise while he was trying to sleep.

Assistant district attorney A. A. Alexander told the Galveston News that Robert Wallace signed a statement saying he hit Frances Jean Wallace on the head about 20 times with a mechanic's hammer.

Alexander said Wallace was trying to sleep and the girl was in the next room painting in a coloring book on the dining room table. Her singing and talking while she worked disturbed him, Wallace told officers.

Russians Repair Damaged Pictures

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet art expert says Russian restorers have kept many of the Dresden Gallery's famed paintings from being "lost to mankind forever."

F. L. Petrov, acting director of the Pushkin Museum, Wednesday said many of the paintings were damaged badly when Red army troops found them at the end of the war in "damp caves in the mountains."

The vast collection, which had been put in the caves to escape Allied bombings, was brought to Moscow. The Russians announced recently that it will be returned to Dresden, in Communist East Germany.

General Motors Talks Resume

OSHAWA (CP) — Talks between Local 222 of the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL) and officials of the Oshawa plant of the General Motors Corporation of Canada resumed today after a 16-day lapse.

Negotiations before a conciliation board broke down Aug. 9 when the UAW's Canadian director, George Burt, walked out.

The meeting affects 10,000 Oshawa workers who last week empowered the union executive to call a strike vote if necessary.

At Toronto Wednesday talks between company and union aimed at establishing a master contract for 6,000 GM employees in Windsor, London, St. Catharines and Toronto broke down after 2 1/2 hours.

Burt said Wednesday the company was not negotiating but simply repeating its former statement that union demands are unrealistic.

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's stocks got wide interest in the United States in the first half of 1955 as net sales to foreign investors more than doubled, rising to a record $108,400,000.

This is an increase of $67,400,000 over the first half of 1954. Of the 1955 total, net sales to the United States amounted to $80,600,000, the bureau of statistics reported Wednesday.

Net sales to Britain totalled $16,100,000.

While foreign investment activity in the Canadian stock market was at a peak, a record also was made in the shift of Canadian bonds to Canadian hands from foreign investors.

Total repurchases of Canadian bonds held by foreign investors, again mostly in the U.S., rose to a high of $131,000,000—a sharp contrast to the net purchase of $5,000,000 in the similar 1954 period.

The various activities in bond and stock sales, the floating of new issues and Canadian trade in foreign stocks and bonds led to a net export of $84,000,000 in capital for the half-year period. This is in contrast to the net import of $189,000,000 for the first half of 1954.

Protest French Using Borrowed U.S. 'Copters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government officials today said France is using eight borrowed United States helicopters in combat in insurgents in North Africa.

Walter Reuther, head of the CIO, protested against the use of the air force machines as inconsistent with outspoken American opposition to colonialism. The state department had no immediate comment on the protest by Reuther, who said in a statement that "direct military aid" to the French in North Africa makes the U.S. appear "as the main support of French colonialism."

However, it was learned that France had ordered some helicopters earlier this summer from U.S. manufacturers. France also requested and got a loan of eight helicopters pending delivery of those on order.

A DIFFERENT STATUS

Port Arthur has recently had considerable trouble with its high school teachers over the question of salaries. It is not surprising, therefore, that the Port Arthur News-Chronicle should be keenly interested in any statements bearing on this subject.

Dr. Marcus Long, a professor at the University of Toronto, recently won himself a place in the headlines by a slashing attack on the level of teachers' salaries and the policies of Hon. Dr. W. J. Dunlop, Ontario Minister of Education.

The Port Arthur News-Chronicle takes issue with Dr. Long, as it has every right to do. It accuses him, among other things, of "poor taste, faulty logic and highly questionable statement of fact."

It is the first of these charges that we wish to question.

"Poor taste," says the News-Chronicle, "is in the fact of one who is in effect a subordinate criticising the Minister of Education. The case is similar to another which in the army some time ago stirred up a lot of discussion, inclusive of the Houses of Commons, and ended in an apology."

The case is not—or at least should not be—similar in any respect.

An officer in the armed services is a public servant, answerable to his superior and in a democracy these services must be subject to the control of the Cabinet and, through the government, of Parliament.

A university professor may be paid, at least in part, with public funds, but if he is to be forced to trim his sails to the wind of public opinion, to refrain from criticism of our educational system or even to consider the views of the president of his university before he offers an opinion, then it is demonstrably impossible for him to fulfill the task for which he is being paid, which is to encourage the widest and most searching discussion, criticism and study of anything and everything.

When a university professor cannot voice a view which is contrary to the opinion of the Minister of Education, we might as well close the universities and let the Minister mail out text books for home study.

LETTER REPUDIATED

A week or so ago The Ontario Intelligencer criticized a letter sent by the secretary of the Chief Constables' Association of Canada to the Vancouver police commission. The letter said that "evil forces" were attempting to get Chief Constable Walter Mulligan dismissed from his post and added that the Association was "shocked and grieved" to read press reports of "scandalous accusations" against Chief Mulligan.

It is a pleasure to keep the record straight and to report that, according to Harold Weir writing in the Vancouver Sun, the president of the Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police has "repudiated the silly and impertinent letter."

"It is particularly heartening to discover that this letter was a mistake because it would be appalling to think that police chiefs are as prone to pre-judgments as so many common citizens untutored in the law and the facts of police administration," writes Mr. Weir.

"For more than a month the entire city has been seething with gossip based on hearsay and incomplete evidence. Almost any good bourgeois is prepared to hand out nooses and medals with not quite half the story told."

For the assurance that the chief constables of Canada are not indulging in this pastime, much thanks. And no apologies whatever for the original Ontario Intelligencer editorial deploring the letter from the secretary of the Chief Constables' Association, who we hope is now a wiser, as well as a sadder, man.

THE URGE TO WASTE BREAD

"Flight and Resettlement" by Louise Pinsky, now a social worker in the United States, is a new UNESCO publication in a series on population and culture.

It tells the story of the refugee, his flight, his existence as a displaced person and his later resettlement.

The author reports that some refugee children, after their ordeal was ended, deliberately wasted and dirtied bread. Why? "To destroy this power which bread had over them." Why did this bread have power over them? Let that story be told in the words of a young boy who explained to the author that a chunk of bread was all that he received after a day's work.

"It was all yours, all yours. You promised yourself you'd save it until morning—perhaps you'd leave a little to munch during the day when you bent over the shovel. But you were so terribly hungry you broke off a little chunk. And then you knew it had been a big mistake, for you could no longer resist. When morning came, there was nothing left. When bread has meant so much to you, you've got to have it amid your belongings. It's got to be there to nibble at, or just to touch it."

And so, when they were free, they wasted and dirtied bread. They came to a free land. They walked the streets free men. They spoke in their native tongues. And people wrote letters to the big metropolitan newspapers complaining about this strange babble, this annoying, incomprehensible chatter.

Ignorance is not always bliss, but it is generally cruel.

BILL-OF-FARE

I take the printed bill-of-fare
At any restaurant in town.
I could recite it, I declare,
From marinated herring down
Into the list of fish I dine.
I know them all from sea or lake.

My eyes from top to bottom go
As if the choice were hard to make.
I study it with care, although
A sandwich I'm about to take.

I follow along this routine.
All dishes strange I disregard.
But fascinated I have been
By every printed menu card.
I know the victuals, cold and hot,
From onion soup to honey-comb.

And then I'll order, like a not.
Exactly what I'll get at home.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

August 25, 1915

Mr. R. H. Ketcheson has returned from Ottawa where he was on business in connection with the Belleville Fair.

Mrs. Earl Baker and two children, Ernest and Joan, are visiting her sister, Mrs. Claude D. Tice and Mr. Tice.

Miss Doris Irwin is visiting friends in Midland.

Miss Gwendolyn Wilkes, nurse-in-training at the Mimco Hospital spent the week-end here with her mother, Mrs. L. Wilkes, Catherine Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin White and family of Toronto, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Shelly Anderson.

Robert E. Parkin of Ann Arbor, Mich., when fishing in Muscote Bay on Tuesday in company with Jay Sprague and Clarence Sprague of Big Island, caught a "lunge" which weighed 30 pounds.

From our file copy at this time in 1885: Merchants in this city are giving a wide berth to commercial travellers from Montreal owing to a fear of contracting smallpox.

Mrs. H. K. Filson of Kingston is the guest of Miss Amy Walbridge, John Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Morley P. Duff and son, Gardner, have returned after a trip on the Great Lakes.

Lieut. Gordon Miller of the Argyll Light Infantry has been promoted to the rank of Captain according to the recent orders for Military District No. 3.

30 YEARS AGO

August 25, 1925

John Walbridge and Cecil Facer have left for Bass Lake where they will spend two weeks' vacation.

Mr. Percy Hess, former secretary of the Y. M. C. A. here, is spending a few days in town.

Miss Reta Bean is spending a few days with friends in Brockville.

Miss Lena O'Rourke is spending a few days in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Shaw and sons, Leland and Ralph, accompanied by Mrs. Robert Rodgers of Stirling, are spending a vacation in Detroit, Mich.

Mrs. Thomas Holland entertained at her home last evening in honor of Miss Teresa Murphy of Brooklyn, N.Y., formerly of this city. Euche was enjoyed, there being five tables in play.

"Doc" Truistich has returned to the city after spending his vacation at Weslomekoon Lake.

40 YEARS AGO

August 25, 1915

At a special meeting of the public works committee in the city council tenders were received for the paving of Pineapple Street. After much consideration the members of the committee decided that the price named was too high and no action was taken. Present at the meeting were Mayor Panter, Aldermen Fred Walbridge, Platt, Smith, Woodley, McCurdy, Earle and St. Charles.

The council of the Township of Rawdon called a special meeting of the residents in the township recently in order to obtain the sentiment of the people with regards to making of grants for the equipment of battalions going on active service overseas and for the needs of the men.

The unanimous opinion of the meeting that grants should be made and the sum of $2,000, will be donated this year. This grant, with the other grants to patriotic causes already made, will bring the total amount donated by Rawdon township during the first year of the war to $7,500.

50 YEARS AGO

August 25, 1905

A pleasing event took place in the Officers' Quarters when the non-commissioned officers of No. 2 Company of the 15th Regiment, presented a large group photograph of the company to their popular commanding officer Captain J. Hayes, who accepted the gift with much pleasure.

Lieut. Herb. Fish, of the same company, was also presented with a similar picture. The non-commissioned officers of the company are: Col. Serg. Green, Sergeants Gordon Lynch, and Cummings and Corporals Hollins, Robinson and Walker.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bourne of Quincy, Ill., are visiting relatives in the city.

Albert and Willie Wonnacott left today on the steamer Alexandria for Deseronto where they will visit their brother Harry.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

"I have tried counting sheep," said a friend of mine, "as a means of putting myself to sleep. But their bleating always keeps me awake."

He summarizes the trouble with most mechanical inventions for inspiring slumber. All they do is keep reminding you that you are awake. Sleep should be as natural as waking. It should come in its turn as a simple matter of course.

But thanks to the wonderful improvements of modern life, with all their racket and roaring and whizzing, sleep no longer comes naturally to millions of people. Thanks also to the excitement and interest of modern life, with something to look at, something to hear, something to feel or taste at all hours of the day and night, our senses are too enervated, too entertained to welcome sleep. Only a little bit of us really wants to go to sleep. Only a fraction of our minds, poor, nerve-wracked, fidgety, bellyaching little corner of our brains, wants to sleep. The rest of us, our bodies, our senses, prefer to stay awake, or are kept awake by the vibrancy and clamor of life around us. So the poor little protester in us, that weary part of our consciousness, moans and sighs and begs for sleep and finally gets a prescription from the doctor for a pill, a barbiturate. All it does, of course, is make that little corner of us, that complainer, drunk. A stupor steals over it. We think we are asleep.

Sleep, however, is a nobler thing than that. It is a function, a rite. The happy, healthy man works all day; and shortly after supper, in response to a deep inner command older than Moses, more ancient than the pyramids, begins to feel a strong inclination to lie down somewhere. If, for social reasons, such as somebody dropping in after supper, he has to sit upright, he can still surrender in sitting posture, especially in an easy chair. If there is a good radio or TV program, or if his wife insists on going to a movie, he can fight the gathering golden gloom off, part of the time, anyway. But, boy, when he gets through all the nuisances of life that can beset a healthy man after dark, and sees his bed turned down for him, it is like a shark diving into infinite deep blue depths. It is like the engulfing climax of symphony. It is consummation. It is the final ecstasy: sleep!

Three Requirements

(Stratford Beacon-Herald)

John Ruskin said it: "In order that people may be happy in their work, these three things are needed. They must be fit for it; they must not do too much of it; and they must have a sense of success in it."

Money Named For Weight

(Philadelphia Bulletin)

Most kinds of ancient money, were named for their weight rather than their value. The shekel and talent were measures of weight before they gave their names to currency, and the same is true of the British pound, once the golden equivalent of a pound troy of silver.

Even in the modern world measuring money by its weight is an increasing practice. Banks are now using scales to count paper currency, for a long time they have found it cheaper and simpler to weigh pennies than to count them, and now there are sensitive scales which sound the alarm at once if a single dollar is missing from a stack of bills. It works, of course only if they are all the same kind of bills.

The day may come when the worker will get his guaranteed wages by the ounce. His wife, in turn, will swap a quarter pound of money for the week's groceries. Which takes us back, more or less, to the time when money was first invented.

Presidents Long-Lived

(Milwaukee Journal)

There's no doubt that the burdens of the presidency are terrific. However a recent insurance company study showed that presidents live longer than the average man.

The average age of the first 30 presidents, counting the assassinated ones, was 68.8 years. John Adams lived to be 90 and James Madison 88. Jackson, who left the White House at 69, survived to be 78. Herbert Hoover will be 71 this week. Harry Truman is 71.

Of the 33 men who have served only four have died in office of natural causes—William H. Harrison, Zachary Taylor, Warren Harding and Franklin Roosevelt. Only one left the presidency in seriously ill health—Woodrow Wilson.

Flat Chests Not Stylish

(Ottawa Citizen)

The word from Paris is that flat chests are out of style again. The news comes with less electrifying effect than it might otherwise have done because in these parts of the world, at any rate, it is not too clear that the other kind was ever really eclipsed. Those with horrid memories of the pencil shape circa 1927 can complain about the prevalent fashions of 1935. Either the Dior revolution was milder than the original press dispatches indicated, or else a counter-revolution set in.

At all events, there is to be no further attempt, for the time being, to repress some of the more admirable works of Nature. Possessors of those attributes are now told that they may discard the line and the A-line and if indeed they ever adopted either—and see instead what the Y-line does to them. Judging from advance descriptions, it will do very nicely.

We Need No Art Ministry

(Ottawa Journal)

Ever since Mr. Alan Jarvis was made head of the National Gallery the Journal has been hearing good things about him. Nothing that he heard was better, more revealing of Mr. Jarvis' good sense, than what he himself said the other night when up at Kingsmead somebody asked him if he would favor a ministry of beaux arts for Canada. Mr. Jarvis said the suggestion "appalled" him.

It would appall others too: certainly all capable of beginning what such a ministry would mean—some party politician as minister of fine arts who might well believe that El Greco was a wrestler, yet setting up a whole panoply of words' contest organized by the Gaelic Society of London.

Constitution had to make up 25 Gaelic equivalents of words in modern usage—such as "reforestation"—for which there is no Gaelic expression.

Mr. James MacPhee, convener of the London Mod, told me that Mr. Paterson, who is a Gallovidian, started as a "learned-speaker" and had now mastered six Gaelic languages—Gaelic, Irish Gaelic, Welsh, Cornish, Manx and Breton.

That we should come to that, or that it should be so, is a little bit of Heaven forbid. And Heaven forbid that we get art into party politics.

There's A Limit

(Winnipeg Tribune)

A harassed grandmother down the block says she'll live to be 150 if she's time for some people. But she's darned if she's going to baby-sit with two more generations.

Rosenbergs Enriched Reds

(Owen Sound Sun-Times)

The Rosenberg case did not end with the execution of America's atom spies. Not quite. There is still the matter of the fund collected for the defence of this pair.

The amount was in the hands of some vicinity of $300,000, most of it probably the gift of soft-hearted and somewhat soft-headed people who had no real sympathy with this pair of obvious traitors. The Save the Rosenberg fund was actively promoted by American Communists for a fairly long time.

One of the best pitches they had to loosen the purse strings of potential donors was the plea that the money would be used to pay for the Rosenberg children. Just recently Emily Alman, the fund treasurer, testified before the Congressional investigation committee that the total amount spent for the children's benefit was $1,299.15.

Of the rest, $57,859 went for "save-the-Rosenbergs" delegations to Washington, a fairly legitimate use from one point of view. The inquiry into the disposal of the rest met with a refusal to testify further.

There is a strong presumption that the Communist Party in the United States was considerably enriched by the fate of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, who were executed in June of 1953. It is a common-sense Communist method which is especially biting at a time when Premier Bulganin's official "sweetness and light" policy is being so strongly promoted.

At Walkerton recently, a 39-year-old salesman appeared for sentence on a charge of abducting a nine-year-old girl. On April 11, the accused picked up the girl in Culross township and carried her off in his car. A farmer's posse over took him two hours later, and rescued the child unharmful. The man claimed he had been drinking, and did not remember the incident. In imposing a $100 fine, the justice said the magistrate said: "The time has come when a person who gets drunk and doesn't know what he is doing and doesn't remember what he did when he's sobered up, he is liable to a criminal charge." The pronouncement is hopeful evidence that at least some courts and magistrates can take a realistic view of such incidents.

Russians Like Americans

(Cleveland Plain Dealer)

Premier Nehru of India has made the singular discovery that Russians and Americans are "remarkably alike"—that both are friendly, hospitable, mechanically minded and fond of "doing things in a big way." He is not the first to note the similarity, which previously had been put in this way: "Russians are just as crazy as Americans, only more so."

The tragedy of communism, in addition to the terror and sadness it inflicts on its own people, is that a mere handful of power-crazed men have succeeded in keeping people of similar natures worlds apart; preventing an exchange of friendliness; feeding their own people lies about us.

More than ever we grow convinced that if the Russian people knew us, realized we had no imperial ambitions, admired them for their industry and plied them for the abuse they have taken from their stolid, cruel overlords—world tensions would vanish rapidly.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

Soda And The Stomach

Bicarbonate of soda, aspirin, vitamin shots, bourbon, ulcer, ready access to dope to make the nerves sleep or quiet the nerves. That doesn't seem quite all—oh, yes, doesn't seem quite all—the business of lighting a cigarette. Without that, how could the Yankee Wascor achieve nonchalance?

Some persons like to hear themselves belch. If they are not belching enough or with sufficient authority they take a dose of sodium bicarbonate, otherwise known as bicarbonate of soda, baking soda. Ten to twenty grains, taken by one with a healthy stomach, will generate enough gas (carbon dioxide) in the stomach to power a series of impressive belches.

Such belching of large quantities of carbon dioxide (generated by the reaction of the acid of the gastric juice with sodium bicarbonate) mixed with air (swallowed by the nervous patient, unconsciously and unintentionally) constitutes many a bad "gas attack."

Although it may be harmless to take anywhere from a good pinch (a grain) up to a level teaspoonful of bicarbonate occasionally, the frequent or habitual use of soda in even the smallest doses is bad medicine in almost any circumstances.

Bicarbonate of soda is the hold.

So you see, antacids relieve discomfort, distress or pain due to other causes than excessive acidity. This is true to bicarbonate of soda, but more particularly to true of calcium carbonate, antacids disturb the acid-base balance in tissues and blood less than soda does, and the calcium not only supplies an element which most Americans need but, in my opinion, it raises one's pain threshold.

Remember the truck that gets uneasy concrete to the job only because the load is constantly kept moving.

Have you ever driven behind a truck carrying mixed concrete to a building job? You noticed, of course, that the huge cylinder keeps turning slowly all the time. The chief reason for this is that if not continually activated, the concrete would harden.

The message is, keep on the move. This may seem to be unwise counsel to a generation which is so jittery and nervous as to be lively scampering into nervous breakdowns. But the antidote for too much tension is not too much relaxation. Both extremes are bad. Life has to be kept moving all the time or it will quickly become a mixed concrete would unless the drum in which it is carried is slowly revolved.

Constable Sent For Trial On Perjury Charge

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — Roy Feeley, a 37-year-old Ontario provincial police constable, Wednesday was committed for trial on a perjury charge after he testified at the trial of a man charged with attempted extortion.

Feeley gave evidence June 14 at the hearing of Bruce Castle of Peterborough, charged with the attempted extortion of $1,000 from a man he claimed was a bootlegger. Castle, against whom the charge was dismissed, said Feeley had tried to bribe him on behalf of Geoffrey Feeley, a cousin.

He said he had been offered $25 and lawyer's fees not to tell where he had obtained a quantity of beer. Castle said Roy Feeley had come to see him and had broached the proposal.

Roy Feeley was charged after he denied acting as the go-between.

Prime Minister's Son to Enter Political Field

RIVIERE-DU-LOUP, Que. (CP) — Jean-Paul St. Laurent has been named Liberal candidate to contest the federal riding of Temiscouata, becoming the first son of Prime Minister St. Laurent to enter politics.

The 43-year-old Quebec City lawyer was a unanimous choice Wednesday night at the nomination convention. He will seek a seat in the House of Commons Sept. 25 when by-elections are held in Temiscouata, Bellechasse and Quebec South.

Mr. St. Laurent brought cheers from the 500 persons crowded into city hall when he said he would try to follow in his father's footsteps. He also promised to bring new industries to the district.

The prime minister did not attend the convention. He was at his summer home at nearby St. Patrice taking the rest ordered by doctors after he broke his ankle on a fishing trip last week.

ONLY NAME PROPOSED

The candidate's wife, Madeleine, to whom he has been married for 19 years, was present with their four children.

The name of Mr. St. Laurent was the only one put forward at the convention presided over by Dr. Pierre Gauthier, Liberal member of the Commons for Portneuf. The seat the prime minister's son will contest was vacated last month by Francois Pouliot, who was appointed to the Senate.

Jean-Paul is the third of five children in the St. Laurent family. An older brother, Renauld, 44, also is a lawyer in Quebec City. At present he is at his summer home at Ste. Petronille recuperating from a heart attack.

Jean-Paul, a vigorous swimmer and golfer, spends weekends at his summer home at nearby Cacouna, nine miles from the summer residence of his parents.

NAMED AMBASSADOR

KARACHI (CP) — Mohammed Ali until two weeks ago prime minister of Pakistan, was appointed ambassador to the United States Wednesday. The 46-year-old Mohammed Ali was ambassador to the U.S. in 1952-53, before he became prime minister. Two weeks ago, Mohammed Ali resigned as premier during a government crisis and was replaced by Mohammed Chaudhri Ali.

Aged Widower Will Face Trial On Murder Count

BLIND RIVER, Ont. (CP) — Justice LeBel, 69, will face trial in Ontario Supreme Court next month on a charge of murder in the mysterious death of a woman who disappeared nearly two years ago.

He is accused of slaying Raymond Lanouette, 38, with whom he set out from here in a small boat on a fishing trip Sept. 6, 1953. The woman's body, weighted with rocks, was found in 10 feet of water in the Blind River a mile from the northern limits of this uranium-mining centre last Aug. 8. Witnesses at the preliminary hearing Wednesday testified they saw the couple leave in a rented boat. They said LeBel later returned alone.

Celeste Garneau, owner of the boat, said LeBel told him he had left the woman up the river to visit friends. Garneau added that he has never seen LeBel on the river since then.

CAUSE NOT INDICATED

Ronald River, 16, also said he saw the couple start out together in the boat and LeBel's return alone. Asked by crown attorney Ian Munro whether there was any reason he could see the man and woman clearly at the start of the trip, the reply was:

"Yes, Spy-glasses."

Cpl. Ken Grice of the Sudbury detachment of the Ontario provincial police said he took pictures of the recovery of the body. He said the spot where the body was found was accessible only by boat and was out of sight of persons in houses.

Dr. F. C. Hamill said he identified the body by x-ray records. The woman had once suffered a broken left leg.

Sudbury pathologist Dr. M. J. G. Lynch said he could not indicate the cause of death "except that it was not due to natural causes."

Will Continue To Sell Gas In Evening

LINDSAY (CP) — A Lindsay service station operator, Everett Hedge, said Wednesday he will continue to sell gasoline during evening hours, despite his second conviction this year on a contravention of the early closing by-law. Hedge pleaded guilty to the charge in magistrate's court and said: "I'm guilty if it's British justice to haul a man into court for working 15 hours a day to make a living."

Hedge said the by-law regulating hours of sale was passed in the interests of the larger dealers, to the detriment of smaller operators like himself.

"People aren't going to bother to find out what station is open on a certain night, when they can go a few blocks out of town, and get gas at almost any time," he said. "I can't afford not to sell gas, I'm going to keep selling it."

DIES IN EXPLOSION

THESSALON, Ont. (CP) — John Garnet Tapp, 33, father of three children, burned to death Tuesday on his farm at Kynock, 18 miles northeast of here, when his tractor exploded.

Claims Teachers Being Driven Out Of Profession

TORONTO (CP) — Inability to achieve top-bracket salaries in many areas is driving many teachers out of the profession each year, a Kenora teacher said Wednesday night.

Speaking at the annual dinner, Miss Kenneth Goodwyn, president of the Federation of Women Teachers' Associations of Ontario, said "many discover they can't afford to teach."

She emphasized that qualifications should not be relaxed just because there is a teacher shortage and recommended raising them instead to "attract better qualified young people to the field."

"Teacher status, through more respectable salary bases, must be raised if any hope is to be entertained for the future of the profession," she said. "Improvement can be stimulated top by higher standards of training."

Honorary membership to the federation was conferred on five teachers Wednesday night for "outstanding contribution to the profession."

They were: Miss Lula Cleland of Newmarket, with 41 years of service to her credit, who now teaches mentally retarded children as a volunteer; Miss Martha Cline in Ontario and Saskatchewan; Miss Elizabeth Crone of Sarnia, with 33 years service, who lectures at Ontario Agricultural College summer courses; Miss Annie S. Jones of Midland, with more than 35 years experience who has worked as a federative organizer and Miss Elora Macdonald, Spring Bay, Manitoulin island, with a record of 46 years in teaching, mainly in Timmins, where a school was named in her honor.

Baseball Betting Big Business Says Paper

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The Buffalo Courier-Express says a newspaper survey has indicated that baseball betting here—with connections in Canada—"has mushroomed into big-time gambling with the take running as high as $75,000 to $100,000 daily."

In a signed story by William A. Mullen, the newspaper says "heavy action has made Buffalo a major center in an international gambling ring which has developed baseball betting until it is taking the place of horse races as the principal business of professional bookmakers."

One local bookmaker, the newspaper says, is known to handle only a few hundred dollars daily on horse races, while his baseball bets top $20,000 a day.

Baseball betting has reached such proportions, the story adds, that "some fans fear the sport may be ruined by professional gamblers."

The newspaper, recalling the American basketball scandals of a few years ago, says "now fans are concerned that racketeers may attempt to pay pitchers to throw games."

Two at Edge Of Falls Saved By Helicopter

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — A daring rescue by a United States navy helicopter in the Niagara river Wednesday delivered two men from certain death in the turbulent Horseshoe falls.

Howard Booz, 38, and his brother Frank, 29, clung to slippery underwater rocks only 200 yards from the brink of the falls for half an hour before they were snatched up by the helicopter.

They were thrown from their frail 14-foot fishing boat after the outboard motor failed above the foaming rapids and the boat was carried along with the current. LIFTED BY SLING Wildly clawing as they were pitched overboard, both brothers clutched a rock. They hung on during the ordeal by bending down so that their heads were half-submerged.

"We never thought we would be saved," they said. "We thought this was the end."

Tourists on the U.S. shore first saw the men and informed the New York state park police.

Before the helicopter went into action, Niagara Falls, N.Y., firemen made an unsuccessful attempt to reach the men from one of the Three Sisters islands, a few yards from their precarious perch.

The helicopter, commanded by Lt. Cmdr. Harry C. Palmatier, hovered 10 feet above the water to lift up the men with a hydraulic sling. Palmatier said that when he spotted the men they were trying to brace themselves against the current by wedging their feet between the rocks.

"They are being treated for shock at the navy hospital in Niagara Falls, N.Y."

Tom Cronin, a helicopter crew member, said: "Luckily they kept their senses. Otherwise they would have been swept over."

This was the second helicopter rescue in the Niagara river. Three years ago a man waded out to a rock in the river and then had to be saved when he could not get back.

The brothers were hanging onto the rocks a foot from where two other men were stranded 37 years ago in a barge which is still there. It took two days to rescue those two men.

Master Contract For GM Workers Still in Air

TORONTO (CP) — Renewed talks between General Motors of Canada and the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CU) broke down Wednesday after a 24-hour session.

The talks were aimed at establishing a master contract for 6,000 General Motors employees at plants in Windsor, London, St. Catharines and Toronto.

George Burt, Canadian director of the union, said the company is not negotiating but is repeating its former statement that the union demands, including the guaranteed annual wage, are unrealistic.

He said the talks broke up when the company representatives did not explain what is unrealistic about the union demands.

"We were prepared to negotiate," he said. "We are yet if they will give us a call. We are going to stand by."

Company officials said their representatives will be available "as they always have been since negotiations began" to continue meetings with the union "in order to work toward an equitable settlement of all the issues involved."

Talks between General Motors and representatives of 10,000 employees at Oshawa will be resumed today.

AT HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Tucker, Stirling, will be "at home" to friends and relatives on September 1, from 3-5 and 7-10 p.m., on the occasion of their 40th wedding anniversary.

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

The engagement is announced of Margaret Marie, daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Gordon S. Foulds, to Harley Howard Hubble of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett K. Hubble of Belleville, Ontario. The marriage will take place on Sept. 17th at three o'clock in the chapel of Deer Park United church, Toronto.

Miss Florence Christopher spent the past week holidaying in Midland.

Mr. and Mrs. John Alford have returned home after holidaying in Sudbury and other northern points. They also visited in Warrington, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Walpole and daughter, Sylvia, niece and grand niece of Mrs. Alford.

Master Wayne Anderson of Concession, is spending his holidays with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Alford, 82 East Moira Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Newman have returned from their wedding trip to the United States and are spending a week at the Newman cottage, Sugar Island, Stoco Lake.

Mr. Harry Bruseau, former employee of the Ontario Intelligencer, now of Detroit, Michigan, is renewing old acquaintances.

Miss Betty Fowlie of Sarnia, who has been a guest of Mrs. M. Foster, has returned home.

Miss Annabelle Innes of Kingston, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. Peters for the week-end.

On Tuesday evening, Miss M. Hamilton received a phone call from Phoenix, Arizona, from her sister, Mrs. Henry (Olive) Zuker. Miss Hamilton remarked on the clarity of the call over a distance of 3,000 miles.

Weddings

MANN-LANE

Tall white standards and baskets of white and yellow gladioli and ferns formed a lovely setting in Trinity United church, Madoc, on Saturday, August 20, at 2:30 p.m., when Helen Mildred Lane, of Madoc, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. E. F. Lane, became the bride of Lieut. Ronald Francis Mann, of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, Winnipeg.

The bride's father, the Rev. J. F. Lane, assisted by the Rev. J. U. Robinson, who married the bride's parents, officiated.

The traditional wedding music was rendered by the church organist, who accompanied the bride and groom.

The bride wore a lovely gown of white nylon tulle over taffeta fashioned with fitted long sleeves bodice of French Chantilly lace, and bouffant skirt in knife pleats over taffeta with cascading overskirt. She wore a fingertip veil held by a cap head-dress of pleated illusion trimmed with seed pearls and carried a white Bible crested with yellow roses and satin streamers knotted with roses. She wore the gift of her bridegroom, a necklace of pearls with matching earrings.

Her maid of honor, Miss Peggy Grobner, of Kingston, wore a floor-length gown of turquoise crystalite over taffeta with molded bodice in long torso effect to which was gathered the bouffant skirt. This was complemented by a matching jacket having short sleeves. Long white gloves and matching headpiece with forehead veil completed the ensemble.

Her bridesmaids, Miss Sheila Nelson, B.A., of Sault Ste Marie, and Miss Mona Pierson of Wellington, were gownned alike in tangerine crystalite fashioned in style similar to that of the maid of honor. They wore matching headpieces and carried lace fans of gladioli flowers in peach and yellow colors.

Little Miss Peggy Lane, of Wellington, niece of the bride, a flower girl, was sweet in her floor length frock of yellow crystalite over taffeta with matching floral headpiece. She carried a basquette of pink Sweetheart roses and pom mums.

The bridegroom was attended by Lieut. J. Hulsemann, while Mr. Cameron Coulter and Lieut. Austin Camblon, former classmates of the bridegroom at the Royal Military College, Kingston, performed the duties of ushers. Following the ceremony, a reception was held for some 60 guests in the church parlors. The bride's table was centred by a three-tier wedding cake, and flanked by yellow candles in candleholders and black-eyed Susans. The ladies of Trinity church catered for the occasion. The bride's mother, wearing toast-colored crepe and lace with corsage of Queen Elizabeth roses, received. The parents of the bridegroom were unavoidably absent. The priest again favored with a rendition.

For the wedding trip to "Tourist Lodge," near Sudbury, the bride donned a grey printed polished silk cotton, two-toned grey suede shoes, white and turquoise accessories. Lieut. Mann and Mrs. Mann will reside in Kingston at 281 Division Street.

Guests were present from Regina; Sask.; Eganville; Kingston; W.ington; Oakwood; Lindsay; Minden; Truro, N.S.; Toronto and Frankford.

SHARP-KEATING

MARMORA.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Keating, Norwood Road, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday, August 20, at 3 p.m., when their daughter, Pearl Noraine, became the bride of Jack Melville Sharp, son of Mrs. Paul Sharp, of Harold, and the late Paul Sharp. Canon J. M. Brown was the officiating clergyman. The home decorations were of mixed gladioli, the archway being trimmed with white streamers and various sized white bells.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was daintily attired in white embossed nylon over net and taffeta her skirt being three-tiered and the bodice strapless. Her jacket of matching nylon had long, pointed cuffs and her fingertip veil was caught to a matching headpiece enrousted with seed pearls and iridescents. She carried a bouquet of dark red roses.

Her sister, Miss Eva Keating, attended her as bridesmaid, wearing light blue nylon, matching hat and white accessories. Her bouquet was of pink and white floret gladioli.

The duties of best man were performed by Bert Sharp. The reception was held on the lawn of St. Paul's rectory with catering by St. Paul's Ladies' Guild. The bride's mother received in navy sheer nylon and white accessories. Her corsage was of dark pink roses. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, gowned in navy flowered sheer nylon and wearing black accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The bride and bridegroom later left on a wedding trip to Toronto and Niagara Falls. For travelling the bride chose flowered navy bengaline with matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Out-of-town guests were present from Guelph, Hamilton, Toronto, Trenton, Campbellford, Kingston, Hartington, Ivanhoe and Crockett.

The bride and bridegroom are taking up residence in Stirling.

Victoria Woman
Will Reach 100
On Sept. 30

VICTORIA (CP) — Mrs. Hanna Chapman Barker, whose 100th birthday comes next Sept. 30, says there is no secret to longevity.

It's a family characteristic, she says. "My mother lived until nearly 102 and other members of my family also enjoyed long life."

Spry and diminutive, Mrs. Barker was attended recently by a doctor "for the first time since I can't remember when." She fell and hurt her back, but despite the injury walked downtown and back. She was born in Kingston, Ont., fourth child of John and Elizabeth Leader's family of 14. The town of Leader, Sask., was named after Mrs. Barker's father.

She has five grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

99 Ladies
Attend
Trousseau Tea

Recently 99 ladies braved the wind and rain of "Connie" to attend the delightfully arranged tea given by Mrs. J. F. Lane at their home, Trinity parsonage, Madoc, in honor of her daughter, Helen, a bride of last Saturday.

Mrs. Kenneth Lane, of Wellington, sister-in-law of the bride, and two cousins, Mrs. Will Sharpe, of Regina, and Mrs. Charles Lane of Oakwood, displayed the linens, trousseau and shower gifts.

Mrs. L. W. Scott, of Eganville, and Mrs. Frank Rich, of Oakwood, aunts of the bride, directed the guests to the dining room where pouters were: Mrs. Rich, grandmother; Mrs. Wilbur Lane, aunt, both of Oakwood; Mrs. Will Taylor, Toronto; Mrs. Clayton Powell, Frankford; Mrs. Harold Nash and Mrs. W. Teskey, Wellington.

The tea table covered with lovely handmade, outwork linen cloth was centred with a large low bowl of pink and white asters with baby's breath.

Several teacher pals were among those who served: Irma McCoy, Theresa Thompson, Irma Downey, June Pierson, Wellington; Joyce Storing, Joyce Fleming, Lamoine Post, also Grace Bushell, Kingston; Helen Montgomery, Frankford; Joyce Richardson, Belleville; Dawn Trotter and Diane Broad, also assisting were: Mrs. L. Bennett, Mrs. Charlesworth, Mrs. H. Stroud and Mrs. Galloway.

Misses Jacqueline Storing and Marilyn Devolin attended the door and register.

"The Earliest Cities of Ontario" and Mrs. Berson Mitts, a report on the conference at Guelph. This branch collected articles for the Women's Institute display at the Belleville fair, which were shown at the meeting.

There has been a meeting at Mrs. E. B. Finkle's home for the past 35 years.

Much business included planning for the 50th anniversary next month, which was the most important.

After the meeting closed, refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Carr,
Stirling, Wed 50 Years

An after-hours wedding ceremony which the minister declined to perform until he was assured it was an emergency has lasted a half a century with the anniversary being observed Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Carr, 2nd concession of Rawdon, east of Stirling.

"It was after ten o'clock and the minister didn't want to marry us," Mr. Carr recalled on the anniversary, "but when I told him I had had to wait for the train the minister considered that an emergency and married us."

Both Mr. and Mrs. Carr are natives of the Stirling area, having been born and spent their childhood almost on adjoining farms. Mr. Carr is of United Empire Loyalist descent, his grandfather, David Carr, having settled in the area when it was still all woods.

Mrs. Carr is the former Ada Stapley. Both are 80 years of age.

Mr. Carr has lived a varied and full life and with his son still operates the 200 acre farm. But he does it with modern machinery such as tractors, hay baler and combine. "I wouldn't want to do it by hand like we used to," he says.

WAS CHEESEMAKER

A former cheesemaker, Mr. Carr was making cheese at Havelock back in 1905 when he and his bride were married.

"I made 14 cheese the day I was married," he recalled. "Then I boarded the train for Stirling and was married that night."

He finished the season as cheesemaker, then turned to railroading. He fired for three years on the Madoc-Belleville run, a run which in those days called for two round trips daily.

Today the Madoc - Belleville train operates only twice a week. When he was classed as an engineer, Mr. Carr was transferred to Lindsay and worked out of that center for several years.

RETURNS TO FARMING

Then the call of the land was too strong and he returned to farming about 40 years ago.

The couple was married at the parsonage at West Huntingdon by the late Rev. E. E. Howard, father of Dr. Bert Howard, former principal of Albert College.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Carr have taken an active part in church work and in the affairs of the community. Mr. Carr for 23 years was superintendent of his Sunday School and has been 40 years a Sunday School teacher, a position which he still retains. Occasionally he acts as lay minister, filling in for the regular pastor. Mrs. Carr, at one time also taught a Sunday School class, and is a member of the WMS and W.A. SERVED ON COUNCIL

Besides his farm work and interest in the church, Mr. Carr has also found time for municipal affairs. For three years he was deputy warden of his township, attending the regular sessions of the county council.

Since 1941 he has been president and secretary-treasurer of Evergreen cheese factory, was the last president of the old Belleville Cheese Board and the first president of the present Belleville Cheese Exchange.

On top of all this he still has time for hobbies. One of these is woodworking and carpentry, extra curricular occupation which recently netted Mrs. Carr a new kitchen with professionally styled kitchen cupboards.

HAS 60 OLD GUNS

The other hobby is the collection of old guns of which Mr. Carr has about 60, some dating back for 300 years. The walls of the Carr farmhouse den are decorated with superbly finished guns of all vintage, including flintlocks, duelling pistols and more modern guns.

The Rawdon township farmer has also been interested in education and has acted as director, president and vice-president of the Ontario Rural Trustees and Ratepayers' Association. He is a member of No. 300 Orange Lodge at West Huntingdon.

Mr. and Mrs. Carr have four children. Mrs. Adam (Iola) Brummell, lives at RR 7, Belleville; Mrs. Ellick (Pearl) Brummell, lives at Norwood, and Mrs. Leslie (Leah) McKeown, resides at Foxboro, while their son, Elvin, assists on the farm. There are eight grandchildren.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

THE OVERWEIGHT TEEN-AGER

In nine cases out of ten it isn't what the "chubby" teen-ager eats at her regular meals that puts on the weight. It's what she eats between meals. Most mothers try to give their youngsters a well balanced diet and most mothers, being weight-conscious themselves, try to keep their budding glamour girls from eating too much pastry, pie, fried foods and other high-calorie vittles. But what daughter does in the hours between those well-balanced meals in something else again.

Chocolate sodas and other fancy ice cream concoctions, soft drinks, peanuts, popcorn and cookies shared with the gang at the cokes bar seem irresistible and, besides, there's the fun of doing what everyone else does and in an atmosphere of young and carefree gaiety at that. So how is mother to counteract the influence?

It takes patience, of course. But, most of all, the wise mother will make her greatest appeal to her daughter's vanity. There isn't much use in telling a teen-ager that overweight is injurious to health since she is so buoyant with health and so filled with the zest for living that she cannot possibly visualize a period in her life when she will not feel as she does today. Nor can she visualize a time in her future when she will suffer ill effects as a result of too much poundage. Youth lives in the present, not in the future.

The idea, then, is to stress daughter's looks TODAY. If she is overweight, make it a point to take her shopping with you and look at all the prettiest frocks you can find in the size she ought to be wearing. Make her try them on and when she finds that buttons and holes won't meet, zippers go only half way up and waistlines are way out of kilter, it won't take her long to get the idea. Do not buy the dress in a larger size just because she adores it, but promise her that when she has taken off the required number of pounds you will buy the smaller size for her. This is an incentive that is bound to make an impression.

But that is only the beginning. From there on, make it a point to help her lose weight. Get an official calorie counting chart and point out to her the foods which are adding to her weight and then give her ideas for substitutes which she

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOUR SON HAS RIGHTS, TOO

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

My wife and I have a problem concerning our son, aged 20, who attends college out of the city. He has completed three years.

Two years ago, he met a girl who is 18, and at that time we warned him about becoming involved in anything serious until he has graduated. However, he has paid no attention to this, taking every chance he could get to be with her, and in vacation times, seeing her six days a week. Up until this summer, all this has been at our expense, but this year he holds his first summer job, and takes her out every night, which is a heavy drain on his finances.

I have been suffering from a heart condition and have been unable to work for the past nine months, although during this period I have received my full salary. In addition, my wife faces surgery in the near future. It has been our life's ambition for our son to have a college education, but when he finishes next June, our funds will be exhausted and our future seems uncertain. We fully understand that he cannot help us financially while in college, but we do feel that he might show some understanding of our situation.

He is a good boy, and a scholar, and never gave us any trouble until this girl came into the picture. We realize it is normal for a boy, at 20, to go on dates, and we have consented to his bringing her to the house and have always been nice to her. But we do object to his getting involved seriously at his age, and under the present home circumstances—W.P.

Dear W.P.: Frankly, I can't help wondering if the attitude you and your wife are taking toward this boy is not being responsible for much of your trouble.

Take the matter of his reluctance to spend time with you. The impression he has is that you are not interested in him. He will enjoy as well and which won't add pounds. Try to get her to have a glass of orange juice instead of a chocolate soda when she's with the gang in the afternoon. She'll have just as much fun sipping that and she'll get to love it, too. Teach her to substitute a piece of fresh fruit for cookies or cake; carrot sticks or celery for peanuts and popcorn. In time she'll be so pleased with her figure that she'll completely lose her old habits—and not only look better but feel better, also has rights.

pression I get from what you say is that you have almost certainly been too demanding; have made him feel that you have a right to expect him to spend evenings with you and that it is his duty to do so. Such an attitude never makes any son or daughter feel any real desire to be with their parents. Instead, it makes them resent any attempt to force them into it.

Again, you say you think you should get some understanding from your son. But do you, on your side, give him real understanding? If you did, he would probably enjoy spending some of his evenings with you. Somehow I have a feeling that, instead of understanding, what he gets from you is a sort of martyred patience; that you want to make it very clear to him that you strongly disapprove his friendship with the girl and are just putting up with it because you see no alternative.

It's only natural that, with your own illness and your wife's, you should feel insecure about the future. But you say that your son is "a good boy," and so I do not believe that he would ever really let you down. Do you?

And don't you think you're doing too much advance worrying? After all, the time has not yet come when your funds are exhausted, and since you work for such a generous employer, who has already paid you full salary during nine months of illness, it seems unlikely that you would be thrown out of work suddenly and permanently, with no provision whatever for your future.

So, first, I suggest that you take a different attitude toward your son. Accept the fact that young people of his age do fall in love and want to marry even though their elders may think they should wait, and don't try to talk him out of it.

Second, have confidence that he will take whatever responsibility may develop in the future in regard to your needs. The more you show him that you have this confidence in him, the more he will want to show you that your confidence is justified.

Above all, never make him feel that he "owes" you anything, either for what you have done for him, including his college education, or just because you are his parents. Actually he does not "owe" you a thing, for you, as parents, are just as responsible for his well-being, until he is able to stand on his own feet, as you feel he ought to be for years when you are no longer able to stand on your own.

Give the lad a break. Give him the assurance that you love and trust and are proud of him. I am quite sure that he, in turn, will do the right thing by you, if you are fair enough to remember that he also has rights.

Pickling Again

By Mary Moore

What an insatiable crowd of picklers you are.

The great majority of your letters just now are either crying for calorie charts and reducing menus, large quantity recipes for wedding receptions or pickles, pickles, pickles.

It's plain to be seen whose conducting this column—and it is not I by a long shot. But the curious is always right—it doesn't matter if I get a persecution complex and have to type this behind the bars of an institution. (Sounds like I do that anyway sometimes.) Okay, my little pretties, all is sweetness and light and here are more of your precious pickle recipes.

PICKLED ONIONS

(A prize recipe)

Six quarts silver-skins or small yellow onions (if using onions you grow yourselves use only after tops have withered). Peel off skins and let stand overnight in brine strong enough to float an egg. In the morning drain and pack loosely in sterilized one-pint sealers. Seal together two quarts malt vinegar and whole pickling spices, allowing 1 tablespoon of spice for each pint of onions. Simmer for ten minutes, then cool. When cool, pour over onions in jars, distributing the spices evenly through the jars. Onions must be covered with vinegar. Seal and store two months before using.

See tomorrow's column for recipe for Mustard Bean Pickle. The following relish recipe comes from Kay S. who sent it to me belatedly in response to a request from Mrs. Alex. M. Since Mrs. Alex. M. wrote I have met her and she gave me two Relish recipes—some of you may remember them—she called them My Own Relish.

SANDWICH RELISH
(Courtesy Kay S.)

Two and one-half lbs. dill-size cucumbers (Kay says: I used larger ones if I have them), 2 medium-sized sweet green peppers, 2 medium-sized sweet red peppers, 1 good-sized hot red pepper, 2 large onions, 1-2 cup salt (coarse, not iodized), 1 tablespoon mustard seed, 1 tablespoon celery seed, 3 cups granulated sugar, 2 cups strong vinegar, 1 cup boiling water. Method—Choose only good firm cucumbers. Wash and scrub well, then dry. Cut into small chunks or dice. Peel onions and cut into chunks. Put these two vegetables through food chopper using fine knife; sprinkle the salt between layers of these ground vegetables in a bowl. Let stand overnight covered. Cut the tops off the peppers, clean out seeds and ribs and wash and drain. Dice these finely. Put sugar, water, vinegar and mustard and celery seeds in kettle and bring to boil, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Boil hard ten minutes. Add all prepared vegetables and bring again to a hard boil, stirring constantly. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal.

Mrs. A. J. N. asked for Raspberry vinegar.

RASPBERRY VINEGAR OR SHRUB

Wash and drain very well 2 quarts fresh raspberries and add 2 cups vinegar and let stand covered in cool place four days. Crush and strain but do not press pulp through sieve or shrub will be cloudy. To each cup of liquid add 1 cup sugar. Boil 20 minutes and pour into sterile bottles and seal. Before serving dilute with ice and water to taste. Of course this may be made without bottling and kept in refrigerator for a week or ten days.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BECKMAN

SHOWER PRESENTS . . . AND THE BUDGET

Dear Mrs. Beckman:

My problem is too-many showers. (And many of my relatives and friends say the same thing, for various reasons, usually budget-trouble.) My son is to be married the last of September, to a lovely and very popular girl. I have already gone to two showers that were given for her, and already I have been invited to three more, and have no idea how many more are to come. I am a widow, have a part-time position, and I have to budget carefully. I wanted to buy them a special article they wanted for their new home, and this wedding present I have paid for. Also I have bought my dress for the wedding. The first shower I went to I gave the bride-to-be a very fine present and a pretty good one too for the second shower. But now I'm really in a dither about giving presents for the showers to come. Do you advise that I find an excuse, not to go to the rest of the showers, and so not have to give a gift? — Mother

No, this I wouldn't advise. Since you are the groom's mother it is very important that you attend all the showers to which you are invited. If you don't attend, there naturally would be "wondering" comments which might well embarrass your son's fiancée (your son too). Use your imagination and ingenuity and find some little inexpensive gifts, some useful kitchen gadget, for example, or a box of paper napkins or attractive paper guest towels. You'll find many suggestions in the five-dime department stores and in the kitchen (and buffet) department of your department stores.

Garfield Weston, Multi-Millionaire, Actively Engaged in Bread War

By ARCH MACKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Toronto-born William Garfield Weston, Britain's master baker, has indicated that more financial deals are in the oven.

The 57-year-old multi-millionaire with business holdings round the world has floated a £5,000,000 loan stock issue designed to continue expansion.

Weston, in whom energy is a main characteristic, is still engaged in his bread war.

It started about two years ago when the £17,000,000 Allied Bakeries, his big holding company, began importing its own flour, much of it from Canada. The idea was to avoid being stuck with any price increase in British-milled flour.

The United Kingdom's two biggest milling combines, Spillers and the Rank flour mills now controlled by J. Arthur Rank of movie fame, reacted to reduced sales by acquiring bakery shops and retail outlets in direct competition with Weston. Both established subsidiaries for that purpose.

And Weston has accelerated his own expansion plans.

BUSINESS EXPANDED
Allied Bakeries has told shareholders that £9,000,000 went into new businesses in the last 16 months. It has told them, too, that it hopes for a larger profit than the £5,500,000 announced for the last financial year.

The financial tussle is by no means the first for the energy-charged Canadian who gained a U.K. toe hold in 1934 with the help of cheap Canadian wheat. He has expanded the one Scottish bakery he acquired then to more than 670 shops and 70 bakeries in Britain alone.

Since 1951, he paid out more than £1,000,000 and over-rode strong breadroom opposition to gain control of Fortnum and Mason. This famous Piccadilly store is London's traditional mart for dispensing caviar, peaches in brandy and the like to customers with high tastes and brimming pocketbooks.

Weston is a quick-moving man of medium height who looks younger than his years. His eyes are keen, his face usually well tanned and his smooth, dark hair is well streaked with grey.

He has come a long way since his arrival in Britain during the First World War as a "very young, pale, wistful sapper" who quit school in Toronto to join up.

"BE AGGRESSIVE"

After expanding his father's small Toronto business, he started here and now is credited with owning more than 90 Canadian bakeries.

Marysville

MARYSVILLE — The community suffered a great loss when Mrs. Hughie McGuinness passed away suddenly in Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston, on Saturday. Her funeral was held Monday morning to Holy Name of Mary Church, where a large number of friends and relatives were present. Sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

Friends of Mrs. J. V. McAuley are pleased to know she is much improved after her recent operation.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. Whalen on the arrival of a baby boy.

A number of residents motored to Deseronto Saturday evening to see Miss Betty Berry reach shore, after swimming from Picton to Deseronto.

Mrs. J. V. Walsh and daughters, Mary and Monica, Belleville, were Sunday callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Doyle and family.

grocery and other commodity firms, as well as extensive holdings in the U.K., the United States, Australia and South Africa. He has interests in a shipping company, and owns a British Honduras gold mine and pulp territory.

His motto has been "the aggressive." His big deals, large family—three boys and six girls aged 14 to 32—and largest in promoting Canada-U.K. ties have combined to make him a frequent newspaper topic, though he shies away from personal publicity.

He is noted in the Canadian community as an approachable man for causes he considers worthy. Weston contributions have ranged from a £100,000 wartime cheque to Lord Beaverbrook for 16 Spitfires to financial help for the University of British Columbia rowing crew at the Henley Royal Regatta this year.

A strong family man, he owns large residences in the United States, London and the English countryside.

FIRST RAIN MAKER

Back in the nineties a patent was issued for an irrigating device consisting of a balloon, perforated water pipes... and an active farmer to haul the whole contraption along by its guy ropes.

Today, of course, irrigation is a lot easier proposition. Aluminum irrigation tubing, for instance, can be laid, lifted, moved about with the greatest ease. With it one man can water more land than an army of balloon operators. Shows how lightweight, low-cost aluminum (Canada is the world's most efficient producer of the metal) makes a simple job out of a tough one.

RYLSTONE

Eighth Concert
Draws Good Crowd

RYLSTONE—Another large and appreciative audience gathered at Crowe River Bridge picnic grounds, Sunday night for the eighth open-air concert of the season. The communities of Rylstone and Stanwood supplied the program and Havelock Pipe Band was in attendance playing several numbers at the beginning of the program.

The following are the items on the program: Welcome by Mrs. Ernest Irwin and Mr. Harry Bourne, picnic grounds operator; Scotch music selections by the Havelock Pipe Band; group singing conducted by Mrs. Ernest Irwin, with Mrs. Ellis Jones at the organ; Juniors "God Sees the Little Sparrow" Fall, led by Bonnie Bothwell; intermediate, "Shall We Gather at the River", led by Bob Spencer; seniors "Leaning on the Everlasting Arms", led by Messrs. Aaron Anderson and Murray Melkijohn; and a quartet, "Willie, Willie, Take the Cross" and "Jesus, A Wonderful Friend", sung by Misses Norma Petherick, Anne Reid and Donna and Dorothy Morton; Hawaiian guitar solo, "Guitar Breakdown Boogie" and encore by Joey Dickinson; vocal solo, "Jesus Keep Me Near the Cross" by the Spencer sisters, Patsy and Sherry, accompanied by their aunt, Mrs. Jones; accordion solo "Peg of My Heart" and "On Boden Sea" by Shirley Baker, of Campbellford; vocal solo, by Mrs. Denmore Laine, "The Old Refrain", accompanied by Joyce Rowe at the organ; guitar and vocal duet "Right in the Sight of God" and "He Anchored My Soul in the Haven of Rest" by the sisters, Mrs. Ralph Heath and Mrs. Walter Reid; Hymns on the organ by Piper Bob Spencer, "He Leadeth Me"; "Shall We Gather at the River" and others; Community singing led by Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Rowe, with their daughter, Joyce, as accompanist, "Softly and Tenderly", "I Hear Thy Welcome Voice", and "Take the Name of Jesus, with You"; "God Save The Queen", played by Joey Dickinson on his electric guitar.

The concert next Sunday evening will be the last one of the season and will be "Neighbors' Night", when it is expected to have vocal or instrumental numbers from all the neighboring communities. The Campbellford Citizens' Band will take part. A welcome is extended to all to join in the community singing and listen to the other splendid selections which will be rendered at the concert.

No Concessions For Australia In Next Budget

CANBERRA (Reuters) — Sir Arthur Fadden, Australia's finance minister, Wednesday said in his budget speech that there were "unmistakable signs of active inflation" and no tax concessions would be granted for the 1955-56 financial year.

He also warned that excessive competition for manpower and supplies is challenging the stability of Australia's booming economy. Fadden estimated the total revenue from all sources in 1955-56 would be £1,114,775,000 Australian (over $2,265,700,000) which exceeded last year's figure by $56,000,000. Revenue from taxation was estimated at $988,500,000, an increase of $58,000,000.

The budget provides for a defence expenditure of about £290,000,000, an increase of almost £50,000,000 over the actual expenditure last year.

Excessive Use Of Medical Care Is Criticized

STRATFORD (CP)—The unnecessary use of medical care was criticized at the annual meeting of the Ontario Medical Association's District 2 Wed. The district comprises seven western Ontario counties.

Dr. J. C. Dawson of Peterborough, president-elect of the OMA, told the gathering that the OMA's own prepaid plan, Physicians' Services Inc., is faced with rising costs partially because of over-servicing by some doctors and over-utilization by some patients.

"We must be prepared to accept a reasonable schedule of fees and render only the amount of service adequate for the condition being treated," he said. "The subscriber in turn should demand only the same amount of service as if paying the doctor privately."

Dr. Dawson also criticized the practice of "fee-splitting," pointing out that the OMA, without adequate disciplinary power, had done its best to discourage it by increasing the fee schedule for general practitioners.

Rylstone

RYLSTONE — Cora Reid is in Western Hospital, Toronto, where she underwent a serious operation last week. Her mother, Mrs. Cora Reid, and Mrs. Stella Gibson, are spending a few days in Toronto. Everyone wishes Cora a speedy recovery. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Reid and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stapley motored to Toronto Friday to visit her.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Graham, Keene, were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Petherick and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom McKeown called on her brother-in-law, Merle Spencer, in Belleville General Hospital Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Finch and boys spent the week-end with relatives in Peterborough.

Marilyn Stewart is visiting her cousin, Diane McKeown, 12th line for a few days.

Word was received here Monday of the death of Mrs. Charles Parr (nee Eva Linn), at Miami, Florida. Mrs. Parr often visited her sisters, the late Mrs. Hubert Spencer and the late Mrs. William McKeown, at Rylstone.

Lorne Anderson, Peterborough, spent the week-end with his mother and brother, Mrs. Lily Anderson and Eldon.

Ruth Petherick, Campbellford, spent the week-end at her parents' home.

Margaret Spencer, Peterborough, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Spencer.

Mrs. Joe Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McFarlane, Doris, Norman and Gordon Scott, Marmora, were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Melkejohn and family and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Melkejohn.

Norma Petherick is holidaying with her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Petherick, at Marmora.

Rylstone United Church will hold its anniversary service Sunday evening, September 11 at 7:30 p.m.

French Scouts Incensed By Omission of Translation In Pageant Put on by U.S.

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer
NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont. (CP)—Hell hath no fury, the Boy Scouts of America learned Wednesday night, like a Paris audience scorned.

The scouts of France were not impressed by the "mammoth cast of 1,500" in the American scouts' colorful pageant of "new and old horizons."

Incensed by the omission of a French translation to the narrator's introductions to each of its 19 songs, portraying periods in American history, they chanted in unison:

En Français, en Français (Say it in French, say it in French.)

Of the estimated 13,000 spectators packed into the arena's bleachers and spilled over onto the ground of the amphitheatre, more than half joined in the chanting. It continued on into the acts themselves, making a fiasco of the pageant.

NO NARROW NATIONALISTS

French scouts interviewed said their demand for French was not from narrow nationalism. French was an international language, spoken or at least understood by most of the non-English-speaking scouts. Also, Canada was a bilingual country having English and French as its two official languages. Anti-Americanism played no part. They were protesting "tactlessness."

French-speaking Canadian scouts were not involved. They were on a jamboree-organized tour to Niagara Falls.

Ample notice had been served of the French attitude. Every display presented in the arena this week which did not have a French translation of its narration evoked the same chant. After three or four token choruses it would cease and the display be allowed to proceed.

Wednesday night, the German and Israeli scouts' displays carried French commentaries. The Armenian and Mexican displays occasionally dropped them and where they did the chant went out. The New Zealanders' Maori dancers, introduced only in English, got a token protest.

BOOED AT FINALE

But when the Americans went on the chant grew into a roar. English-speaking persons in the audience could not hear what was going on. At times, during the 45-minute American show, it died out, only to be sparked anew by the next commentary.

The finale was jeered and booed. It was impossible to analyze whether it was by the rest of the audience at the French, or by all at the uncompromisingly patriotic nature of the American spectacle. The cast retired without the faintest smattering of applause.

Robert O. Meinholz of Buffalo N.Y., the producer, indicated the decision to stick to an English commentary was deliberate. He said translation would have slowed the pace.

French observers said it takes no more words to say in French than it does in English.

Dr. Arthur Shuck, chief scout of the United States, told a press conference here Tuesday that English is the only language permitted in American scouting.

Whether that regulation influenced the decision was not known and American officials would not comment.

One thing appeared certain. Tonight's arena show will have bilingual narration. It is by the Canadians.

Another I.R.A. Scare

COLCHESTER, England (AP)—Army and police, wary of another arms raid by Irish Nationalists, launched a widespread search after two unidentified men were reported lurking around an army ammunition dump early today.

Three hours later the search was called off.

The scare was the latest in a flurry of false alarms set off since members of the Irish Republican Army staged an arms raid on an army depot in Reading on Aug. 13.

Argentine Ministers Said to Be Quitting

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters)—The independent morning newspaper Clarin reports that Jeronimo Remorino, Argentine foreign minister, resigned Wednesday night and that two other ministers will also resign.

The report has not been officially confirmed.

FERRY'S FIRST TRIP

ARGENTIA, Nfld. (CP)—A thousand cheering people Wednesday greeted the $14,000 ferry William Carson on her maiden voyage from North Sydney, N.S. The Carson, built for the run to Port aux Basques but routed here temporarily because of harbor difficulties there, made the trip in 18 hours.

Westinghouse Says It Fights For Existence

HAMILTON (CP)—Canadian Westinghouse Co. Ltd., says it is fighting for its existence and for the jobs of its employees.

It must wage its fight in a dwindling market in the face of inroads by domestic and foreign competition, it contends.

This was the Westinghouse position presented Wednesday before a conciliation board as the company opposed a union proposal for an eight-cent-an-hour increase which would bring the average earnings of men in its three Hamilton plants to $2 an hour.

Reading of the brief was expected to be completed today.

The company also proposed that the United Electrical Workers (Ind.) try to help wipe out the "staggering and serious" expenses of seniority and incentive wage systems.

SAYS WAGES BURDEN

Company counsel R. V. Hicks and the industrial relations manager, J. W. Henley, said wage rates impose on Westinghouse an extra burden of $2,000,000 a year over its nearest competitor, Canadian General Electric.

The company indicated that, unless changes are made in seniority and piece work rates, it will be forced to consider asking for wage cuts.

Union officials have said they will not consent to any revisions.

The present seniority rule in Hamilton is that during slack times the company must lay off employees on the basis of "last hired, first fired."

Thus if operations were slack in the air brake division, the firm might have to lay off employees in the lamp or electronics division if they were junior. Then the senior air brake workers would be moved into the vacated lamp or electronics jobs.

While the Westinghouse average earnings were $1.92 an hour for men and $1.45 for women, the United States average for radiotube manufacture was $1.63 and for generating equipment $1.86, the company said.

"English and European competitors with their relatively low wage rates have been able to undersell Canadian industries because of the relatively high labor costs prevailing in Canada."

FACTOR IN TRANSFERS

The company said it is "one of the most impractical systems of seniority prevailing in a major Canadian company." It had been a factor in the firm's decision to move its television plant to Brantford, its small motors division to Stratford and its lamp operations to Quebec.

While the Westinghouse average earnings were $1.92 an hour for men and $1.45 for women, the United States average for radiotube manufacture was $1.63 and for generating equipment $1.86, the company said.

"English and European competitors with their relatively low wage rates have been able to undersell Canadian industries because of the relatively high labor costs prevailing in Canada."

U.S. in 'Crusade for Peace' Can Never Accept Russian Wrongs to Men and Nations

--Eisenhower

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—President Eisenhower said Wed. that the United States is on a "crusade for peace" but can never accept Russian wrongs to men and nations in an "eagerness to avoid war."

In an address to the American Bar Association, Eisenhower voiced confidence that the Geneva "summit" conference spells opportunity to advance toward a peace "based on justice and security."

Without naming the Soviet Union, Eisenhower said the division of Germany, the domination of captive countries and the use of international subversion are "violations of the rights of men and nations."

They probably result, he said, from "a compound of suspicions and fear." But "that explains—it cannot excuse."

"In justice to others and to ourselves," he said, "we can never accept those wrongs as a part of the peace that we desire and seek."

At Geneva, Eisenhower said, the American delegation "asserted then—and we shall always hold—that there can be no true peace which involves acceptance of a status quo in which we find injustice to many nations, repression of human beings on a gigantic scale, and with construction efforts paralyzed in many areas by fear."

Geneva spells not stagnation but opportunity—"opportunity for our own people and for people everywhere to realize their just aspirations."

But he warned that eagerness to avoid war can produce agreement to perpetuate into the future the injustices and wrongs of the present.

WOULD ASSURE CONFLICT

"We must not participate in any such false agreement . . . In the judgement of history, we would have sold out the freedom of men for the pottage of a false peace. Moreover, we would assure future conflict."

Still, "we must be quick to understand another's viewpoint, honestly assumed." He said, too, that many of those on the other side of the great East-West split among nations believe "with evident sincerity" that "human goals can be most surely reached by a government of men who rule by decrees, ignoring man as a spiritual being and upholding the all-powerful state as the main source of advancement and progress."

Doctor Outlines Some Causes For Rising Costs

STRATFORD (CP)—Doctors and patients must stop giving and demanding unnecessary care if pre-paid medical plans are to continue to give comprehensive service, the president-elect of the Ontario Medical Association said Wednesday.

Dr. J. C. C. Dawson of Peterborough, in a luncheon address to the annual meeting of district two of the association, said rising costs in hospitalization are due, in part, to over-servicing by doctors and over-utilization by patients.

He said the medical profession in Ontario has played a leading role in the development of health service.

"The profession has expressed its intention to co-operate with government in the development of an acceptable health plan and our efforts will be devoted to advancing proposals that will be in the best interests of public and profession," he added.

Dr. V. Lang of Kitchener was elected district councillor of district two succeeding Dr. J. G. McDermott of Stratford.

MADOC JUNCTION Community Honors Young Couple

MADOC JUNCTION — On Friday evening, some 75 neighbors, friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clarke to honor Mr. and Mrs. William Petherick (nee Gladys Clarke) who were recently married.

Chairs were arranged on the lawn, with outdoor lighting for the program. Mr. Bert Reide acted as chairman and after a brief address called on Miss Joanne Reide for a piano solo. Mr. Francis Lyons showed pictures in color taken of the wedding and reception. Miss Carol Sharpe favored with a solo, with Miss Joanne Reide playing her accompaniment. A humorous reading by Mrs. Frank Smith was greatly enjoyed, after which Miss Donna Stanley contributed a piano solo.

ADDRESSES READ
Mrs. Warren Harlow was then called on to read an address which was signed on behalf of Eggleston Sunday School by Mrs. Bridges, Mrs. Harlow and Mrs. Fitchett. Mrs. Bert Reide presented Gladys with a leather bound Bible for which she graciously expressed her thanks. Gladys had always been faithful in attending Sunday school, and had also assisted as teacher of the primary class.

Another address was read by Mrs. William McMullen and signed on behalf of the community by Mrs. Maurice Clancy and Mrs. William McMullen, extending congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Petherick for a long and happy wedded life. Mrs. Maurice Clancy, Mrs. C. Fitchett, Mrs. Harold Hollinger made the presentation of a lovely tri-light, solid walnut magazine rack and two wall plaques, for which both Mr. and Mrs. Petherick expressed their thanks for the gifts and extended an invitation to one and all to visit them, after they get settled in their new home at Petherick's. All joined in singing "For They are Jolly Good Fellows."

PICTURES SHOWN
Mr. Lyons showed more interesting pictures, also in color, taken when they were on their recent trip to the east coast.

Refreshments of fancy sandwiches, cake, cookies, iced tea and lemonade were then served. Mr. and Mrs. Petherick were the recipients of several lovely individual gifts, for which they thanked their friends.

KILLED IN MIXER
SAN LEANDRO, Calif. (AP)—Robert Tesche, 15, climbed inside a cement mixer Wednesday night and was killed when the machine started up accidentally. A revolving blade killed him almost at once.

Will Put Brake On Optimism Over Geneva Spirit

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times says the Eisenhower administration has reached a policy decision "to put a brake on the optimism created by the Big Four conference last month at Geneva."

That is the meaning of themes in President Eisenhower's speech before the American Bar Association at Philadelphia Wednesday, says a Washington dispatch by James Reston.

The story notes that the speech emphasized that the "spirit of Geneva," if it is to be "genuine and not spurious," must not be used to justify the division of Germany, the enslavement of the satellites or the activities of subversive communism.

The story adds that Eisenhower's theme was agreed upon in the national security council after widespread indications that the "Geneva spirit" was being regarded in some Allied and neutral countries not as a means to a general European settlement, but as an end in itself.

Accordingly, Eisenhower and State Secretary Dulles decided that it was time for a public warning. That warning was that the United States government regarded the more friendly attitude at Geneva as a first step toward the reunification of Germany, the extension of freedoms to the satellites and the abolition of anti-American propaganda by the Communist apparatus.

It now is being made clear in Washington that Eisenhower's speech represents the basis of the instructions Dulles will take to Geneva in October when he meets with the Soviet, British and French foreign ministers. Their task will be to follow up the July meeting of the Big Four heads of government.

Two American experts, Prof. and Mrs. Sheldon Glueck of Harvard law school, told the conference the system, based on research in the United States, is being used with "considerable success" in Britain. Glueck said his "prediction tables" are based on a number of factors, including the affection of children for their parents, and the degree of parental supervision.

Can Pick Out Delinquents
At Age of Six

GENEVA (Reuters) — A system which can pinpoint potential juvenile delinquents at the age of six with up to 90 per cent accuracy was outlined here Wednesday to the United Nations congress on crime prevention and treatment of offenders.

Two American experts, Prof. and Mrs. Sheldon Glueck of Harvard law school, told the conference the system, based on research in the United States, is being used with "considerable success" in Britain. Glueck said his "prediction tables" are based on a number of factors, including the affection of children for their parents, and the degree of parental supervision.

Beer Sampling Survey Brings Fine at Sarnia

SARNIA (CP) — City council took a lively interest last week when a crew of 10 men moved into Sarnia with a load of 128 cases of unlabelled beer to conduct an "independent survey." So did police.

Mrs. Jessie Summerfield pleaded guilty to having illegal possession only by numbers on the bottle tops, or beers "one," "two," and "three."

"I am rather sorry it has been Sarnia."

discontinued," said her counsel, Herbert Netherly. "A lot of us would like to get in on it."

The independent surveyers planned to distribute the bottles to selected samplers who would fill out a form indicating their degree of appreciation for the various types. It was explained.

"A more public spirited approach has been found in other cities," said Mr. Netherly, whose client paid a $100 fine and $5 costs.

SECOND TIME UNLUCKY
WATER HILL, N.Y. (AP)—Police reported that Edmund Sagan, 43, of East Hampton, N.Y., was in a minor collision Monday with a car driven by Dr. David Edwards.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By LLOYD "RED" DORAN
(Belleville Recreational Director)

Sports activities certainly play a big part in the recreation program of Belleville, as it does in most any municipality in Canada. Our commercialized sport, which satisfies the need of the participant and the spectator and the minor sports program for our youth, all help to provide mental, healthful and physical recreation for all concerned.

Each and every one of us has his own recreation, whether it be in the form of a hobby, participating in sport, or as a spectator, reading a book, etc. I wonder how many of us actually stop to ask ourselves, "What is Recreation?" and "Why do we have it?" Recreation is, to me, the spending of your leisure time, without compulsion, without hope of gain, in some pursuit giving the most pleasure and relaxation to the participant.

With the above in mind, we come to think of our minor sports. In any competitive game there must be a "loser," as well as a "winner." We strive to teach a boy the elements of the game, as well as the physical aspects of building healthful bodies. We also try to teach gentlemanly conduct while participating and how to be a good loser.

The latter, I think, when the game is over, should come first in any program, as in many cases the participants are too young to learn the fundamentals. With volunteer assistants, this is done 90 per cent of the time with reflection only on the leader of the group. In Belleville we have over 200 men and women volunteers in the role of coaches, managers, executive members, etc., in charge of our total program and, in most cases they are doing a tremendous job with the youth of our city.

The Belleville Recreation Committee's role in the local sports program is to organize schedules, to supply facilities, to do correspondence and to act in a mediatorial capacity.

In the minor baseball league over 30 volunteers in the capacity of managers, coaches and executive members and umpires are engaged in supervising 328 boys from 9 to 19 years of age. There are six pee-wee, five bantam, four midget teams with one juvenile entry.

In softball—with firemen as coaches and managers, there are two leagues, pee-wee and bantam, with 167 boys participating.

Six hundred boys between the ages of eight and 20 played hockey with six squirt entries, six pee-wee, six bantam, six midget and one juvenile and one junior team. 51 men assisted in the organizational pattern.

In the Bay of Quinte Football Association, 235 boys participated in the bantam and juvenile leagues with 21 volunteers assisting.

With the marble tournament conducted at all primary schools, 652 boys and girls took part with the teachers overseeing this program.

Other than the actual sports program activities under the auspices of the Belleville Recreation Committee include: playgrounds, movies, telephone Santa Claus program, Senior Citizens' Club, Sat-teen Club, Arts and Crafts Club, skating and square dancing for the early teen-age youth.

There were also a number of leadership training courses for playground leaders, square dance instructors, baseball and softball umpires and coaches, arts and crafts, puppet and marionette instructors. A hockey forum was also held.

Playgrounds are the largest project which is solely operated by the committee. This is financed through municipal funds since it would be a too costly venture for any one person or association to finance. Also, because of the day program, it is nearly impossible to prevail upon any person to have volunteer supervision. There are 16 boys and girls employed as playground supervisors on the Belleville playground and there is an average of over 700 children who frequent these parks each day.

With reference to the sports program, and reviewing the comments from some of the association leaders who have had an opportunity to use this column, Belleville ranks near the top in all branches. In the last few years few boys have left the city to pursue their future in the professional sports field, but it is mutually understood here that concentration is on the total number participating. We have every boy participate rather than stressing individual achievement.

A BIG NOISE

Have you ever heard the roar of the mighty Niagara?—the blast of a king-sized atom bomb?—C. D. Tice shouting the praises of the Indians (who hasn't?)—or the ear-splitting howl of an air-raid siren?

Well, if you're one of the lucky persons who has not suffered through these ordeals and wish to remain so, get out of town this Friday night. The resounding blasts that will echo from Memorial Arena will make the above mentioned sound like a kitten purring.

No, no, grandma, we're not starting a third world war or anything like that, just a wrestling match that might be classed as the daddy of all wrestling matches when the Tension duo of Karl Von Schober and Fritz Von Erich attempt to demolish Prince Maiava and he of the bulging biceps, one Doug Hepburn.

The Vons have proven themselves about as popular as Rocky Richard in Maple Leaf Gardens in their previous appearances here but as one of the German giants put it: "We're not out to win a popularity poll, we just want to cop that wrestling decision." And by the way they've worked over some of their early opponents, they don't care how it's done.

All this "modest" sounding off doesn't seem to frighten their honorable opponents in the least, or so Malava remarked while he bounced his rock-hard head off an equally hard brick wall. Hepburn didn't have much to say. He was too busy pulling down forests with his bare hands and breaking the biggest trees into telephone poles over his knee.

Sammy Berg tests his speed and cunning against Pat Fraley in the warm-up bout, while Red Vagnone tangles with Don Lewin in the opener.

Only Gain Split With Orioles As Cleveland and New York Put Away Boston, Detroit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One thing sparked crystal clear today in the foggy American League pennant chase. If the Chicago White Sox could manhandle the pesky Baltimore Orioles the way the other three flag contenders do, they might be leading the loop by four or five games.

As it is, Marty Marion's Chicagoans were knocked out of first place Wednesday when they split a doubleheader with the Orioles for the second day in a row.

Back into the No. 1 spot went the New York Yankees, when Yogi Berra and Mickey Mantle socked back-to-back homers in the ninth inning to defeat the Detroit Tigers 3-2.

Chicago bats rang for 20 hits in the opener as Baltimore was submerged 14-1, but the Orioles came back to grab the nightcap 2-1. The Cleveland Indians evened their two-game series with Boston Red Sox, winning 2-0, while Kansas swept its two-game set with Washington with a 5-0 score.

BROOKS WIDEN GAP

In the National League, Brooklyn widened its first place gap over Milwaukee Braves to 12½ games in a home run display that sank the Chicago Cubs for the second straight day 9-5. The New York Giants squared their two-series by defeating St. Louis Cardinals 4-1, and Pittsburgh Pirates made it two straight over Cincinnati Redlegs 4-2. Milwaukee and Philadelphia were idle.

True, the four-game split with Baltimore left Chicago only half a game out of first place, but those are contests gone into the record book. Had the White Sox swept the series, as Marion had hoped, Chicago would be ruling the roost today by 1½ games.

In the opener Wednesday southpaw Billy Pierce coasted in coping his fourth in a row and 11th of the year. Dave Philley's eighth homer was the lone Baltimore tally.

But Bill Wight scattered nine Chicago hits in the nightcap, and Chicago's sole run came on Sherm Lollar's homer in the ninth, his 15th.

HOMERS IN FIRST

Al Smith slapped his 18th homer in the first inning to get Cleveland away fast against Boston and Frank Sullivan. Bob Avila led off the sixth with his 10th home run. Mike Garcia had to wait to score his, blanketing Ted Williams, the Red Sox hero in Tuesday's win over Cleveland.

Steve Gromek looked like a winner for Detroit as he limited the Yankees to one hit in the seven innings. Al Kaline had blasted a two-run Detroit homer, his 25th, in the first inning off Whitey Ford. But the Yanks, beaten Tuesday by Detroit, got one run back in the eighth on three singles. Berra and Mantle wrapped it up in the ninth, and reliever Bob Grim was credited with the victory.

Arnold Portocarrero engineered the Kansas City whitewash of Washington with a neat three-hitter. Hector Lopez had three singles to bat in three runs, and Vic Power's 16th homer and the fourth for Joe Astroth accounted for the other runs.

HOMERS HELP MEYER

Brooklyn round-trippers, two by Frank Kellert, and the 28th for Roy Campanella and No. 22 for Gil Hodges, made it easy for Russ Meyer to defeat the Cu seven innings. Meyer's 23rd victory in 26 lifetime starts against Chicago.

With 32 games to play, the Dodgers could play only 500 ball, or 16-16, and the Braves with 29 left would have to win 27 to gain even a tie for the pennant.

New York got eight-hit twirling from lefty Don Liddle, and Wayne Terwilliger and Ray Katt poked successive homers in the second inning off Tom Poholsky.

Dick Hall was the star for Pittsburgh as he tossed a six-hitter at Cincinnati and hit a home run, his first.

HECKER SCORES TD

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Norb Hecker, last year with Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four, scored a touchdown and kicked two extra points in a losing cause as Washington Redskins dropped a 17-14 exhibition game to Detroit Lions in a National Football League preseason fixture Wednesday night.

"It's amazing how you found your ball in this rough, Grigby—and especially with it resting on that mushroom!"

London Majors Making Hay While Sun Shines

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Senior Intercounty Baseball League settled down Wednesday night. With three scheduled playing days left, no upsets are likely. London Majors swept Brantford 8-1 to take over fourth and last playoff spot the Red Sox had gained the night before. St. Thomas Elgins clinched third place by downing the tail-end Galt Terriers 3-2.

London meets second place Kitchener Panthers at Kitchener Thursday but since the Panthers have 26 wins to London's 22, the only thing the Majors could accomplish by winning would be to further consolidate their spot over Brantford.

In the Niagara Falls District League Stamford Falls downed Welland 3-1, giving Stamford a 3-1 lead in the semifinals. The Brantford-London game saw the Red Sox held to five hits by left-hander Lew Fisher. An infield hit and two errors in the first inning gave Stamford two hits with London took five of its eight in the eighth.

Brantford's lone run was mustered by Luther Clifford. Big hitters for London were Doug Cossey with three, including a triple, Les Thomas with a triple and a single, and Don McLennan with a two-run homer.

At St. Thomas the Elgins set up their win by crossing two hits into the bottom of the ninth inning. The loss was charged to Terriers' relief hurler, Dan Lewandowski, who was brought in when Jim Martin was ejected for disputing a plate call.

Al Dumouchelle won his 11th ball game for the Elgins. He scattered 10 hits, struck out six and issued no walks.

ONTARIO CHAMPIONS

Bob Celeri, quarterback, (left) and Chester (Cookie) Gilchrist, halfback, are expected to be two leading players this season with Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, defending Ontario Rugby Football Union champions. Coach Harvey Johnson says the team has plenty of backfield strength but needs more power in the line. (CP Photo).

K-W Dutchmen 'Knee Deep' In Talent for Backfield

By LEN TAYLOR

Canadian Press Correspondent

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, defending Ontario Rugby Football Union champions, are "knee deep" in backfield talent for the coming season, but coach Harvey Johnson says he needs a little more line strength.

Despite the loss of halfback Paul Amadio, the ORFU's scoring champion in 1954, Johnson says his backfield is stronger than last season. But his line is a problem. If he can land a couple of good tackles before Dutchmen open the season Aug. 26 at home against Sarnia Imperials, Johnson figures he'll have a better club than last year.

STIFFER OPPOSITION

"We'll have to be better," says Johnson. "Sarnia is loaded this trip and the Beches are likely to come up stronger than a year ago when they gave up a couple of really rugged runs."

Amadio, import half from Kent, Ohio, has taken a high school coaching job at Lorraine, Ohio. But the Dutchmen have added so much backfield talent that Johnson isn't quite sure who'll be suited up for the early games.

The additions include 215-pound line-busting Chester (Cookie) Gilchrist who starred for Sarnia Imperials last season. Gilchrist got a brief trial with the Imps this year but figures he didn't get a fair shake and is raring to get at his old team-mates.

He has looked good in a half-back spot with the Dutchies who can remember some long runs he pulled off against them in 1954.

ACE QUARTERBACK

Heart of the team once more is quarterback Bob Celeri, the former NFL star from California. Celeri proved himself a genuine triple-threat quarterback last year and won second team all-eastern rating.

He has been passing and kicking in mid-season form in recent workouts and there aren't too many men who can beat him in a down-field sprint.

One player who is expected to fill the hole left by the departure of Amadio is Canadian Billy Graham who was on the Hamilton Tiger-Cat roster all last season but saw little or no action. Graham is a bit on the small side but seems durable.

Another top prospect is Ed Learn 19-year-old Welland high school grad, who has been sent down by Edmonton Eskimos. He is a half-back but also plays quarterback and may take a turn at understudy Celeri.

DRIVING HALFBACKS

Much of the offensive burden will be carried by a couple of home-brew halves, Bobby Kuntz and Carl Totke. Kuntz, a 175-pounder who packs tremendous drive, turned down offers from Edmonton and Hamilton to stay here where he works in his father's business. Totke, one of the most versatile men on the club, is learning all the backfield spots and quarterback, and may take a turn at offensive end.

Billy Tenebusso, a Guelph boy playing his second senior year, has been driving with a lot of power. The Dutchies are well set at full-back with Steve Fochuk and Blake Taylor, a couple of 210-pound hefty who can travel.

Johnson's concern about his line probably stems from the lack of experience of some of his new men. The Dutchmen have lost three of their 1954 squad to the Edmonton Eskimos—guards Mike Vulcan and Roy Stevenson and tackle Jack Lamb.

HOMEBREWS HELP

For replacements they have a couple of big homebrews from the K-W junior club, Ed Bowman and Ed Bishop, 235-pound Bob Butters from Hamilton, and 210 - pound guard Hal Krebs from Edmonton. Jay Fry, U.S. import here for his third season, remains as line coach and two-way tackle.

Another newcomer is centre Hank Sandos, former Galt college player who was first-string with Queens a few years back. Returnees include centre Jim Hart, guards Pete McIntyre, Merce Coulter, and Huck O'Connell; tackles John Jannelle, Punc Ellis, Don Thayer and Al Finch.

The Dutchmen are well set up for ends including Jerry MacTaggart, ORFU all-star.

Addition of 1,100 seats on the main stand has increased the capacity of the Dutchmen's home park to more than 5,000. Season ticket sales passed last year's total 10 days before the league opener and may run to 1,200 or more compared to 800 last year.

Prices are the same, with a $2 top for more than half the seats. The club budget is about the same as a year ago, an approximate $30,000. Only the imports are paid more than token amounts.

Buffalo Fans Viewed Some Fancy Hurling

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ossie Van Brabant, off and on this season in the International League, flashed a spectacular 12-strikeout performance Wednesday night to help Columbus snap its four-game losing streak with a 7-1 victory over the Syracuse Chiefs.

The fans at Buffalo also saw some fancy pitching as the Bisons and Montreal's Royals swapped shutouts in a doubleheader. The Royals ended a four-game tailspin winning the nightcap 6-0, after Syracuse had corralled its fifth straight in the opener 3-0.

League-leading Toronto, still in front by ½ game as a result of Montreal's split, Richmond, Rochester, and Havana were not scheduled.

SULLIVAN HITS 28TH

The Jets backed Van Brabant with a 12-hit attack against Thornton Kipper and two relievers. A four-run rally in the fifth was enough to win it, but Russ Sullivan added a home run in the eighth—his 28th.

Sullivan, in fact, has been hitting home runs at an amazing pace. Not on the Columbus roster at the beginning of the season, the 29-year-old outfielder is giving Rocky Nelson a good run for league honors although he has appeared in 31 fewer games than the Montreal slugger.

Nelson had one of the four hits off Ben Flowers in the first game against Syracuse — a two-bagger. But Flowers was untouchable in the clutch, allowing only two Royals to get as far as third. Wade Browning allowed only five safeties, but wildness and Jay Porter's two-run double proved his undoing.

Bobby Wilson and Clyde Parris got three hits apiece and Nelson and Gino Cimoli each had a pair as the Royals lowered the boom on Dick Marlowe. Glenn Cox scattered seven Bisons safeties to score his 11th victory against five setbacks.

Experts Expect Arnold Palmer To Pick Up Big Money In $26,800 Canadian Open

By W. R. WHEATLEY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—The biggest money tournament in Canadian golf—the $26,800 Open—gets underway today with a starting field of 132, and the guesses as to the ultimate winner Sunday are reaching figures approaching Summer's par 70.

The field is almost cluttered up with an array of assorted champions, past and current, and whole droves of dark horses.

The presence of the last two winners in the "world" tournament at Chicago, with its $50,000 top and guarantees for $105,000 in exhibitions, has added spice to this tournament, if it ever was lacking.

Julius Boros of Mid-Pines, N. C., "world" winner three weeks ago, has rejoined the pro circuit, and playing along with him in practice rounds Wednesday was the 1953 "world" champ at Tam O'Shanter, Bob Toski of Livingston, N.J.

There is a strong feeling among the galleries, who came out in hundreds Wednesday for a pre-tournament look, that Arnold Palmer, Canadian Open winner at Weston, Ont., last week is still the man to beat.

It was the last pro-circuit victory for Palmer, from Latrobe, Pa., and last year's U.S. amateur titleholder. The convincing way he took the Canadian Open and has been playing in practice rounds at Summer's stamp him as a top choice candidate.

Palmer had about the smartest answer to the question of what score will win this open at Summer's, with top prize of $5,000.

"Let's say anywhere from 265 to 275," he said with a grin.

Few are predicting as low as 265, the winning score shot by Doughty each had 89 and Smith 86.

Argos Snatch Brilliant Back To Strengthen Running Attack

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Argonauts came up Wednesday with the halfback they expect will strengthen their running attack.

J. C. Caroline, a former University of Illinois star, flew in from Los Angeles to play for the Big Four football club.

The 22-year-old, 185-pound Negro player had verbally agreed to terms before flying here and immediately on his arrival team manager Harry Sonshine whisked him away for the formal contract signing.

Salary terms were not announced officially but Sonshine is reported once to have admitted he would be willing to go as high as $15,000 for the Illinois offensive star.

The Argos became desperate for a speedy back and power runner after a three-game western exhibition tour showed their ground attack had to be strengthened if they were to be a serious threat in the Big Four. They won only one of the three pre-season games.

Caroline said he will try to break the Big Four touchdown record of 16, set by halfback Ulysses Curtis of Argos in 1952 and equalled by backfielder Alex Webster of Montreal Alouettes last season.

Caroline scored nine touchdowns for Illinois in 1953, the year he was the top back in the Big Ten. Last season, hampered by a shoulder injury and a weak Illinois team he scored only five touchdowns.

He was declared scholastically ineligible to play for Illinois this year.

The Argos went after him despite the fact he is eligible for the U.S. draft. Caroline said he underwent a U.S. Army medical examination recently and expects to be classified within 90 days.

He said also that he had offers from three Western Interprovincial Football Union clubs — British Columbia Lions, Calgary Stampeder and Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

He has no first name. He was raised by his maternal grandparents. His grandfather's name was James Caroline, so the boy was named J.C. after him.

TRIES STRAIT AGAIN

VICTORIA (CP) — Second attempt to swim the Juan de Fuca strait will be made at 12:30 p.m. today by Pat Russell of Vancouver, who swam 8½ miles toward Port Angeles, Wash., on her June 3 try.

Miss Russell, an 18-year-old University of B.C. student, will be the first of B.C. swimmers hoping to swim the 18 miles this weekend or before the end of August.

Sword-Fishing Boats May Be Used 'For Hire'

GLACE BAY, N.S. (CP)—Sword-fishing boats here may be stripped down and "for hire" signs hung on them—all because of what Arthur Godfrey said at Sydney airport.

The radio and television entertainer casually suggested he would like to try swordfishing in Cape Breton next year, and immediately a group of Glace Bay fishermen said they could strip down their boats for rod and reel sport fishing.

They saw it as a new tourist attraction that might help revive the dwindling industry in Glace Bay.

With only 30 and 40 swordfish being landed daily—compared to 400 about 20 years ago—some veteran fishermen are afraid the small-boat operation is on the way out. But sport fishing could give it new life.

The Glace Bay fleet has dwindled during the last few years because, fishermen say, larger boats from mainland ports can squeeze them out of markets. Once the hub of the Canadian swordfishing fleet, Glace Bay now has only a handful of ships compared to the old days.

But by the pound, swordfish are still a valuable species. With prices varying between 18 and 40 cents a pound, fishermen can still make a good supplementary income from the broadbills which weigh between 200 and 700 pounds, and which last year brought Nova Scotia fishermen $1,082,000. Swordfish steaks retail for about 60 cents a pound.

Harry Lipkus, Glace Bay plant owner, said the sportsman's angle of swordfishing has been discussed several times and a group of fishermen are willing to convert their boats.

May Ask Congress To Change Law On Fingerprinting

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration has about decided to ask Congress to change a law which requires fingerprinting of all non-official visitors to the United States.

The move is shaping up as part of a White House-backed plan to wipe out barriers which might block a broad cultural exchange with Russia and other countries.

Fingerprinting is required under a section of the Walter-McCarran Immigration law.

State and justice department specialists who now favor repealing this provision believe it would demonstrate American readiness to maintain and broaden friendlier East-West relations flowing from the Big Four Geneva meeting.

Coffin's Fate In Judge's Hands

OTTAWA (CP)—The immediate fate of a Gaspé prospector scheduled to be hanged Sept. 23 for the murder of one of three Pennsylvania hunters whose mutilated bodies were found in the Gaspé peninsula bush two years ago is in the hands of Mr. Justice Douglas Abbott.

He reserved decision Tuesday on an application to the Supreme Court of Canada for leave to appeal the murder conviction of Wilbert Coffin, convicted at Percé, Que., Aug. 5, 1954, of murder in the slaying of Richard Lindsey, 17, Lindsey's bear - gnawed remains were found with those of his father, Eugene Lindsey, 47, and Frederick Claar, 17. All three hunters were from Holidayburg, Pa.

Toronto lawyer Arthur Maloney, on Coffin's behalf, spent 4½ of the hearing's six hours detailing argument aimed at showing that the jury, that some evidence admitted was irrelevant and that a defence request for an all-English-speaking jury was denied.

Scout Jamboree Will Break Even Financially

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont. (CP)—The eighth World Scout Jamboree, a $400,000 operation will break even financially, it was stated officially Tuesday.

Fred Finlay, chief executive commissioner of the Boy Scouts' Association of Canada, told a press conference the Canadian association, as host organization, "will come out all right, financially."

The federal government made a grant of $50,000 plus inestimable help in camp engineering and stores, while the Ontario government granted $25,000. Each of the 11,555 scouts attending, including volunteers working on the jamboree staff, paid a registration fee of $30, a total of $334,780.

Little Benny's Notebook

I was talking and arguing with Puds Simkins on his front steps, and Reddy Merly stopped going past, saying, Hello, you 2 munkies.

And he kept on standing there to see if we wanted to make a fit out of it. Which we didn't, me saying, Aw, stop your kidding, and Puds saying, Some of the nicest people are munkies, what's a matter with munkies?

Aw, shut up, Reddy said. And he kept on going, and I said, Darn that darn guy. That's what I say, Puds said. Being a safe time to say it, and I said, Some day he's going to get fresh like that and wish he hadn't.

Sure, some day pretty soon, too, Puds said. Hey, I tell you what. Let's call ourselves the 2 Musketeers and always go around together like 2 polecemen in a polee car, and the next time that guy gets fresh with either one of us, we'll both jump on him together before he knows what hit him, and if we both punch him at the same time we can punch him twice as often as he punches us, he said, and I said, Oh boy, that's a swell idea. Only the trouble is, we can't always be together, so if he catches one of us alone we'll blow a loud whistle through our fingers for the other Musketeer to hear and come running, I said.

Sure, that's how, Puds said. Only the trouble is, you don't know how to whistle through your fingers, and I don't either, he said, and I said, Heck, I didn't think of that. Oh well, we'll think up some other good idea, and while we're thinking it up we'll practice whistling through our fingers, I said.

Being one of the hardest things there is, and the end of the subject for a while.

Moroccan Sultan Blocks Faure's Plans For Peace

Drops Bombshell Into Talks By Refusal to Quit Throne

By JOSEPH E. DYAN
AIX-LES-BAINS, France (AP)—Sultan Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafah dropped a bombshell into the French-Moroccan conference here today with a statement that he does not intend to quit his throne.

The statement was released by the sultan's chief of protocol, Abderrahman el Hajoui, generally regarded as the power behind the Moroccan throne in Rabat. El Hajoui conferred with French ministers this morning, immediately on his arrival here from Rabat.

The sultan's refusal to leave the throne gravely complicates efforts of French Premier Edgar Faure to settle the Moroccan crisis in a deal with Moroccan nationalists who have been demanding Ben Arafah's removal.

DELAYS PLANS
An agreement under which Ben Arafah would leave the throne had been reported by high French officials as all but set.

The statement said: "His majesty the sultan is astonished at the tendentious rumors carried by certain newspapers and press organs as to his supposed intentions."

"His majesty expressly reiterates his formal intention to retain and exercise the divine mission which has been imparted to him and to remain in Rabat among his subjects."

The French and the Nationalists had virtually reached a complete agreement on the terms of a settlement whereby Ben Arafah would be replaced by a "council of the throne," and the government run by a representative coalition.

CLEAN SLATE
The sultan's adamant stand jeopardizes Faure's program because Defence Minister Pierre Koenig is resolutely opposed to the use of force in removing the present sultan. Koenig reflects the views of an important section of the French coalition government in Paris.

Faure's plan also included the removal of French Resident-General Gilbert Grandval to appease diehard French colonialists. The idea was to clean the slate in preparation for giving home rule to the violence-ridden North African protectorate.

"We are making progress," Faure told reporters Thursday night after meeting with leaders of the strongest nationalist faction, the Istiqlal (independence) party.

Faure arranged to meet today with representatives of the French colonialists, a delegation from Morocco's Jewish community and a group of Moslem religious leaders.

The premier's plan was understood to run something like this: 1. Unpopular old Sultan Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafah would retire from the throne he has occupied uncertainly over the last two years since the French ousted his predecessor, Mohammed Ben Youssef.

2. Grandval, sent to Morocco six weeks ago to seek peace, would follow the sultan out of office. The French colonialists charge his "soft" ideas of a compromise with the nationalists caused the North African massacres last weekend in which an estimated 2,000 persons were killed.

3. Ben Youssef, the ex-sultan who has become the focus of nationalist agitation, would be allowed to move from his present place of exile in Madagascar, off East Africa to France. It is believed the Istiqlal would not insist that he be returned to the throne immediately.

4. An interim regency, called the "council of the throne," would be set up to organize a widely representative Moroccan government.

This regime would negotiate with the French for some measure of home rule in the protectorate, which the Europeans have run almost completely.

"You know," confided Nell, "you'd be surprised how many men will be wretched when I marry."

"How many," replied her friend, "are you going to marry?"

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP)—Synopses: The pleasant weather of the past few days is expected to continue over southern Ontario today and most of Saturday, with gradually increasing temperatures. By Sunday evening isolated showers or thunderstorms, expected to develop in central Ontario, to night, will affect most of the province.

TIME IS COMING TO RECONSIDER STAND ON CHINA

Recognition Study Needed Says Pearson

VANCOUVER (CP)—Suggestion that Canada may soon consider the question of diplomatic recognition of Communist China was made here Thursday night by External Affairs Minister Pearson.

Mr. Pearson told the Women's Canadian Club that Canada must in the near future take "another searching look" at the question but that this should not be confused with Canadian approval of the Communist government.

"If and when we take a step of that kind, it would be in our own national interest—not that of Peking's—and for our own national advantage."

The minister said, China's policy has become "less aggressive and less threatening" with improved relations between Russia and the West.

He said Canada is not "rushing into" recognition of Red China. Caution should be exercised about policy changes that would cause controversy at home and with "certain friendly nations."

"I am suggesting, however, that the time is coming—and soon—when we should take another and searching look at the problem; that we should consider it also with those friendly governments with whom we like to act—and wherever possible should act together on matters of national importance."

Although signs of easing tensions should not be greeted with overoptimism, Canada must not demand "positive proof of utter purity from this or any other regime before we consider giving it formal diplomatic recognition."

Wren Refuses To Relinquish Its Life at Sea

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—More than a year ago a tiny wren fell on a freighter's deck 200 miles at sea.

Harry Clausen, carpenter aboard the American President Lines' Shooting Star, fed the famished and exhausted bird.

He put the bird in a cage, but soon allowed it freedom of the ship as the vessel called at Adak, Okinawa, Japan and San Francisco.

In Seattle, Clausen took the wren 25 miles inland and turned it loose. Next morning the bird was pecking at Clausen's cabin door for his morning ration.

The bird can keep going to sea with Clausen as long as it wants.

Mother Alleges Son Beaten Up By Constables

MONTREAL (CP)—An investigation into alleged brutality by two police constables during the arrest of her 19-year-old son was demanded by Mrs. M. McCunn in court Thursday night.

Mrs. McCunn said in a crowded courtroom in suburban Ville LaSalle that she was "afraid to let my children out at night" and asked police chief Joseph Tremblay to instruct his men to use more discretion in the handling of teen-agers.

Her son, Robert, sporting two black eyes, testified constables R. Bourbonnais and G. Deschamps had beaten him up when they arrested him last Friday night for having no lights on his bicycle.

Paris Police Hunting Metal Thief Whose 'Lead' Is Lethal Radium Bomb

PARIS (Reuters)—Police combed Paris with gelger counters today for a death-dealing "bomb" hidden by a scrap-metal thief who thought it was a piece of lead.

The radioactivity of a small radium capsule enclosed within the lead container could kill a man in a few minutes if removed. Even though the lead case it is being death in 18 minutes to anyone standing near it.

The "bomb" disappeared from a factory near Le Bourget airport, where it was used to detect faults in welded metal.

Even if the thief has heard broadcast warnings and left the field, it could still be fatal for a long time to come to anybody who picks it up. The capsule will remain radioactive for another 2,600 years.

One of a cavalcade of old monarchs of the road that will tour Southern Ontario, beginning August 28, is this 1903 one-cylinder Oldsmobile. It will chug along the highways from Niagara Falls to Montreal along with 238 other models ranging in vintage from 1888 to 1923. Oldest is the 1888 De Dion-Bouton, a three-wheeler, open-air model. (Central Press Canadian.)

The Glidden tour will pass through Belleville about 3 p.m., August 31.

Soviet Farm Chiefs Feast On Canadian Turkey, Ham

By HAROLD MORRISON

Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—The Russians open a friendly invasion today of Quebec's Eastern Townships after recovery from a brief, sharp recollection of the Cold War.

Nine Soviet farm chiefs, featuring Canadian turkey, ham and salmon and assured of Canadian co-operation in an exchange of seeds, today move into the rich farming areas south and east of here to learn something of good farming methods that may help boost Soviet food production.

But Soviet farm boss Vladimir Matskevich made clear Thursday that while Russia may be willing to adopt some of the West's food-producing methods, there will be no switch from the collective farming system to free enterprise in the Communist domain.

For the Communists, the collective farming system was best. He told a press conference on arrival at nearby Dorval airport where a sharp reminder of the Cold War came in the form of an anti-Communist demonstration.

Ukrainian organizations distributed leaflets charging the Reds with enslaving 100,000,000 Europeans and warning Canadians the Soviet Union was bent on enslaving the whole world. Anti-Red pickets paraded in front of the airport.

An angry warehouse worker, who declined to give his name, cried the Reds had kept his wife from him for 15 years. She was somewhere behind the Iron Curtain. He had had no word from her.

"They're all bandits. I'd like to kill them."

The Russians looked at him but made no comment. Mr. Matskevich, the federal assistant deputy vich and Soviet Ambassador Dmitri agriculture minister said.

Veto-Free 16-Nation Agency On Atoms-for-Peace Sought

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States wants a veto-free agency controlled by 16 countries to operate the proposed international atoms-for-peace program.

1. The atoms-for-peace agency would be among the 16 members of the agency's governing board. Diplomatic sources here Thursday night disclosed details of the "contending" American plan, which the U.S. delegation to the United Nations has circulated for study and comment to the more than 70 countries in the UN or its specialized agencies.

The U.S. plan will be debated in the General Assembly sessions opening here Sept. 20. Discussion is also expected in the disarmament sub-committee, which resumes meetings here Monday, and in the Big Four foreign ministers' meeting at Geneva in October.

Diplomatic sources gave this outline of the American proposal: 1. The atoms-for-peace agency would buy or receive donations of nuclear materials and sell them at cost to countries needing them.

2. The agency would be a clearing house for information on production and use of nuclear energy.

3. All members of the UN or its specialized agencies could join the agency. Their representatives would form an international atomic energy council.

3. The 16 countries of the governing board would include (a) the four big powers—the U.S., Britain, France, Canada and the Soviet Union; (b) the five other countries now producing atomic raw materials—took no notice of him, though they had stood just 10 feet away and their eyes had turned in his direction.

They remembered, however, that members of the Soviet-Canadian Friendship Society applauded the Russians and threw kisses in their direction.

By chartered bus, the Russians toured Montreal but local folks barely took notice of them. At Mayor Jean Drapeau's office they exchanged expressions of goodwill, but somehow the exchange had no ring of warm friendship.

Some observers suggested language was the barrier. The Russian farmers could speak no English or French. Ambassador Chuvahin tried some words in the French language but the language conquered him and he gave up in despair. Later at dinner he tried again, this time speaking from written notes. He got through without a hitch.

But both sides warmed to the language of food. The burly visitors, dog-fired from a 12,000-mile run of the United States, put away hefty helpings of roast turkey, glazed ham, cold tongue, pale pink salmon, French fries and French pastry.

The barrel-chested, bull-necked Matskevich spoke glowingly of how a continuation of Soviet-Canadian visits may cement relations between the two countries.

S. J. Chagnon, representing the federal government, announced a telegram had been received from Russia proposing an exchange of seeds.

"I want to announce here that you will get full co-operation from the federal assistant deputy vich and Soviet Ambassador Dmitri agriculture minister said."

MOTHER KILLED, TWO WOUNDED IN SHOOTING AFFRAY

Chatham Man Turns Gun on Girl, Self

CHATHAM (CP)—Police said Thursday a 14-year-old girl staggered downstairs with two .45-calibre bullet wounds in her back and neck to a phone booth in a bid to save her parents' lives.

"My father has just shot me and I think he's going to shoot mother and himself," a voice whispered over the phone.

Police and neighbors arrived seconds later. It was too late. Jeanette Gonerman, 14, lay down later she was not seriously hurt.

In an upstairs bedroom her mother, Louella Gonerman, 34, lay dead, shot through the chest.

HEARD QUARREL

The father, Ralph Gonerman, 34, was groaning in a pool of blood in the hallway, with a U.S. Army Colt Automatic pistol close by. His condition was described as "very critical."

Two other children, Gerald, 9, and Paul, 3, came home to find their father lying on the floor.

Neighbors said Louella Gonerman, an attractive young housewife, had been heard to threaten to leave her husband. They said during the last month raised voices often had been heard coming from the neat home on a Veterans Land Act subdivision in Chatham's suburb of Spryfield.

Police said Jeanette phoned her grandparents at Wallaceburg, Mrs. C. A. Henderson across the street, and several others in her panic-stricken bid to save her mother.

All three shots were fired, police said. Two struck Jeanette, two killed her mother, and one entered Gonerman's head.

Gonerman served in the Kent Regiment and later with the Stormont, Glengarry and Highlanders in the Second World War. He was an employee at the International Harvester of Canada Company.

Mrs. Gonerman was the former Louella Henderson. Her mother, Mrs. Mabel Clark, lives at Wallaceburg.

Police said charges are not being considered until Gonerman is available for questioning. He was operated on late Thursday night.

Chief Stronach's official said it was possible he never would regain consciousness.

Police Officers Forbidden To Give Information

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Police chief E. G. Stronach of the troubled London township police force Thursday issued a blanket order forbidding any member of the 15-man force to give information to the press or public.

Another Stronach's order followed his dismissal Monday of Sgt. Arthur Bloyse, second-in-command of the force. The dismissal was opposed by other force members who issued a statement signed by the London Township Police Association asking the chief to reconsider the move.

The chief Thursday told officers in future all statements will be made by himself.

Finds Hubby With Granny, 65, 'Get Younger Woman' Says Wife, 27

NEW YORK (AP)—A tall, willowy, 24-year-old blonde found her 29-year-old husband in another woman's room at 2 a.m.

The fact that the other woman was a 65-year-old grandmother hurt especially.

The wife hit the tiny, grey-haired grandmother over the head with one of the husband's shoes, leading to some bandaging.

The husband, trousers in hand, ran out the back door of the Brooklyn rooming house where all three lived together.

Former Smugglers Of U.S. Cigarettes Find New Racket

Reap 'Fantastic Fortunes' Evading Quebec Sales Tax

MONTREAL (CP)—The Gazette says former smugglers of United States cigarettes, on which duty had not been paid, are reaping in "fantastic fortunes" by running cigarettes and tobacco purchased in Ontario into Quebec province to beat the Quebec sales tax.

The newspaper says the "new dodge" is earning its operators about four cents on a package of well-known brand of cigarettes—the amount by which a package of cigarettes in Ontario undersells one purchased in Quebec.

Cigarettes in this province generally retail for 37 cents a pack. The Gazette says unofficial estimates run the operation into "millions of dollars per month," and quotes police authorities as saying "so far it is all above board and legitimate."

CASE DROPPED

News of the racket came to light Thursday, the story says, after RCMP told of detaining two men and seizing two automobiles with close to 60,000 cigarettes Monday night in Montreal.

"The tip-off had been to RCMP that smugglers of contraband U.S. cigarettes were involved, but when the packs were examined, they proved to be Canadian cigarettes, made in Montreal."

"Then the investigation centred on the probability the cigarettes were stolen. But when sales receipts were shown and each pack of cigarettes proved to be stamped with the regular tax insignia . . . the case was dropped."

The RCMP then was forced to release the men, along with the cars and the cigarettes. "There was apparently no charge on which the men could be held."

Quebec provincial police authorities had "no comment," but the entire affair has been referred to the Quebec tax bureau, the Gazette says it learned.

Secret Models Given Many Trial Flights

TORONTO (CP)—The Avro CF-105, Canada's top-secret, delta-winged interceptor, has been given extensive pre-flight trials in miniature, it was reported Thursday night.

At the suburban Malton plant of the A. V. Roe of Canada Co. Ltd., the scale model has been mounted on the nose of a Nike anti-aircraft missile and fired at supersonic speeds to a point about 15 miles above the earth and then released to fall freely to earth.

Another model, mounted in a wind tunnel at the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratories in Buffalo, has been subjected to straight and level flights at pressures equivalent to nearly 1,000 miles an hour.

The free-flight of the model and its reaction under extreme pressure have been extensively charted and the material made available to engineers who are planning the construction of a proto-type to be completed by the end of 1956.

Wench Edith Is Dizzy Kid In Big Sweat

BALTIMORE (AP)—A telephone circuit on which the Baltimore weather bureau distributes forecasts and other data to newspapers, radio stations, railroads and utility companies carried the following Thursday along with an advisory on hurricane Edith.

"We have a wench called Edith."

"A wench! up a sweat."

"She's a little dizzy kid."

"She has her diapers wet."

"The worry of the weather-men."

"She'll douse us all with dew."

"And bawl her head off."

"Till all her winds are blew."

The weather bureau here said it had received the verse on another circuit but could not determine where it originated.

Charges Mulligan Utilized Union As Whipping Boy

VANCOUVER (CP)—Cross-examination of a detective who charged the police union was being used as "a whipping boy" by the chief was due to resume here today before the Tupper royal commission.

The hearing was made Thursday by Det. Fred Dougherty, president of the City Policemen's Federal Labor Union (FLC), Local 112, to the commission's investigation of charges of corruption and maladministration of the police force.

Det. Dougherty charged that the policies of Chief Walter Mulligan were "archaic to say the least," that he interfered in the marital affairs of the men, was an inconsistent disciplinarian and dominated the three-man board of police commissioners.

He said the chief constable never tried to meet the union executive and discuss terms of working agreements if difficulties arose.

"When this agreement interferes with my running of the force," the detective said the chief told him, "the agreement goes out the window."

Polio Appears On Decline In Past Week

OTTAWA (CP)—Polio appeared to be on the decline in Canada last week, an incomplete report from the health department indicated today.

Figures from all provinces except British Columbia showed 27 reported cases during the week, compared with 55 the week before. Up to Aug. 20 this year 389 cases had been reported, compared with an average of 1,394 for the previous five years. So far this year, 10 deaths have been reported, against 45 for the corresponding time last year.

Ontario had two cases last week, compared with six the week before.

GIVEN YEAR TERM FOR POSSESSION

Clinton Badgley, 147 Pinnacle Street, was handed a sentence of one year definite and six months indeterminate for possession of a stolen 1954 Buick Wildcat motor by Magistrate T. V. Willis in county court yesterday.

Badgley also received six months concurrent on each of two charges of theft of a boat and theft of a fuel tank. Two other charges, theft of a camera and fishing tackle were withdrawn.

Officers who investigated the case were OPP Constable Ivan Tinkens and city police officer Jack Kent.

CITY FIEMEN GIVEN THREE RUNS

City firemen were called out on three minor runs Thursday afternoon and evening.

The department was called to the C.N.R. freight sheds where a platform landing was reported unsafe. Damage was small.

The other two runs were to the Wallbridge Road district for a grass blaze and to Kingston Road for a brush fire.

Miss S. Redner Is Honored

Hastings county councillors expressed their appreciation to Miss S. Redner, clerk in the county clerk-treasurer's office, during their summer session when in recognition of her approaching marriage they presented her with a small purse of money.

During the Thursday afternoon session Miss Redner was called to the council chamber where, on behalf of the councillors, she was presented with the money by Warden James H. Sprackell who assured that she had been a faithful employee during her four years' association with the county.

Surface Treatment of Streets In Bayview Heights Passed By Council on Recorded Vote

City council, by a recorded vote of 11-2, last night approved a contract with the H. J. McFarland Construction Co. for surface treatment of streets in Bayview Heights and passed the by-law necessary to get the work done. The by-law now goes to Mayor Both for his signature.

Passage of the by-law followed two hours of debate between the mayor and public works chairman, Ald. Ben Safe.

Other items of business approved included the plan for sidewalk construction by Hugh Murray Ltd., and the execution and completion of certain deeds between the city and Ernest Jones, Milton and Jack Salz, Clarence McBrien, Harold G. Meagher, Earl B. and Shirley M. Brett, Patrick F. Halloran, Frederick C. Elgie and the YMCA.

Mayor Both opened the meeting by asking public works chairman Safe to explain why invitation bids had been accepted from four companies to surface treat streets in Bayview Heights.

Mr. Safe explained that council had approved a contract with the H. J. McFarland Construction Co. for $5,000 for surface treatment of McDonald Gardens, Hastings Drive, Montgomery Blvd., and Clark Blvd.

"Unless the work is done the money spent on the roads to date will be wasted," said Mr. Safe. "One would think the way I have to fight to get work done that I am on trial."

He explained that bids came in opened from Roads Resurfacing Co., Municipal Spraying and Oiling, Beamish Construction and H. J. McFarland.

"We accepted the lowest tender," said Mr. Safe. "The mayor now says the bids were irregular and then asks that the contract be awarded to the next highest bidder. If the bids are irregular then they should be thrown out. I promise that if the work is not done the people in Bayview Heights will know who held the work up."

Alderman Douglas Moxam then said: "My Mayor, you were at the committee meeting (to discuss the invitation bids) and didn't say they were irregular then."

Alderman Tice wanted to know how much had been spent on the roads to date.

Alderman Safe stated that the city works department had done the work for approximately $5,000 using its own equipment and men after turning down bids of $29,500 from McFarlands and $16,537 from

Surface Treatment of Streets In Bayview Heights Passed By Council on Recorded Vote

Roads Resurfacing Co. Cost of the surface treatment discussed will be $5,000.

"So you are $6,000 less than the lowest bid," said Alderman Tice. "Yes," replied Mr. Safe. "And we used local men on the job."

Mayor Both then referred to a story in The Ontario Intelligencer of July 28th about things said at a meeting on July 28th and comments of Alderman Safe and Hyde about the conduct of the meeting.

"There was no meeting," said His Worship. "To say that I said that no one could address the meeting is not true. There could be nothing further from the truth because there was no meeting of council called. There was not a quorum of members. Alderman Safe and Hyde instigated a meeting to the press that the mayor's actions were unfair. Nothing could be farther from the truth. No one stopped anyone from speaking."

"I have not yet seen specifications of oiling and I have no way to tell how much chips will be placed on Bayview Heights."

READ FROM PAPERS

Mayor Both then read accounts from the Picton Times of reports on some of the work done by the H. J. McFarland Construction Co. and referred to the work done in Bayview Heights by that company last year.

"Not only does he do a very poor job, he uses the city," said Mayor Both. "I ask you, the taxpayers have to give them a deal like that one last year. They won't favor any other deal like that. That is my reason for objecting to this contract."

"If it (the surface treating contract for streets in Bayview Heights) is awarded this company I personally will ask for a full scale investigation by the Municipal Board."

Alderman Safe said, "On July 28th do you deny that you denied anyone the right to speak?"

WENT TO RADIO, PRESS

"You made your statement to the press before you left. I went to the radio and the press the next morning."

Alderman Enos David then said that he thought the contract under discussion was very reasonable and "I see no reason why the city should be concerned. If the engineer is on the job to see we get a good job I say we should get on with it. It shouldn't be necessary to waste council's time. The people didn't elect us to waste time over personalities. Let's get on to more important business."

Alderman Jane Forrester pointed out to the mayor that the minutes of a meeting of May 24th, 1955, record him as recommending no treatment of streets and that his recommendation was defeated 11 to one.

"This matter tonight was settled on July 25th on a recorded vote. We are going over matters which are unnecessary," said Mrs. Forrester.

"On June 6th the city engineer was authorized to call for tenders for oiling the streets. Whether you like it or whether you don't, these are the facts. He was told to call for tenders. On July 28th there was no meeting."

"Are you denying there were two meetings in July?" asked Alderman Gerald Hyde. "Certainly there were two meetings and matters were passed. 'You were here.'"

"I am not here to answer your questions," replied Mayor Both. "Keep quiet."

"Was there a legal meeting of this council on July 25th and were you here?" asked Ald. Hyde. "I move that this committee rise and report," said Alderman Ralph Graham.

"There was a legally constituted meeting of this council on July 25th and this matter approved by a vote of 5-4. Someone in the city hall should have carried out the work."

Acting city clerk A. M. Haggerty then read the by-laws concerning deeds, sidewalks and street surface treatment.

AMENDMENT DEFEATED

An amendment proposed by Alderman William Argue concerning the type of road chips to be used in the work was defeated.

On a recorded vote Alderman David, Forrester, Graham, Langdon, Humphrey, Hyde, Keegan, Moxam, Safe, Smith and Tice voted to award the street surfacing contract to the H. J. McFarland Construction Co. representing were Mayor Both and Ald. Argue.

Under the heading of general business Alderman Forrester asked what progress the city was making toward securing a city manager.

Mayor Both replied that the committee was active but that no report had been prepared. He promised a report later.

Alderman David stated that certain citizens were frustrated by the noise of passing transports and wanted to know what legislation was necessary to curb the noise.

He was assured that the required legislation was already on the statute books and all that was needed was enforcement.

Corps of Navy League Cadets To Be Formed

Old Salt's are getting younger. Lads who want to go down to the sea in ships can start earlier than ever this fall when a corps of Navy League Cadets will be formed locally for boys aged 12 and 13.

Opp. Constable Harry MacKenzie, former commanding officer of RCSCC "Quinte" was appointed chairman of Belleville's Navy League Cadets at a meeting at the Sea Cadet ship Thursday night.

Purpose of the new corps is to provide boys 12 and 13 years of age with mental, moral and physical training through the medium of naval and other instruction with the object of developing principles of patriotism and good citizenship, the instilling of a sense of duty and discipline, self-respect and respect for others.

Recruiting for the new corps is expected to commence in the fall following organizational meetings in co-operation with Navy League officials and Sea Cadet officers.

Members of the corps will be outfitted with a distinctive uniform and will drill at the sea cadet ship and use sea cadet facilities. Graduates of the Navy League Cadets will be in a position to move directly into an active role in the sea cadet corps.

Attending Thursday's meeting were: Commander D. C. Elliott, of Toronto, Commander, Special Branch, Royal Canadian Navy; Dr. Jack Guthrie, president of the Belleville Branch of the Navy League of Canada; Ald. Argue, zone chairman of sea cadets; Capt. John Watson, chairman of the Belleville Sea Cadet Committee; Ross Silver and Robert Lanning, Sea Cadet Committee members; Lieut. Ross Boyce, CO of RCSCC "Quinte" and Sub. Lieut. E. Richards, executive officer.

Police Blotter

Crime appears to have taken a holiday in the city.

City and provincial police reported another quiet watch last night; only routine matters being called to their attention.

Reports of a prowler around Goyer's boatworks on Front St. sent police hurriedly to the scene. A check of the area, however, revealed nothing.

Failure to have a licence plate attached to the rear of his automobile brought a minor charge against Robert White, 86 Station St.

Still Waiting For Explanation

MANITOU, Man. (CP)—George Hees said Thursday night that unless Defence Minister Campney makes a satisfactory explanation of a certain real estate deal then the prime minister has no alternative but to ask him to resign from the cabinet.

The national president of the Progressive Conservative Association spoke at a Conservative meeting in Lisgar constituency.

Mr. Hees said the country still was waiting for Mr. Campney to make a "satisfactory" explanation concerning a real estate deal with the federal government made by a company which lists him as one of its directors.

(Mr. Campney said in a statement issued in Ottawa Aug. 19 that he terminated activities with Come Investments Ltd. of Vancouver in December, 1952, about two years before the company acquired property in Burnaby which had been leased by the previous owner to the federal government as a pest control station. However, because of an "inadvertence" formal notice that he no longer was a company director was not filed until Aug. 8 this year.)

Such an explanation cannot be accepted as satisfactory, Mr. Hees said.

The Ambassador outlined the history of Cyprus over a considerable period to refute Turkey's claim to an interest in the control of that island. By a treaty after the Balkan War of 1913, by the Treaty of Lausanne after the First World War, and by the 1925 Turkish "National Pact," more sacred than even the Turkish constitution, the Turks had renounced all claim to Cyprus, he argued.

Weekly Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP) — Cattle prices were uneven this week at the Ontario public stockyards. Calves were $1 higher. Hogs, sheep and lambs were steady.

The cattle receipts were some 600 head less than last week and some 2,200 head less than the same week in 1954. Receipts from western Canada were 793 head, an increase over last week of 155 head. The westerners were mostly stockers.

Shipments to eastern Canadian slaughterers were slightly heavier at four carloads. There were no exports to the United States.

The improved buying interest in good and choice slaughter cattle which began three weeks ago was continued throughout this week as both local and order buyers were aggressive for the limited numbers offered.

Kinds grading medium down were far more numerous this week than last, however. These grades were purchased at steady rates and a cleanup of slaughter cattle was anticipated. About 300 common and medium stockers were unsold at the close.

Slaughter steers and heifers sold actively with good and choice grades commanding strong prices.

Light receipts of good and choice yearlings were in broad demand and this class showed gains of 50 cents a hundredweight.

Cows and bulls were in narrow demand with the former registering losses of 50 cents to $1 a hundredweight and bulls losing 25 cents a hundredweight.

Prices: Choice steers $20-21 with sales to $21.50 and at least three truckloads of steers weighing 1,000 and slightly under selling at $22; good steers $19-20; mediums $17-19; commons $12-16; good heifers $18-18.50 with a few choice heifers selling at $19; mediums $16-18; choice yearlings $20-22.50 with a few small lots up to $23; good fed yearlings $20.50-21.50; mediums $17-20; cows $12-14 with a few tops to $12.50; good light heifers cows up to $13; canners and cutters down to $7; good heavy bologna bulls mostly $13; with a few heavy holstein bulls at $15.50; common and medium light bulls down to $9.

Replacement cattle: demand for this class was on par with last week with most sales on a steady basis. The bulk of the stockers offered were of common and medium grades with the few good kinds offered selling at $18-18.50. Mediums were $16-17.50 with commons at $12-16.

Call receipts were some 200 head less than last week. Prices showed gains of $1 a hundredweight with good and choice vealers selling at $22-24 with some sales to $24.50. There were a few extreme tops of $25 a hundredweight. Mediums were $12-21 with commons at $10-16. Grass calves sold for slaughter were $10-12 with stock calves selling up to $15.

Hogs went steady with grade A selling at $28.50 with several loads out at $29. Sows were $18.25 dressed while stags were $15 dressed.

Sheep and lambs were about the same as last week and there were no changes in prices. Lambs were $21 a hundredweight for good handweight ewes and wethers. Bucks were discounted $1 a hundredweight. Lambs 100 pounds and over were discounted $2 a hundredweight. Common and medium lambs were $14-18. Good light sheep were generally $8 with common and heavy sheep down to $3.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Industrial and base metal issues repeated their first-hour performance of Thursday in setting new index peaks at the Toronto stock exchange today.

Industrials went ahead on a string of fractional advances. Best demand was for steels. Foods, financial institutions and manufacturers gave moderate support.

Coppers were again the centre of interest among base metals. Opemiska was a feature, shooting up 65 to a high of $8.15 on reports of favorable mine developments, then easing to $7.80, up 30.

There was little movement in uranium. Warrants of both Gunbar and Pronto gained 20.

Western oils improved slightly. A few small gains gave golds a better look.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter prices were unchanged here today.

The egg market was weak with offerings heavy for a poor demand. Quotations, provided by the Dominion department of agriculture, eggs, in fibre cases, graded: A large 59; A medium 56; A small 39; B 38; C 28. Wholesale to retail: A large 64; A medium 61; A small 44; B 43; C 33.

Butter solids: Ontario, first grade, tenderable 58; non-tenderable 57-58; western 58 1/2.

Wives of Union Men to Picket

CHICAGO (AP) — The home of a spirited housewife who has locked out her husband because he is on strike will be picketed today by the wives of union men opposed to her views.

A spokesman for Local 1214, United Auto Workers (CIO), said Thursday the wives of other strikers will picket Mrs. Esther Quigley's home "because they disagree" with her attitude.

Mrs. Quigley's husband, Andrew, is a steward in the local and one of some 450 union members who are striking against the Harrison Sheet Metal Company. Mrs. Quigley, 35, locked her husband out of their home Tuesday and vowed to keep him out until he and the others go back to work. She said she and other wives were for neither the company nor the union, but "we're for the weekly pay cheque."

Toronto Girl Told Swim Entry In Too Late

TORONTO (CP) — Doreen George, 15-year-old Toronto girl who placed 15th in the 25-mile Atlantic City marathon swim in July, applied today to enter the Canadian National Exhibition Lake Ontario swim but was told her entry came too late to be accepted.

George Duthie, CNE sports director, said he reluctantly had to refuse her entry. He said the girl had been mailed an entry form with the rest of the swimmers but it had not been returned by the Aug. 12 deadline.

He said he may appeal to W. A. Harris, CNE president, if Doreen is not allowed to enter.

Refusal to accept a Toronto girl's application on a technicality would be discrimination of the worst kind, he added. Ryder said if the CNE turns Doreen down "we'll put her in anyway."

Ryder coached Marilyn Bell last summer when she became the first person to complete the lake after having been refused permission by CNE executives to make a race of the crossing with Florence Chadwick. Miss Chadwick did not finish.

Marilyn is the only person so far to complete the 32-mile swim.

Reduce Fares In Bid to Get More Passengers

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The deficit-dragging London and Port Stanley Railway Thursday offered Londoners the lowest fare-scale in its history in a last-hour bid to get more passengers for the line.

For eight days, starting Aug. 29, the railway will charge only 25 cents for the 50-mile round trip from London to the lakeside at Port Stanley and back. Officials said the city-owned railway, which normally clears a small profit on its freight traffic, long has shown a loss on passenger service with $1 as the rate for the round-trip.

London railway commissioner J. Stewart Killingsworth said the fare-reduction is designed to give rail-way commissioners some idea of the passenger possibilities of the line. Following an announcement Tuesday that the CNR will not buy the line, London city council asked the railway commission to make a complete survey and come up with a plan of action.

County Councillors Wonder If Madoc-Foxboro Highway Work Will Start This Year

Whether or not construction will get underway this year on the first section of the Madoc-Foxboro road, to be re-built as a road development project, was on the minds of many Hastings county councillors as their annual summer session concluded on Thursday.

Council was told that the profile plans for the first section of the roadway had been received by the county engineer from the Department of Highways and the county would now move to purchase the required property for the right of way.

After the right of way is purchased it is understood the highways department will call tenders for rebuilding of the roadway from Walbridge to a point just south of Molra Lake.

MAINTENANCE WORK HEAVY

The county roads and bridges report read by committee chairman Reeve Harry Morrow, of Sidney, showed that maintenance work this year necessitated by damage from the spring break-up had been the heaviest in the county's history.

In addition to this there had been a heavy program of development road work to be done by the county but paid for by the highways department.

This included the widening of road 13 between Tweed and Stoc; much pavement on Road 3 from Frankford easterly, approximately four and a half miles and regrading and widening a half mile section on the same road between Walbridge and Foxboro.

The work on the Stoc road is about 90 per cent completed with a rock excavation job still to be done by separate contract.

Much paving from Frankford to Walbridge had been completed but final settlement has not been made with the owner for the half mile section yet to be regraded. It was expected settlement would be made soon.

NO LARGE CONSTRUCTION JOBS

Due to the considerable road development work and heavy maintenance program the county road committee had been unable to carry out any larger county construction jobs this year.

A dangerous condition on Road 11 west of Deloro had been remedied, while the grade at the CNR crossing on road 5 east of Foxboro had been reduced to a minimum of five per cent. The Board of Transport and the CNR will pay a portion of the cost of this work. On the Hazards - Queensboro road a right angle corner will be remedied by construction of a long easy curve to eliminate a bad condition at the foot of a hill.

CONFUSION, TOO, IS BIG IN TEXAS

Alley-Oop!

It's like a circus down at Houston, Texas, these days, with conflicting statements flying through the air with as much abandon as competing acrobats at a three-ring show under the big top.

It remained for Mrs. Mary Alley, who started the fuss and feathers, to attempt to bring order out of chaos, but we fear her efforts come a little late.

Monday, Mrs. Alley, a supervisor at an airport restaurant, asked India's ambassador to the United States and his secretary to leave the public dining room and escorted them to a small private dining room.

Tuesday Frank Giber, Houston public relations counsel, said that Mrs. Alley told him she took this action because she thought G. L. Mehta and his companion were Negroes.

Texas law forbids serving Negroes and white people in the same room, but Houston's contract with the United States Government forbids discrimination at the international airport.

Mrs. Alley is quoted by Mr. Giber as saying "the law's law." Nevertheless Mr. Mehta was soon showered with official apologies. He was surprised. Early Wednesday he said that he had not recognized that he was the target of a segregation law but had believed he was being given preferred treatment.

Later Wednesday Mrs. Alley said that this is just what happened, she had recognized Mr. Mehta as an important person and had moved him and his secretary to a private room. One who would be tempted to view this explanation with a very jaundiced eye, were it not for the fact that in Mexico City Mr. Mehta said that when he and his secretary were asked to make the change it was explained that instructions had been issued to show them every courtesy. Mayor Roy Hofheinz of Houston has accepted this view, sending a telegram to Mr. Mehta saying that the charge he had been discriminated against was a misunderstanding and he had really been recognized as an important guest.

This is probably the first time in history that it has been impossible to distinguish between a Jim Crow law and the red carpet treatment.

Even when it comes to creating confusion, Texas is tops.

TOO MUCH UCAAN

FDR was a VIP for whom we had a great deal of respect.

Alas, as in Caesar's time, the evil that men do lives after them, while the good is interred with their bones.

Even the bones of FDR, who started this alphabetical age with NRA and CCC, must have stirred uneasily in their grave when MOUSE appeared on the scene. In fact, unless his ghost had carried the news to the grave of NATO and SEATO, UNRAA and UNESCO, MOUSE may have rattled FDR even more than if he did those of us who have had the benefit of an unceasing course in acclimatization to alphabetical nomenclature, (that's UCAAN for short, of course.)

MOUSE? Oh, that's the new satellite the United States is thinking of hanging in the sky. No, the term was not dreamed up by some scientist with a cat's sense of humor. It stands for Minimum Orbital Satellite of Earth. Don't ask us how that U got in there, unless it stands for Ugh!

THE COMMISSAR AND THE SULTAN

In this land it is the duty of the ruler "to distinguish between his friends and his foes by seeking to discover their secrets and keeping a watch over their every act, however insignificant; indeed, if he can find out where and how each one spends the night and takes his siesta, he should do so."

The reason for this espionage? It is a proof of affection, for the ruler is like a mother to his subjects, although a very suspicious mother.

The penalty? The ruler is advised to change his bed every night.

The land? The USSR? Some Communist satellite? Oh, no, that was any normal kingdom according to an Arabic work of the 9th century, "The Book of the Crown."

But it sounds familiar and this familiarity may reveal how little the world, or part of it, has changed.

CHEERING TOO SOON

The enthusiasm of the British over that two-way flight across the Atlantic seems to be a little premature. The Canberra jet managed to flit from London to New York and back between an early breakfast and a late supper, but it left its passengers little time to spend in New York.

When it is possible to arise at the normal time, eat a leisurely breakfast, rush off to the office in New York and return home, bearing a New York-size pay cheque, to Upper-Tooting-on-the-Thames in time to spend an evening at the Red Lion—then it will be time for Britons to cheer.

Mrs. Beecher Doollittle and Miss Bessie Doollittle have returned home from Lindsay where they were guests at a wedding.

Mr. T. Ed. Ketcheson, city assessor, and Mr. J. H. Haggerty, county treasurer, will attend the convention of the Ontario Municipal Association which will meet in Toronto for three days next week.

Game was sold stores and on the market here years ago; the following is from our file copy at this time in 1885: Wild ducks were offered for sale on the market today at 40 cents per pair.

A privately arranged horse race often took place here years ago. Some of the old timers will remember events such as the following from our file copy at this time in 1885: A match race for $10, a side is to be run at the driving park in the near future between Mr. John Sells' chestnut gelding "Billy" and Mr. James Herring's chestnut mare, "Nell". Half a mile heats, best two in three.

Miss Bernice Haggerty, Church Street, has returned home after spending a few days in Toronto.

The Rev. Charles Bishop, D.D., former principal of Albert College here, has been inducted as pastor of the Melville United Church in Fergus, Ontario.

The Rockefeller Story

(By Victor H. Lavin, in the New York Times)

More than $2,500,000,000 was made available in the last century by John D. Rockefeller and John D. Rockefeller Jr. through their benefactions "to promote the well-being of mankind throughout the world."

This astronomical amount is the first reliable figure of the extent of the Rockefeller philanthropies to be made public. Even the Rockefellerers and those associated with them have no more accurate idea of what has been spent or what is left and they have always encouraged "guesstimates." However, financial sources familiar with the facts and figures said:

"A conservative estimate of what has been expended and what is left in the Rockefeller funds is between $2,500,000,000 and $3,000,000,000. This is on the basis of known contributions by the elder Rockefeller of $800,000,000 and by John D. Rockefeller Jr. of $400,000,000. These, of course, are round figures."

How a total of $1,000,000,000 in contributions has come to equal two or three times that amount is an interesting example of the way money reproduces itself when properly handled.

Most of the Rockefeller gifts were in stocks, principally oil, which yielded much more than the ordinary bank rate of interest.

In 1909 John D. Rockefeller was prepared to start the Rockefeller Foundation with 72,569 shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey, then having a market value of $50,000,000. This is one of the rare instances in which the actual number of shares involved in a Rockefeller benefaction is known. Since 1909 the Standard Oil empire has been dissolved, with Standard of New Jersey stockholders having received shares in more than a score of subsidiaries. A table shows that the 72,569 shares, through stock dividends, splits and increase in share price, would have grown by this time to 1,071,416 shares with a market value on August 5 of $743,130,388.

Of the 1,071,416 shares, 3,330,192 are of Standard Oil of New Jersey. The remainder is stock of 22 other corporations that developed as a result of the 1911 court order dissolving the Standard Oil empire the elder Rockefeller had created.

In addition to the stock gains, the original 72,569 shares have earned over the years more than $200,000,000 in cash dividends and received $20,293,848 in returned capital because of stock splits and relinquishment of property.

Had the $50,000,000 been left in 1909 to accumulate at six per cent, compound interest it would have grown to $724,669 in 1955, $13,605,719 less than the gain in stock value and not counting the nearly $225,000,000 represented by cash dividends and other money.

The foregoing figures show that if the 72,569 shares had been held, but the lesson of the figures just given lies in the way money and security values multiply. In actual fact, Mr. Rockefeller never fulfilled this promise because of difficulties in obtaining a charter such as he felt would have given the foundation free play for its activities.

Four years later he started the foundation, with $50,000,000, but with a total more than three times as large, securities valued at $182,851,000.

Raymond B. Foadick, who was president of the Rockefeller Foundation for 12 years, said that by December 21, 1950, the organization had disposed of $451,528,365, of which $125,713,013 came out of principal and the rest out of income.

In August, 1954, the foundation filed a statement with a Congressional committee reporting:

"By the end of 1953, the foundation has made 30,572 grants, totalling $501,749,878 in expended and authorized appropriations. Its remaining capital funds have a present market value of approximately $1,000,000,000."

What the self-made, careful, shrewd oil magnate had started, his son, John D. Rockefeller Jr., carried on. The son took over the supervision of all the benefactions more than a generation ago.

Now a third generation of Rockefeller is taking hold. They have contributed of their own money liberally, not only to the family institutions but to new projects in which the five boys and one daughter have been interested. The desire for a "chance to be of service" is as strong in the third generation as it was in the first and second.

When the next 30 years will show in the total of Rockefeller benefactions cannot be foretold. But the present record of the third generation indicates that there will be no diminution of interest and activity.

IN THE SUNSHINE

You can do a great deal of valuable and constructive thinking while sitting on the grass away from all traffic, crowds and noise, while watching the clouds pass by above you, each one a masterpiece of silent poetry.

The marvelous and miraculous things in life are the simple ones that are before us so very often, yet without our thought or notice. I recall my first plane ride above the clouds on the way from Toronto to the lake. It looked like a sail through acres of foamy, like pure white cotton. That's all we could see—but it was inspiring!

I have been sitting on the grass in the sunshine today, and what a background of blue sky. Bold looking clouds, tiny ones hurrying to get caught up with the big ones, and the distance a regular city of clouds, looking like cathedrals, an avenue of great structures, and you wonder if Heaven isn't some thing like this. You imagine the grass!

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

Sugar And The Teeth

Ever since the inspired humorist invented the slogan "A Clean Tooth Never Decays"—a fiction which sold a lot of brushes and glorified soap—the dentists have been advising people to brush their teeth morning and night, after each meal or at least every day. They imply that this silly rite will prevent decay of the teeth, although the most zealous toothbrushers in the world have the greatest amount of tooth decay—the American and English peoples. The people who have the least tooth decay never brush their teeth at all—the people of Tristan da Cunha.

The dentists co-operated with the commercial interests by developing and promoting the idea that particles of sugar clinging to the surfaces of the teeth, particularly in crevices between the teeth and at junction of gum and tooth, undergo fermentation by lactic bacilli, which are naturally present in milk and other foods, generating lactic acid, and the acid eats or dissolves the enamel, the beginning of a cavity.

Upon this premise the dentists base their prohibition of eating of sugar and sweets in the diet, particularly the diet of the growing child.

Again everybody's out of step with Brady. Some narrow-gauge dentists dispose of me and my teachings by asking what I know about dentistry. I have to admit I know practically nothing about it, except that I know and appreciate good dentistry when I see it.

It is all right to wash the mouth with plain water, water containing a pinch of soda or (as I prefer) soapy water, whenever you wish. But be adult about it—don't kid yourself that a "powerful" germicide or antiseptic can do anything more than these simple washes will not do.

Perhaps the best prevention of tooth decay is (1) Consume not less than 1½ pints of milk and (2) Eat some unadorned fruit, eating every night.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In an antiquated office building, the elevator was in keeping with the rest of the edifice: ornate, decrepit, joggly. No doubt the government inspected it narrowly each year and duly issued the certificate that permitted its continued operation. But no doubt, too, the government inspector was an old timer, long on the job, a grizzled old boy who had known the grizzled old owner of the building for forty years. And without doubt, on his annual visit, the government inspector paid a long visit in the building's office away up in the attic, and they had a happy hour reminiscing about the old days, when the building was young, and tenanted by famous and long dead financiers, lawyers and operators of mutual benefit societies.

Anyway, what I'm getting at is that the old elevator still clanks and rattles and joggles up and down, and so far has been out of the way of the tenants that some fine day it would crash from the sixth floor and kill ten people. For me, it is always a slightly chilling and thrilling adventure to board it, not unlike boarding a troop transport in wartime.

The most exciting thing about it is that it is often out of order. Once a week, maybe twice a week, you come in the shabby old lobby, with its discolored marble panels and grey tile floor worn into ruts by countless feet, to see the elevator cage sitting there, its criss-cross sliding door closed and locked, the elderly operator, perched on a stool smoking his pipe.

And on the cage hangs the sign: "Power Off."

So you set off up the stairs, wide and stately for the first flight, narrow and steep for the five succeeding stories. On them, you pass various people muttering and gasping.

"Look here," I said to the old boy sitting inside the cage so resigned, "the power isn't off, really isn't off. It's just broken down again. We're waiting for the elevator people to come. But that sign 'Power Off' is the sensible thing to put up. It causes less argument than any other we could think of. It sort of passes the buck."

"Well," said the old boy, removing his pipe, "the power really isn't off. It's just broken down again. We're waiting for the elevator people to come. But that sign 'Power Off' is the sensible thing to put up. It causes less argument than any other we could think of. It sort of passes the buck."

"Look here," I said to the old boy sitting inside the cage so resigned, "the power isn't off, really isn't off. It's just broken down again. We're waiting for the elevator people to come. But that sign 'Power Off' is the sensible thing to put up. It causes less argument than any other we could think of. It sort of passes the buck."

"Well," said the old boy, removing his pipe, "the power really isn't off. It's just broken down again. We're waiting for the elevator people to come. But that sign 'Power Off' is the sensible thing to put up. It causes less argument than any other we could think of. It sort of passes the buck."

"The most exciting thing about it is that it is often out of order. Once a week, maybe twice a week, you come in the shabby old lobby, with its discolored marble panels and grey tile floor worn into ruts by countless feet, to see the elevator cage sitting there, its criss-cross sliding door closed and locked, the elderly operator, perched on a stool smoking his pipe.

And on the cage hangs the sign: "Power Off."

So you set off up the stairs, wide and stately for the first flight, narrow and steep for the five succeeding stories. On them, you pass various people muttering and gasping.

CNE Opens Gates Hoping for New Attendance Mark

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian National Exhibition opens today for a run which may set an attendance record.

Officials of the world's largest annual fair said they hope that before its close Sept. 10 more than 3,000,000 persons will pass through the turnstiles. Last year it established the existing record of 2,800,000.

Today's events at the 77th exhibition were planned as a salute to the eighth World Scout Jamboree at Niagara-on-the-Lake. Thousands of the scouts were expected to be on hand when Lord Rowallan, chief scout, declared the fair officially open for the season.

Many features of this year's exhibition are new. One is the Avenue of the Provinces, a row of arches bearing the coats-of-arms of Canada's provinces. Another is a tall observation tower. The midway is bigger than ever before. The Canadian Arctic is represented by a department of northern affairs exhibit including an igloo of artificial snow and ice.

SWIM WORTH $25,000

This year's butter sculpture recognizes the scout jamboree with a butter statue of the late Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the scouting movement. The work was done by Don Stewart, head of the sculpture department of the Vancouver Art School.

As usual, Canadian farm produce and livestock, competing for prizes, will share the spotlight with the national horse show in which jumpers and hunters will go through their paces.

Ed Sullivan, New York newspaper man and television personality, will be master of ceremonies for the grandstand show. One of the many Canadians taking part in the performances will be Marilyn Bell, 17-year-old swimmer just home from her conquest of the English channel.

A sport highlight will be a swim across Lake Ontario Sept. 6. The $25,000 in prize money has attracted about 40 entrants from many parts of the world.

Ghost Bothers Seamen's Wife

PLYMOUTH, England (AP)—Royal Navy seaman William Hampson was home today from the Mediterranean on emergency leave after hearing that his wife had been bothered by a ghost.

The ghost trouble which has upset Mrs. Hampson so much started two months ago in the Hampson's top floor apartment.

In June, Mrs. Hampson, 29, complained of a voice calling "Betty" and of hands being put on her shoulder and tugging at her dress.

Her husband, flown back from the aircraft carrier Eagle at Malta, added there was "a strange atmosphere" in the two upstairs rooms of the apartment. The family has given up using them.

There have been strange noises in the daytime as well as at night, Hampson reported. Some sounded as if someone was walking heavily across the ceiling.

The local member of Parliament, Conservative Joan Vickers, has been asked to help find new lodgings for the Hampsons.

'Robin Hood of India', Two Henchmen, Policeman Killed

LUCKNOW, India (Reuters)—A robber chieftain who stole from the rich, gave to the poor and ruled 8,000 square miles of forests in four Indian states, has been killed, the government announced Thursday.

Man Singh, the 64-year-old "Robin Hood of India" two of his henchmen and a policeman were killed at Bhind, 200 miles south-east of the Indian capital of New Delhi.

Man Singh, who considered himself a Hindu holy man and secretly visited Hindu shrines, turned out-law after serving 10 years in prison in connection with a killing growing out of a family feud.

TERROR OF RICH

When he emerged from prison he had made and kept a vow to kill every member of the rival family. The surviving member of the rival family was shot to death in 1952. Man Singh, whose gang was said to be the terror of the rich and friend of the poor, was wanted for murder, kidnapping and banditry. A reward of 15,000 rupees ($3,500) had been offered for his capture.

Man Singh distributed money among poor villagers, and won hundreds of allies who protected him against the police. His gang ruthlessly shot police informers.

Disguised as a policeman, he once walked through a police cordon. Another time he dined with two senior government officers, charmed them with his courtly manner, and left without being identified.

Prisoner Flees Police Cruiser Handcuffed

HAMILTON (CP)—A handcuffed prisoner who escaped Thursday from a police cruiser was sought Thursday night for questioning in last week's $4,000 Otterville bank robbery.

Police said a 28-year-old was found sleeping in a car alleged to have been stolen. It was parked on a deserted East Flamboro township road.

He was being transferred from Dundas to Barton street jail in Hamilton when he jumped out of the back seat of the cruiser. A truck was later reported stolen from the district where the escape was made. It was found abandoned and a car was reported stolen near the spot.

Police said the man answers the description of the man wanted in connection with the robbery. They say he also answers the description of the man who forced two housewives in the Delhi district to provide him with food.

PROTEST COLLECTION

HAMILTON (CP)—A committee is going to look into the possibility of collecting garbage off-street once a week. Representatives of a group of restaurants, store and hotel owners told the city's streets and sanitation committee Thursday the present system is unsanitary, inadequate and dangerous to the public.

Smiths Now Largest Clan In Scotland

EDINBURGH (Reuters)—There was bad news for the Macdonalds of Scotland Thursday—they've been swamped by Smiths.

J. G. Kyd, chairman of the Royal Scots Ancestry Society, disclosed that there are 20,000 more Smiths than Macdonalds and the Smiths are the largest clan in Scotland.

The Macdonalds, however, outnumber their old enemies the Campbells by some 10,000. The Campbells are also outnumbered by the Browns, the Wilsons, the Thomsons and the Robertsons.

Overseas Scots are faring well, Kyd reported. The number of people of Scottish blood living in North America is much greater than the present population of Scotland.

Contract Talks Between Parties Are Stalemated

OSHAWA (CP)—Contract negotiations between General Motors of Canada and 16,000 employees are stalemated.

Union representatives Thursday walked out of a bargaining session trying to establish terms for 10,000 workers of Local 222, United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL), employed at the plant here.

Wednesday, George Burt, Canadian director of the UAW, left talks aimed at reaching contract agreement for workers at GM plants in London, Windsor, St. Catharines and Toronto.

Both sides are participating in negotiations while awaiting the report of a provincial conciliation board, from whose sessions last week Burt also walked out.

Labelling the company position "unrealistic and untenable," the union also demanded that all "non-economic" matters be cleared up before wage questions are discussed. Non-economic questions include a union shop, seniority provisions and a company-paid health plan.

Chief among the union demands, however, is the guaranteed annual wage.

The report of Judge J. C. Anderson of Belleville, who headed the three-man conciliation board, will be handed down Sept. 2. The union cannot call a strike until seven more days have elapsed.

Workers at the plant here have given their leaders permission to call a strike at anytime.

CENTRE OPENED

KITCHENER (CP)—A parade Thursday marked the official opening of the $2,000,000 Kitchener Plaza shopping centre.

Firm Accused Of Trying To Bribe Council

TORONTO (CP)—An unidentified Toronto development firm was accused Thursday of attempting to bribe several members of the suburban Scarborough township council and municipal employees in hopes of receiving "favours."

Len W. Stewart, a first-year council member, charged the firm with being responsible for $500 cheques found in sealed envelopes on council members' desks some weeks ago.

He said one Scarborough planning board member has already resigned because of the situation and that the provincial government is investigating the affair.

Most of the councillors have returned the cheques, although one has refused to do so, he said.

The attorney-general's office said council could either appoint a county judge to investigate or present a petition signed by 50 ratepayers asking for a royal commission investigation.

The firm is believed to be one of the largest home-builders in the township.

Weddings

FOSTER-KERR

PICTON—Pink and white glad-doli and ferns decorated the United church at Waverley for the marriage of Janet Catherine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hurlbut Kerr, R.R. 4, Pictou, and Maurice Brydon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dunan Foster, Bloomfield.
The Rev. Stephen Spurrell officiated.

The soloist, Garth McCreary sang "O Promise Me" and "A Wedding Prayer." Mrs. Harry Hicks played traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was lovely in a waltz-length gown featuring a full skirt of nylon tulle over satin, cut on simple lines. The fitted bodice of lace had a scalloped neckline edged with mother-of-pearl and long pointed sleeves.
Her fingertip veil of tulle was held by a coronet of pearls. She wore a string of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom and carried white poms and red roses with stephanotis.

The three attendants were Miss Mildred Ferguson, Kingston, as maid of honor; Mrs. Burton Winter of Toronto and Mrs. William Wensley also of Toronto.
They were similarly dressed in blue waltz-length gowns with tied skirts over net, and fitted strapless bodices with lace jackets.
They wore white poms and carried white poms and red roses with blue net and ribbon.

Mr. Noxon Foster was groom-smen for his brother. Ushers were Messrs. Archie Kerr and Garry
Foster.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's mother chose rose sheer with navy accessories and corsage of white poms caught with blue ribbon. The bridegroom's mother was in royal blue silk with corsage of pink roses. Gladioli in vari-colored shades decorated the home. The bride's table, covered with a lace cloth, had a background of pink and white bells, and was centred with the wedding cake topped by gladioli petals.
Matching gladioli were on either side.

Those who served were, Miss Betty Osborne, Mrs. George Vincent, Mrs. Gerald Miller, Miss Elizabeth Mallory and Miss Varinga Brimley.

The Rev. W. D. Penny was toastmaster.

For travelling to the Adirondacks, the bride donned a black dress with long torso, bouffant skirt, white Peter Pan collar, sleeveless fitted bodice, matching jacket, black and white accessories and corsage of red roses. They will reside at 48 Carden Street
Guelph, Ontario.

Out-of-town guests were present from Avonmore, Camp Borden, Toronto, Montreal, Campbell-ford and Belleville.

STERRITT-MOORE

The first military wedding to be held in St. Barbara's chapel, Pictou, took place Saturday, August 20, at 3 p.m., when Ada Gertrude Moore, became the bride of Staff Sgt. Arthur Sterritt. Bouquets of colored gladioli and mums decorated the altar and white gladioli and green fern were artistically arranged. Rev. W. G.
Hope Swayne performed the ceremony, assisted by A/Chap.
2/Lieut. E. D. Fleming.

Sgt. Major T. Stephenson was organist. The soloist, Miss Helen Cook, Belleville, sang "The Lord's Prayer," "Beloved," and "Because."

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. James Kirkland, the bride was lovely in a white satin gown with a hooped skirt and train. The skirt and bodice which featured long pointed sleeves, were inset with nylon ruching embroidered with a gold thread. A matching headress held her fingertip veil. She carried a spray of yellow roses, yellow mums and lily.

Mr. Charles Phillips, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing blue taffeta under zvyi-cot ogymz. The bridemaid,

Mrs. Walter Halliwell, wore coral brown taffeta under apricot organza. Both carried sprays of yellow mums.

Miss Janie Williams was a sweet flower girl in a white tulle fata ballerina-length gown dotated with Tiffany roses. She wore a white flowered coronet and carried a pink rosebud nosegay.

Sgt. Major S. Holton was best man, and the ushers were Staff
Sgt. B. O. T. Higgins, Staff Sgt.
F. Forsythe, Sgt. "Doc" Dafee and Sgt. L. J. Asseline.

As the happy couple left
St. Barbara's chapel, eight friends of the groom formed a guard of honor making an archway of crossed swords.

The reception was held in the Royal Canadian School of Artillery
Sergeants' Mess, Pictou, which was beautifully decorated

The bride's sister, Mrs.
James Kirkland, wearing a smart slate-blue two-piece dress and matching hat, helped receive the 150 guests. The bride's table, covered with a white linen cloth, was centred with the five-tiered wedding cake, which was later cut with a sword. Around the base of the cake, the bride and her attendants had placed their bouquets. Rev. W. G. Hope Swayne toasted the bride. The bridegroom responded and proposed a toast to the matron of honor. The best man then toasted the bridegroom. The bridegroom's father came from his home in Hazelton, B.C., to be at the wedding.

The bridegroom, the best man and the guard of honor were smart in full dress blues. The ushers wore their summer dress uniform.

The bride left for her honeymoon in the county in a navy blue dress and hat, white gloves, and a purse corsage of red carnations.

The couple will reside in Belleville.

The bride's attendants received rhinestone necklaces, and the flower girl was presented with a mother-of-pearl locket.

The couple were the recipients of many lovely gifts including a beautiful silver service from the members of the Sergeants' Mess.

Guests at the mid-summer military wedding were from, Kitchener, London, Ont.; Toronto;
Ottawa; Montreal; Kingston and Belleville.

INTERNATIONAL DISCUSSIONS

TORONTO (CP)—Global defence and economic advancement affecting Canada, the United Kingdom and the United States will be discussed at a four-day conference next month at the Seigniory Club, Montebello, Que. Leading businessmen, government and education officials from the three countries will attend the conference, to open Sept. 7. It is sponsored by the Canadian Institute of International Affairs (London) and the Council of Foreign Relations (New York).

Mr. and Mrs. Edward (Ted) George Warwick are shown signing the register following their marriage in Christ Church, Belleville. The bride is the former Miss Evelyn Joyce Culloden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Culloden, of Belleville, and the bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Warwick, also of Belleville. (Photo

WARWICK-CULLODEN

A lovely, double-ring wedding was solemnized on Saturday,
August 20, at 2:30 p.m., in Christ Church, Belleville, by Archdeacon J. B. Creegan, rector of the church, before a background of pink and white gladioli, chrysanthemums and baby's breath, when Evelyn Joyce Cullod-en, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Culloden, became the bride of Edward George Warwick, of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Warwick.

"Praise My Soul, the King of Heaven," and "Brother James Air," were rendered by the boys' choir, accompanied by the church organist, Mr. John C. Withers at the console of the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Arthur Culloden, the bride was radiant in an imported gown of Chantilly lace and nylon illusion net, featuring a lily-pointed bodice tapering to the minute waistline, and flowing bouffant skirt enhanced by a lace accent and deep tulle ruching.

The matching jacket of lace was fashioned with small chapel collar and long, tapering sleeves ending in lily-points over the wrists. An embroidered headdress studded with seed pearls and iridescent sequins held her fingertip veil of nylon illusion appliqued with Chantilly lace. She carried a semi-cascade bouquet of Bettier roses, stephanotis, and adiantum fern tied with white satin ribbon.

Miss Shirley Culloden, of Belleville, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, attractively attired in a delicate shade of apple blossom pink, fashioned in full-length of nylon tulle over taffeta with snail bodice emphasize-ing the bouffant skirt over the matching crinoline. A fascinator jacket completed the gown. She wore a matching headress of tulle embroidered with matching sequins, and carried a nosegay of Briarcliffe roses, white pommums and pink asters tied with blue feathered satin ribbon streamers.

The Misses Marion Gibson of Kingston and Margaret Grills of Belleville, wore similar crowns in delicate shades of mint green, with matching nylon net headdresses highlighted with matching iridescent sequins, and carried nosegays of Queen Elizabeth roses, white and yellow pommums mingled with mauve asters, tied with feathered yellow
streamers.

Little Sharon McPherson, cousin of the bride, was a demure flower girl in her floor-length gown of baby blue nylon net fashioned with rows of ruffles on the skirt worn over a matching taffeta crinoline. She wore a matching headress and carried a nosegay of Bouffant roses, white pom mums mingled with pink gladioli florets, and pink feathered satin ribbon.

Master Ronnie Culloden, brother of the bride, was ring-bearer, immaculate in his navy blazer, white trousers, and white bow tie, carrying the white satin cushion bearing the ring.

Mr. Donald Carter of Toronto, attended the bridegroom, while Messrs. Arthur Culloden of Belleville, brother of the bride, and were ushers.

Duane Warren, also of Belleville, the reception was held in Christ church parish hall, where the bride's mother wearing pale blue French lace and nylon net, with navy blue accessories and corsage of Queen Elizabeth roses, received the guests. The bridegroom's mother, gowned in old rose imported lace, with white and navy blue accessories, and corsage of yellow Queen Elizabeth roses, assisted. Mrs. W. McKenzie, of Belleville, and Mrs. J. Culloden, also of Belleville, grandmothers of the bride, were also in the receiving line. Both were gowned in pale blue with white accessories and corsages of red Better-tie roses.

For the wedding trip to Northern Ontario, the bride chose an orchid-mauve ensemble. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Warwick will reside in Nanapanee.

Guests were present from Kingston, Shannonville, Oshawa,
Toronto, London and Detroit.

The bride's gift to her maid of honor, a smoking set; to her maid of honor, a gold wrist watch; to her bridesmaids, jewel boxes; to the flower girl, a silver locket.

The bridegroom's gift to his bride, a gold cross; to his groom-smen, gold cuff links and the pin; to the little ring-bearer, a silver identification bracelet.

The bride, previous to her marriage, was entertained at three miscellaneous showers held by Mrs. Dorothy Kettle, Mrs. Lorne
Uens and Mrs. Al Gardiner and Miss Marg. Grills.

Scottish Nurse Goes to Jungle To Save Tribe

LONDON (Reuters) — A petite, blonde Scottish nurse told Thursday how she single-handedly saved a remote, primitive tribe from extinction deep in the steaming jungles of Malaya.

Margaret Morfyd Young, a 27-year-old Red Cross nurse, told her story after receiving a gold medal for meritorious service awarded by the Sultan of Panhang.

She said she volunteered for the mission last September after she heard that the Che Wong tribe, numbering 56 aborigines, was dying out from disease and malnutrition.

Unarmed and unescorted, she waded through the jungle to her mission. All the time she was there, she said, she lived in a mud hut with the tribal chief, his three wives, six children and a mother-in-law.

In 10 weeks Miss Young who took only a bag full of medicine with her, was able to save the dying tribe. There was not one death while she was there and there have been none since.

Fashion Flashes

Two-faced fashions show up in every collection. Double-faced coat fabrics — several silhouettes with straight front and full flaring back — are noted, as are up-in-front and deep-down-back necklines and lots of half belts in back or front only.
All makes for novelty and interest.

Simply glorious are the evening ensembles that appear in top-flight collections. Cut like a belted overcoat is a beauty in rich brocade, all edges outlined in mink, the lining red velvet and worn with simple sheath dress of pearl satin.

Saturday Is Special Day In Lives of Wealthy Gottliebs

Written For The Canadian Press
By JACK GERAIN

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP)—Saturday,
Aug. 27, is a special day in the lives of wealthy Arthur Gottlieb and his wife, the former Gladys Glad of Ziegfeld Follies fame, who live on a picturesque estate 18 miles northwest of Oshawa.

That's the day they celebrate the seventh anniversary of their wedding, and a seventh anniversary is not to be sneezed at in the turbulent world of Hollywood and Broadway. Mrs. Gottlieb was formerly the wife of the late Mark Hellinger, Broadway columnist, playwright and producer.

Arthur Gottlieb is still active in the business end of the theatre and movies as president of Audio Pictures, producers and distributors of films for television. A movie studio with a big sound-stage is being constructed on the outskirts of Toronto, 30 miles west of here, for Gottlieb and his associates.

A stocky man of medium height, with silvery hair, Gottlieb frequently entertains notables of the theatre and sports world at his luxury estate, Pine Ridge Farm. One regular visitor is world heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano.
When the wedding anniversary was mentioned, Gottlieb said:
"When Gladys and I were married seven years ago, the Broadway wits predicted our marriage was good for no more than six months—they said we were too temperamental."

"Gladys feels like I do about this place. It's really God's country—quiet and secluded and far off the beaten track. Don't get me wrong—we love Broadway, but it is second to our love for Pine Ridge."

He bought the estate 20 years ago and he and his wife spend most of the year there. Gottlieb, who produced some films for the National Film Board of Canada during the Second World War, says Canada "is the most wonderful country in the world."

Sunday School Lesson:

God Making History

By ROY L. SMITH

A recent writer in commenting upon the life of certain college boys, said: "While they were studying history their mates were making it."

It has been one of the chief characteristics of the Jews since the beginning of their life as a people that they have thought of history as something God made. It is precisely at this point that the conflict between Christianity and communism emerges. Karl Marx believed in the economic determinism of history—that all of life roots down in secularism, materialism, things. The Christian believes that life roots down in the will and purposes of God.

GOD USES PAGAN LEADERS

In the midst of their Babylonian exile there came to the throne of Babylon a new emperor—a conqueror from Persia named Cyrus. His brilliant military campaigns and his amazing powers of administration quickly made him the "lord of all the earth," and to the Jews in exile he had all the appearance of a deliverer. Their long-dead prophet Jeremiah had promised them that such a deliverance would occur after 70 years of bondage (Jer. 29:10; 25:12) and the appearance of Cyrus to the throne in celebration of Cyrus' conquest, and declared that the pagan king was the chosen of God. To him it was not surprising, as it is not surprising to the modern Christian, that God might occasionally use a pagan to bring about his great purposes.

CONTINUOUS THREAD

It is said that in all cordage used by the British navy there is a red strand running through, woven into the rope in such a way it can never be extricated except by destroying the cordage itself. In something of the same fashion it can be said that the purposes of God run through life, and no man can remove the divine element and leave anything of life itself.

Humanity has its right to choose between the Marxian philosophy which says that history is all the product of the operation of blind economic law, and the religious philosophy which declares that a divine design is discernable. Let it be said to the credit of the Hebrew people through their entire history covering 3,500 years, that they have accepted and stood loyally by the religious interpretation. And to them, and this interpretation, our Christian civilization is more profoundly indebted than we can estimate.

STILL IN GOD'S HANDS

We forget so quickly and so easily. It was less than 15 years ago that we were fighting a war with our back to the walls. The Germans and Italians were in possession of almost all of Europe, and a large segment of North Africa. The Japanese were in possession of two-thirds of Asia, and were ruling over more than 800,000,000 people. Flushed with victory their forces were defiant and confident.

Then came the battle of the Coral Sea, the victories of allied arms at Alamein, and the landing on the Normandy beaches! Finally there came the collapse of the Berlin bunker in which Hitler had taken refuge, and the surrender of the Japanese on board the battleship Missouri. "Some call it military might; But some of us call it God!" Copyright 1955, by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the United States of America.

DIRECTOR RESIGNS

CHATHAM (CP) — Jack Such, Chatham's recreation director since last December, announced Monday he will relinquish the post Sept. 15 to take up a similar position in Huntsville. In a "personal letter" directed to Chatham citizens, he said Chatham has more recreation facilities than any Ontario city of comparable size but its officials have shown "considerable doubt, lack of interest and misunderstanding" of recreation projects.

Tourist Rush Hits Moscow; Visitors Find City No Paris

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

MOSCOW (AP)—In the last 10 years not a diplomat in Moscow thought he'd live to see the day. But Western embassies now are being pestered—that's the accurate, not the diplomatic word—by tourists from home.

These tourists range from businessmen to sports fans and just sightseers. There are strange sights in these historic streets these days.

A batch of 28 British tourists arrived here Wednesday and checked into the National hotel off Red Square. Then off they went with eyes and camera lenses wide open. They came in just as 1,500 Germans left after witnessing a big international football match the previous weekend.

The tourist schedules call for more parties from Sweden, France, Denmark, Holland and the United States. Norway has some big batches and France is sending 800, expected at Leningrad soon.

What does a tourist do in Moscow? First he lunks for Red Square and the Lenin-Stalin tomb. Then to the big Gum department store across the square. Then he starts roaming and he finds Moscow is no Paris, and if he's like the West Germans who just left he'll be ready to go home right soon.

If he's intent on studying the Soviet Union, however, he'll try for a permit to tour the interior. If he's a U. S. congressman or a senator last he can have lunch with ambassador Charles E. Bohlen. Bohlen usually asks his luncheon guests what they like to do and his answer almost invariably is: "Something nobody else has done before."

That's why the ambassador is beginning to count some grey hairs.

Yes, Moscow ain't what she used to be, and those tourist people who have been dozing over their desks for years are doing some work at last.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By BOYD UPPER

ANYONE FOR TENNIS

The most bitterly fought-over piece of pewter in the world of sport goes up for grabs for the 44th time today as the Aussie kids challenge the United States for the Davis Cup. It is another variation on the same old theme of U.S.-Australia hi-jinks.

The Davis Cup, donated by Dwight F. Davis in 1900 for international tennis competition, has been the most prized tennis trophy in the world since Major C. Wingfield invented the game in 1873. While competition is open to any country in the world only six countries have ever been represented in the challenge, or final, round. Belgium was beaten by Britain in 1904 and Japan was trounced 5-0 by the U.S. in 1921 in their only appearance in the finals. beaten by the U.S.

The British Isles won the mug nine times and lost seven challenges. France won six titles and came close on three other occasions. The rest of the time the Davis Cup finals have been strictly a United States-Australia set-to. There was no competition for the Cup in 1901, from 1915 to 1918 and from 1940 to 1945 when countries were busier battling bullets back and forth than tennis balls. The last time any country other than the United States and Australia took part in the finals

Since World War II the Davis Cup has reposed only in the United States and Australia. Immediately after the war the U.S. retained supreme as big Jack Kramer, tennis' top man, held the Davis Cup team together with a powerful forehead and a booming serve.

The Australians took over in 1949 and kept the mug "Down Under" until last year when the Americans recaptured the basin whose defence begins today. U.S. teams have appeared in 34 of the 44 challenge rounds and won 16 of them. Aussies have been in 23 finals with 12 wins to their credit.

TOO MUCH LOVE

Tennis, an English corruption of the French "tenez" meaning "start to play", was a popular game in France in the Middle Ages until the size of the side beds undermined the government and the integrity of the nobility and the monarch had to ban it. The French version of the game, still played as "court tennis", was adapted for the side lawn by Maj. Wingfield in 1873. In 1874 it had invaded the U.S. via Bermuda in the person of a persistent miss named Mary Ewing Outerbridge, who got a set of racquets and balls past U.S. custom officers. She dragged her brothers into playing with her on the edge of crack of pitch at the Staten Island Cricket and Baseball Club. It is reliably reported that men shielded from the game for years because the constant repetition of the word "love" left a sissified atmosphere hovering over the court.

By 1881 the game had penetrated to the jungles of southern California at which time the eastern seaboard teams formed the United States Lawn Tennis Association to control the rules. California started producing the best players despite the committee room manoeuvring and national championships, underway at Newport, Rhode Island in 1881, were shifted to Forest Hills, N.Y., in 1915, where they have remained ever until now.

Tennis made a big hit with the Aussies, too, and in the Antipodes tennis generates a fervor in the populace akin to the hysteria produced by the World Series, a Notre Dame-anybody football game, the Kentucky Derby and the Indianapolis Speedway championship all rolled into one. The love to fame and fortune in the land of the kangaroo and koola bear runs directly through the centre court in Sydney, Wimbledon and Forest Hills. Any young man in Australia who wants to be an athletic hero plays tennis. The rich crop of crew-cut tennis stars produced in Australia has proven to be the only thing that can seriously challenge U.S. supremacy in tennis.

Last year Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall, the pillars of the Aussie team, were defeated by a combination of Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas. The same four men will spearhead their country's teams this week-end with the Americans favored to retain the cup. Trabert, with the Wimbledon, French and U.S. crowns to his credit this year, is considered the best player in the world at the moment. Lew Hoad, the Aussies' 20-year-old blond bombshell is ranked second with Rosewall, on his record, better than Seixas. Hoad and Rex Hartwig, the Wimbledon doubles champions this year, are expected to cop the doubles match on Saturday.

With Trabert and Seixas, Hoad, Rosewall, Hartwig and about a dozen more Aussie "greenhorns" of 18 or 19 dominating the tennis picture, the Davis Cup competition promises to continue to be a U.S.-Aussie show for another ten years at least.

HITHER AND THITHER

Miss Margaret Slavin, pen in hand, has taken the sports department to task for naming Jim Green, Quinlan Secondary School's top distance runner, a BCI product in story on the Mead Mile run at the Fair. Said miss appeared August 13th in the race preview. The story of the race, in August 16th edition, had Jim coming in from the right direction ... Von and Von makes two, and two is just about too much when the Vons in question are the terrible Teutons, Von Schober and Von Erich, the tag team wrestlers appearing tonight in the Memorial Arena feature. The villainous villains clash with clean-cut, upright, virtuous Prince Maiava and Doug Hepburn, Canada's strongest strong man. In the semi-final Sammy Berg tackles Pat Fraley while in the opener Red Vagnone clashes with Don Lewin.

Rookie Rip Coleman Wins First Game in Crucial Series With Indians by 5-2 Count

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ol' Casey Stengel and rookie Rip Coleman were taking the bows for the New York Yankees today, and whether you love 'em or hate 'em, you've got to admit that when the chips are down the Bronx Bombers usually come through.

Manager Stengel calmly selected Coleman, an almost unknown 24-year-old lefty just up from Denver, to oppose the Indians in the first game of their important three-game series at Cleveland Thursday night. The result was a 5-2 Yankee victory, and New York now rides in first place by 1½ games over Chicago White Sox, who dropped a 6-1 decision to Washington Senators.

Before the game, Cleveland sports headlines called Stengel's mound selection a "shocker" and the Troy, N.Y., southpaw certainly proved the executioner for one night at least. The loss dropped Cleveland two full games behind New York.

SOX, TIGERS SPLIT

More heat was taken off the Yankees when the best fourth place Boston Red Sox could do was a split in a doubleheader with Detroit Tigers. Detroit won the opener 6-1, and Boston grabbed the nightcap 6-4, falling five games behind New York. In the other American League contest the Kansas City Athletics continued the Baltimore Orioles 9-2.

National League action was spotlighted at Ebbets field where the Brooklyn Dodgers were slapped down by the Cincinnati Reds, 8-5 and 6-5. It was the first time the Bums had lost a double bill this year, and coupled with Milwaukee's 3-2 victory over the New York Giants it left the Braves 11 games behind Brooklyn in second place.

Philadelphia nabbed a pair from St. Louis Cardinals 11-9 and 8-3 and the fourth place Phillies are now only a half game behind the struggling Reds. Pittsburgh Pirates edged the Chicago Cubs 2-1. Coleman got into trouble with two away and a run home in the eighth inning. Bob Grim came in and applied the stopper the rest of the way. The Sox' two-run homer was the big blow of the Yankee second inning and Andy Carey contributed one in the sixth. Al Rosen homered for Cleveland in the sixth.

SENATORS WON'T DIE

Washington, in seventh place and beaten 15 times previously by Chicago, refused to play dead as Bob Fortzfield won his third game from the Sox. The Senators struck out Connie Johnson with a four-run fourth inning, and collected 13 hits in all.

Johnny Klippstein gained his third victory over Brooklyn, but had to be relieved with two out in the ninth inning of the opener by Hershel Freeman. Wally Post slammed his 32nd homer in the second inning to get the Reds off in front. In the nightcap Freeman relieved Joe Black in the seventh, and got credit for his fifth victory although he left for a pinchhitter when the Reds scored two runs to break a 4-4 tie in the ninth.

Philadelphia won its sixth straight, overcoming a six-run deficit in the opener. Robin Roberts registered his 21st victory in the opener and Saul Rogovin won the nightcap. It was Del Ennis night, and he celebrated by getting three hits in the opener and a double in the second game. It appeared as if Jim Hearn would beat the Braves, but Milwaukee routed him in the seventh inning with all their runs on three walks and two singles. Warren Spahn tossed a six-hitter at the Giants.

NEW OWNERS WEALTHY

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Sale of the San Diego Padres to a fish canning company Thursday indicated it will be one of the strong clubs financially in the Pacific Coast League. The Westgate-California Tuna Packing Co., new owner, is rated as a $10,000,000 corporation, with an aggressive policy in its own business. Sale of the club by Bill Starr, president for 11 years, and his associates was completed Thursday.

"I warned you not to take too big a lead on this guy. What you thought was a big ch... was the ball!"

OTTAWA TRIO

Chan Caldwell, new Ottawa Rough Riders coach, discusses a play with two of his power men at a pre-season workout of the Big Four Football Club. Canadian end Bobby Simpson (left) is described by Caldwell as one of the best receivers he has seen. Import quarterback Don Bailey from Penn State prepares to catch Simpson's throw. (CP Photo).

'Spoilers' May Be Apt Tag For Ottawa Rough Riders

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The term "spoilers" may be an apt tag to put on the strengthened Ottawa Rough Riders this Big Four football season. They are a hungry crew who may spring some upsets.

In two pre-season exhibitions against western clubs here the Riders showed no particular championship form. But in their 24-17 win over Saskatchewan Roughriders after trailing 16-6 at halftime they displayed ability to come from behind and win. They dropped a close 12-11 decision to Calgary Stampeders in their first outing.

Coach Chan Caldwell, brought from the University of Tennessee to revamp the Ottawa club, said the split-T formation will not commit himself on Riders' chances for a playoff spot.

Riders, league doormats last year with only two wins in 14 games, have a long way to come back.

"Our running attack has got to be better, much better," Caldwell said in an interview.

It's also no secret Caldwell is looking for a quarterback who can throw a long pass. His current pick is Gene Rossi from the University of Cincinnati and Don Bailey from Penn State—can run the ball well and throw short aeryals sharply.

"But we'll be tough, especially if the Canadian boys come through as I expect they will," Caldwell says. "Without good homebreds a club in Canada hasn't a chance."

"CANUCK POTENTIAL"

The apple of his eye among the Canadians on the Ottawa roster is pass-catching end Bobby Simpson and in the same category is half-back Don Pinney, an Ottawa boy being groomed for an offensive half position.

"That Simpson is as good a pass receiver as you'll find in the U.S. National Football League," Caldwell says. "I've seen none better."

Caldwell breaks into a cold sweat each time he thinks of Simpson, 25-year-old native of Windsor, Ont., being interviewed by New York Giants and getting an offer from the NFL club.

"If he had signed with the Giants, I'm sure they would have kept him. It's a lucky thing for me he stayed in Ottawa."

Pinney, who learned his football at Muskingum College in Ohio, was a "standout punt receiver in his rookie year last season."

If I had 16 guys like Simpson and Pinney I'd take them holiday and come back Sept. 3 for the league opener against Montreal Alouettes," Caldwell says.

IMPORT STRENGTH

For a while, the American import traffic was heavy. Thirty-two U.S. players have been around or were signed earlier but did not report for training. Seventeen were still in camp a few days ago. They must be reduced to meet the Big Four's 10-import quota by Sept. 3.

Centre Roy Smith and half Avatus Stone, holdovers from last season, are almost sure to stay. Two other holdovers, guard Kay Vaughan and half Dick Schnable, suffered broken legs early in training. Only Vaughan is expected to be available for play about late September.

The other imports are new to Canadian football. There's little to choose between Bailey, obtained in a trade with Hamilton Tiger-Cats, and Rossi. It may be Caldwell will keep both, using one as a pass-splitter and the other as a running back. Geoff Crain, former McGill star, comes here after two seasons as a utility signal-caller with Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

At guard, Dick Barwegen, a solid linebacker from Baltimore Colts, and Pete Ladygo, from Pittsburgh Steelers, may make it tough for Vaughan to get a lineup.

The tackles in camp are Don King, 275-pound blockbuster from Cleveland Browns and Joe Moss from Washington Redskins.

Hugh (Bones) Taylor, veteran Redskins receiver, is the lone import end.

SPEEDY HALVES

The half line has a fine speedster in Joe Guido from Johnstown College.

Tom (The Bomb) Tracy from Tennessee has the fullback position nailed down.

Caldwell plans to keep 20 of the 21 Canadians now in camp. Apart from Pinney, backfield holdovers are Ed Yablonski, injured early last season, Hank Tanowski, and Doris Kotoff. Back at end with Simpson are John Welton and Bill Sowalski. Returning linemen are Bruno Bitkowski, a centre or defensive end, and Joe Upton.

Newcomers in the backfield are Bob Pinkney from Toronto Varsity, Mike Maruska, Joe Straccina and Karl Hilzinger from Saskatchewan and Chick Paul from Ottawa Second.

New faces on the line are Marv Bevan from Hamilton Juniors, Lukki Daneliuk from Windsor, Sherman Hood, Quebec's University grad and Sam Soccia from Saskatchewan. New ends are Pete Petcoff and Bob McKay from Calgary and Ed Mularchyk from Windsor.

Caldwell says he finds the Canadian game faster than the U.S. brand and he likes it that way, although he thinks it's harder for the coaches to keep ahead of the play.

Like many American coaches in Canada, Caldwell says he would like the rules changed to permit blocking on punt returns and to allow three backfielders to block, along with the linemen, 10 yards beyond the line of scrimmage.

Riders' 1955 budget totals $280,000. The club estimates it needs 14,500 spectators a game at Lansdowne park to break even. Capacity is about 16,400.

There have been price adjustments on tickets, to $1.75 from $1.70 and to $3.50 from $3.40.

Orfuns Hand Kingston Tying Game With Five Errors Losing 2-0 Lead

(By GARY ALEXANDER)

The Belleville Orfuns booted the ball and the game out the window in the fifth and sixth innings last night and ended up on the short end of a 4-2 decision with the Kingston Warren's Orphans. This evening's best-of-three OASA Senior "B" series at one game each with the third scheduled for Kingston on Saturday evening.

With Bobby Green firing excellent ball for the first four frames the Belleville squad took a 2-0 lead with runs in the first and third innings. Two errors paved the way for Kingston's initial tally in the fifth, while a bad error of omission and a glaring throwing miscue plated two Kingston markers in the sixth, giving them a 3-2 lead. They added an insurance tally in the eighth.

Green tossed the first 5 1-3 frames for the local nine, allowing but three hits, one a fluke. He did not allow an earned run, while striking out six and passing five. Bobby Hunter completed the fixture, touched for one run on two hits, whiffing one and walking two.

Stan Scrutton received credit for the Kingston victory, throwing the first six innings. He gave up both Belleville runs on five safeties, fanned four and issued three free passes, one intentional. Don Goodfellow mopped up in the final three frames, allowing two hits, fanning two and walking an equal number.

ERRORS PLAY PART

Errors played a major part in Belleville's scoring plays too. Their first tally came, when White booted Wardhaugh's easy ground ball and "Turk" Barclay beat out a bunt. The runners advanced on a wild pitch and Hull's fly to left brought one home.

Their third-inning marker came with two out. Doug Hull punched a ground ball to second but Aitken couldn't find the handle and Hull ended up on third. John Batchelor drove him in over first base.

Green walked McGeein to open the bottom of the sixth but Greenham hit into a fielder's choice. Doug Hull then bobbled Tinke's infield ball and pulled a repeat on Levandoski to fill the sacks. Batchelor got Scrutton on a fielder's choice but one run scored for a 2-1 score.

THREATENED IN SIXTH

The Moira club threatened in the top of the sixth when Vern Goyer singled and took second on a passed ball. With two out, Scrutton walked Dave Jones intentionally and it paid off when Green fanned.

The trouble started with one down in the bottom of the sixth when "Gabby" White walked and took second on a wild pitch. Don Gilmour then popped a ball between home plate and first. Don Locke came in to take it and at the last minute watched as it fell at his feet for a single. Meanwhile White rushed to third and when Batchelor came in from second, Gilmour tried for the second sack. John Batchelor picked up the ball and fired it high over Hull's head, covering the sack, to the outfield fence allowing both runners to score and giving Kingston a 3-2 lead. They added one in the eighth on two walks and Greenham's single.

Bill Spafford's boys appeared to have something going in the ninth when Barclay walked and Hull hit a shot down the centre. White stepped on second and fired to first for the twin-killing. Batchelor fanned to end the game.

Joe Greenham, Joe Levandoski, "Babe" Stinson, Don Gilmour and Jack McGeein each had a single for the winners.

Doug Hull claimed a double and single for Belleville while Vern Goyer and Don Barclay poked a brace of singles, Barclay's both bunts. Batchelor added a triple.

Lineups: Wardhaugh 3b, Barclay lf, Hull ss, Batchelor 2b, Goyer rf, Carr c, Locke lb, Jones cf, Green p, replaced by Hunter in the sixth.

Kingston: Greenham lf, Tinkess 3b, Levandoski rf, Scrutton p, replaced by Goodfellow in the seventh, Stinson cf, Aitken 2b, White ss, Gilmour lb, McGeein c.

Decision May Cost Bombers Championship

By AL VICKERY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP)—Coach Al Sherman, his Winnipeg Blue Bombers ridden by injuries, made a decision Thursday he said "may well have cost me the league championship."

Sherman told a press conference he had turned down an offer by contract-jumper Bobby Freeman to return to the fold because the former Auburn University quarterback had wanted more money than was offered in the original agreement. He also wanted to sign a new contract.

Freeman and centre Jack Locklear, also from Auburn, signed with Winnipeg last January but failed to report to the Western Interprovincial Football Union club's training camp at Winnipeg instead to Cleveland Browns of the National Football League.

A United States court Aug. 15 granted a preliminary injunction forbidding Freeman and Locklear to play Cleveland as they were Bombers' property.

REFUSED TERMS

Hit by injuries to key players and smarting under two league and two exhibition losses, Bombers sent manager Ed Boivin south to talk to Freeman. They offered to take him back under the original conditions but he refused, saying he wanted more money and a new contract.

"It may well have cost me the league championship. But in all fairness to the players who have been sweating it out, incurring injuries and fighting for positions under the possibility that Freeman might return, I refused to accept his terms," Sherman said.

While Bombers have never announced the terms of their contract with Freeman, Paul Brown, Cleveland coach, said he agreed to pay Freeman $12,000 a year with a $2,000 bonus. Brown also told the court hearing the injunction case that he understood Freeman was to get $7,500 and Locklear $8,000 from Bombers for the 1955 season. Both players received bonuses for signing with Winnipeg.

League Prexy To Probe Charges Of Gambling

MONTREAL (CP)—Frank Shaughnessy, president of the International League, said Thursday night "we certainly don't tolerate gambling and I definitely will investigate" charges of organized gambling in the baseball league.

Shaughnessy was commenting on a newspaper report from Buffalo that betting is a big business in Otterman Stadium, home of the Bisons, and that "the setup also provided outlets to lay off bets in Montreal and Toronto." He said the report, in the Buffalo Courier-Express, is the first he had heard of such allegations.

"I haven't heard anything to indicate there is any truth to the Buffalo story. I don't know where the person who wrote the story got his information—why didn't he first let us know?"

Shaughnessy said he talked with the owners of Toronto Maple Leafs and they confirmed his belief that there is no organized gambling in Maple Leaf Stadium.

"In any event, we certainly don't tolerate gambling in baseball and we certainly will go after the matter," he said he will bring the charges to the attention of Ford Frick, commissioner of baseball.

In Buffalo, Frick told the Courier-Express Thursday night he has no knowledge of professional gamblers operating within ballpark. His office will co-operate with all police agencies to stamp out gambling on baseball in and outside parks.

London Majors Take Firm Hold On Fourth Place

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

London Majors solidified their hold on fourth place in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League Thursday night by shutting out Kitchener Panthers 4-0.

The win left them with a solid hold on the last playoff berth, a game and a half up on Brantford Red Sox.

In the north, Leon Diggs slid home through the dust in the bottom of the ninth to give Coniston Red Sox a 1-0 squeaker over Frodo Tigers. Coniston now leads the Tigers 2-0 in the best-of-seven Nickel-Belt semi-finals.

Niagara Falls Cataracts sprayed hits all over the field to come up with a 12-4 trouncing of Port Erie Horstons in the Niagara District League. The contest, giving the Cataracts a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven finals, was never in doubt after the first three innings when Niagara Falls scored all but one of their runs.

More than 1,300 fans watched right-hander Bob Simpson try for a no-hitter until Kitchener outfielder Don Oberholzer singled to left field with one out in the last of the ninth.

The game featured a pitchers' duel between Simpson and southpaw Bill Allan who had previously humbled the Majors with a no-hit, no-run game. London got one in the third, two in the sixth and one in the ninth.

Three games are scheduled to night—two of them postponed games: Kitchener at Galt, Oshawa at St. Thomas and Brantford at London.

Trenton Shades Point Anne 5-4, Ties Int. 'A' Series at Game Apiece

The Point Anne Cementmen found an early 5-1 lead too much to overcome last night as they suffered a 5-4 setback at the hands of Trenton in the second intermediate "A" series. The third and deciding game of the series will be played in Trenton on Saturday evening at 8:30 p.m.

Trenton grabbed a 3-0 lead in the first stanza at the Point and after Point Anne picked up one in the second, they added two more in the third for a 5-1 margin. The Cementmen pulled closer with one in the bottom of the third and finished strong with two in the fifth but it was too little.

Stan Cooper went all the way on the hill for Trenton and held the usual power-hitting Pointers to seven hits. He claimed five on strikes and was charged with three walks.

Buck Burshaw was Phil Loft's choice to hurl and allowed eight hits while receiving poor support. The losers bobbled five times. Burshaw nipped four via the strikeout method and walked only one.

Mitts drew a base-on-balls to open the game and after Barr whiffed, Ernie Curtis singled. Lew Istead also singled for one run while errors by Wade and Green accounted for the other two tallies.

Loft's boys got one back when Phil Bennett cracked a double to right. John Green followed with a sharp single to centre and Bennett continued home when Mitts erred on the play.

Trenton added their final two markers in the third. Don Barr singled and Curtis was safe on Bennett's error. Istead singled the lead runner home while a wild pitch plated Curtis. They got to Burshaw for back to back singles by Istead and Scott in the eighth but nothing developed.

GILMOUR TRIFLES

Pat Gilmour got one back for the Cementmen in the third, tripping to left and scoring on an infield out. They pounded three hits in the sixth for their final markers. Wade, Mulholland and Green each singled while a passed ball and a fielder's choice helped.

The losers had the tying run on base in the last of the ninth when, with one out, Green drew a free pass. He took second on an infield out by pinch-hitter Pat Maracle but Jack Elliott hoisted out to right field for the final out.

The winners had the only double play of the game in the fourth frame, Curtis to Miron to Scott on Green's ground ball, with Mulholland on first.

Lew Istead, Trenton left fielder, led both teams with the lumber, slamming three singles in four tries while Don Barr had a brace of singles. Bill Mitts, Ernie Curtis and Austin Scott poked one single each.

Johnny Green spearheaded the losers' attack with two singles and a walk. Pat Gilmour had a triple and Phil Bennett a double while one-baggers went to Gerry Goyer, Jake Wade and Sam Mulholland.

The lineup:
Trenton—Mitts, cf; Barr, ss; Curtis, 3b; Istead, lf; Scott, 1b; Miron, 2b; D. Cooper, rf; Foshy, c; S. Cooper, p.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Saturday, Aug. 27, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—A peak day for sports, children's activities, necessary business and work but, withal be careful of health. Enjoy recreation sensibly and work without straining. A good day generally.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—No clouds in your bright sky this generous Saturday if you keep faith with your best qualities and do things in a temperate manner; enjoy some wholesome fun and rest.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Do not become over-stimulated over mental tasks or study and do not strain to get difficult things done in too short a time. It is a splendid day for all worthy undertakings, recreations, rest.

July 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—A responsive period for either big doings or quiet relaxation. Keep in mind health and small needs as you work or play.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—Be generous in thought and deed without neglecting your own or your family's needs. Follow original plans where they fit conditions. This can be an interesting, beneficial period.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Private interests and matters close to home and business under fine rays. You are keen, have intelligence; do what you should, but don't overwork worry. Enjoy the company of loved ones.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Adopt improved methods, material where they really can enhance your gains. Spend some time at a pleasant recreation to improve your outlook, give you fresh incentive.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)—A challenging, intriguing day with many activities and varied interests in favor. It is really up to your schedule and time how much you can fit in.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Specialized work, surveys, inventors, forestry, handling amusements for groups of people, servicing the public through restaurants, etc. among the many endeavors sponsored. Don't strain.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Sturdy, practical matters favored along with artistic and pleasant diversions. Enjoy good fun.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—An interesting, productive and generally pleasant day. If on vacation, don't be reckless but improve health and outlook by enjoying wholesome fun. Work needs careful planning.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Fine Neptune and other planetary rays augur for advancement or at least fresh gain in your occupation and other interests. Try new, pleasant ideas, ventures. Have faith in God and you.

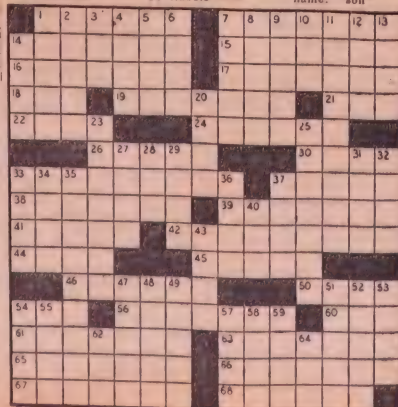

You born today are interesting, bright, proud, somewhat reserved, clever at mental or physical tasks. Quick of thought and generous in disposition, you will aid the unfortunate or ill without questioning or thought of self. You have fine characteristics and the ability to achieve in whatever trade, profession or calling you choose. Ask God's guidance as you develop and use these splendid attributes. Curb a tendency to criticize others. Shun anxiety. Birthday: Theodore Dreiser, noted novelist; Chas. Dawes, American statesman, economist.

Snead and Souchak Head Field in Canadian Open Scoring 65s in First Round

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Sam Snead, the sand sack from old Virginia who is well on his way to his first million from golf, and Mike Souchak, ex-footballer who turned to the links for a livelihood, today headed a big field in the second round of the $26,800 Open championship. Each carded opening 65s Thursday.

The 48-year-old poker-faced Snead from White Sulphur Springs bumbled the experts who said he couldn't put with a remarkable display of his short game to post his five-under par card. Souchak, Duke University footballer and now from Grossinger's, N.Y., had every club in his bag working for him in his par-wrecking 18.

When the final scores were totaled up it was Snead and Souchak who stroked up on Doug Ford, husky 35-year-old pro from Kiamisha Lake, N.Y., and Marty Furgol, rangy, six-footer from Lemont, Ill. Two strokes back was Gene Littler, 25-year-old precision expert, former U.S. amateur champion and a $19,000 winner so far this year on the tournament trail.

Thirteen others in the field of amateurs managed to get under par-70 figures, but the day's story really belonged to Snead. He had attracted the largest gallery—an odd story to the slammers—and had them whooping and hollering from the first hole.

But while Snead and Souchak couldn't do much wrong on the greens, Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., Canadian Open winner, had nothing but woes in his takeover—nothing but a chance at the top money.

His old putter, which just about won him last week's Open, was missing from his bag on arrival here and it was a sad blow to the 25-year-old shotsmith. Using a new stick, 35 of his strokes were taken on the greens. "I'm dead now—it's too late," he said after reading a message handed to him after his game saying that his old putter had been located and was en route here.

Bill Mawhinney and Stan Leonard, both from Vancouver, led the Canadian contingent. Mawhinney posted a 65 and Leonard a 69.

Mawhinney was one under par on the first nine with a 35, getting two birdies and three-putting the first and fifth. He came back with a string of pars for seven holes and birdied the tough 17th where he faded his second shot six feet from the pin and sank his putt. He finished up with a par four at the 18th.

Leonard was out in 34 and back in 35, losing strokes to par at the 17th and 18th when he missed the chance to get closer to the leaders. He was in the bunker at the 18th, the first time all day, overshot the pin and was down in one-over-par five.

Gerry Kesseling of Kitchener went out in 36 and came back with 37 for a 73. Al Balding of Toronto pilled up a 39 on the first nine and ended with 76.

After today's 18 the field will be cut to the 60 lows and ties.

Leafs, Royals Virtually Tied For Top Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Montreal Royals can't afford to let up from now to the end of the International League season if they are to edge out Toronto for the pennant. But their ace lefty, Ken Lehman, can hardly be blamed for sitting back today and surveying contentedly his accomplishments of the past week.

Last Thursday Lehman pitched a perfect no-hitter against Columbus; four nights later he turned back Syracuse with four hits; Thursday night it was a five-hitter at Buffalo, to win the first game of a doubleheader, 11-0. The record reads: seven days—three victories—no runs allowed—nine hits yielded. Lehman is now 19-9.

Unleashing a devastating hitting attack, the Royals also took the second game from the Bisons 14-4.

The double victory put Montreal back into a virtual tie for first with Toronto, which downed Richmond 6-1 in a single encounter. The Leafs, however, retain a percentage lead, 600 to 599.

Havana had to wait two and a half months to gain a 4-1 victory over Rochester in their suspended game of June 10th. After playing off the last inning of the long-delayed contest, the Cubs went on to take the regular game 5-4, coming from behind twice to do it.

In the only other contest, Syracuse's ace hurler, Jim Owens, was touched for four unearned runs as the Chiefs bootied away a 5-3 decision to Columbus.

Lehman and Glenn Mickens, winner of the nightcap, were

German Immigrant Completes 18-Mile Swim in Lake Erie

KINGSVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Marathon swimmer Ray Muench climbed out of Lake Erie at 5:20 a.m. today, after completing a 22-hour swim across the 18-mile passage between Pelee Island and the mainland.

The almost-exhausted swimmer was barely able to stumble up to a sandy beach when he landed. It took him more than 10 minutes to crawl to the beach. He had entered the water at 6:15 a.m. EST Thursday.

The swim marked the end of an amazing example of endurance by the 29-year-old Windsor man. It took him more than four hours to complete the last mile of the swim. For most of that time, he rolled helplessly in the Lake swell, within sight of the stubborn, tired crowd of about 100 persons who had waited more than 10 hours to welcome him.

REFUSED TO QUIT

He finally seemed to gather his strength for a last effort, and he stroked up to the beach. For the last 200 yards, he was accompanied by an unidentified swimmer who jumped into the water and treated to enough runs to win a week's ball games. The Royals pounded out 27 hits for their 24 scores.

Mike Fornieles, who went the route in Toronto's triumph, knocked in a pair of runs in the second with a single. The Leafs added three more in the next frame on one safety combined with three walks by Virginian starter and loser Bill Connolly.

swam alongside him. Neither the swimmer nor his trainer would comment immediately.

Trainer Alex Henderson said Muench was extremely tired, and wanted only to rest.

During the last nerve-racking hours before Muench gathered his strength, reports said the swimmer seemed to have lost all control of his arms, and was barely able to kick.

Muench stubbornly refused to be lifted from the water, even when it was all he could do to keep his head above the surface. He kept insisting he would recover his strength after a rest in the water.

Shortly before the last boat went out to check on Muench, a group of watchers hired a boat to go out to plead with him to give up his attempt. He refused.

Muench had expected to reach the mainland about 8 o'clock Thursday night. For a time, it looked as if he would be on shore at the time he predicted, and at 3 p.m. he was reported only seven miles offshore.

But then he started to slow down as the distance took its toll of his strength, until he was rolling almost helplessly in the swell.

This was the second try by the stocky German immigrant, who served as a glider pilot with the Luftwaffe during the Second World War, to make the swim.

Last week he was in the water for 11 hours, but was pushed more than 12 miles off course by the tricky Lake Erie currents.

When he started his attempt Thursday, the course was marked with buoys.

Ferris was felled by the ball and was given treatment by Boston trainer Jack Fadden. Then, as a precautionary measure, he was taken to osteopathic hospital for x-rays.

Titans of World Tennis Clash in Challenge Round

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—The Davis Cup went up for grabs today when the two titans of world tennis, the United States and Australia, clashed in the challenge round at the West Side Tennis Club.

Vic Seixas, the U.S. champion from Philadelphia, crossed rackets with Ken Rosewall, an old nemesis, in the first singles match starting at 2:15 p.m. EDT. The second singles test of the best-of-five competition pitted U.S. strong man Tony Trabert against the equally muscular Lewis Hoad.

The doubles—Seixas and Trabert against Hoad and Rex Hartwig—are scheduled for Saturday, with the final two singles Sunday. If the decision still is in doubt going into Sunday's matches, Seixas will play Hoad and Trabert will meet Rosewall.

But American captain Billy Talbot sees no such eventuality. "We'll have a 3-0 lead by Sunday," said Billy, always the optimist. "That means we'll be playing for fun by then. I am already considering using Hamilton Richardson in one of the last two matches."

HOPMAN OPTIMISTIC

Captain Harry Hopman of the Aussies was only slightly less optimistic than Talbot.

"I am sure we'll win," he said. "I figure we are sure to win the singles matches with Seixas and have an even chance in the other three—the two with Trabert and the doubles."

Trabert probably was the coolest cookie. He was the big boy and he knew it. He didn't even discuss his own match but observed: "I'll bet Rosewall will be the nervous one when he and Vic go on the court."

En route to the challenge round,

Pulled from Lake

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont. (CP)—Edwin (Larry) Rowlings, a 31-year-old navy veteran from Toronto, Thursday night was pulled out of Lake Ontario after swimming nine miles.

Rowlings left here at 5:03 p.m. in an attempt to swim to Toronto but muscular cramps forced him to stop just after 10 p.m.

Rowlings said before starting out for the swim that he wanted "to make sure a Canadian was the first man to get across." He said officials of the Canadian National Exhibition would not allow him to enter their across-the-lake swim due to his inexperience.

New Development To Boost Speed Of Jet Aircraft

OTTAWA (CP)—A new jet engine development believed unique in the Western world, doubling the rate of climb of an interceptor plane or giving added bursts of speed to jet fighters, has been unveiled by Canadian scientists.

An improvement on the usual jet engine afterburners which burn additional fuel in the engine tailpipe to attain greater speed, it is the fruit of four years of work by about a dozen scientists at the National Research Council's aeronautical establishment.

The once top-secret device was demonstrated to reporters Friday at Uplands airport here, where it has been tested for the last six months in a relatively slow Gloster Meteor jet aircraft on loan from the RAF to the central experiment and proving establishment.

With FO. Alan F. Arnold of Toronto at the controls, the Meteor did a low-level flypast at about 450 miles an hour with the new afterburner burning. On a second run, from a dodging 200 m.p.h. Arnold turned on the afterburner to send the plane into a climb at a rate of about 20,000 feet in three minutes.

The new twist is a spray of jet fuel—kerosene—on the blades of jet engine's turbine to cool their 1,200-degree Fahrenheit heat. The fuel, atomized by turbine blades whirling at 1,000 feet a second, then is ignited in the afterburner tailpipe for added thrust.

MIDLAND COUPLE AND SON WOUNDED IN THEIR HOME

Boarder Is Held Following Shootings

MIDLAND (CP)—Albert Cassey 30, a bake shop employee, was arrested in East York, a Toronto suburb, several hours after a couple and their teenage son were shot and wounded in their home in Midland early today.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Hyatt and their son, Ellis, 13, suffered bullet wounds after they had returned home from a trip to the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto.

Police said Cassey had accompanied the Hyatts' home from Toronto and that he had lived with the family.

He was arrested after police spotted the Hyatts' maroon and white sedan parked in front of the bake shop where Cassey worked. Police said Cassey fled in the car following the shooting.

Provincial police in Midland, 80 miles north of Toronto, said Hyatt, 40, and his son were shot in the leg and Mrs. Hyatt in the shoulder.

Mrs. Hyatt told officers the man demanded money when they entered the home, then started firing a pistol into the ceiling and the floor.

She said he suddenly turned the gun on the boy. When the boy fell, shot through the leg, the man turned the gun on herself and her husband, Mrs. Hyatt said.

None of the family is in serious condition, doctors said.

Police said there were pools of blood in a room in the Hyatt house near a table where Cassey had been drinking with a pistol beside him.

Five Powers Confer on Eve Of Disarmament Talks

By RUSSELL ELMAN

Canadian Press Staff Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Diplomats of France, the United Kingdom, Canada and the United States met privately in New York today in an effort to reach a common understanding on the approach to be taken by the Western powers at the United Nations disarmament talks beginning Monday.

Today's discussions are expected to include an exchange of views over plans Britain, France and the United States intend to put forward at the resumption of the UN disarmament sub-committee talks, called for by the Big Four at Geneva last month.

Informal sources said one of the important tasks at today's meeting is to see that the unity of the Western powers is preserved at the talks despite the fact that Britain, France and the United States may be presenting three different plans.

Canada, represented by Health Minister Paul Martin, is not believed to have any specific proposals of her own at this point but will work in close liaison with the other Western powers. Last year Canada played a key role as an intermediary in getting East and West to resume disarmament talks.

Martin conferred separately Friday with the other Western delegates—Harold E. Stassen of the United States, Anthony Nutting, British minister of state, and Jules Moch, former French cabinet minister. He also paid a courtesy call on Arkady A. Sobolev, permanent Soviet delegate at the UN, who represents Russia.

The Geneva proposals included: 1. President Eisenhower's call for the United States and the Soviet Union to exchange military blueprints and agree to mutual aerial surveys of each other's territory.

2. Prime Minister Eden's proposal to establish a demilitarized "buffer zone" in central Europe with an inspection plan on both sides of the dividing line.

3. Premier Faure's plan for mutual controls and the establishment of an agency to aid underdeveloped countries with the money saved from arms cuts.

4. Marshal Bulganin's elaboration of a Soviet plan, first put forward at the London talks, which conformed fairly closely to an Anglo-French plan. Bulganin suggested a reduction of American, Russian and Chinese forces to between 1,000,000 and 1,500,000 men and of British and French forces to 650,000. When this reduction was three-quarters completed, prohibition of nuclear weapons would take effect.

Will Reduce Social Calls In Russian Farlands Tour

By HAROLD MORRISON

Canadian Press Staff Writer
MONTREAL (CP)—Federal officials have agreed to reduce the social side of the Russian farlands tour of Canada after the Soviet visitors complained they were seeing too many humans and whisky bottles and not enough cows and tractors.

Soviet farm leader Vladimir Matskevich showed particular impatience Friday during a 200-mile tour of Eastern Townships rural spots. The delegation stopped twice for drinks and an exchange of pleasantries at Freilighsburg and Granby.

He kept asking to see more cattle and machinery. He barely touched whisky drinks offered him during the day but said he would not drink at lunch at Granby.

S. J. Cagnon, chief federal conducting official, said the 16-day tour schedule is being rearranged to reduce social calls.

The nine-man Soviet delegation moves on to Ottawa today after completing a two-day tour of the Montreal area.

All through Friday they kept popping questions at Mr. Cagnon and district farmers about Canadian agriculture: the amount of rainfall, irrigation ditches and who built them, hybrid corn crows, type of farm machinery used, crop rotation systems, pastures and co-operatives.

And all the answers given were diligently marked down in little notebooks with American-type ball-point pens.

The Russians, on the second day of their 16-day tour, were shown through the huge apple co-opera-also weeds.

When they got through, he said of them: "They're a good bunch."

Earlier in the day at Freilighsburg, the Russians visited the big farm of Senator J. A. Godbout and got their first taste there of Canadian maple syrup. Mr. Matskevich termed it excellent.

As they walked through the grounds, Mr. Cagnon suggested to Mr. Matskevich that he use Russians to use more fertilizer.

"Use more fertilizer and you will be able to feed all your people," Mr. Cagnon said.

Mr. Matskevich noted a batch of tall weeds and replied: "You not only feed people but also weeds."

The proposed settlement was to be put before the full French cabinet Sunday. Still an official secret pending cabinet approval, it was reported reliably to be based on these points:

FIRST-QUARTER GOVT. SURPLUS IS $132,000,000

Revenues Are Higher Than Anticipated

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government, which anticipates its second straight budget deficit this fiscal year, finished the first four months with a surplus of $132,000,000.

This was comparable to the surplus of $137,800,000 rolled up in the first quarter of the 1954-55 fiscal year, which ended with a budget deficit of $151,000,000. Finance Minister Harris has forecast a deficit of $160,000,000 for the current year, which started last April 1.

The first quarter was rounded out with a surplus of $62,400,000 in July, compared with a $28,700,000 surplus for the same month of 1954 and a deficit of $97,100,000 in June this year.

Revenues for the first four months of this fiscal year increased by $15,100,000 to $1,332,100,000 from $1,317,000,000 in the similar period last year while in July they were $389,800,000, up $3,000,000 from July, 1954.

DEFENCE COSTS UP
Expenditures for the quarter increased by $1,200,000 to $1,179,200,000 in the first four months of the 1954-55 year. Last month they were $307,400,000, down $25,700,000 from July, 1954.

This was due mainly to a reduction in external affairs department spending to $1,297,000 from $30,575,000 in July, 1954, when the department paid out $25,400,000 under the Colombo plan for assistance to Southeast Asia.

Defence spending increased to $217,934,000 in July from $119,059,000 in the same month last year while personal income tax collections rose to $123,740,000 from $102,419,000 in July, 1954.

Deficits of $16,900,000 for the quarter and $2,900,000 for July were recorded on operations of the old age security fund, not included in budget transactions. A treasury loan to the fund covered this.

$100,000 Bail Posted For Man's Release

TORONTO (CP)—Jack Goldhar, 48, Friday was released on bail of $100,000, highest property bond posted in the memory of officials of the Ontario attorney-general's department.

He appeared on remand with Jacob Rosenblatt, 32, and Hannah Roseblatt, 23, charged with trafficking in narcotics. Police said they were arrested following discovery of drugs worth $1,000,000 in a raid on a west-end home.

Rosenblatt was refused bail and a request by Mrs. Roseblatt for reduction of the $25,000 bail set in her case also was rejected. She was said by her counsel to be expected to appear in court on Monday.

Shareholders of record Aug. 31 will have the right to subscribe for one additional share at $17 for each five shares held. Rights expire Oct. 17.

They returned to this mile-square campsite during the night and after a sleep-in, devoted the morning to preparing for the voyage home. For some it means a trip home of several weeks' duration.

The almost deserted campsite Friday was given over to guards and staidians, who calculated the boys consumed $15,750 worth of hot dogs—10,500, enough to stretch for six miles.

Nine In Hospital After Escaping From Flames

Children's Father Burned In Futile Rescue Attempt

HEARST (CP)—Two children and a 27-year-old man were burned to death and nine others taken to hospital today as a result of a fire on the outskirts of this northern Ontario town.

The dead were identified as Charles Edward Matte, 4, his one-year-old brother, Rene, and Donald Charrette.

Two houses and a garage containing two cars and two trucks were destroyed.

The children's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Matte, escaped from their flaming home, but the 10-month-old baby, Mr. Matte went back into the house in an attempt to save the other children but was driven back by the flames. He jumped from a window to escape again. He suffered cuts and was severely burned about the shoulders.

The other injured taken to hospital for treatment of shock are: Mrs. Romuld Emond and three of her children; her sister-in-law, Mrs. Romeo Emond and two of her children, and Miss Gertrude Lessard, a sister-in-law of Mr. Matte.

The dead man was identified as a brother-in-law of Mr. Matte.

Fire chief Nap Boucher said that except for Mr. Matte none of the injured is in serious condition and would probably be released from hospital today.

The fire occurred in the hamlet of McManville, three-quarters of a mile from Hearst.

Chief Boucher said it broke out about 4 a.m. in one of the houses and firemen could do little to save the Matte children and their uncle. The houses and garage were in flames when they arrived.

Threat of Rain Keeps CNE Crowd Below Record

Pearson Plans Trip to Russia
VICTORIA (CP)—Lester B. Pearson, declaring the cold war is beginning to thaw, said Friday he will begin his goodwill trip to Russia at the end of September.

The external affairs minister will leave Ottawa on an RCAF aircraft Sept. 30 and will spend about 10 days visiting major cities and scullery farms.

He will be the first foreign minister of a Western power to visit the Soviet Union since the end of the Second World War. The invitation was issued by Russian Foreign Minister Molotov at the United Nations anniversary meeting in San Francisco.

FAMILY ARGUMENT LEADS TO KILING

Mrs. Louella Gonerman, mother of three children, was shot to death in her home at Chatham, Ont., after what police described as a family argument. Her husband, Ralph Gonerman, 40, was found unconscious beside her, a bullet in his head and an automatic pistol at his side. A daughter, Jeanette, 14, had been struck in the neck by a bullet.

Idaho Plane Lands on Top of Truck, Driver Thought Noise Was Blowout

OROPINO, Idaho (AP)—A light airplane gliding down toward the runway landed smack atop a speeding truck instead Friday and was carried piggy-back 200 yards down the highway by the unknown driver.

No one was hurt and the damage to the plane and truck was comparatively light.

Expect Moroccans to Accept Faure's Self-Rule Proposals

AIX-LES-BAINS, France (AP)—French government leaders confidently awaited word today that Morocco's strongest nationalist faction will support Premier Edgar Faure's plan for ending strife in that North American protectorate.

Faure and a committee of five French ministers Friday night wound up a five-day conference with Moroccan leaders on the program. It is aimed at ending bloodshed in the troubled area by giving the Moroccans a measure of self-

11,000 Boy Scouts from 68 Countries Conclude World Jamboree at Niagara

By BILL BOSS

Canadian Press Staff Writer
NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont. (CP)—Today is a day of parting for 11,000 boy scouts as the eighth World Jamboree closes and the scouts start dispersing among 68 countries.

Only programmed event is the 4 p.m. ceremonial closing by Maj. Glen D. C. Spary, 42, director of the jamboree's international bureau in London. A Canadian and former executive commissioner of the Canadian boy scouts, he was Canada's youngest divisional commander during the Second World War.

The scouts, except those from the Toronto area, who stayed here, will leave Friday at the Canadian National Exhibition, attending its opening as guests of the directors.

They returned to this mile-square campsite during the night and after a sleep-in, devoted the morning to preparing for the voyage home. For some it means a trip home of several weeks' duration.

The almost deserted campsite Friday was given over to guards and staidians, who calculated the boys consumed $15,750 worth of hot dogs—10,500, enough to stretch for six miles.

Canteen sales to Thursday night totaled $50,000 and included $15,000 in film and film processing, $2,100 in sundries, $2,200 in ice cream bars, $2,100 in fresh milk, $2,720 in soft drinks.

Although the American and some British scouts start taking off today, most leave Sunday. Religious services are planned for most denominations for both days.

LOSES CONTROL ON SLIPPERY ROAD

Losing control of his car on the grassy pavement, Howard Humphrey, Madoe, received a shaking up this morning when his car spun around and slammed into a hydro pole on No. 14 highway at the south end of Foxboro village.

Humphrey was taken to Belleville General Hospital for a check-up. His car was badly damaged. Provincial Constable McNutt investigated.

CIGARET BUTT BLAMED FOR FIRE

A careless cigarette smoker is blamed for a blaze which early this morning almost completely burned the awning at McNabb's store on Front street. Firemen were called out shortly after midnight to extinguish the blaze. Little more than the frame of the awning was left following the blaze.

City Playgrounds Closed
For Year With Field Day

Over 1,000 moppets were muffed to the ears in merriment at the East Hill playground.

From early morning until late in the evening the city was merrily shrouded as the Belleville playgrounds marked the last day of this season's operation.

It was the fourth annual field day sponsored by the Recreation Commission and probably the biggest. Boys and girls from 12 playgrounds in and around the city clamored their way through a day of fast sports, films and fun with several awards thrown in on the side.

The Schwall trophy for the best junior playground in the event was won by the East Hill contingent while the senior's Bob Blain trophy was handed to the Fire Hall playground.

The boys' senior softball award for the season also was taken by the East Hill and the boys' junior award by the Queen Elizabeth players. St. Paul's playground won the girls' senior award for the season.

TURN UP EARLY

The big day started in a big way with a large turnout of small fry from across the city turning up early at the big playing grounds on the East Hill, where city recreation director Lloyd Doran and recreation commission chairman Bill Van Tassel waited to get things underway.

Throughout the entire event both men were ably assisted by some 16 playground supervisors. Patient all of the time, firm or yielding when the occasion called for it, the supervisors looked like pretty young girls but worked like fiends, handling every situation as it arose and directing the sports events.

At the end of day's busy activities and the season's too, when all were called upon to take a bow the youngsters practically cheered themselves out as they bade farewell to their young guardian angels of their recreational hours.

IDEAL WEATHER

A warm sun greeted the opening of the day's activities and stayed with them all the way. Even, comfortable temperatures added to the enjoyment of the sports and the youngsters were well guarded against thirst were well laid on by the organizers. Free ice cream and cokes were available to all the participants during the day and large quantities of both were quickly whittled down by the continued onslaught of hundreds of thirsty tongues.

There was every kind of event to satisfy all interests. From pitching horseshoes to the old stimulating sack race, the program laid on by the organizers was a large one.

The day started at 9 a.m. and went on until nearly 10 p.m. when the moppets squatted back on their heels to watch open-air movies. Divided into three parts, probably the most auspicious event was the concluding section of the day's program when, after the supper-hour, the prizes and awards were distributed.

MAYOR PRAISES WORK

Working right through, almost without a break, both Mr. Doran and Mr. Van Tassel, alternated in the little ceremonies at the day's end. Only city official to turn out to the presentation of awards and the final farewell ceremonies was Mayor Both, who spoke glowingly of the work of both Mr. Van Tassel and Mr. Doran.

He also praised the work of the supervisors and recalled the important job they were doing for the community.

Despite the intense activity through the day there were few injuries among the minors and what there were being nothing more serious than a bruised or skinned knee. However the organizers had planned well for any emergency. A tent with stretchers was set up early in the morning by the St. John Ambulance organization and a nurse was in attendance all through the day and evening.

Finally, just around 10 p.m. some ribbioned, all bedraggled, the youngsters made their way out of the grounds, bidding a tiredly happy farewell to a big day and a big recreation season.

Cups Awarded
At Social Night
For ANAF Vets

Presentation of the Tug-O-War Cribbage and Dart trophies highlighted a social evening at the A.N.A.F. Club, Thursday.

Beginning with a film of the Coronation in beautiful color, produced by the Canadian Film Board and followed by a film of the club's highly successful July picnic, the presentation began with sports chairman "Dick" Burns, officiating.

The highly contested tug-o-war trophy was received by A. "Red" Carmichael, captain of the CNR firemen's team, perennial holder of this coveted trophy which was presented to the club in 1935 by Mr. P. H. Smith and has been annually competed for since that date.

Also on the list of recipients was Teddy Poole, this year's cribbage champ and holder of the recently donated Parkdale Veterans' exquisite trophy. Joe Seaman, past master with the feather flights, took this year's high score of 160.

Refreshments were served ending an evening of entertainment of fun and fest.

Roadblock Here
Stops Two Women
In Stolen Auto

A fifty-mile police chase of a car reported stolen in Kingston ended at the station outskirts of Belleville shortly after five o'clock Friday evening when Belleville city police set up a roadblock to stop the vehicle being followed by Provincial Police and a Kingston motorcycle officer.

Occupants of the car, Mrs. Edna Lipsett and her daughter, Doreen Mary Lipsett, were taken into custody and have been charged with car theft. The two women were returned to Kingston.

Late yesterday afternoon P.C. Lane of the Kingston police department, got on the tail of a green Hudson, which had been reported stolen.

Efforts to stop the car proved fruitless and provincial police were called in as the car headed west on Highway 2.

A roadblock at Napanee failed to stop the car and as the chase continued OPP Constable J. Toll from Belleville headquarters took up the trail near Marysville.

Belleville police were then alerted and Constables Hall and Kent set up a roadblock at Hastings Drive in the east end of the city.

The chased car approached at a fast rate of speed, then as the driver spotted the roadblock the car swung across the boulevard to the south lane where it was stopped.

Constable Kent ended possibility of further chase by reaching in and jerking the keys from the ignition.

Grass Conditions Greatly Improved
Since Recent Rains

With grass conditions greatly improved since recent rains, milk production in the Bay of Quinte area has been increased slightly.

Pastures which looked brown two weeks ago have greatly improved. One result of the better pasture condition is that fewer cattle will be sold than was anticipated a few weeks ago.

Canning factories are working at capacity with varied crop returns being reported. In Northumberland county a good crop is reported, while in Prince Edward the quantity is said to be only fair.

Apples are sizing up well with orchardists reporting prospects of one of the best crops in years.

Police Blotter

A bicycle rider charged with drunk driving was one news-worthy highlight of police activities during Friday night.

Police spotted the rider weaving dangerously from one side of the road to the other as he made his wobbly way up Station street. The officer checked the rider, decided he was intoxicated and charged him both with drunk driving and with drunkenness.

Two Belleville district men said to have created a disturbance in a local cafe and taken to the police station where he was charged with drunkenness.

And a panhandler was checked by police and taken to the police station where he was charged with drunkenness.

Bible Notes

Who Was This?

By A. A. M.

What was the name of the prophet of Israel who had a wonderful vision of God in the year that King Uzziah died?

He saw the Lord, sitting upon a throne, high and lifted up, and His train filled the temple. Above Him stood the seraphim, each with six wings. Two wings covered his face, two covered his feet and with two he flew. One called to the other, "Holy, holy, holy, is the Lord of hosts; the whole earth is full of His glory."

When He spoke the foundations shook and the house filled with smoke. Then the prophet cried out, "Woe is me! For I am lost; for I am a man of unclean lips, and I dwell in the midst of a people of unclean lips; my eyes have seen the King, the Lord of hosts!"

In response to this confession, one of the seraphim flew to him. In his hand was a burning coal which he had taken from the altar. He put it on the prophet's mouth saying, "Behold, thou hast touched my lips; your guilt is taken away, and your sin forgiven."

Then the prophet heard the voice of the Lord saying, "Whom shall I send, and who will go for us?"

The prophet immediately volunteered, "Here I am! Send me!" The Lord answered, "Go, and say to this people the message which I will give to you."

Find this prophet's name and read this story in Chapter Six of Isaiah.

Bulletins From Birdland

FARMER'S FRIENDS

Prized for their song and their beauty birds are seldom thought of as benefactors. Yet, without them the human race would be in a sorry plight, our land overrun with injurious insects, weeds and damaging rodents.

Birds are our safest and cheapest insecticides. Of course we expect fly catchers to do just what their name says, but probably there are more kinds of birds that catch insects than those attracted by anything else. Besides swallows, night hawks, robins, and blue jays, there are the ones that prefer non-flying insects. These include a number of warblers, such as the black and white, which eat insects and their eggs from cracks in bark, and the chestnut-sided which, like many others, loves little green worms found on leaves.

The Cap May and Tennessee warblers keep mainly to an insect diet, while pine and myrtle warblers change over to seeds when insects are few. The last mentioned, which often remain in Canada all year, then does a good job for us by eating poison ivy.

PRESERVE TREES

Naturally, most of us realize that woodpeckers are helping to preserve our trees from insect pests. But did you know that the pileated can locate destructive insects on the surface of the trunk? Nutcrackers, brown creepers, and chickadees supplement the work of woodpeckers. Our common grackles are good at destroying cutworms, rose-breasted grosbeaks enjoy potato bugs, and cuckoos like robbing better than tent caterpillars.

The largest family of birds, the finches, are seed eaters, and, as a whole, actually prefer weed seeds. It is interesting to note that most in this group (besides the finches) feed their young on insects. The Savannah and grasshopper sparrows themselves also eat insects.

FEAR GRASSHOPPERS

In season, meadowlarks use beetles and grasshoppers for themselves and their offspring. Certain gulls notably Franklin's, are very effective in reducing the number of grasshoppers when our mid-west is experiencing a plague.

Shrikes too, kill grasshoppers although they are particularly given to killing mice. And, speaking of mice reminds us of our birds of prey. Hawks by day and owls by night live to a great extent on undesirable rodents.

Up to date scientific experiments prove that even many of our fish eaters are really aiding man. They consume mostly small fish, thus leaving more food for large fish, which they may grow still larger. Most birds, continue much the same diet throughout the year, leaving Canada when their favorite food falls here.

Stories of Famous Hymns

By HORACE B. POWELL

I LOVE TO HEAR THE STORY

I love to hear the story
Which angels' voices tell.
How once the King of Glory
Came down to earth to dwell
I am both weak and sinful,
But this I surely know:
The Lord came down to save me,
Because He loved me so.

I'm glad my blessed Savior
Was once a child like me,
To show how pure and holy
His little ones might be;
And if I try to follow
His footsteps here below
He never will forsake me,
Because He loves me so.

To sing His love and mercy
My sweetest songs I'll raise;
And though I cannot see Him,
I know He hears my praise.
For He has kindly promised
That even I may go
To sing among His angels,
Because He loves me so.

My sweetest songs I'll raise;
And though I cannot see Him,
I know He hears my praise.
For He has kindly promised
That even I may go
To sing among His angels,
Because He loves me so.

My sweetest songs I'll raise;
And though I cannot see Him,
I know He hears my praise.
For He has kindly promised
That even I may go
To sing among His angels,
Because He loves me so.

My sweetest songs I'll raise;
And though I cannot see Him,
I know He hears my praise.
For He has kindly promised
That even I may go
To sing among His angels,
Because He loves me so.

My sweetest songs I'll raise;

A Lift For Living

The Sentiments of Life

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

A sentiment may be a most forbidding figure. Up the Hudson, at Sing Sing Prison, the walls and corridors are patrolled by guards who keep an eye on the inmates. Their purpose is to try to prevent escape. It must be a nerve-wracking experience to live constantly under the eye of watchmen, under such strain, guilty men often do desperate things and innocent persons do queer ones.

But while we dwell to be watched, we want watch kept for us. When we sleep at night, it is a comfort to know that uniformed policemen are patrolling the streets around our homes, not to keep us from getting out, but to prevent dangers from breaking in upon us. When we sail the high seas, we trustfully close our eyes in the darkness because we know that faithful watch is being kept on the bridge.

When in sickness we toss restlessly during those fitful snatches of slumber, what a difference it makes whether we open our eyes to the lonely darkness or to the sympathetic gaze of a relative or nurse, keeping the silent watches of the night. When we are in those troubled hours of deep decision where each must walk alone with his God, it is good to know that some friend or loved one has come as far as another human being can come and is watching and praying for us.

NEED SENTINELS ALWAYS

But it is not only when we are sick, or sleeping, or in distress that we need sentinel eyes to look out for us. We need these even more when to the times of our busiest activity. When a person feels himself to be physically fit and goes forging ahead, then he needs the sentinels of health to look out for symptoms of danger.

When business is booming, the faster one must walk alone with his God, it is good to know that some friend or loved one has come as far as another human being can come and is watching and praying for us.

The more complex life becomes, the more specialized our occupations, the faster our pace of living, the more imperative is the need of sentinels to watch out for us.

67 Nations Represented

Canada Host to Eighth World Scout Jamboree

This week, in the shadow of the log walls of Niagara-on-the-Lake's historic Fort George, Canada played host to over 11,000 Boy Scouts and Scouters at the 8th World Jamboree. Opened by Canada's Chief Scout, Governor-General Vincent Massey, the "Jam" brought First Class Scouts from Austria, Australia, Finland, and France, South Africa and Surinam together to spend a week under canvas. In 10 sub-camps located in the big 700-acre tent colony, scouts from 67 nations shared food and made friends, swapped neckerchiefs and badges, toured Niagara Falls and the Canadian National Exhibition, and retold the day's activities around evening campfires.

The Jamboree, which attracted over 200 newsmen as well as hundreds of thousands of tourists to tiny Niagara-on-the-Lake, posed many a logistical headache to planners. Scouts cooked over 400-tons of food over their campside charcoal fires; a special "Jamboree, Ontario" long-distance exchange handled hundreds of calls daily; administrators puzzled and sorted over 22,000 pieces of personal scouts' baggage, and the 20 different languages represented kept a corps of volunteer interpreters busy. But there is little doubt that the international scouting movement, meeting under the "New Horizons" Jamboree meeting motto, is helping to strengthen the bridges of international understanding and friendship.

Canada's Chief Scout, the Right Honorable Vincent Massey, Governor-General of Canada, meets members of the Philippine contingent during personal tour of the 10 sub-camps following opening ceremony. Opening day alone attracted over 50,000 tourists and visitors to the one-mile square canvas colony.

Swapping is favorite Jamboree pastime. Here a group of Scouts go over "lost" in search of tradable items. Though neckerchiefs, badges and pocketknives were commonly bartered, an occasional Cuban maraca, German guitar and horn-toed Mexican lizard changed hands.

American Scout Wayne Barrow, of Rockwood, Michigan, greeted visiting British Commonwealth Chief Scout, Lord Rowan, with traditional left-hand 'shake. Scouting movement, founded by Lord Baden-Powell in 1908, has now taken on international stature of a miniature United Nations.

Using Jamboree handbook, carrying English, French and Spanish vocabularies, Manfred Muller, Germany, Ling Yuan, Formosa, and Tahutini Nebrasky, Tahiti, manage conversation. Unique directional signs, as well as corps of volunteer interpreters, helped bridge language difficulty at Jamboree.

Wellington On The Lake

THE CRICKET'S CALL

We had left the town behind us On a soft September day. Turned our faces to the country, Speeding o'er a ribboned way That allured and called and beckoned With new sights at every turn, Till we reached a spot whose freshness Answered to our spirit's yearn.

Portals of a mellowed woodland Bathed in soft September light And near by the corn in tassels Golden red and sumach bright; Not a sound to break the stillness, Not a note of summer bird, But from out the grassy thicket Hark! a cricket's chirr is heard.

Music in the wilding places, Voice when summer is no more Merry music, chirp and chirp, In the bright free out-of-door; You who dwell in town or city Leave your gardens trim and neat, Heed the calling of the cricket Tread the wilds with care-free feet.

For the cricket now is calling, Calling with persistent cry— "Dream with us in woodland portals Ere the summer days drift by." —Helen B. Anderson.

are chirping. Sitting on the verandah on a recent warm evening, we were surprised to hear the old familiar sound—the chirping of the cricket—as we had not realized Autumn's near approach.

Absently listening to the cricket's chirr, our thoughts wandered to a fine day some years ago when we motored from Picton with the late Mrs. Albert Davern and son, Lancelot. Reaching a quiet, beautiful woodland in our homeward drive, we were cheered by the cricket's chirping, after which I wrote the poem, "The world is too much with us, Late and soon, getting and spending, We lay waste our powers— 'Little we see in nature that is ours' wrote the poet, Wordsworth. And nature with its autumnal beauty gives an impression all its own—a beauty as satisfying as that of spring. A country holiday in the early autumn is sometimes as pleasant as a holiday earlier in the summer. The air is so quiet and peaceful, and the coloring so bright and beautiful.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hubbs of Cedar Springs, Ontario, are spending holidays in a cottage here, and calling on many friends. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wall, Concession, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Ward, Gilead, on Sunday.

Miss Marjorie Blakely and her guest, Miss Dorothy Taylor, Toronto, with Mrs. H. B. Anderson, were dinner guests at Maple Inn, Bloomfield, Sunday evening.

Women's Institute

UNIONDALE W.I.

The August meeting of Uniondale Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Maurice Kendall, 4th concession of Sidney with a good attendance, considering the humidity.

A short program of poems and a sing-song, led by Mrs. Milton Grills, was enjoyed.

Mrs. George Burkitt read a letter concerning comic books, which is the talk of all interested parties. Ontario women are trying to work on this crime comic, as parents are to mould the way for their children by reading good literature so it is hoped a ban will be put on these books in order that the reading may appear on the stands and all paper selling places.

Mrs. Avery Martin gave a paper on "Wonder Drugs, Can They Be Harmful?" Yes, they surely can persons should never take upon themselves what kind and how much of any drug they should take until a doctor has been informed of the ailment, all the antibiotic forms of drugs can be exceptionally harmful.

Mental illness, automatic fever, paralysis, bad eyes, all these ailments can be brought on by improper use of drugs. All precaution should be taken in the future and let the doctor be the guide.

The September meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. M. B. Sine, 6th concession Sidney. The new district president, Mrs. L. Rodgers, from Stirling, will give a talk on Federated Institute work. Refreshments were served by August hostesses.

Family Presents Anniversary Gift to Parents

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Moens, Herchimer Ave. were pleasantly surprised last Saturday evening when their family presented them with a chrome set of kitchen furniture on the occasion of their 40th wedding anniversary, which occurred on August 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. Moens came to Belleville 43 years ago from Waukegan, England, and have reared nine children, all of whom are residing in Belleville. They also have 20 grandchildren.

Those present at the anniversary surprise party included: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Moens, Mr. and Mrs. F. Dill, Mrs. H. Doolittle, Nancy, Butch and Diane; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Moens and Billie; Hilda Moens, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moens, Mr. and Mrs. James Moens, and Mrs. Harry Moens and daughter, Ann, of Greenwood, Nova Scotia, and Mr. and Mrs. Kellar.

The evening was spent in a social get-together and in watching television, after which refreshments, including a lovely anniversary cake, were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Moens most graciously expressed their appreciation to the numerous members of their family for the unexpected pleasure they had enjoyed and for the lovely gift they had received.

The Rev. H. H. Hillis made a few calls in this community on Sunday.

Great Contrasts Between Countries Seen By Miss Merry During European Tour

By BOYD UPPER

"I liked the Italians the best and the French the most," said Miss Merry, in summing up her recent visit to Europe.

"The Italians do enjoy living. I don't know anyone who enjoys living the way they do. I am sure some of them exist on beauty."

"The Dutch are work in Holland and how they are working. Everything was shipping and gleaming. We ought to take all the Dutch people we can into Canada. They certainly know how to work."

"Of course, people were awfully nice wherever we went."

Miss Merry, a longtime head of the English department at Belleville college, and now retired, spent three months this spring and summer in France, Italy, Switzerland, Holland, Germany, and England. She sailed from Quebec on the "Homeric" near the end of April. During her trip she was accompanied by her sister who lives in England.

FRANCE IS BACKWARD

After docking at Le Havre Miss Merry went to Paris for a six-day visit.

"Paris has the most hideous slums. In France the government is spending money restoring the old houses and palaces. In England people seem to be getting some of the money and the government is leaving the slums until last."

"Milkmaids were carrying pails with a wooden yoke over their shoulders. There seemed to be so little equipment. Canadian farms 50 years ago would be palaces compared to many of the rural areas in France today."

"The French don't believe in billboards," said Miss Merry. "They wouldn't do anything commercial to spoil the beauty of the countryside. Of course, even the English farmers are complaining that the new electric power pylons are spoiling the appearance of the countryside."

"But in France the people believe in beauty. There are little vases on the buses for flowers where the driver can admire them. The flowers are for the driver, not the passengers. Gas stations are bouquets of flowers."

"Paris is beautiful. Every bridge is a triumph. Avenue after avenue is a delight with the chestnuts in bloom. Near the Eiffel Tower there are a lot of style and size. It would take a dictator like Napoleon to make such a spectacle possible."

"Fresh spring flowers were everywhere. The soldiers of the Unknown Soldier, with its perpetual flame, is very moving. There are always fresh flowers there, not like the artificial flowers that are put on our memorials once a year. The memory of the dead is very strong in Paris."

BREAD NOT WASTED

"No one ever wraps anything. It is quite common to see men walking along the street with three-foot sticks of bread tucked under their arms. Public toilets are unusual too. Men and women use the same one. The French say 'The Americans have the best bathrooms and the most constipation.'"

"Paris night life is 'all for the money' although the sidewalks cafes are well patronized and people never seem to go home at night."

"I visited a filthy cellar in Montmartre disguised as a night club where depraved-looking people did Apache dances," said Miss Merry in a once-over-lightly of Paris after dark.

"Then we went to a little spot where one girl after another danced with wipers of tulle fastened to her wrists. The floor shone like it did in London. The French, however, enjoy life but they do dislike the Americans."

"American soldiers, they say, have a lot of money and no manners. They tend to patronize the French and the French can't stand them. American tourists have to have everything just as it is at home. They don't really want to see anything. It is a standing joke in France that soon the Americans will be seeing the country in a week."

CHATEAU COUNTRY

A side trip from Paris to the Loire district with its great chateaux produced the remark, "How I wish I had re-read Dumas."

"I tramped up and down until my feet didn't look like human appendages," said Miss Merry.

"I saw Chateaux on that tour. The cathedrals everywhere—Chartres, Tours, Cologne, Rome, Florence, Westminster—were staggering."

The road to Rome from Paris followed the course of an ancient Roman road built by Marcus Aurelius. The continuation of this same road in England extended all the way to the Roman wall dividing England and Scotland. Miss Merry took the Blue Train from Paris to Nice and went the rest of the way through Italy by bus.

"In Italy the Riviera is spoiled by American billboards."

"The city to see is Florence. It is wonderful. You see, it was a city of pawn brokers and bankers who loved beauty. You can't have beauty without the trades. The Medici were a wealthy family who handed down the gift for making money and a love of art."

Remember that essay by A. A. Milne in which he says that trade supports art—the butcher prepares meat for the painter and the landlady's purpose is to house an artist?

GENEROUS ART LOVER

"Well, Lorenzo the Magnificent, the greatest of the Medici, was a great patron of the arts. He filled Florence with treasures. In the church of San Croce are the tombs of Michelangelo, Dante, Rossini, Galileo and Machiavelli."

"Today there is a school behind the church. The monks teach boys leather craft. You can't have great art with highly paid artisans."

Rome, the Eternal City, was eternally interesting.

"The churches leave you stunned," she said. "We were whirled through the catacombs. There are inscriptions on the walls of the catacombs carved there by early Christians."

"The Colosseum was very interesting. Part of the floor had been removed exposing the honeycomb of rooms beneath that housed the gladiators, beasts and prisoners. The building had been systematically raised for its beauty since the Middle Ages."

"The Colosseum pattern had been used by the Romans in other centres. At Verona there is a colosseum that is still used for concerts."

"We took side trips from Rome to the Villa Deste, to the site of an Etruscan village, and to the summer home of Lucretia Borgia's son."

"The Etruscan village was about 20 miles from Rome. It was only a few years ago that anyone bothered to investigate a series of strange mounds on the site. They discovered the mounds were solid tombs. A man, his wife and family would be buried in a tomb. Half-reclining statues had been carved in the lids on the coffins. The interior of the tombs had been painted with scenes depicting the occupation of the person buried."

BEAUTIFUL GARDENS

"The summer home of Lucretia Borgia's son was a wonder. It was a villa with the most beautiful gardens imaginable. The gardens had been designed by some of the world's greatest architects."

There were some 800 fountains in the garden, each one with statuary and its own vista. There were splendid marble mosaics and the cypress trees made the whole place a truly romantic spot.

"I crossed the Apennines twice. The roads were very good but everything was done by hand. Men working on the roads were using wheel barrows, hammers and shovels."

"The Italians have cleared away every trace of Mussolini. Before he became war-minded he did accomplish many things for Italy."

"The Italians are not warlike people. Indeed, I think there is no more the least warlike people anywhere. However, everywhere one went in Europe one could see conscripts drilling."

"I did want to see where Horatio swam the Tiber. The Tiber when I saw it was a muddy little creek and I thought Horatio could have almost jumped across it."

Miss Merry visited Verona, Venice, Assisi, Pisa, Siena, Nice and Milan.

CASTLE IN RUINS

"Shakespeare's play 'Romeo and Juliet' is taken from a local story of Verona," she said. "The Montague castle is in ruins but the Capulet castle is still in good condition. There are wonderful vistas from it. I saw the tomb where Juliet is supposed to be buried."

"In Venice I saw the house where Othello and Desdemona were supposed to have lived. In Venice I stayed at the Hotel Europa on the Grand Canal. Musicians and singers used to perform in front of the hotel each night on a barge. Gondolas conveyed the singers about Venice."

"I sat in St. Mark's square and went to the picture galleries. I met well educated people doing stupid things such as being tourist agents. Young fellows who had been to Norway had come home to Paris to look for a job and were because their families didn't want them living so far away. Family influence is very strong."

"Milan was about 80 per cent destroyed in the war. Today there are great wide streets and air-conditioned hotels in an almost completely rebuilt city. There was a standing room only at La Scala. Going to the opera was such a sensation with flunkies in uniform by the regiment."

"Nice is a fishing village that became the home of Russian grand dukes. It has the richest church. Solid gold icons encrusted with pearls and jewels contrasted strangely with battered old chairs. The grand dukes are too poor now to enjoy Nice. Only the Americans can afford it."

"The covered-up look scores as is to be expected in a season of understated but distinct elegance. Typical of the orders being placed by important specialty shops is this most attractive afternoon frock. It is slim and straight with a high neckline and long sleeves. Of brown or black crepe, it has matching taffets in the two side panels of the bodice and for the draped sash with huge bow at one hip."

ter, and Nell Gwyn's residence at Windsor, and Westminster Cathedral.

"Everywhere I went I found things very lovely and then further along I would find something else equally as good. I think one needs a year at least for London, Paris and Rome."

How did Miss Merry find the food in Europe?

"The food in English cities was dull but the food in the country generally was good. In France and Italy the food was marvellous. In Holland everything was solid but so dreadfully dull. I think the Dutch boil everything, absolutely everything."

What was the most beautiful thing on her trip?

"The Winged Victory of Samothrace in the Louvre was magnificent."

"Now that I am back home I wonder why on earth I didn't do it before," said Miss Merry.

"One of the sharpest impressions I brought home from my trip was a feeling of how fortunate I was to be born in Canada with all its opportunities."

"I would love to go back."

AFTERNOON ATTRACTION

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

LAND INTENSIVELY WORKED

"Land is intensively worked in Italy," said Miss Merry as she explained that in places apricot trees at the corners of small barley fields were as numerous as trees so that three crops were harvested from one small patch of land.

"Farm houses are two storeys high with the animals on the ground floor and the family above."

"The Swiss are an industrious people," said Miss Merry. "They are as busy as can be but they are not particularly handsome. I didn't see one good looking man or one good looking girl in Switzerland. They are the people who have never had a war but gave the world cuckoo clocks. Lucerne is just a big tourist place."

In Holland Miss Merry visited a flower auction "where most of the cut flowers in Europe are sold."

"I admire the Dutch very much," said Miss Merry. "They are terrific people. They held up the German army for five days and on a given day the whole Dutch railway went underground. They lost their colonial possessions. Their country was inundated but they have not lost their morale nor their industry."

"Miss Merry visited Amsterdam which has as many canals as Venice" and where "the bridges are outlined in lights at night making a splendid picture."

Miss Merry spent only two days in Germany.

"Travelling down the Rhine was beautiful," she said, "but coming after Italy and all its castles some of the charm of the castles was lost."

FEW PEASANT COSTUMES

"Peasant costume has disappeared all over Europe except for tourist occasions. The only place I saw people in peasant costume was on a small island in the Zuider Zee."

"In some cities in Holland, on wash days, every second street is closed to traffic while housewives hang their washing across the street."

Miss Merry's visit to England included stays in London, Devon, Plymouth, Exeter and Cornwall.

"I wanted to see the plays at the English Stratford to compare them with the Canadian Stratford but I couldn't go. The plays were sold out and I had a dreadful toothache for three days."

In London Miss Merry visited the George Inn, "one of the last inns with a courtyard," where a company of Shakespearean players present plays three or four times a year. "Samuel Johnson drank beer there."

In Devon one of the highlights of her stay was a visit "to an old church with hand-carved pews—a bit wormy—but very old. There were two tombs in the church, one the tomb of a crusader with his legs crossed."

In Plymouth Miss Merry visited the green "where Drake was bowling when he left to attack the Spanish Armada."

MORE TIME NEEDED

Other places of interest visited in England included Hampton Court, Eton, Windsor Castle and Chapel of the Knights of the Garter.

White Cane Club Enjoys Picnic

On Thursday afternoon, the White Cane Club held their annual picnic at the fair grounds. The weather was perfect for the event and the members enjoyed themselves as they tried the games and contests with great enthusiasm. Several members of the Advisory Board were present to lend a hand, and visitors from Kingston included the field secretary, Preston Timmins; his assistant, Bob Padden, and the home teacher, Miss Muriel Casey. A hearty picnic lunch was served at long tables to conclude a pleasant afternoon.

The games started with a get-acquainted stunt passing a dime from hand to hand. Carol Stevens of Napanee, was the winner for kicking her shoe the farthest with Bob Padden winning for the most in the kick-off Carol was winner.

The "hot potato" contest was won by Harvey St. Onge of Trenton. Mrs. Kingston supplied the music for this game with guitar and mouth organ.

Other prize winners were, pinning the tail on the donkey, Sharon Rushlow, first. Dropping clothes pins in a can, Mrs. Chris. Witowitch, Janet Stevens and Mrs. Alma St. Onge. Pacing 20 feet, Marjorie Rushlow. Mr. Towner and Mr. St. Onge. Tossing hoops on hooks, Carol Stevens, Chris. Witowitch and Janet Stevens. Throwing balls in a basket, Janet Stevens, Margaret Bishop and Harvey St. Onge. All tied. Blowing balloons, Ted Rowe, Carol Stevens and Mildred Rushlow.

Prizes went to Mr. Alexander as the tallest person, "Cap" Bottom as the oldest person; Mildred Rushlow as the youngest, and to Joan Smith who sat at the lucky spot at the table.

Mr. Everett Fairman offered grace at the table, and Mr. Timmins expressed thanks to all who assisted. The Kinetite club provided cake and ice cream to make a tasty dessert to finish the lunch.

"I have a feeling of shame, too, for the people in this country for being so dreadfully materialistic about everything."

"Everywhere in Europe and England every little place makes the most of its beauty. I feel like backing a campaign for a more beautiful Belleville. We have every thing as marvellous scenery in Canada as there is in Europe. After all Paris has been there for 2,000 years and when you think what we have done in this country in 50 years it is nothing less than remarkable."

How does Miss Merry feel about Europe after her trip?

"I would love to go back."

Couple to Mark Anniversary Of Wedding

PICTON—Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Johnson, The Outlet, will mark the 40th anniversary of their wedding on Sunday, August 28. The Rev. Mr. Johnson is a minister and a daughter with their families present for the occasion.

"They were married in Picton by the Rev. Mr. Sixsmith. Mrs. Johnson was formerly Rose McConnell, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George E. McConnell. Mrs. Johnson's parents are the late Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Leslie Johnson.

Mr. Johnson learned cheese making with his father-in-law at Royal Street factory, then made cheese for ten years at Point Traverse, and a year on Waupoos Island.

In those days there were 15 factories in the county. War time prices made it a profitable business then. Mr. Johnson farmed near Fosters for five years.

Due to low prices, Mr. Johnson does not do a great deal of commercial fishing as he formerly did. He is now a guard with Cardes at Point Peter. He also operates a summer cottage resort on the Outlet river.

FIVE SONS IN ARMY

In the last war, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson had five sons, serving overseas. One of them, Ivan, died after returning home.

Their sons are—Arthur and Carman, of South Bay, Floyd in Picton; Murray and Harland, in Toronto; Ivan, Ronnie and Robert at home. The daughter is Mrs. Rex Foshore (Colleen), of Bloomfield Road.

Mr. Johnson's three brothers, Stanley, Robert and Roy, live in Weeks, Sask. Another brother, George, was killed in World War I.

Mrs. Johnson's brothers and sisters are, Kenneth McConnell, keeper of Main Duck Light, Roy, of Royal Street; Mrs. George McConnell, (Leona), Waupoos, and Mrs. Robert Hudgin, (Jennie), Ridge Road.

Your bed sheets will last longer if you occasionally place the narrow hem of the bottom sheet at the head instead of the foot. This will keep the pillow where the sleeper's shoulders rest against them.

GRANT FUNERAL HOME

Lasting Loveliness

By ALICE ALDEN

Fashions bud, bloom, depart, but one phase goes on and on, gaining new laurels each season. There's nothing, but nothing so simple yet so opulent, so practical yet so luxurious as the hand-knit ribbon dress. It packs easily, takes virtually no space, emerges with nary a wrinkle. It always looks the part—that of unobtrusive elegance. Ann Fleischer, a pioneer in handknits does a slim tunic and travel dress in two-tone blue ribbon in a new geometric pattern. It has a Peter Pan collar, self crocheted buttons and a self belt. This two-piece is prepared to go anywhere since it finds itself fresh and fashionable anywhere in the world.

Readers' Saturday Column

As Told to Mary Moore

QUESTION:

Being a very interested reader of your column I am writing to ask for any information you might give us concerning wedding receptions. I am president of a church organization and we are being asked to cater to their reception. If you would send us suggestions on proper methods of conducting and serving these groups we would be very grateful, as we must do it properly if we hope to continue at it.—M.D.

ANSWER:

Could you please help me? Our church group which I convene, have a wedding to cater for and I could use some help. It is to be a turkey dinner for sixty-five people. How much turkey for sixty-five dressed weight, do you have to get per person, also how many potatoes to be mashed for this number. Is half cup frozen peas or beans enough per serving? Have enjoyed your column for a good many years and like your comments on your family. Have three married myself and one still going to school.—Mrs. J. L.

ANSWER:

I have a tremendous admiration for you hard-working church group conveners. I have mailed to both of you girls a copy of each of two releases which appeared here May 26 and August 13 of this year which I hope will help. I will repeat some information I also gave here to Mrs. G. R. McL. on amounts to buy of turkey to serve 50, etc.

BUYING TURKEY FOR 50

Two 25-lb. turkeys weighed undrawn and with head and feet on will serve 50 generously, when dressed and stuffed and roasted. These should be roasted at 325 deg. Fahr. for 4 1/2 to 5 1/2 hours.

MASHED POTATOES FOR 50

Fourteen lbs. peeled potatoes, 4 1/2 quarts boiling water, 4 1/2 tablespoons salt, 2 quarts hot milk, 1/2 lb. (or more) butter, 3 tablespoons salt. Cover pared potatoes with boiling salted water. Cook until tender. Drain. Mash and add hot milk, butter, and salt. (To keep potatoes white you may add 2 teaspoons baking powder.) Whip until light and creamy.

POTATO SALAD FOR 50

Ten lbs. cooked and diced potatoes, 1 cup French dressing, 8 or 10 hard-cooked eggs, 1 cup each finely chopped raw green pepper and canned chopped pimientos, 6 cups finely sliced celery, 1-2 cup finely minced green onion. (The addition of cooked green peas and sliced olives and radishes is optional.) Cook potatoes in skins and peel and dice. Whisk warm marinade with French dressing

TAKE YOUR SISTER'S ADVICE; IT'S GOOD

Dear Beatrice Fairfax: I am a girl of 14 and have been going steady with a boy who has just turned 17. My mother thinks he is very nice, and I like him very much, but my oldest sister says I should go with other boys, too. What do you think?

Ann B.

Dear Ann:

I entirely agree with your sister. It would be very silly for any girl of 14 to confine her friendships with boys to a single individual, and I hope you will show good sense and make all the friends among the boys you can.

"Going steady" won't last long in any case at your age, so it would be much smarter for you not to do it at all than to keep going with one boy and breaking up with him, then taking on another and going through the same thing in an endless chain.

I hope you'll agree.

WHERE'S YOUR PRIDE, BARBARA?

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I am 16, and there is a boy named Tony that I like very much. I went out with him for three months and not once in that time did he kiss me, though his friends all say that he liked me as much as I like him.

One night he called me and said he could not come around that night but he would come around on another night he named. He didn't show up or even call, though. Then, about two weeks later he called but I was not home. Three months later I called him and asked him why he didn't come around any more. He told me he could not tell me then, but would call me the next night and tell me the reason. But he didn't call then, either.

What do you think I ought to do, call him or just wait for him to call me first?

Barbara D.

Dear Barbara:

Why keep chasing this boy and trying to force him into giving you an answer about why he's not interested enough to keep in touch with you? Don't you think you'd better have sufficient pride to let him be the one to get in touch with you if he cares to? Certainly there isn't anything to keep a boy from the telephone, at least, even though something may come up that prevents him from coming around to a girl's house. So if this boy neither calls you nor comes around, especially after he has said he would do one or the other on a certain night, I'm afraid you'd better take the hint and accept the fact that he's lost interest.

P. S. I think he showed very

A QUICK WAVE-SET

Frustrating though it may be, there's hardly a woman in the world who hasn't at one time or another been invited out on a big date, not only quite unexpectedly but just at a time when she's definitely not looking her best. For a whole week she has looked lovely, her skin flawless, her hair exquisitely coiffed, and then today! Right in the middle of an exceptionally busy day, what happens? The telephone rings, the invitation comes and she wouldn't turn it down for a million. But, oh, the flurry that follows as she tries to make herself presentable! It's happened to you, hasn't it?

Well, in the future when situations arise, don't get flustered; in fact anytime when you must, for any reason, skip your usual shampoo or just haven't the time for one, here's probably the speediest and most fragrant dry-cleaning substitute you could possibly dream up:

Fill the bristles of your hairbrush with a light layer of absorbent cotton, the speediest of the world with cologne and brush your hair thoroughly. You will find that your hair sets very easily after this procedure. Your cologne or toilet water is so quick-drying that your pin curls take shape in almost no time. If your hair is unusually thick, you may first go over it with the cologne-saturated brush and then take a piece of cotton, saturate it with more cologne and wipe each strand before you set it in a pin curl. By the time you've dried your hair, your hair will be dry and it will look as lovely as ever.

This measure, of course, should never be substituted for your regular shampoo, since too frequent use of the cologne or toilet water would incline the hair to dryness. It is an emergency measure only. Cologne can be used to freshen the hair in other ways, too—especially in hot water. If you find yourself perspiring uncomfortably, take a dab of fresh cotton, soak it in the cologne, and stroke the forehead right into the hairline, then take a fresh piece, also well-saturated and treat the back hairline. Start at the nape of your neck, work into the hairline and up. This will leave you feeling wonderfully refreshed and cool.

During the warm weather the scalp perspires more than usual. The oil glands are overworked. This, in turn, means that dust and superficial grime cling more quickly to the hair. Saturate a large wad of cotton with cologne or toilet water and "wipe off" this surface oil. Again, we repeat, do not do this often. After all, there's nothing as good for the hair as your regular shampoo, which will give you good sense to keep his kisses for a more serious friendship. I wish more of you young people would do the same.

Bateman Clan Holds Reunion, Elects Officers

The annual reunion of the Bateman family and their descendants was held on July 20 at Tweed Memorial Park. About 100 members enjoyed a basket dinner at 1 o'clock and a number came later to enjoy the afternoon.

The president, Dr. Russell Bateman, of Belleville, greeted everyone present, and asked all to observe a minute of silence in memory of the members who have been deceased since the last picnic.

Mr. John Bateman, of Belleville, gave a short talk, giving as much history of the Bateman clan as he has been able to secure.

Scott Bateman, of Nanawau, in charge of the business meeting during which Burton Bateman, of Springbrook, was elected president and Mrs. Hiram Mumby, of Springbrook, elected secretary for the coming year.

GIFTS PRESENTED

Gifts were presented as follows:

Newest member present, George Wilbur Countryman, 6-weeks son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Countryman, Hanover, Ont.; oldest member present, Henry Gerow, 76, of Foxboro, Ontario; largest family present, Mr. and Mrs. John Morrison, Stirling, Ont., with six of their family present; most recently married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Bateman of Springbrook, Ont.; member coming the farthest, Bob Bateman coming from Quebec City.

Numerous games of bingo were later enjoyed by both young and old, as well as a ball game and races were held for the kiddies. One of the special features of the afternoon was a 200-yard swim contest in which June Wright and Sandra Meiklejohn were the two top girl contestants and Bill Lane

MARKING GLASSWARE FOR ANNIVERSARY GIFT

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Friends of ours are soon to celebrate their Twenty-fifth Wedding Anniversary, and my husband and I have decided to give them a present of some glassware, which I am fairly sure they need more than the usual gift of silver which I am sure they don't need. I'd like to have these glasses marked. Should I order them marked with the husband's initials or the wife's initials? Is there any rule about this marking? — Annie R.

The general idea is that the initials of the wife, the hostess, are used on the glasses that are to be used on the dining table. . . . goblets, water tumblers, wine glasses, and so forth. . . . and the initials of the husband, the host, on glasses that are served away from the table, for example, glasses for tall drinks or drinks "on the rocks," cocktail glasses, and so forth. However, this isn't a really definite rule, and you may follow your judgment. Very often all the glasses are marked with the wife's initials having all glasses marked with the husband's initials. And very often all the glasses are marked with one handsome initial of the couple's last name, the style appropriate to the design of the glassware.

SHOWERS CAN BE PROBLEMS!

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A few months ago one of my best friends (or so I thought) was expecting her first baby. Her husband and John Bateman topped the boys.

Everyone unanimously agreed that this had been one of the most enjoyable reunions held in recent years.

band's sister had a surprise show-reunion to give a shower. . . . but er all planned for her, invitations sent, and had invited all of her friends from far and wide, which I know you say about it still considered proper for a close relative to give a shower. I don't believe her sister-in-law intended to give a shower as a bid for gifts—I honestly believe she planned it as a nice gesture toward her. Although it was supposed to be a "surprise" affair and they thought people talked about it and some were bitter about it. It ended up, invited, only a few guests went to the shower. Most of those who did go sent money (the shower-gift was a money-collection gift), but most of us knew the real reason why they didn't go—they were disgusted.

A few weeks before the shower I told her about it. I'm not asking if I did right or wrong—I know that she would stop it, but instead she seemed pleased, and let them go ahead with it. Recently she has accused me of spoiling it all for her by telling her, and also that I'm wrong. I'm going to go to her and ask forgiveness even though I know I've lost her friendship, but I'd like to have you reassure me first. What is your advice?

My advice is that you let bygones be bygones. If you weren't able to convince your friend before the shower, you certainly wouldn't be able to convince her now, when she must be bitterly disappointed that the shower was such a flop in attendance, even though it apparently wasn't as "old" for gifts, received even from absent guests. You are very anxious to say that you "don't" believe her sister-in-law intended the shower as a bid for gifts!

You were right that it isn't considered in good form for a close relative to give a shower. . . . but

Mother's Helper

IT'S WISE to be extra careful when you scrub baby's glass bottles. The oil of a brush made with twisted wire can make tiny scratches which weaken the glass so it breaks when heated. Be sure your brush has a full-bristled tip, and replace it when it's worn. Copyright, 1955, R.T. Smith Times Inc.

being right won't get you anywhere now, when the situation has become so mixed-up and unhappy. As you know now, to your sorrow, you had "no right" to get involved by telling your friend about the "surprise" shower. . . . you should learn from this experience that you shouldn't get involved further, shouldn't "explain." In such circumstances you can't win. . . . so hope that the friendship will come back naturally. If, as I judge the reason why the majority of those invited to the shower were "disgusted" and stayed away in droves, was because the shower was given under the auspices of relatives, this news will get through to your friend soon enough will convince her if anything will. So please just relax, and don't try to force the issue.

CRABGRASS REMEDY

If your lawn is free from Crabgrass it's a sure bet there are some in your immediate neighborhood and you'll be well advised to take precautionary steps now to prevent an infestation next year. Crabgrass does not come in lawn seed or fertilizer. It is spread by wind and in mud (tires, boots, etc.) and multiplies rapidly from a single plant to hundreds as it produces a seed crop every 5 days in August. Making its first appearance in July, Crabgrass reaches its peak vegetative stage in mid-August when it disappears gradually with cool weather, being most prevalent in poor lawns or newly seeded ones. Control is easy and practical with any good potassium granular weed killer when used according to directions. Treat at least twice at intervals of about one week. However, prevention, as always, is far more satisfactory than cure and it should be noted right here that the best preventive measure in combating any weed is to establish and maintain a vigorous, healthy lawn. Why not start your own campaign against Crabgrass and all other weeds right this fall. Start by improving your present lawn with seed, fertilizer and a light topdressing of good loam. Follow it up with a late fall application of superphosphate root fertilizer. In March, before your lawn is coming in, apply a plus regular watering. Cost of fertilizer and seed as above per 1,000 square feet: $5.00. We think you'll agree that a beautiful lawn around your home is worth it!

Indian Money

By LEONARD L. KNOTT
Illustrated by David Ranson

Before the white men came to Canada, the Indian tribes had a civilization of their own. Like all other people everywhere, they invented a form of money so that they could carry on trade with each other.

The Indians called their money, wampum. It was a very strange kind of money, for in addition to serving as a kind of currency, it was also used as an ornament and served as pen, ink and paper for the redmen who had never learned how to read or write.

Wampum consisted of elongated beads, white and purple, made out of the inner part of certain shells. Later, when the white man arrived, the Indians made wampum with beads and other paleface trinkets, but these were never as valuable nor as carefully guarded as the beads of old.

Strung into necklaces, or made into collars, belts and bracelets, bead wampum was the favorite decoration of Indian girls. They wore these decorations at wedding ceremonies and at dances and festivals. When an Indian brave proposed marriage to a maiden, he presented her with wampum. If she accepted him she wore it. But if she did not accept him, she kept the wampum anyway so that some Indian girls had 20 or more wampum belts in the time they were married.

PART IN TREATIES

Wampum also played an important part in the Indian treaties and agreements between tribes. No

Mrs. Charles Vance will give a floral demonstration.

Garden Notes

Flowers All the Year Round

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

The trained gardener who plans flower beds, window and plant boxes, seldom expects the same material to look well through the whole season.

He will plant bulbs in the fall for the early spring display, and follow this, with annuals which are ready to bloom in the early spring, the dwarf or trailing geraniums, the dwarf or trailing type. He may mix dwarf marigolds with red geraniums, or use salmon geraniums with blue lobelia, or white sweet alyssum. Dwarf red zinnias and Red Riding Hood are excellent here, going well with green and white leaved vinca, a trailing vine.

For accent he will use foliage plants such as dracaena, with green, or green and white-striped swordlike leaves, or dusty miller. This has lacy leaves in powdery grey.

All of these are long lived plants and with an occasional clipping back, or pinching will go through many months, even into fall. They will require regular feedings to keep them in bloom, and plenty of water. This goes for all planters and window boxes, since the shallow soil layer dries but very quickly. In hot weather they may need water twice a day. Feeding should be at two week intervals.

Agarums make excellent plant box material. The blue agarum comes in several varieties of height and shades of blue. There are also shades of pink, white and yellow. This last is not a true agarum, but all are compact dwarf plants with a long season of bloom and very floriferous. These are often used along the edge with taller plants for center.

The types and color of petunias are legion from the small flat kinds to the saucer-size ruffled plants. The colors run from white through to deepest purple in solid colors and stars, veining, mottled and edges in bi-colors. These too, will last for months. Keep the faded blooms picked off to encourage the new flowers to form, all through the season.

Pansies are lovely for early spring boxes, but seldom look well for more than two months. Plan to place them with other plants. Violas, the blue and yellow, white, tufted pansies last well. They make a good edge, but need other plants for height.

For the shady side of the house one can still have a brilliant color. Choose tuberous rooted begonias. They have beautiful large blooms in quick succession. They may be single or double with a crisp waxy texture. The double types may be filled or fringed, cannela, rose-like, or picotee, pinked like a carnation. Hanging basket, or window box begonias are called pendula, or basket begonia. They too have brightly colored blooms which hang in graceful clusters.

Coleus will provide a riot of color for a shady situation. The leaf colors are combinations of scarlet, crimson, yellow, white and green. There's a wide variety in the leaf shapes too, from large heart-shaped leaves to small pointed and deeply indented leaves.

In choosing plant material for planters consider the type and color of your home first. A modern cottage does not call for tropical type plants any more than a mission type home goes well with heliotrope and drummondii pllox.

You will want a green background for your flowers. Ferns will answer this need until you can buy dwarf evergreens. You can use evergreen branches, pushed into the soil in late fall to lend a touch of green for the winter. Plant bulbs in late fall to bloom in your beds for early spring. Daffodils are early, colorful and very hardy. An edging of color can be added by putting in scillas or grapes hyacinths in white or blue.

YOUR CAR

Water Pumps
Differ
In Construction

By Eugene Milmo

Although all water pumps are designed for one purpose, they do vary in construction — so don't attempt to lubricate or overhaul yours unless you first check on the manufacturer's specifications. Special water pump kits containing parts and full repair instructions are available for many, if not all, types.

The majority of water pumps made today are the packless kind, featuring an inner water seal. This seal is permanently held in the water inside the pump itself. Packless pumps circulate the coolant efficiently, seldom give any serious trouble and can be depended on for long life. Any squeaks that might develop in these pumps are usually eliminated by adding just a few drops of soluble oil to the water.

M. C. asks: "The heat control valve on my manifold is stuck. I tried to free it by squirting some kerosene on the shaft, but it didn't help. What should I do to release it?"
(A) Try applying a little graphite around the shaft and tapping the outside lever a bit.

CLUTCH CHATTER

From N.H.: "I had a new clutch installed in my car about a year ago, and up until now it has worked smoothly. Lately, when I start out in low, I notice that the car seems to vibrate more than it should. Transmission, differential, universal and drive shaft are all in good shape."
(A) Clutch chatter, caused by a sticky lubricant on the clutch facings, could be to blame for such symptoms.

MARILYN, SULLIVAN MEET AGAIN

It was an old friends' reunion when Ed Sullivan, TV master of ceremonies from New York, met Marilyn Bell at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto. Sullivan met Marilyn when the young swimmer star had conquered Lake Ontario. Now both are performing at the CNE.

Canada Keeping Open Mind On Plans for Disarmament

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada goes to the New York disarmament talks next week with cautious optimism that new steps may be taken along the path to reduced armed strength.

The four other members of the sub-committee of the United Nations disarmament commission, all likely to give details of their previously announced disarmament plans, Canada has no plan and is keeping an open mind on those of Britain, France, the United States and Russia.

Not being involved in plans of the Big Four may be an advantage at the New York meetings which start Aug. 29. In the past, Canada has found ways to keep disarmament talks on the rails. It uncommitted to one of the four plans, it might be able to do so again.

Canada put new life into the long-drawn disarmament discussions at the last UN General Assembly when this country's resolution that led to reconstitution of the five-power disarmament sub-committee provided a framework for continued negotiation.

Following the ceremony a reception took place in the Council

Canada Outdoors Hardy Band of Hunters Ready For First Week in September

By DAVE QUANCE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP)—Come rain or shine, a hardy band of hunters will be scattered across Alberta's lakes and hills the first week of September when the hunting season for migratory birds opens.

Those first mornings they'll be waiting high in sloughs and marshes or crouched silent in boats—gun in hand and eyes skyward waiting for the first formations.

Almost every city, town and crossroads in Alberta has a fish and game association. All are connected with the Alberta Fish and Game Association. They promote safe, honest hunting and the preservation of the bird population at a good level.

GREAT TRY-WAY
The 40 licensed outfitters in the province have been stocking equipment and lining up guides for the expected big influx of hunters from the United States and eastern Canada.

Alberta is a major part of the great western fly-way for migratory birds. Every year hundreds of thousands of ducks and geese leave the northern water holes, the myriad lakes and riverways for the trip south. Alberta has every type of duck except the greater Atlantic sculp and almost every type of geese.

Uplands birds are also plentiful and when the season opens in October hunters will be looking for pheasants, ruffed grouse or partridge, Hungarian partridge, prairie chickens, blue grouse and ptarmigan.

BIRDS PLENTIFUL
Game authorities say that all birds will be plentiful this year. Partridge, reported low in number in Ontario, are plentiful here, and game authorities say the prairie chicken is coming back strongly. It was because of the good number of birds that the open season on both migratory and upland birds was lengthened and the bag and possession limits for ducks raised.

For migratory birds, the department of northern affairs and national resources has split the province in two. The northern section includes most of the Lac la Piche district and half the Peace River district.

Open season in the northern zone for all migratory birds except wood ducks and Ross's geese begins Sept. 1 and ends Nov. 30. In the southern section it begins Sept. 7 and ends Dec. 10. Last year the season didn't open until Sept. 14 and ended Dec. 4.

The season on Wilson's snipe in the northern zone runs from Sept. 1 to Sept. 30; in the south Sept. 7 to Oct. 8.

HIGHER QUOTA
The daily limit for ducks has been increased to 10 from eight, with an increase in the possession limit to 40. Only half the 40 can be species other than mallard. Other daily limits are five geese, 10 rails and coots (in aggregate) and eight Wilson's snipe.

Throughout the province the season for upland birds including pheasants, prairie chickens, ruffed grouse and Hungarian partridge will be Oct. 15 to Nov. 30. Last year the season ran from Oct. 13 to Nov. 20. Shooting can start at 10 a.m. and must stop a half-hour after sunset.

For blue grouse and ptarmigan the season will be from Sept. 1 to 30, the same as last year. The bag limit for upland birds is five a day with a possession limit of 20 for each species.

Mrs. Claude Dafeo, of Belleville, who has been staying with her mother, Mrs. Morton, has returned home.

Several residents of Thomasburg district attended Belleville Fair, last week and all report a record crowd, despite the sweltering weather.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Vance of Sugar Island Park, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Vance. Miss Linda Vance enjoyed a holiday with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Vance.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Carter, Wayne and Shirley spent last week at their cottage near Fenelon Falls, Ontario.

W.O. Bob Abbott and Mrs. Abbott and family of RCAF, Almyer, Ontario, were guests of Mrs. Abbott's sister, Mrs. Harry Carleton, last week.

Miss Sharon Vance, who has been visiting her grandmother,

Mrs. Wilma Cox of Flinton, Ont., has returned home.

Donald Kennedy, who attended Pre-teachers' College in Toronto, has completed his course and is to be the senior teacher at Thomasburg School this year.

The sympathy of the community is extended to the family of the late Mrs. Addie Cronkright, who passed away at the residence of her son, Harry on Thursday evening August 18.

The funeral took place from the home to Thomasburg United church on Sunday, August 21 at 3:30 p.m., with interment in Thomasburg Cemetery.

The Rev. C. R. Chapman was in charge of the service.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gray, who were quietly married in Thomasburg United church on Saturday, August 20, at 6:30 p.m.

The officiating clergyman was the Rev. C. R. Chapman. Immediately following the ceremony, the happy couple left for a brief honeymoon.

Guy Thompson was the weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. Adams, at their cottage at Moira Lake, near Madoc, Ontario.

The hot dry weather seems to have come to an end at last with a welcome shower on Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Thompson of Trenton, Ontario, were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Thompson.

Scoharie
SCOHARIE — Mr. and Mrs. Reg Moore and Mrs. Moore, Sr. guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mait Grosse.

The Misses Margaret Rose and Barbara June Grosse, Greenbush, three weeks of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Mait Grosse.

Mrs. Della Suddard was a recent supper guest of Miss Norma Foster and both attended a drive-in theatre.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams and three children, Brantford, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mait Grosse.

Mr. and Mrs. Morley Island and Orace accompanied friends on a motor trip to Oswego recently and enjoyed several days' visit with relatives.

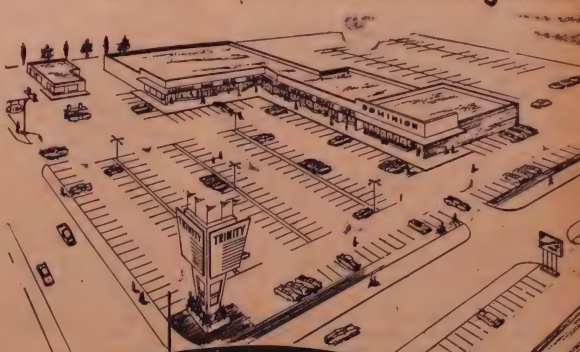

The community was sorry to learn of Mrs. Lewis Cleave's serious illness. She is a patient at Prince Edward County Hospital. Friends also regret the illness of Miss Janie Smith, Bloomfield, and hope she has a speedy recovery.

Miss Norma Foster was a guest at the wedding of Miss Barbara Redner to Mr. Beverly Gray at Centre United Church on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. William McGee accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Burford, Plenton, to Bourlamaque, Quebec, for a week's holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Morley Grosse and family were dinner guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mait Grosse, on Tuesday. Margaret and Barbara returned home with their parents after several weeks with their grandparents.

Cutter Vaccine Incident Blamed On 'Fundamental Weaknesses'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government Friday blamed the Cutter vaccine incident on "fundamental weaknesses" in its own now-discarded safety testing procedures.

It said new standards provide "adequate safeguards" against ineffective amounts of live virus again being injected into healthy children.

The U.S. public health service reported on a four-month investigation said some lots of Cutter vaccine contained live virus and caused polio but that scientists were unable to determine the exact reasons why the live virus was present.

It in effect cleared the Berkeley, Calif., company of negligence with these words:

"The equipment, the physical arrangements and the routine handling procedures of the Cutter laboratories were checked in detail to determine if deficiencies in them might have led to contamination. Nothing was found to indicate that the ineffective amounts of live virus in Cutter vaccine were attributable to contamination."

The health service estimated 401,000 children were vaccinated with the Cutter product before Ontario, purchased the vaccine was withheld from further use.

It said 79 of these persons developed polio within 90 days. An additional 90 cases of polio resulted within 40 days from household contacts of persons who received Cutter vaccine.

Tonsillitis Must Have Tonsils Out

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The United States Navy is willing to have Tonsillitis a second time, but without tonsils.

This came about when Tonsillitis Jackson offered himself at the San Diego amphibious base a few days ago for a second six-year enlistment.

Doctors were about to pass him when they looked into his throat. They said: "Oh! Oh! Tonsillitis has tonsillitis."

He was sent off to naval hospital to get the tonsils removed.

Tonsillitis was given his name by his mother, who had tonsillitis when he was born. The family after that, while generally healthy, just took to diseases for names.

A brother, two years younger, was named Meningitis. There are four girls — Appendicitis, Laryngitis, Peritonitis and Jaketia. Doctors say they are unfamiliar with the last name.

Crippled Indians Stay In Hot Pennant Race By Taking Yankee Bombers

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GARRY ALEXANDER

A WORTHY CHALLENGE

Paul Haggis, sponsor of the Belleville Juniors, has come up with an offer that could settle an argument and help a worthy cause at the same time.

His ball club and the Pictou Lightfoots have battled on and off the ball field in the Belleville and District Baseball League during the schedule and again through a playoff series without a satisfactory answer as to which is the better team.

Pictou and the Juniors met four times in league play with the "Little Spain" crew, coached by Dick Fitzpatrick, pulling out of the ball field in the Belleville and District Baseball League during the schedule and again through a playoff series without a satisfactory answer as to which is the better team.

Haggis seems to have come up with the answer. He wishes to challenge Pictou, through this column, to a best-of-three series to settle the arguments and here is the punch line. Haggis will donate $100 against the same amount from Pictou to the Shrine Crippled Children's Fund of this city. In other words, no matter who wins the series, each club will donate the $100 to the above named fund. We think it's a great idea.

At present, the Juniors are in a two-of-three OBA series with Oshawa while Pictou and Wellington do battle for the local title. Both clubs should be able to find time for such a fine project.

BUSY WEEK-END

The local sport front has plenty of action scheduled for the week-end with playdown games around every corner in different divisions.

The Belleville Haggis Juniors hit the OBA playdown trail and by the time this column reaches the living rooms, Kelleher and his beardless ones will be on their way to the Motor City.

McCallum Transporters sponsor the Oshawa club which is at present tangle with Leaside Braves in the Lakeside league semifinals. The Transporters finished in second place during their league schedule with 13 victories in 22 games. It should be a good series with Oshawa out for revenge after the senior Bats whipped their big brothers last year.

The game gets under way at 8:00 p.m. Coach Kelleher will likely send his ace right-hander, Leo St. Denis to the mound in an effort to cop this all-important first game. Cameron Buskard catching, Chuck Kingston at first, Gord St. Louis on second, Gerry Goyer covering short stop and John Casey at the hot corner will fill out the infield. Bobby Hull, Ted Batchelor and Shaker Baker or Harvey Stolkler will patrol the outfield.

Meanwhile in the OBA playdowns, the Belleville Orfuns and Point Anne clash with Kingston Warren's Orphans and Trenton Royal Hotel, respectively.

The Orfuns had their game Thursday night pretty well under control for the first four frames with southpaw Bobby Green firing one-hit ball. Then the usually reliable combination of Doug Hull and John Batchelor came apart and handed Stan Scrutton's boys three unearned runs and a 3-2 lead.

Orfuns committed five errors in all but it's best to get them all out of their system at once. Tonight's clash should be a different story. Action gets under way at the Kingston Community Centre at 6:00 p.m. since Spafford lost the right to home field in one flip and the last bats in another.

The winners of this series will wait since Whitby and Oshawa must complete their series and then the winners meet Peterborough.

Point Anne found almost the same trouble as they, too, committed five errors and allowed Trenton to knot their intermediate "A" series at one game each. They go back at it again tonight under the lights at Trenton.

Phil Loft has tossed Bobby Hull and Buck Burshaw into the fray so far in an attempt to give veteran Pat Maracle a well-deserved rest. It paid off the first game with Hull twirling a five-hitter and had the Cementmen given Burshaw any support on Thursday, the series would likely be over by now.

However, that's water under the bridge and in all probability, Maracle will start tonight.

The Cementmen or Trenton will take on Peterborough Sea-brooke Motors in the second round in the Liffitt City on Monday, August 29th, so a winner must be declared tonight.

Elsewhere the Kingston juveniles visit our local aggregation at Exhibition Park today at 2:30 p.m. in the first game of their two-of-three OBA series. No date is available for the second game.

Vaughan's bantams of Belleville also hit the playdown trail when they visit Ottawa for the Eastern Ontario tournament. Cornwall and the host club meet at 10 a.m., Peterborough and Belleville at 1 p.m. and the winners for the title at 4:00 p.m.

Doby, Woodling and Wertz Out But Cleveland Whomps Tommy Byrne for 5-2 Count

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If the Cleveland Indians can win when they're crippled, how's anybody going to beat 'em when they get healthy?

Manager Al Lopez, who has been amazed all year at the way his team has managed to stay up close in the American League pennant race, was without three of his big guys again Friday night, yet the Indians smacked New York Yankees 5-2 and climbed back into second place.

The victory moved the Tribe to within one game of the first-place Yankees and carried them past Chicago White Sox, who tripped to third with a 10-0 pasting by Washington, White Sox, only 14½ games back despite three straight defeats, were held to two hits by Pedro Ramirez, a 20-year-old right-hander.

Cleveland was without Larry Doby (pulled thigh muscle), Gene Woodling (bruised ribs) and Wertz (polio), yet battered Tommy Byrne, usually a tough gent for the Tribe to handle, for 12 hits in seven innings.

Bob Lemon, a former casualty, scattered nine Yankee hits and took his 14th victory, although Ray Narleski had to get the last two outs. Phil Rizzuto and Gil McDougall homered for the Yankees.

The White Sox, tired from three doubleheaders in four days, managed only a fourth-inning double by Minnie Minoso, who ran his hitting streak to 19 games, and a two-out single by Jim Rivera in the ninth off AMOS. The six-foot Cuban walked only two and struck out three.

Washington got off to a rousing start, scoring six runs in the first inning as Dick Donovan, making his second start since his appendectomy, lasted through just six batters.

In the other American League games, Detroit edged fourth-place Boston 5-4 and Kansas City defeated Baltimore 3-2 on Enos Slaughter's eighth-inning home run. The National League race resumed itself as Cincinnati smacked Brooklyn 4-2, cutting the Dodgers' lead to 10 games—the shortest spread since their 9½-game edge of June 10. Milwaukee's second-place Braves whipped New York 7-1.

St. Louis kept Philadelphia from replacing the Giants in third place, 4-1, and Chicago snapped a seven-game losing streak at Pittsburgh, 6-3.

Johnny Temple had three hits as Cincinnati denied Carl Erskine his 100th major league victory and knocked in the winning run with a double as the Redlegs broke a 2-2 tie in the seventh. Winner Don Gross needed help from Buster Freeman.

Brooklyn now has lost nine of its last 13 games. Milwaukee wrapped Giants up early, going five games up on the New Yorkers with Del Crandall's bases-loaded home run off Ruben Gomez in the second inning. Bob Buhl spaced eight hits for a 13-8 record and his fourth straight victory.

Stan Leonard In Second Place Of Canadian Open

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Stan Leonard Vancouver's contribution to big-time golf, says it should take him another two or three months to "become famous" to the game's money trail. The way he's going, it may be sooner than most people think.

The 39-year-old Canadian beat the suburban Montreal summerers course for a four-under-par 68—the best of the day—Friday to catapult into second place with 135 in the $5,000 Open, one stroke behind Sam Snead, the slammest man from White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., who carded a 69. Doug Ford, beetle-browed pro from Kiamiesha Lake, N.Y., joined Leonard in the runner-up spot, also with a 69 to go with his first-round 66.

Another stroke off the pace is Gene Littler, 25-year-old former U.S. national amateur champion. He toured this 6,315-yard layout in 69, following an opening-round 67. Three are tied with 137—Bill Casper of Chula Vista, Calif., Mike Souchock of Grossingers, N.Y., opening-day leader with Snead man, a 65 who ballooned to a two-over-par 72 Friday, and Art Wall, Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa.

Freddie Hawkins of St. Andrews, Ill., the hard-luck pro of the tournament trail who still is looking for his first major title in seven years on the circuit, follow with 138 each.

NORMAN WELL UP
Up with the leaders was Moe Norman, the irrepressible Kitchener, Ont., shotsmith and this year's Canadian amateur champion. He shot a par 70 and at 141 after two rounds was second lowest Canadian, six strokes higher than Leonard.

Johnny Henrick, Ottawa professional, was next in the big Canadian contingent with 143 on 71-72 rounds. Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver couldn't stand up to the snoring to a seven-over-par 77 after a first-round 68 for a 145 total.

Friday's second round started with the ruddy-cheeked Leonard in 11th place with a 69, four strokes behind 43-year-old Snead, and not considered a serious threat for the $5,000 pot of gold to be awarded the winner of the 72-hole tournament. That didn't affect Leonard.

He was six under par at the 13th and heading fast for at least a 64 to equal the course tournament record set at this Open two years ago. Bad luck caught up with him, he went over par figures on the 205-yard 15th and again on the 17th and got home in the back nine with a 34 to go with his first-nine 32.

Snead was one of the early finishers among the leaders and his 134-total stood up although Leonard and Ford made threatening passes at it. Snead hit par on the nose going out but chopped one off regulation figures on the home nine.

PUTTED ONLY 29

Leonard's driver and putter helped him in his masterful round. He needed only 29 putts during the day but his putter let him down on the 17th when he carded a one-over-par five. His second shot bounced into a spectator who was standing in the rough at the left of the green, he chipped about 35

United States Trails 2-0 In Davis Cup Challenge Round

By ED CORRIGAN

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—To describe the position of the United States' defending Davis Cup team as difficult would be putting it mildly.

Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas have two strikes on them. One more and they're out and the trophy returns to Australia.

Trabert and Seixas try to keep their faint hopes alive on the polished turf of the West Side Tennis Club today when they meet Lewis Hoad and Rex Hartwig in the doubles match of the best-of-five event.

Even if Trabert and Seixas win, they still must take the final two singles Sunday. Tony is paired with Ken Rosewall and Seixas meets Hoad.

HOAD HUMBLE TRABERT
The near-capacity throng of 13,500 Friday half-expected Rosewall to lick Seixas. That he did, 6-3, 10-8, 4-6, 6-2. It was Rosewall's 10th victory in 12 meetings with the 32-year-old Seixas.

But there probably wasn't a soul sitting in the sun-baked stands who thought Hoad, a big, blond youngster who blows hot and cold, could be the humble Trabert, the king of the world's amateurs. He not only humbled Trabert, but gave Tony a good tennis lesson to boot, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, 8-6.

Trabert failed to take advantage of his openings. Hoad, in turn, pushed him to the back court when it became apparent that Tony wasn't going to press the issue. At the start, Hoad, fearful of Trabert's cannonball delivery, stayed in the backcourt and sent back easy returns. That's how the American won the first set.

But from the start of the second set it was a different story. Hoad began taking Tony's service on the rise. No longer timid, he moved a step inside the baseline.

Seixas simply was no match for Rosewall, a wiry little swinger who owns perhaps the finest ground strokes in the game. Ken showed a better service than usual and his forhand, sometimes found wanting, scored numerous points for him.

Aussie captain Harry Hopman was elated.

"I think we'll win it," he said. "I'm certain Hoad can beat Seixas and if the decision still is in doubt when Rosewall and Trabert play the final match I'd have to give the edge to Ken based on what I saw in the opening singles. Trabert definitely did not play his best."

feet from the pin and his first putt stopped on the lip of the cup.

Windsor's Rudy Horvath shot a 70 Friday to run his total to 114. Bob Dean of Cornwall matched his first-day score of 74 for 148. Hal Butler of Oshawa was two strokes behind with 150 after shooting a 74 and Jack Windsor of Clarkson put together an 86 and a 79 for 165.

After Friday's round the 132 starting field was cut to the low 60s and ties, and there were few surprises. One of those eliminated, with 151, was Jules Huot of Laval-Sur-Lac, Que., who was up with the leaders in 1954 until the final round when his game went to pieces and he ended well down in the money list.

Seventy-one qualifiers are left for today's third round scheduled to start at 10 a.m., EDT. It winds up with a natural gallery-drawing threesome—Snead, Art Wall and Leonard—at 2:05 p.m.

Movie Column

Hollywood's Greatest Money Producer Is Still Tarzan

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Texas may have its oil wells, but Hollywood's greatest money producer is still Tarzan.

The fabulous ape man hits the television screens this fall in what could be the most lucrative field yet for Tarzan. It was just 40 years ago that the late Edgar Rice Burroughs, who had failed at a score of other enterprises, wrote a tale of the African jungle, the mechanics of which were simple.

Into the jungle Burroughs sent an English nobleman and his wife. He killed them off as soon as he had blessed them with a baby boy. An ape reared the boy and made Burroughs a multi-millionaire.

Gordon Scott, the 11th movie Tarzan, will also do the TV films. Scott, unlike Burroughs and the great majority of his predecessors, has been to Africa.

Scott, a muscular ex-life-guard who wears a size 51 jacket, just returned from film making with 14 different tribes in Kenya (heard of the Mau Mau uprisings), Tanganyika, Uganda and the Belgian Congo. Most of the tribesmen had never heard of the movies and are among a minority of the world's people who have never heard of Tarzan. The Tarzan stories have been translated into 56 languages, but Burroughs used to like to tell that he had bank accounts everywhere in the world except in deepest Africa.

Scott was in Africa to shoot scenes for "Tarzan and the Lost Safari," the 31st Tarzan movie and the first to be shot in big screen and color. He also filmed several of the television shows there.

The Masi tribe made him an honorary chief, not because he was Tarzan but because he did 300 pushups, something that even their finest warriors couldn't do.

KNEW MARILYN
One thing puzzled him on the African trip. "The natives there had no idea what the movies were nor who Tarzan was, but one of the native guides on our safari had a pinup picture of Marilyn Monroe."

A host of America's great tunesmiths are represented in the musical score of Twentieth Century-Fox's Technicolor story of Jane Froman, "With a Song in My Heart," opening Monday at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre.
Although actress Susan Hayward plays the Froman role on the screen, the songstress herself recorded over 30 top numbers for inclusion in the film. The list of all-time favorites which she helped make famous include: Embraceable You by George and Ira Gershwin; Tea For Two by Vincent Youmans; I'll Walk Alone by Sammy Cahn and Julie Styne; That Old Feeling by Lew Brown and Sammy Fain; They're Either Too Young or Too Old by Frank Loesser; It's A Good Day by Peggy Lee and Dave Barbour; With a Song in My Heart and Blue Moon by Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart; Get Happy by Harold Arlen and Ted Koehler.

In addition, the finale of the film is an eight-minute salute to United States with song representing every section of the country. Miss Froman sings such classics as California, Here I Come, Home in Indiana, Carry Me Back to Old Virginia, Deep in the Heart of Texas, Give My Regards to Broadway, I'm Alabama Bound and America, The Beautiful.

Rory Calhoun, David Wayne and Thelma Ritter co-star with Susan Hayward in the musical which was produced and written by Lamar Trotti and directed by Walter Lang.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Monday, Aug. 29, 1955
March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — A quiet day, planterily speaking. No reason not to forge ahead on your own. Check over personal and family affairs. News of an unusual nature likely. Maintain poise.
April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Vigilance pays. You can spot openings of value and take advantage of them. Do so. Also watch out for conniving opponents. Start week with a bang and follow through.
May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Generally auspicious vibrations. Bring into play latent talents which need the exercise and which can aid you. Be alert to opportunities. An evening of relaxation is favored.
June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Care in planning! Opposing forces predominate. But with your innate ability and shrewdness properly applied, their defeat is certain. Take care of health.
July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Don't count on achievement prematurely. Incomplete jobs must be finished "on schedule" where possible. The dilatory individual seldom reaches goals. Others pass him enroute to success.
August 23 to September 23 (Virgo) — Excellent influences should encourage you to greater effort. Mechanics, medical, personnel, civil service employees, clerks, stenographers under especially benign rays. Try!
September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Make experiences work for your mental and spiritual advancement. Past performance should show if you are headed right and at the proper tempo. If not, adjust immediately.
October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Proceed confidently and relentlessly toward your objectives under this day's fine influences. However, don't be hasty at the expense of coordinated effort. Avoid confusion.
November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — When enthusiasm runs high and physical effort enters, much can be accomplished.

Intelligent response to new ideas is to be desired. Don't stand in the way of true progress.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Generally auspicious rays for dealing with matters pertaining to literary and advertising lines, education, civic matters. Join the helpful "do-it-yourself" club.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — A period for cautious adherence to normal routine. Changes not especially favored unless necessary on this so-so day. Nimbleness, dexterity in execution will bring gains.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Keen competition likely. Display your enterprising and businesslike approach to problems of the day. A sense of humor, a cheery disposition are yours to exploit.

You born today are intellectual, bright, pleasant in disposition, sometimes inclined to be self-centered and opinionated but, as a rule, generous, charitable and tolerant. You have so many fine qualities it behooves you to develop and cultivate them. Curb faults and keep studying, enlarging your scope of knowledge.

Birthdate: Maurice Maeterlinck, Belgian poet, dramatist; Oliver Wendell Holmes, writer, physician; John Locke, writer, philosopher.

NEEDS POWER FAST
 LONDON (Reuters) — Sir John Cockcroft, director of Britain's atomic energy research establishment at Harwell, said Wednesday night that Britain needs industrial atomic power "almost at once."

Cockcroft said that scientists at the Geneva atomic-energy conference had all been fairly convinced that by the end of this century the world will need a new source of power.

CAMPBELLFORD

Dorothy Trembley
At 55 to Enter
Cross Lake Swim

CAMPBELLFORD - Residents of Campbellford and district are watching with great interest this week as Dorothy Trembley, of Campbellford, prepares for the CNE "Cross the Lake" swim on September 6th.

Mrs. Trembley, who is a swimming instructor, and a swimmer, has taught literally hundreds of children and adults how to take care of themselves in the water, says that to win the swim would be the greatest birthday present she ever received. The swim is scheduled for September 6 and on September 7, Dorothy celebrates her 55th birthday. She is the oldest contestant in the big swim.

NOT NEW TO MARATHONS

Although Mrs. Trembley has never before attempted a swim of this distance, she is not new to CNE marathons. She has entered all the three and five-mile swims at the CNE, and in 1950, came in sixth out of 14 starters, beating many 20-year-olds.

One of her prize possessions is a photograph of herself and Marilyn Bell, taken during a swim in 1952, showing the oldest and the youngest contestants. She has never been taken from the water in a swim, but has been ordered out after all the prize money had been won.

The late Lou Marsh, in an article in a Toronto newspaper in 1933, said he had never seen a swimmer with such endurance and strength, and commented on her bid for victory in a marathon swim at that time, in which she came from 23rd position to 13th, in a single lap, passing ten other swimmers in a short distance in front of the grandstand.

ONE OF ENDURANCE

"It may seem silly to a lot of people for me to go in such a long swim," said Mrs. Trembley. "I know I am not as fast as most swimmers, but I can stay in the water as long as any of them, and after all, this swim is more of an endurance test than a race, and for that reason I'm sure I can do quite well."

Last week, she swam about 10 miles down the Trent River to qualify for the CNE swim, and did not appear tired at the end of that stretch.

A song-writer at heart, Mrs. Trembley has written many songs, both words and music. The last published song was "Sinking Down the Hills with You," published by Gordon N. Thompson Ltd. of Toronto. During water ski trials at the CNE a few years ago, Dorothy wrote a parody of the song, and sang it over the PA system at the grandstand of the CNE. She says that it is to gain some recognition of her songs that she is entering the swim.

DONATIONS

Campbellford Council at their August meeting voted a fund of $50 to help defray expenses which the swimmer will incur. Cost of the boat to pace her is $150, and the swimmer must also provide meals for the crew. The Campbellford Rotary Club also donated $15, the Kinsmen Club, $25, and other local organizations are believed to be following suit. Merchants of the town have donated nearly $100.

Dorothy amuses herself by floating down the Trent on her back, playing a ukelele. She plays a variety of musical instruments. Another hobby is building doll houses and bird houses and miniature furniture. One of her projects, with handmade scale model furniture, was displayed at a large Toronto department store, several years ago. Capable of almost every conventional kind of swimming stroke, Mrs. Trembley has received a free loan for hours at a time, and believes this will help to a great extent in the swim.

Mixed Reception for Russians at Montreal

Arrival of the Russian farm delegation, in Montreal by air from New York, had a large group of Russian sympathizers, and a small group of anti-Communists on hand to greet them. Vladimir Matskevich, third from right, is Russia's first deputy minister of agriculture and Dimitri Chuvakhin, Soviet ambassador to Canada, rushed up the airplane ramp to greet him.

Large numbers of police were on hand at Dorval airport to subdue any demonstration against the visiting Russians. About 50 Ukrainians tried to break through the police lines, and when they failed, they taunted and jeered and waved anti-Communist banners. This woman demonstrator is being escorted away from the airport by the police. (Central Press Canadian.)

are undoubtedly correct; but he felt that there is a possibility that the increase in school population may not be permanent and suggested temporary accommodation as the solution until the matter is more urgent and has taken a more definite trend.

Costs were discussed briefly, and the clerk gave the summary of the principal owing at January 1, 1955, on C-benture debt as follows: Hospital, $73,207.72; War-time Housing $10,797.83; Local Improvement $78,208.72; Public School, $54,391.28, totalling about $201,000.

As a result the council unanimously decided to refer the matter back to the School Board requesting that they give further study to the question of temporary accommodation for additional accommodation for their increased number of pupils.

this encouraged last weekend's violence.

Morocco's moderate Democratic Independence party, the second largest nationalist faction, Friday pledged its support for the Faure plan.

Informants also said representatives of French residents in Morocco offered much less opposition to the settlement proposals than had been expected. Spokesmen for the Moroccan Jewish community supported Faure's program.

In the areas of Oued Zem and Kheifra, thousands of Berber tribesmen Friday surrendered the weapons used in the uprising of last weekend. Between 50,000 and 60,000 Zaian tribesmen were submitting to French authority at Kheifra, authorities said.

North of Oued Zem, Gen. Antoine Franchi, military governor of Casablanca, told thousands of Moroccans they acted like "sinking jacks" in the uprisings.

Agricultural Directors Plan
Annual Fair

MARMORA — Under the chairmanship of President Carl Heath, a meeting of directors of the Marmora Agricultural Society was held in the council chambers on Tuesday evening chiefly to make final arrangements for the forthcoming annual fair which is being held on Labor Day.

The first discussion centred around concessions with decisions arrived at with least delay. A card of thanks was received from the family of the late H. W. Sabine for expressions of sympathy in their recent bereavement.

Mr. Sabine was a faithful member of the Society over a long time of years, part of which time he served as secretary-treasurer.

Fast president John McEvoy as chairman of the entertainment committee, gave a most favorable report of arrangements made by that committee assuring prospects of excellent entertainment for the day on grandstand and at the evening dance.

Ground improvements were well gone into, affecting track and horse show ring, and in addition a bee calling for all voluntary labor available is called for August 31.

It was reported that the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion are adding to grounds equipment with the erection of a fine booth.

COULD HAVE FLOWN FASTER, SAY AIRMEN

"Nothing to it," said Pilot John Hackett, left, and Navigator Peter Money Penny as they completed their round-trip flight from London to New York and back in the world-record time of 14 hours. The two British airmen credited their Canberra jet for the record, saying that the plane could have flown faster. They doubted that any other plane will beat the record in the near future. (Central Press Canadian).

Falls on Tuesday. The local Scouts along with their leader, Mr. J. Churchill, also attended. The canning factory has commenced the canning of corn. Miss Marlene Derry spent the week-end in Watertown, USA, with friends.

Man Swept Over American Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—Robert Persons, 38, Sunday night leaped into the Niagara River and was swept over the American falls as dozens of tourists watched. Five hours later he was spotted crawling on a ledge 35 feet below the falls. He was rescued, but died later in a hospital.

Police said Persons, from East Aurora, N. Y., jumped a guard rail just above Prospect point as tourists, too far away to stop him, watched in horror. He was swept over the brink of the falls, and police started a search of the lower river.

About five hours later a woman telephoned police and said she saw a man crawling along a ledge from underneath the falls about 35 feet down.

Gunman Demands Food of Farmer Sergeant Attacked

TILLSONBURG, Ont. (CP)—Police said a farmer near here called them Saturday evening and said he had been terrorized by an armed man.

Leo Boughner told police a gunman stealthily entered his home six miles east of here and demanded food. Police said the gunman entered the area but did not uncover any trace of the man. They said it was the sixth in an unprecedented rash of robberies in this district which started Aug. 15 when a masked man drove away with $4,000 from an Ottaville bank branch. They said it is possible the same gangster is responsible for several of the hold-ups including that in which a Delhi district housewife was forced to prepare a meal for a revolver-carrying bandit.

ROAD ACCIDENTS CLAIM TEN LIVES IN PROVINCE

Drowning Toll Is Cut As Weather Is Cooler

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Traffic mishaps took over from drownings as the chief holiday killer this weekend, causing 16 of a total 31 violent deaths in eastern Canada.

A Canadian Press compilation from 6 p.m. EDT Friday to midnight Sunday showed 16 persons were killed in traffic accidents and six were drowned. Nine persons met death from various other causes.

Ontario reported more than two-thirds of the deaths with 20. Ten persons died on the province's highways. Five were burned to death, three were drowned, one killed by a tractor overturned on a highway. There were no deaths in Quebec. There were two fatal falls. There were two fatal fires. Cooler weather and cold water brought a drop in the number of drowning fatalities from the grim 20 of recent weeks to two this weekend.

In Quebec, 10 died in traffic mishaps. Five died in traffic accidents. Four were drowned—three in one accident. One man was crushed to death when a tractor overturned on him.

The Maritimes recorded one fatality—traffic death in Nova Scotia. There were no deaths in Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick or Newfoundland.

Ontario deaths were: Gerald Moore of Leamington died in car accident at Essex. Dorothy Stratton, 16, died when her convertible rolled over into a ditch near London.

Kenneth Warren, 14, was fatally injured when his bicycle was struck by a car at Markdale. Walter Clark, 10, died after he fell from a tree at his home in Sault Ste. Marie.

Morgan David General, 34, of Burdock died when his car rolled over into a ditch near Port Colborne. Stewart MacDonald, 25, was fatally injured when his car went out of control and rolled into a ditch near Ottawa.

Joseph Kozielewicz, 25, died when he fell four stories on to the roof of a downtown building in Toronto. Donald Del Bronco, 32, of Richvale, Ont., died when electrocuted while working on a construction project.

Three persons died in a fire in Hearst. They were Charles Edward Matte, 4; his brother, Rene, 1; and Donald Charle, 27.

John Bishop, 26, of Cananook was killed at Kingston when his car went off the road. Stewart Garlough, 2, of Cornwall was killed when he ran out from behind a parked car into the path of a truck.

Angela Spinozzi, 25, of Toronto, and Mrs. George H. Stapledon, of Ottawa were killed when a sports car went out of control at a race track near Ottawa and struck a group of spectators.

Joann Sterling, 6, of Collins Bay, was killed when struck by a car near Kingston. Mrs. Ina McLaughlin of Galt burned to death in her home.

Stanley Byington died of burns suffered when fire broke out in a four-room house in Kenora. Gerald Joseph Ready, 55, drowned in the Scarborough canal. Lou Korac, 18, of Scarborough, drowned in Scotland Pond near Brantford.

Says Co-Op Drove Away Customers Because His Price for Peaches Low

WINONA, Ont. (CP)—A winona district fruit grower has threatened to sue the Ontario Peach Growers' Cooperative for depriving him of customers.

Lloyd Smith, proprietor of a 22-acre farm who sells his products from a stand in Hamilton market, said officials of the co-op had warned his customers not to purchase fruit from him because he was selling peaches at 45 cents.

Smith said he is selling mid-season peaches on the Hamilton market for 45 cents. He said interference by the board was an infringement on his rights under the free-enterprise system.

"They threatened to prosecute me," Smith said. "I wish they would." He said he was taking the thing settled in court. They could force me out of business and ruin me."

Abe Willis, manager of the co-op, said the organization wouldn't prosecute Smith because he was too small to make the cost worth while. He said it was legal for Smith to sell under the board price, but not legal under the Ontario Marketing Act for him to sell at that price to wholesalers or retailers.

Expect Canada Will Support U.S. Disarmament Proposals

By RUSSELL ELMAN

Canadian Press Staff Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (CP)—Canada will likely support United States proposals at the United Nations five-power disarmament conference beginning this afternoon, an informed Canadian source said today.

Although there was no official confirmation, Canada is believed to favor "in principle" a U.S. plan, understood to be based on President Eisenhower's appeal at the Big Four Geneva conference for an exchange of military blueprints and aerial inspection.

The source added that "the proposal would have to be elaborated further in detail" in the renewed UN disarmament committee sub-committee sessions.

Meeting privately under a Big Four directive are Canadian Foreign Minister Paul Martin, Harold Stassen of the United States, Anthony Nutting, British minister of state, Jules Moch of France and Arkady A. Sobolev, permanent Soviet delegate to the UN.

Canada, not believed to have any plan of her own at this stage, goes into the talks with "restrained optimism" that a successful agreement can be reached between East and West over the control of arms and nuclear weapons.

The Western delegates met over the weekend to exchange their views on disarmament and plan strategy for the talks. A U.S. source said the talks were "hermonious."

Moscow radio broadcast an article from Izvestia Sunday calling for the West to make concessions but the broadcast also said the Russians promised to consider Western proposals.

The disarmament proposals will be the chief items of discussion at the start, with particular emphasis on "inspection and reporting"—the major point of conflict between the West and Russia.

The sub-committee talks began two years ago and were renewed in London last February. The sub-committee is to report on the parent disarmament commission which in turn will report to the UN General Assembly.

Refinery Blaze Causes Two Deaths, $10,000,000 Damage

WHITING, Ind. (AP)—The 100,000-gallon fire which erupted at the huge Standard Oil of Indiana refinery Saturday still burned on diminishingly today.

Danger of new explosions of petroleum products, however, will cease only when the last flicker of flame has been squelched.

Already the blast-fueled inferno has inflicted a loss estimated by Standard Oil at $10,000,000 brought down to two persons and injured 45 others.

The flames are now confined to two storage tanks. Firefighters had brought the fire under control at noon Sunday—38 hours after a tremendous explosion of undetermined cause touched off the disaster.

Some 950 families evacuated from large areas near the refinery Saturday night. The hydrocarbon fire burned on Sunday night.

Robert E. Wilson, Standard Oil chairman, said it is hoped that most of the refinery will be back in operation in about two weeks. The oil company disagreed sharply with Red Cross estimates.

The Washington that the overall damage would amount to $100,000,000. A. F. Endres, manager of the refinery, said the extent of damage beyond the refinery itself had been exaggerated.

Of the injured, only 12 were Standard employees. The remainder were residents living near the plant, or spectators who crowded too close to the fiery display.

The fire began Saturday evening when an explosion in a new 26-storey-high hydrocarbon roiled an area for miles around. The hydrocarbon, completed only in March, was used to convert low-octane gasoline into high-octane stocks. The white-hot flames spread to other storage tanks.

A vast fragment of steel from the hydrocarbon was hurled through a home about 300 yards away, fatally injuring a three-year-old boy. The other fatality occurred as a Standard employee suffered a heart attack as he arrived for fire-fighting duty.

Ryder's Protege Will Not Swim With CNE Group

TORONTO (CP)—Gus Ryder, the man who coached Marilyn Bell for her lake and Channel swims today said he "wouldn't dam" have his new protegee, 15-year-old Doreen George tackle her proposed attempt on Lake Ontario Sept. 6.

He said the girl, whose entry for the mass lake swim, sponsored that day by the Canadian National Exhibition, has been rejected as too late, probably would be "pulled out on some technicality by the RCMP controlling the swim, if she made the attempt at the same time as other entrants."

Doreen, who Ryder described as "potentially another Marilyn" will enter a water polo match before after the CNE swim, depending on weather conditions, Ryder said.

Mayor Nathan Phillips today said the "special circumstances" of Doreen's case should warrant the CNE sports committee waiving its ban.

Believe Cabinet Accepts Faure's Morocco Plan

PARIS (Reuters)—The French cabinet today apparently accepted Premier Edgar Faure's plan for a settlement of the Moroccan crisis, but remained silent on details to avoid any possible new violence in the protectorate.

The ministers ended 13 hours of deliberations, broken only by a few hours sleep, with "unanimity" on the proposed approach to bring stability to the North African territory.

Pierre Fournier, minister for Moroccan and Tunisian affairs, later told reporters the government had decided to make every effort to insure the creation of a Moroccan government before Sept. 12.

Pressed for details July cautioned against going too fast "in something that is so explosive." He said the government made a complete study of the results of a week-long conference at Aix-les-Bains between French officials and Moroccan nationalist leaders.

July intimated that a decision was taken on the resignation of Grandval, general in Morocco, Gilbert Grandval, when, without mentioning names, he said that in the present situation it is better to postpone the appointment of his nominees were announced.

Faure was believed to have accepted Grandval's resignation as the price of Conservative support for the plan to replace present sultan Mohammed Ben Arafat with a regency council. This council would nominate the first Moroccan government representing all shades of opinion.

Reports from Morocco predicted new disorders if Grandval, who has widespread popularity among the Arabs but is disliked by many French settlers, is removed.

There were no indications of what decisions were reached on the other outstanding points—removal of Ben Arafat, the partial rehabilitation of sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef, who was deposed by the French two years ago for government leanings, and the composition of the regency council.

Armed Robbery Attempt Foiled

NORWICH, Ont. (CP)—Police said a 15-year-old juvenile and an 18-year-old youth were arrested early Saturday and charged with attempted armed robbery after a shot was fired at a service-station operator in an abortive holdup attempt.

George McWilliams, operator of a service station 10 miles south of here, told officers a masked man stepped up to him as he was locking up and told him to put up his hands.

He said he yelled and ran to his house behind the station. The man fired a bullet which hit a wall, he said.

Police said Clayton Huls, 18, and the boys were arrested later at their homes in this community. A 15-year-old boy was arrested at the same time. They were charged with the area during the past two weeks.

Berserk Gunman Shot by Police After Three-Hour Battle in Home

DETROIT (AP)—A berserk gunman in the house. Police poured 40 tear-gas bombs into the three-and-a-half floor building, but failed to flush Rollins. Exploding gas bombs were believed to have touched off an attic fire which burned for the last hour of the siege.

After two-hour exchange of shots, senior inspector Walter Wyrd led inspector Leslie Gallowell and Lieut. Edward Jacques into the house.

They found Rollins in a bedroom closet. He opened fire and drove the officers to a porch. Rollins went back into the house alone. A single shot was fired. He staggered out holding his right hand, torn from the knuckles to the wrist.

Neighbors said Rollins showed up in the Smith home last week. Sunday a woman went to the house to tell him the Smiths were having a party and to tell him to come before I kick your face in," Rollins told her.

Police were called, and when Rollins spotted them he opened fire.

RACING CAR RUNS WILD, KILLS TWO AND INJURES 11

Plunges Into Crowd Of Spectators at Car

CARP, Ont. (CP)—A racing sports car, plunging out of control with a steering failure, killed two persons and injured 11 when it slammed into a crowd of spectators here Saturday.

Angelo Spinozzi of Toronto, knocked 20 feet through the air into the side of a parked car, was killed instantly. Mrs. George H. Stapledon, 44, of Ottawa died in hospital at Almonte two hours later.

The race, sponsored by the Ottawa Light Car Club at the Carp airport 12 miles west of Ottawa, was flagged to a halt as police and officials went to the help of the spectators.

The injured were taken to hospitals at Almonte, Ottawa and Hull. Five had bone fractures while others had sprains, cuts and bruises.

All were among a knot of people standing behind a light snow fence on the outer edge of a curve.

Race officials said repeated loudspeaker warnings had been made against standing on the outside perimeter of the two-mile speedway. Most of the other spectators were in the infield.

Drive of the racing car, 30-year-old Victor Stiles of Pataway military camp, was not injured although the home-made aluminum body of his car was badly torn and dented. The car rammed into the crowd before it came to a stop upright 40 feet from the track.

Stiles' car was rounding the turn when the steering wheel broke loose from its mountings.

Stiles said he was travelling about 80 miles an hour when "something happened to my steering wheel."

"It seemed to pull loose from the socket and the car began to drift out of control. It veered over to the left side of the track and then swerved directly toward the crowd. I slammed on my brakes but it was impossible to stop in time."

The Israeli government also has been noncommittal on the proposals, advanced in a speech in New York Friday night. After a meeting of Prime Minister Moshe Sharet's cabinet, an official announced that the proposals required "further study and in some points additional elucidation through contact with the United States government." But most Israeli newspapers comment favorably on the American statement.

SIX SHOOTINGS, Aerial Battle Occur At Gaza

By WILTON WYNN

CAIRO (AP)—Six more persons have died in new Egyptian-Israeli fighting along the Gaza strip, straining still further the already creaking Palestine armistice.

Egyptian authorities said Sunday's shootings brought the total dead to incidents during the last week in the Egyptian-held coastal area of Palestine to seven Egyptians and 13 Israelis.

Each side has blamed the other for the continuance of bloodshed. An air battle between Israel and Egyptian planes developed Monday over the Israeli desert near the southernmost part of the Gaza strip, according to a reliable private source. One Egyptian plane was reported hit.

The source said fighting started after four Egyptian planes of the British Vampires-jet type had penetrated about 10 miles over Israeli territory.

Two Israeli planes took off and chased the Egyptians.

The clashes came as the Arab and Israeli governments studied American proposals by State Secretary Dulles for settling the seven-year-old Jewish-Arab deadlock over a peace treaty.

There was no immediate official Arab reaction, but Western diplomats regarded as encouraging the apparently careful study being given Dulles' plan. The Arab League will meet here next Saturday to discuss the proposals, which include an international guarantee of the borders of Israel and the Arab states, and an international loan to compensate the 900,000 Arab refugees from Israel-held territory.

Unofficial Arab reaction, including most newspaper comment, has ranged from coolness to outright opposition.

The Israeli government also has been noncommittal on the proposals, advanced in a speech in New York Friday night. After a meeting of Prime Minister Moshe Sharet's cabinet, an official announced that the proposals required "further study and in some points additional elucidation through contact with the United States government." But most Israeli newspapers comment favorably on the American statement.

Officer Grabs Calf by Tail From Patrol Car

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Patrolman Gilbert Kennedy decided that an hour-long pursuit of a runaway calf on the highway Sunday had gone far enough. Kennedy didn't need a horse. He leaned out the window of a moving patrol car and grabbed the calf by its tail.

Then he held on until police and a group of would-be cowboys brought the animal to earth and tied it up.

Russians Given Warm Reception In West Canada

By HAROLD MORRISON

Canadian Press Staff Writer
REGINA (CP)—Jimmy Gardiner and Vladimir Matkevich munched barbecued chicken and corn-on-the-cob at a party Sunday night when the Canadian agriculture minister called for three cheers and a tiger for the Soviet farm bosses and his colleagues.

The reception given the touring Russians in this heart of the Prairie wheatlands appeared to be a lot warmer than that shown in eastern Canada. They scored an obvious hit at the airport and an even bigger one at a federal garden party at Indian Head, some 60 miles east of Regina.

At the airport Sunday, on arrival from Ottawa aboard two federal planes, the Russians were greeted by some 500 spectators who applauded. Nine bouquets, one for each delegate and a special big one for Mr. Matkevich, presented them by eight little girls and a boy.

The flowers were the gifts of the United Canadian Ukrainian Association. A big portion of the population is of Ukrainian descent.

The Russians appeared touched by the reception, which contrasted sharply with that on their arrival in Montreal last Thursday when they were booed by anti-Communist demonstrators.

Likes Duck Hunting
Mr. Gardiner met the Soviet delegation at the federal experimental station at Indian Head. About 100 chickens were barbecued and distributed among the 400 guests.

Mr. Gardiner and Mr. Matkevich sat together, discussing general farming subjects with the aid of an interpreter. Mr. Matkevich was heard to mention that he had seen numerous ducks in the area and wondered whether a shooting party could be organized.

He was told the season was not yet opened but he jokingly replied that he would not shoot one any that he feared Canadians might be told to believe he had shot all of them.

After supper, the delegates stood around in groups chatting with various guests and Mr. Matkevich pinned a few more Moscow exhibition medals on various Canadian officials.

He disappeared with Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner for a look at the Qu'Appelle valley some seven miles away and returned to a Regina hotel later in the evening to prepare for a four-day tour of Saskatchewan farms.

Belton Maker Wins
TORONTO (CP)—T. S. Aiken of Belton, Ont., Saturday won first prizes in eight classes of heavy cheste at the Canadian National show.

Other major winners were David Dean, Delta, Ont., Evelyn Factor, Thamesford, Ont., and John A. Andrews, Estersburg, Ont.

12-YEAR-OLD MAKES ACROSS BAY SWIM
IN FIRST ATTEMPT

John Peoples, 12-year-old son of Mr. Jack Peoples, swam across the Bay of Quinte on Saturday morning, his first swim of any distance.

John left the government dock, swimming with an effortless stroke and reached Ostrom's dock 32 minutes later in fine condition. Johnny hopes to participate in the Canadian National Exhibition swims in the not too distant future.

The Peoples reside at 18 Third Street, Belleville.

BURNING MATTRESS
BLAMED ON SMOKERS

A burning mattress at 30 Caniffon Road burned firemen out during the week-end.

Careless smokers were blamed for the blaze which started during the absence of the householders. Children playing nearby noticed the smoke and turned in the alarm.

One other turn took firemen to 274 Blacker Avenue, where a sawdust pile in the backyard was burning.

'Ole Smoke' Reynolds' Pets' Descendants Do Much To Enliven the Wellington Scene

By GEORGE H. CARVER

WELLINGTON. (Special.) — "Ole Smoke" Reynolds, founder of this pretty lakeside village, left a sort of Noah's Ark heritage.

"Smoke," the old legend has it had pet skunks, raccoons, seagulls, etc., which for years inhabited or roamed around "The Manor," now believed the oldest house in Ontario.

The legend has it that "Smoke's" pets wandered through the sturdy edifices at will, even while Lady Simcoe stayed there recovering from an illness taken while en route to Niagara with the then Governor, the Earl of Simcoe.

"Ole Smoke" now lies in a secluded corner of an old graveyard here. Some of his descendants are said to be living in the vicinity.

By the same token, or possibly so, are the descendants of some of the old pioneer's four-footed pets.

A year or so ago, plumed-tailed "kitty" scions of Reynoldian forebears strode proudly along sidewalks especially near the waterfront.

They feared nothing. Mama Skunk lined up her offspring in Indian file and wandered at will while the old man foraged the family grub from obliging garbage pails.

High cost of living? Shucks! What did they care for a cent this way or that? They had plenty to spare.

DREA' RAT

This year it seems, Bre' Rat, has taken over. Several large specimens have been seen and slain.

Reuben Hicks, village baker, can vouch for that. So can several of his customers.

The other morning "Reub" heard a commotion in the front of his shop. There were no clerks there at the moment. "Reub's" eyebrows tilted sharply as a strange sight met his gaze.

Two ladies, emitting weird noises, were standing on the counter, skirts held knee-high. As "Reub" entered they pointed to a far corner of the shop.

There, teeth bared and glaring defiance was "Reub" said "the biggest dang rat I ever saw. It measured at least 12 inches and had a tail the same size."

Hicks grabbed a hairless broomhandle and after a skirmish, despatched the king-size rodent.

The mystery of the story was "how did the rat get into the front of the shop?"

"Reub" told this reporter he had seen several large rats running along the street. Alfred Ogilvy, village dairy owner, corroborated the statement.

A few days later the mystery was solved. A lady customer of Hicks, hearing of the incident, said, "Good heavens, if I had known I would have died. I was in the store that morning and saw this animal crouching outside the door. I thought it was a pet of the Hicks' family and let it in." She thought it was a mink!

OTHER DRAMAS

But other scions of "Ole Smoke's" pets still re-enact the nocturnal dramas of the survival of the fittest.

Godfrey Upton, proprietor of the villages tinsorial parlor and pool emporium told of a strange near-midnight sight.

And there is an unsolved mystery to this too.

Upton and a friend were driving home around 11 p.m., after business hours. Suddenly his friend who was at the wheel, slowed down.

"Look!" he said. "What's this coming?"

STRANGE SIGHT

Upton peered through the windshield. He saw a huge jack-rabbit headed straight for the car headlights. As it drew near, it leaped with a tremendous hop across a ditch and into a bush.

Close on the bunny's tail was a big tom-cat, while in show place and a bad third was a mongrel spaniel dog tongue ahang.

The cat was bunny-hugging the jack's tail but it leaped in the opposite direction. The dog apparently frightened by the bright lights, dragged to a stop and slunk away.

The question? Which was chasing what? In any event, the rabbit won by a whisker; the cat lost by a hare and the dog poached out.

The "Cracker-Barrel Society" meeting in solemn conclave a few days later, discussed the matter. It was the consensus that the jack could have given the cat a bap and the dog a Wellington-Trenton start and read "Gone With the Wind" in Brighton before the field stopped for gas at Smithfield.

The "jury" verdict was the rabbit was slowed to a near-stop by the car's headlights. At least that is the story.

Police Blotter

Family quarrels, together with the occasional drunk, kept police busy during the week-end but officers reported little more than routine matters coming to their attention.

The attempted sale of a woman's new purse at a local beverage room resulted in a forced visit to the police station for William Bigelow, no fixed abode. Bigelow was charged with the theft of the purse.

An unknown party smashed the window at Albert's Dress Shop on Front street. Police were of the opinion the window was broken accidentally by some pedestrian.

FAIR SETS RECORD

OTTAWA (CP) — Ottawa's Central Canada Exhibition closed Saturday after setting an attendance record of 431,791, topping the 1953 mark by 40,755. A total of 63,319 people were on hand for the opening day at Lansdown Park in southern Ottawa.

Three District
Rectors Attend
General Synod

Archdeacon J. B. Creenag, rector of Christ Church, and the Rev. W. J. Robinson, rector of St. Thomas' church, also the Rev. Canon A. S. McConnell, rector of St. George's Church, Trenton, are among the six selected clerical delegates to the meeting of the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada, from the Diocese of Ontario (Kingston), which will convene in Edmonton, Alberta, on Tuesday of this week. Mr. Frank Creenag of Christ Church parish is one of the six lay delegates from the diocese to the synod. All are now en route to Edmonton.

The Archbishop and Bishops from coast to coast will be present together with a large representation of clergy and laymen from each diocese. The Very Rev. J. Grant Sparling, D.D., Dean of Edmonton Diocese and rector of All Saints Cathedral, and a former rector of Christ Church here, is the chairman of the committee on synod arrangements and accommodation for the clerical and lay delegates.

The sermon at the opening service on Tuesday morning in All Saints Cathedral will be delivered by the Rt. Rev. G. H. Claxton, Bishop of Warrington, England. On Friday, Sept. 2, the mayor and council of the City of Edmonton will entertain the members of the synod at a civic luncheon at the MacDonald Hotel. The synod will be in session until Sept. 8.

Conservation
Officials Visit
Lingham Lake

Two officials of the Moira River Conservation Authority visited Lingham Lake in Grimsthorpe township last week. Where they inspected a department of public works dam on the upper reaches of Black Creek with the view of using the dam to increase summer flow in the river.

Conservation Authority chairman Bruce Smith of Belleville, and secretary Col. Roscoe Vanderwater of Foxboro, flew in to the lake from Tweed in a department plane.

Lingham Lake is a man-made body of water three miles long by the same distance wide, about 50 miles north of Tweed. There is no road into the lake and the only way of getting in during the summer is by plane. The dam, built of stone masonry, was constructed during the depression years.

Col. Vanderwater noted that stop logs in the dam were starting to decay but replacement of these logs, along with other changes, could raise the water of Lingham Lake by at least ten feet. The water thus impounded could be used to increase summer flow along the Moira.

Any action on the part of the Authority with respect to use of the dam will in all probability come up for discussion on the part of Authority members at their next meeting.

Shell Explodes
Over Picnic Fire,
3 Children Die

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Three small children lost their lives Sunday night when a 90-millimetre shell exploded over a picnic fire.

Ten others were injured, one critically.

The explosion ripped through an apartment house yard, killing four-year-old Velma Morales instantly. George Valdez, 6, was dead on arrival at hospital and Ricardo Lopez, 10, died a short time later at hospital.

Tiny Hector Ramirez, 4, is in critical condition. Both his legs were amputated.

Police said Carlos Valdez, father of George Valdez, told them he had built the fire in the yard, and the children were roasting corn when the blast occurred. He told police the shell had been lying around for some time and that everybody thought it was a dud.

Canadian on Board

WASHINGTON (CP) — The United States defence department said Saturday that Lieut. John Hubbard of Niagara Falls, Ont., was one of five crew members missing after a U. S. Air Force SA-16 amphibious search plane crashed in the Azores Thursday.

The department said the plane, which took off from the Argentina air force base in Newfoundland, apparently sank into the Atlantic about 15 miles west of Lagos air force base in the Azores. The plane was reported on a routine flight.

Obituary

MRS. TERESA O'SHAUGHNESSY
(Plainfield)

The funeral of Mrs. Teresa O'Shaughnessy, late of Plainfield and who died August 26th, was held this morning from the funeral residence of George F. O'Brien to St. Charles church, Read.

Interment was in St. Charles cemetery.

Requiem Mass was said by Rev. E. Briceland, who also recited the prayers of the graveyard.

The funeral, attended by a large congregation of friends and relatives, also had in attendance a guard of honor formed by Mrs. O'Shaughnessy's sister members in the Catholic Women's League.

The bearers were Frank Shannon, Joseph Shannon, Gene Hunt, Franklin Larkin, Russell Glass and Morley Parks.

Two District
Girls Suffer
Serious Injuries

Two Belleville district young girls suffered serious injuries Sunday morning when their car left the highway opposite Albert College and slammed into a tree.

Belleville General Hospital with excruciating lacerations and other injuries are Donna May Bunnell, 16, of R. R. 3 Belleville and Peggy Roseberry, 16, R. R. 7 Belleville. Miss Bunnell has lacerations to the left knee, multiple abrasions and possible broken nose, while Miss Roseberry suffered concussion and extensive lacerations to shoulders, head and body.

The two girls were eastbound on Dundas street West with Miss Bunnell driving. Due to possible mechanical failure the car veered to the right, went off the pavement and slammed into the tree. Damage to the car amounted to approximately $200 police said.

Wife of British House Member
Held in Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—Mrs. Harry Pursey, the wife of a member of the British Parliament, is still in Quebec Provincial Penitentiary, 4 days following her arrest Saturday on a charge of illegally possessing narcotics.

RCMP officials said the 42-year-old woman, a former baroness Huxford of Hungary now married to Cmdr. Harry Pursey, Labor member of Parliament for East Hull, was arrested at her room in a downtown hotel.

RCMP said Mrs. Pursey had moved to the hotel from a nursing home three days ago.

Earlier this month she reported to city police theft of jewelry valued at $40,000 by thieves who ransacked her room at the nursing home while she attended a movie.

Mrs. Pursey made headlines some six months ago when she faced charges of knowingly possessing more than $1,700 in counterfeit United States currency. A Court of Queen's Bench jury acquitted her March 23.

Churchill Gets More Attention
Than Horses

WINDSOR, England (AP)—For a long moment Saturday Sir Winston Churchill got more attention than the horses at the Windsor race track.

The former prime minister showed up in the spectators' enclosure smoking a cigar.

Churchill's addiction to cigars has been footnoted in history. No one here could say what made him try a cigar and the old man himself would not see reporters.

Another surprise—his two-year-old filly, Elmshade, a 5-60 favourite, won the day's £1,000 race in a field of three.

Anglicans Will Discuss Change
In Prayer Book

By DAVID GANCIA

Canadian Press Staff Writer EDMONTON (CP)—The "parliament" of the Church of England in Canada will discuss revision of the Canadian Anglican Prayer Book and a change of name for the church during its 10-day session which opens here Tuesday.

The 10th triennial session of the general synod of the church, held west of Winnipeg for the first time in its 82-year history, will be launched with a colorful procession followed by a church service conducted by Rt. Rev. C. R. Claxton, bishop of Warrington, England.

Antique Autos
Commence Trip
To East Ontario

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—More than 250 antique automobiles, some half a century old, perked their way out of here this morning on the start of a 400-mile tour across eastern Ontario.

The cars belong to the 10th annual "Revival Glidden Tour," and, if all goes well, will wind up in Montreal around next Saturday.

The original Glidden tours were conducted between 1904 and 1913 by the American Automobile Association to convince the diehards that the horseless carriage was here to stay.

The tour will head across the Rainbow bridge to Canada and then run along Lake Ontario's north shore to Montreal.

Scheduled Visit
To Lakehead
Is Eliminated

OTTAWA (CP) — The Russian farmers will spend four days in Saskatchewan instead of three, and a scheduled visit to the Lakehead has been eliminated.

The Soviet men have been complaining they have been spending too much time at social affairs and not enough time seeing Canadian farms and farm machinery.

Federal officials said Saturday the western leg of the 16-day tour has been revised at the request of the Soviet delegation which asked to spend more time on big Prairie farms.

The originally scheduled Sept. 1 trip to the Lakehead has been eliminated.

The visitors will spend only a few hours in Winnipeg Sept. 1, moving on to Windsor, Ont., by train to begin a tour of the southern Ontario fruit belt on Sept. 2, as previously planned.

They will visit Chatham on Sept. 2, Niagara Falls on Sept. 3, Guelph, Sept. 4; Toronto, Sept. 5, and will be in Ottawa Sept. 7-9.

Municipalities
Hopeful Parley
Will Help Them

By PHIL ADLER

EDMONTON (CP) — Canadian municipalities hope the federal-provincial conference in Ottawa in October will come up with a long-term solution to their financial problems.

The situation will be discussed this week at the annual conference of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities. About 400 delegates from across Canada are registered for the five-day gathering which opens Sunday with a tour of city and provincial civil defence establishments.

Municipal officials want the Ottawa conference to develop a formula which will give them a more adequate finance and taxation base.

Delegates say the federal and provincial governments have a variety of revenue sources but municipal governments depend largely on property tax.

COMMON PLIGHT

Because the financial plight of municipal governments is common throughout the country, municipal officials hope the federal-provincial conference will come up with an answer that will apply to all provinces.

The need for assistance is outlined in some of the resolutions to be presented to the mayors' conference. The resolutions have been drafted by individual municipalities.

Night Drinking
Party on Reserve Causes Trouble

MORAVIANTOWN, Ont. (CP)—Police said a Saturday night drinking party led to an "uprising" early Sunday in this Indian reserve 20 miles northeast of Chatham.

Three Kent county provincial police constables who attempted to arrest nine men for being drunk on a reserve were thrown into and treated by an angry mob and had to call for reinforcements. Fourteen OPP constables from Chatham, Blenheim, Ridgeway, R. D. 6 and Thamesville, together with two RCMP officers from Sarnia were summoned to restore order.

Constables Charles Palmer and S. W. March of Chatham and V. W. Clark of Thamesville were first to arrive at the disordered community following an emergency call from Chief Bert Noah, leader of the reserve.

The constables said they moved among a jeering crowd of about 500 men and children at about 4 a. m., attempting to quiet them down. Trouble started, they said, when they were followed by the mob to their cruiser and one man, backed by more than 30 others, began to menace them.

They withdrew until reinforcements arrived. The enlarged posse quickly got control of the situation and made the nine arrests, police said.

Shopping Made Easier
At Canadian Tire

Canadian Tire Corporation for many years have built their business on a cash basis, but to keep pace with modern shopping habits, they have inaugurated their own Credit Budget Plan. The highlights of this plan are that a customer may purchase any merchandise or service over $20, with no down payment and weekly payments as low as $1.

On accepted accounts there is no waiting, immediate delivery of any goods can be secured. Under this new scheme there is no outside interviews or references required.

As in all of Canadian Tire Corporation activities, they have been successful in setting up this plan with a minimum cost to the consumer. Carrying charges are much below most other companies.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market was mixed to a little higher during first-hour trading at the Toronto stock exchange today.

There was only moderate interest in industrial and price changes seldom went further than a point. Economic Investment Trust, untraded recently, added 1/4. Walker's went to a new high of 76 1/2 with a gain of 3/4.

Base metals showed several gains. Hudson Bay topped the winners, adding a point. Geco improved 1/4 to a high of 505. Interest was again reflected in Broulain Ref, adding 5 in active trading to $2.

Uranium moved narrowly, with most changes plus signs. Bicore, Trans. M. P. and price changes added around 10 cents.

Western oils drew little attention. Shares of Midcon were withdrawn from normal trading by order of the board of governors.

Gold was irregular with no features. There were a few small advances in holding companies.

Tobacco Crop In Elgin County Hit by Blight

By BILL BOSS

Canadian Press Staff Writer

ST. THOMAS, Ont. (CP)—Elgin county farmers said Sunday they fear they may lose 30 per cent of their tobacco crop as a result of a little-known blight which appears to be attacking lower and central leaves of all plants. The blight also has been reported in nearby Norfolk county.

Officials at Delhi experimental farm list the blight as a type of unsaid but farmers are convinced they have to contend with an unexplained disease. In an effort to stave off its advanced stages, farmers have been harvesting leaves slightly in advance of normal ripeness. They say, however, that blight-ridden leaves fall to the ground and turn out of negligible value.

While experts still are studying the situation, no estimate of the total loss to the crop has been made. Some growers place the blight's toll as high as 30,000,000 pounds.

Elevators Full, Lakehead Men Facing Lay-Offs

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—Hundreds of grain handlers and railway employees are being laid off work here. Grain elevators are plugged, and shipping is at a near standstill.

Railroad and grain elevator spokesmen said during the week-end that the layoff will likely be more serious soon.

Elevators here are filled almost to capacity while eastern elevators are reported jammed so tight that ships are not able to unload.

An official of the Lake Shippers' Clearance Association said that only 15,000,000 bushels of grain had been shipped from the Lakehead so far this month. Average for August is about 40,000,000 bushels. "There are no big grain carriers coming up here now," he said. "All we are getting are a few canal ships picking up coarse grain for local consumption. Apparently our markets have disappeared and all the eastern storage space is plugged."

"And the situation will get worse. I'm afraid," the elevator spokesman said. "There is supposed to be an excellent crop out west this year and what we're going to do with it I don't know."

The Saskatchewan Co-Operative Producers Ltd., elevator division, said it expects to start a layoff at the end of the month.

The Canadian Pacific Railway was reported to have laid off at least 39 men last week because of the lack of grain movement. The Canadian National Railway had no comment but indications are they face the same situation.

DOLLAR RATE

MONTREAL (CP) The U. S. dollar was at a discount of 1 7/16 per cent, the Bank of Canada reported at noon EDT, today. Friday's noon rate 98 19/32 cents. Pound sterling 1.7475, against $2.74 7/16.

Almost-Deserted Tented City All That Remains of Jamboree

By BILL BOSS

Canadian Press Staff Writer

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont. (CP)—An almost-deserted tented city is all that remains today of the eighth World Scout Jamboree.

Nearly 10,000 of the 11,156 scouts from 68 countries who participated started homeward during the blight and by Tuesday, bus, train and plane to the corners of the earth.

Seven flags over clusters of tents spread throughout the area Saturday evening, the small fires of groups of boys relaxing and getting to know one another through songs, games and campfires. Fires were not a feature of this jamboree. But the scouts also had much free time to visit one another's displays of scoutcraft and native wares, while evenings were devoted to pageants staged by many of the contingents in turn. Tours were organized to Niagara Falls and to the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto.

The camp hospital, operated by the navy, army and air force, handled 300 cases during the jamboree, and less than a dozen were referred to other hospitals for attention. Thirty patients able to rejoin their departing contingents Sunday did so, while the remaining nine will be transferred today to hospitals in St. Catharines, Hamilton and Toronto.

Jamboree officials said the $350,000 operation may show a $50,000 deficit. The last moment arrival of 3,000 more scouts than was expected complicated the budgeting. All countries represented had made "satisfactory arrangements" for completing payment of the $30-a-scout registration fees. This was taken to mean that some countries had not paid the full amount due.

This was taken to mean that some countries had not paid the full amount due.

Capt. Stan. Campbell of Oakville, Ont., ordnance officer responsible, said, striking camp will take four to six weeks. The jamboree telephone exchange, which handled 60,000 phone calls during the 10-day get-together, functions only until Thursday.

Lady Baden-Powell, widow of the movement's founder, in an unscheduled speech that came from the heart, injected into the jamboree's dying moment a spark that had been needed all week.

What really caught the scouts' interest were her simple, unheeded words, urging the boys to take in the significance of their last moment together and to carry its message throughout the free world.

She received the ovation of the week, scouts tossing stonions, turban, berets, and wedges and headgear of every description into the air.

The sparkle Lady Baden-Powell, evoked glittered through the day and evening. The boys' hands crossed, sang "Auld Lang Syne" in the 26 languages represented. They marched out, hands on one another's shoulders, singing scout songs, executing snake dances and exhibiting the carefree boyish spirit many observers found the jamboree.

Will Be Partly Flooded

Mohawk Indian Village Dating Back To 1669 Has Interesting History

MONTREAL (CP)—Part of the ancient Indian village of Caughnawaga a few miles southwest of Montreal will be flooded when the St. Lawrence Seaway is completed. One of the most colorful chapters in Canada's early history was the establishment of this 3,000-strong Indian reserve, home for the Mohawks, one of the five branches of the Iroquois tribe, of whom many descendants are Roman Catholics speaking French and English as well as their Indian tongue.

The village which changed sites five times since its inception, and has so often changed names, was founded in 1669 where today stands the township of Laprairie, a suburb of Montreal. Its founder, Tonsahaten, his wife and five children were converted to Catholicism two years previously while the Indian was acting as guide for the Jesuit father Charles Bosquet.

SACRED MONUMENT

In 1676, the Indian village moved to Cote Ste. Catherine on the shores of the St. Lawrence river. The place was called "Kateri-Tai-Takaitai" or "where Kateri Tokowitha was buried." At this spot a monument in honor of the girl known

ADVICE TO PETERBOROVIANS

Though we are almost dumb with gratitude, we hasten to express, in what poor words our humble heart can muster, our appreciation of the thoughtful and neighborly act of the Peterborough Examiner in issuing a public warning last week against the dangers of a resident of Belleville terming himself a Bellevillian.

Last week the Ontario Intelligencer referred to Hon. A. Kelso Roberts, Ontario's new Attorney-General, as "the first native Bellevillian to hold a provincial cabinet portfolio in twenty years."

Alas, many residents of Belleville have been calling themselves and their fellow citizens "Bellevillians" for years, without realizing the danger inherent in the term.

As soon as it appeared in print, however, a prompt and timely warning was given us. This proves once again the absolute necessity of a free press. If the editorial in question had had to be submitted to a government censor, the term Bellevillian would almost certainly have been blue-pencilled, without a word of explanation. The Examiner would never have seen it and would thus have been unable to advise us of our peril.

Isn't it a bit risky to call him, or anybody else out of Belleville, a Bellevillian? asks the Examiner. "Too easy to slip in Bellevillain. We suggest Bellevillain as suitable to that gangling, rustic place."

For these words, much thanks. The Ontario Intelligencer is glad to be able to repay the service done us by the Examiner. For it appears that Peterborough residents, like those of Belleville, have their troubles in selecting a name for themselves. The Examiner suggests such names as Peterborovian, Peterburgher, Peterboroughian and Peterburian, declaring that a noted philologist had expressed a preference for the last-named alternative. What a terrible mistake those poor Peterborough people might have made had we not noted that suggestion. Peterburian is even easier to turn into Peterburian than Bellevillain is to convert into Bellevillain. Since Peterborough has been much in the news of late as the post office nearest to an ancient Indian burial ground, a typographical error like Peterburian might be accepted by the ignorant as a most suitable term. They might conclude that the passing of centuries had wrought no changes in the district. Actually, of course, Peterborough is a lively town, a most convenient port of call for travellers between industrial centres of Eastern Ontario and the mining metropolises of the north.

Nor can we endorse the use of Peterburgher. It sounds too much like hamburger and suggests that there might be some ham, not necessarily from Wiltshire sides, in the district. Peterborovian is by all means the best choice. There is a suggestion of motion about it, which fits in well with the call of the neighboring Haliburton wild which takes visitors to the town, and at the same time serves to remind us of the understandable urge to travel which must be common to all residents of this wilderness outpost.

THE CYPRUS QUESTION

"We Greeks don't make politics with the brain; we make it with the heart," said His Excellency Raoul Bibic-Rosetti, Ambassador of Greece to Canada, when he visited Belleville last week.

He followed this observation with a closely-reasoned argument of the Cypriots' case in their efforts to persuade Britain to permit them to determine their own future, which would almost certainly result in Cyprus becoming part of Greece.

In spite of this appeal to logic, however, we suspect that the Ambassador was right, that the Greeks make politics with their hearts. That may be one of the basic reasons for their inability to see eye to eye with Britain, for the British make politics with their heads.

While all that the Greek Ambassador said was true, there are other truths in this controversy to which he did not refer. Greeks today want Britain to have bases in the Eastern Mediterranean, but it is certain that they will always adhere to this view? What would happen if Britain, having agreed to leave the Suez Canal zone, should also have the way for Cyprus to become a part of Greece, and should at some future date be requested to withdraw its naval forces from that last remaining base in the Near East? What would happen if, courting Greek favor, Britain alienated Turkey? Questions like this demand study before a decision is reached.

That, we suggest, is why Britain does not immediately yield to the logic of the Greek plea for the recognition of the Cypriots' right to self-determination.

At the same time this is not a question which is insoluble, so long as those with warm hearts do not also possess hot heads, and the cool-headed are not also cold-hearted.

WORK HELPS

A survey made among 300 centenarians showed up many conflicting bits of evidence concerning longevity. In one thing, however, there was agreement. Without a single exception, they had kept busy at some useful work. Another interesting fact is that none of the centenarians was either very rich or very poor. — (Charlottetown Guardian)

JUST FOLKS

LITTLE LEGS

Legs of little children are Marred by many a bruise and scar.
Walking is too slow a pace,
So along the street they race.
Then they trip and down they go,
With another wound to show.
Mothers, when they hear them cry,
Something soothing must apply.
Little legs have tender skins.

Sorely scraped are knees and chins.
For the children, it appears,
Four to seven are painful years.
Boy or girl, it's still the same.
Falls are part of every game.
And until they've older grown
On their legs will scars be shown.
Bruised and battered they will be
From the ankle to the knee.

Among Alberta's Dinosaurs

(Calgary Albertan)

The Albertan, having long ago added its voice to those who advocated the establishment of a "badlands" park along the Red Deer river in south-central Alberta, would now like to express its appreciation to the provincial government for having done so.

The scenic and scientific marvels of the badlands are known to many people. Now that a park has been established this weird wonderland will be preserved for the future. And if good roads are built and the park properly developed it won't be many years until this is one of Canada's most popular tourist attractions.

The story of the badlands is something like this:

Millions of years ago this part of the globe was an undulating sea, a sea reaching from the Arctic clear down to the Gulf of Mexico. And it was more tropical. As time passed the floor of the sea rose and fell and the land came and went. And each time it changed a new deposit of sand or silt was laid on its bottom, these hardened, and successive layers of rock were built up.

In the early periods marine life was abundant and it was deposited in the sediment on the floor of the seas. That, in time, created the oil and gas now found in that region thousands of feet below the present surface. Later geological ages brought abundant plant growth, and that, when buried and properly aged, became the coal for which that region is famous.

And much more recently, when swamp conditions prevailed dinosaurs inhabited parts of the world. Many of them died in the swamp and their bodies quickly sank in the mud and slime and for certain reasons their skeletons, rather than decaying, were turned to stone. The same thing happened again and more layers of sediment were deposited over the oil, the coal and the dinosaurs.

Then the earth's crust slowly shifted again, the sea drained away, the glaciers came and left, to become a blooming nuisance.

Saves 50 Years To Pay Debt

(Vancouver Province)

The Winnipeg Tribune, having more luck than Diogenes with his lantern, has discovered an honest woman.

She is an elderly Liverpool laundry woman. Her brother died in Winnipeg in 1905 and been buried at a cost of $73 by some kindly citizens of the town. She took a debt of honor, and last month she had finally saved enough to come to Winnipeg and pay back the unknown friends.

She came quietly, absolutely refusing to have her name in the paper, sought out those she could find of her brother's benefactors, paid them the $73, visited her brother's grave, and went quietly back to her washer-woman's job in Liverpool.

Even when phoned in Liverpool, she refused to have her name in paper. She had not been engaged in a publicity stunt; she had been paying a debt.

Airmen Need Long Necks?

(Province Bulletin)

We've always felt that eventually a use might be found for giraffes. Down in Cape Town, South Africa, the department of surgical research of the University of Cape Town, medical school, has been making a special study of the giraffe's circulatory mechanism, and the United States Navy is said to be somewhat interested. Why?

Well, it's a long story (almost as long as a giraffe's neck), but the gist of it is that the navy would like to find out if something can be done to prevent aviators from blacking out during high speed manoeuvres.

The giraffe has what is probably the most powerful heart of any living creature. It has to be, to pump blood a maximum vertical distance of 15 feet without bursting either itself or an artery. It is felt that if we knew all there is to know about a giraffe's pumping system, it might be possible to find out how to fortify the pilot's blood pressure and enable him to withstand the pull of gravity.

The human heart has to lift blood only about a foot or so, but it gets into trouble at the higher pressures demanded by the wild blue yonder, whereas a giraffe's is perfectly comfortable with a normal blood pressure of 360 millimeters of mercury.

There appears to be just one trouble: You can't put a giraffe's heart in an aviator's bosom. Nevertheless, we are glad to learn that the giraffe is being taken seriously at last and not regarded just as one of nature's whimsies. We'd be glad to see our faith in the giraffe justified.

Rainy Day Wins Praise

(New York Times)

A rainy day in summer is a remarkably good thing, provided it is called Connie or Diane. Quite aside from the fact it will improve the tomato crop, with effects, through canning, felt into the winter, it has an immediate, short-range value. On a rainy day is the day of rest. On the rainy day the tomatoes alone need attend strictly to business, whereas their ultimate consumer can regard the passing hours as so much free time. This is the rainy day for the somewhat lean meat of life. If he is on vacation he can settle down with a good book, conscience untroubled by the thought he should be outdoors, doing strenuous things in the sun. In the office he can give thanks to a nature so thoughtful as to send the rainy day now and not following Monday, when his own fortnight's release begins.

It is important to remember that fossils do not exist only in the badlands. They doubtless lie in clay and rock over much of Alberta and Saskatchewan. But only in the badlands are the sedimentary layers clearly exposed. That is why it is important to preserve the badlands for future scientific work.

The scenery there is far different and in some ways more exciting than that to be found anywhere else in Canada. The Dominion Government should have made a park of it. But Alberta is already far ahead of the rest of Canada in national parks, and so the responsibility was thrown on the provincial government. It has not done heavily into the park business, but it has unlimited opportunity in the badlands.

Its decision was first announced a few months ago, but not until just recently was the location set. Although the Drumheller district area has interesting possibilities the Steeplevick district 75 miles farther down the river is even better. There the badlands are perhaps 10 miles wide.

Kalamazoo's Crazy Views

(Hamilton Spectator)

Hamilton's City Council may seem — we said, seem — to do some pretty silly things once in a while, but at this particular moment we're mighty proud that our twenty-one local councillors are not thinking of following in the legislative footsteps of their counterparts in Kalamazoo, Mich.

In that municipality of the euphonious name the City Council has passed an ordinance — bylaw to you — prohibiting men from "ogling girls on the street. It's still legal to look at girls in Kalamazoo, but it's now against the law to "look or glance furtively" at them. The important question to our mind is: In what manner other than furtively can you glance or look at a strange girl without being rude? Apparently the frank, bold gaze of admiration, the offensive, open-mouthed stare, are still legal in Kalamazoo.

If Hamilton's councillors even considered an anti-furtive-ogling law, they'd incur a penalty of not more than $100 — well, we would think it was high time to get a city manager.

Language Road Signs

(Ontario Road Bulletin)

The meaning of "he done good" is clear enough, but if a prefecture making fun of the residents of small villages around which summer resorts cluster, I have a letter from a well-known village that fills the bill exactly. The Pack Sack in question mentioned that it was harder to get a job of work done at a summer resort than in cities, and the reason for it was the eternal good nature of small villagers who hadn't the heart to turn down a city slicker who wanted a new wharf or a flag pole, and therefore soon loaded themselves up with ten times more jobs than they could possibly perform in any summer season.

"One thing you forget," writes our villager. "Summer is summer to us permanent residents of summer resorts just the same as it is to you visitors. We feel the same dread for a summer holiday as you city dwellers. Don't think summer lingers any longer at a summer resort than it does anywhere else."

"We see summer coming in exactly as you do. We've worked all winter, as you have, only in saw mill and lumber camp, on highway building and power lines. We've built cottages, boats, punts. We've labored all winter in service."

(Halifax Chronicle-Herald)

Few of us can resist the temptation of a really ripe and juicy peach, but peach juice is one of the most elusive liquids on earth, and the double task of skinning the peach and conveying its liquid essence into a glass is a task to trouble the boldest.

Like the lobster and the melon, the peach is a thing which should and can be satisfactorily eaten only when dressed in a bathing-suit. A similar and even stronger plea could be made for the oyster. There is only one really satisfactory way of eating oyster on the half-shell, and that is to raise the whole issue to the mouth on the shell, and gently lower the oyster from the shell to its destination.

All About 'Twisters'

(New York Herald Tribune)

A hurricane and a typhoon are the same thing, but in different parts of the world. The Atlantic term got its name from the West Indians' god of the storm — Hukam. The Pacific typhoon came from the Chinese word for "big wind," "tai-fu." They differ from tornadoes mostly in that the latter are narrower, usually on land, and have greater lifting power.

All of them are cyclones and "twisters", rotating counterclockwise of the equator, clockwise to the south of it.

LEARNING THROUGH RESTRAINT

News came recently that a friend had died. He was one of the most useful men I ever knew — educator, preacher, academic administrator. One side of his nature that very few people knew about was his interest in the handicapped. As a young man he experienced a shoulder injury which caused him to be handicapped for some time. It turned his thoughts to the problem of the handicapped. He spent months of months learning the techniques by which the handicapped could help themselves. Throughout his distinguished career — which was in teaching, preaching, and administrative administration — he always kept his eye on the handicap situation and lent tremendous aid to movements designed to help the handicapped. Usually we know best about the things we have experienced ourselves. The older we get the less are we willing to judge others. We are brash and full of criticism in our youth. We know all the answers and wonder why the world doesn't solve its pressing problems. But as we grow older, we learn deeper answers to our questions. We have experiences which confirm in our minds the Biblical statement that we are dust and that the hearts of all of us are prone to mistake and evil. We have to experience — and sometimes with great sorrow — before we know.

The Truth About Sugar And The Teeth

From all the scientific evidence I have studied, I infer that the use of a reasonable amount of sugar in the diet and the presence of particles of sugar in the mouth, on the teeth, between the edges of the gums and the teeth is not a cause of decay of the teeth.

At the same time I believe the excessive consumption of sugar in America, especially by growing children is the chief cause of the malnutrition that is becoming increasingly evident in many parts of the country.

Malnutrition doesn't necessarily mean famished or starved. Nor that the victim doesn't have enough to eat. Indeed most victims of malnutrition eat too much, tins of mullin, eat too much refined food. Thousands of well-to-do persons with Yankee berberis habitually eat too much refined white flour and too much sugar. The refined carbohydrate is harmful in itself, but when such food yields most of the calories required daily the individual doesn't want and will not eat enough natural food to supply his or her minimum daily requirement of what malnutrition means, and, for goodness sake, don't show your ignorance by associating it with poverty of deprivation.

I say victims of Yankee berberis eat too much refined white flour and too much sugar. Most of the sugar is refined white sugar, but even if one used crude "raw" sugar, maple syrup, honey, fruit sugar and other natural (unrefined) sugars instead of refined white sugar the effect on nutrition would not be impressive so long as refined white flour continued to supply most of the daily calories.

On the other hand, as a good many well-fed American families have learned that when plain wheat (freshly ground) flour is used instead of refined flour, the effect on nutrition is soon shown and felt by every member of the family, for what is still the staff of life, while refined white flour is what I call cheat-food.

CLING TO YOUR PADDLE!

Stevenson in his "Inland Voyage" tells of a time when he was traveling with a friend through the Belgian Congo. Accidentally their canoe was upset and they had quite a time trying to get it righted, but through it all Stevenson clung to his paddle, and perhaps saved his life. At any rate, his paddle by day it will add to your sense of hope and security. There will be about you what may be termed self-sufficiency. And it will help, not only yourself, but be an inspiration to all whom you may contact. Cling to your paddle!

Inspiring as these words would have been upon Stevenson's first tombstone, the more poetic ones that finally were engraved are beloved by us all. Here is a portion of that epitaph:

"This be the verse you grace for me:
Here he lies where he longed to be;
Home is the sailor, home from the sea,
And the hunter home from the hill."

Now let's get back to the epitaph that might have been that of R.L.S. It's a grand motto to have ever before us all "Cling to your paddle". That is, to your courage, else.

Four Sets of Gold-Plated Uniform Buttons Presented To Gen. H.D. Graham at Picnic

COBBOURG — (Staff) — Despite his new rank as the nation's No. 1 soldier, Lt.-Gen. H. D. Graham will have less brass to display than many another army officer, when he assumes his duties as Canada's new Chief of the General Staff.

And for that he will have the officers of the Hastings and Prince Edward regiment to thank. Saturday afternoon on the beach here, the officers presented Lt.-Gen. Graham with four sets of gold-plated regimental uniform buttons at a picnic given for them by the General and Mrs. Graham. They will replace the stock brass buttons bearing the Hastings and Prince Edwards crest, which he has worn since he started on his military way with the regiment over 30 years ago.

The picnic was his way of saying an informal farewell before assuming the arduous duties of his new office, to the regiment that sired his military career.

The presentation of the buttons was made by the regiment's commanding officer, Lt.-Col. Everett Fairman.

BRINGS GREAT HONOR

Expressing his congratulations to the General on his promotion, Lt.-Col. Fairman told him: "Your promotion sir, as Chief of the General Staff, has also brought great honor to your mother unit, the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment."

"We present, officers of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, are very proud that you wear Hastings and Prince Edward buttons on all your tunics," he added.

He then uncovered one of the sets of buttons, and handed them to the general, glinting in the bright sunlight.

"We want to wish you sir, all the best in the future and we will be following your activities very closely," ended Col. Fairman.

General Graham examined the buttons for a surprised moment, then realizing, despite the informality of the group facing him, there was a speech to be made, squared off with a few spontaneous remarks.

PROUD TO WEAR BUTTONS

"I am very moved indeed. I am very grateful," he told the gathering. "I certainly will be very proud to wear these buttons. I assure you it will save me a lot of work as far as polishing is concerned," he remarked amid laughter from the group.

The general passed the buttons around for inspection among the officers while he was speaking. Quipped one wife to her officer-husband while examining the glistening display: "Now you will have to give him some gold-plated shoe shine."

The general also expressed the hope that the picnic would be the first of many like gatherings of officers of the regiment and their families through the years. Pausing for a moment he eyed Colonel Fairman and enquired: "That is the end of the speeches colonel?"

The colonel agreed and the only formal part of the day was over.

About 160 attended the gathering, including many officers now retired from active militia service. Previously during the week the general has issued a letter requesting as many as possible of the officers who ever served with his regiment to attend. Saturday he was able to look around the gathering and find faces that brought back memories of his long, auspicious association with the regiment.

STARTED AS LIEUT.

Lt.-Gen. Graham started as a lieutenant in the Hastings and Prince Edwards in 1922, when the 49th Hastings and the Prince Edward regiments were amalgamated. In the period between the wars, while leading an active public life in the area, he served the regiment continuously as lieutenant, captain and major until 1939, when he enlisted in the nation's active service.

He went overseas as 2-IC of the regiment, taking over as commanding officer in 1941. Subsequently, he was appointed to the command of 5th Canadian Brigade and when finally he returned to Canada it was as commanding officer of the 1st Canadian Brigade, of which the Hastings and Prince Edward regiment was part.

PICNIC WELL ORGANIZED

The picnic was organized in thorough military fashion, every eventuality being guarded against. The weather was warm and clear with ample shade being provided the picnickers from a hot sun by the heavy, old trees of the park.

However, had it rained the picnic was still assured of success. Personnel from the local ordnance depot here erected a huge marquee behind the beach to house the event in case of adverse weather conditions. Happily, the only use to which it was put to was the registration of the guests.

White-helmeted military police were on duty at the entrances to the park and the marquee, framed by the Indian mascots of the regiment.

Officers and their wives travelled from as far afield as Oakville and Ottawa to attend the function. Among the notables in attendance were Brig. D. C. Cameron, commanding officer of Camp Borden, Ont., Mrs. Cameron and Col. L. Carr, and Mrs. Carr, Port Hope.

YEARS OF SERVICE REPRESENTED

Many years of service were represented at the gathering, among the veterans being Lt.-Col. B. C. Donnan, Belleville, with years of service entered in the register from 1913-46.

He retired with the rank of major in 1945. His son Ken, now carrying on the family tradition, a lieutenant with the regiment and in its service for the past five years, also was in attendance.

Dressed in a sports shirt, General Graham moved quietly among the officers and their families, chatting with them for nearly two hours, renewing old acquaintances. For him, because of an engagement elsewhere, the event had to finish shortly before evening, when

Shortly after his departure the presentation was made. Officers and their families sat down to open-air mess in the shade of the park's big trees. Appetites, made all the more hearty by bracing lake air, were quickly satisfied by large repasts, shared by all the gathering.

Groups Can Reserve Seats To Hear Graham

TORONTO — Chairman of the Greater Toronto Evangelistic Crusade, the Rev. Douglas Percy announced today that it would be possible now for groups of twenty-five or more people to make reservations for seats for the Crusade meetings at the C.N.E. Coliseum. Requests for such reservations should be addressed to the booking office at 410 Yonge Street, Toronto, and will be honored up to capacity for each evening. However, the seats on the main floor of the Coliseum as well as the elevated seats will be left unreserved and will be on a first-come, first-served basis.

Commenting further on this new plan for handling blocks of seats for delegations, the chairman also said that no reservations will be accepted or made for any of the Sunday afternoon meetings.

Evangelist Billy Graham will arrive in Toronto on September 16 to begin his month-long crusade. Beginning Sunday afternoon September 18, the Crusade meetings will be conducted through Sunday, October 16. The Sunday meetings will be in the afternoon. Monday of the Crusade, September 19, there will be no Monday night meetings; Mondays being taken as the rest day for Mr. Graham and his team.

sponsoring this Crusade which will be the young evangelist's first in Canada. Overflow accommodations are being provided at the Coliseum for the Crusade meetings. However, the reserved seats for delegations of 25 or more will be in the main Coliseum where the evangelist will speak in person. ## Winner of Auto-Racing Cups Admits Being Nervous on TV

By SYLVIA HACK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—A bright-eyed British woman who wins auto-racing trophies swears "I never take risks" and admits to being nervous on television.

"I'm very careful of my neck," says Sheila Van Damm, women's European touring car champion and winner of the women's section of the hazardous Monte Carlo rally, "I don't intend to break it if I can help it, although I'm a great fatalist."

Miss Van Damm is 33, cheerful, on the stocky side and is learning to manage the Windmill Theatre, London variety house.

TRAIL TO TOP

"I never had what you might call real driving ability," she said in an interview, outlining her trail to the top in a sport that takes contestants over icy roads, up mountains and down rainy valleys for days and nights at a time.

"The test," she says, "is endurance, driving ability and leaving nothing to chance. Every step must be carefully planned, maps and watches checked and the whole thing gone over thoroughly. And of course, a bit of luck always helps."

Now the owner of approximately 20 trophies—she couldn't exactly remember how many she's been awarded over the last five years—the brunette race ace first entered a car rally in 1950 for a publicity stunt.

"Through 100-per-cent luck, I came third."

The manager of a big auto firm thought she had what road racing takes, and she's confirmed his gram which consisted of a skit, "Club Management."

Women's Activities

WHITE'S W.A.

WHITE'S DISTRICT—Mrs. O. Ghent was hostess to the ladies of White's Woman's Association on Thursday afternoon with a good attendance despite the extreme heat. A pot-luck dinner was enjoyed at noon on the shore of the Bay of Quinte after which the president, Mrs. Casey Kelchson conducted a short meeting. Some business was discussed. The members, visitors and children enjoyed a social time by the cool waters of the Bay of Quinte and all were sorry to leave such a pleasant place.

PLAINFIELD W.M.S.

The August meeting of Plainfield W.M.S. was held in the church with an attendance of 14 members and three children.

Mrs. Fred Hall opened the meeting in the usual way; Mrs. Frank Hodgen had charge of the worship service, the theme being "A door of understanding."

Mrs. Jack Skelly read the Scripture passages and Mrs. Jack Salmon gave the meditation. Mrs. Hodgen read some splendid excerpts from Mrs. McKillop's address at Dominion Board taken from the Missionary Monthly.

Readings were given by Mrs. Clayton Hall "Racial Tensions", and by Mrs. Charles Treverton, "Comfort of God", while Mrs. Harry McCreary closed this part of the meeting with prayer.

Mrs. Sherman Parks reported having sent $92 to Presbyterial treasurer so far this year and also read an interesting letter in regard to supply work.

Mrs. Blanche Emerson, group leader, had charge of the program and gave a reading, "Earthly Signs of the Heavenly" which stressed the teaching and preaching of Jesus.

Mrs. Clarence Marshall gave readings from the Missionary Monthly and Mrs. Emerson closed with "He Leadeth Me Beside the Still Waters" and prayer.

There were two new members. The offering amounted to $10.50 and the Mission Band offering was $14.55.

SAVES NIECE'S LIFE

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (AP)—Quick action by 16-year-old Kenneth Nordstrom saved the life of his three-year-old niece Thursday after she was bitten by a rattlesnake. Nordstrom sucked the venom from the wound of Marva Dean Allen, then rushed her to hospital, where the child was pronounced in good condition.

QUIET LIFE

Aside from driving, Sheila likes to lead a fairly quiet life. She does a working day at the Windmill, which her father owns and she will take over some day. She has no ambition about the stage.

"I'm really quite a nervous person. I always feel terrified before the TV cameras."

In contrast to the slacks and leather jackets she normally wears for driving, Miss Van Damm enjoys essentially comfortable, though feminine, clothes like the green silk dress with short sleeves she wore during the interview, and the medium-heeled toeless beige shoes.

As a mechanic her ability lags behind her driving.

"I can just about change a spark plug," says Sheila. "I usually know what's wrong with a car, but I can't fix it."

The Carters are luckier than they know!

Like all families, the Carters have plans and dreams for the future. But, unlike the families of just a generation ago, they have a better chance of making those dreams come true.

Why?

One important reason is because life insurance—which belongs in all plans for future needs—is much more flexible today. During the past 25 years, a variety of new policies has been created. The modern "family income" policy, for instance, provides maximum coverage while children are young, and reduces in amount as they become older and self-supporting. Other policies have been developed to cover mortgages and to provide retirement income to fit in with the government old age security benefits.

So it goes. No matter how you may wish to link life insurance with your future plans, you can now find a way to do so with one or more of the numerous different kinds of contracts available today.

This wider choice reflects just one of the ways in which life insurance companies and their representatives have adapted their services to the changing needs of Canadians in all walks of life!

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

THERE IS NO REASON WHY YOU SHOULD WASTE YOUR LIFE

Dear Beatrice Fairfax: I am a young woman of 27. I have been married five years.

When my husband and I were first married, he was very good to me for three months, then he started coming home late on pay days and was drunk when he came. As time went on, he began staying away from home and he goes out with women and comes home with lipstick on his shirts.

I have talked to him and begged him to quit drinking, but he just laughs and says, "When they quit making it, I'll quit drinking it."

I worked to earn money and bought furniture for the house myself, and he would come in drunk and break up the furniture. Finally I got into such a nervous state that I couldn't stand it any longer. I sold what was left of the furniture and left him.

He found out where I was and came and begged me to let him move in with me so I did. But he didn't act any different. Instead, he kept on drinking and abusing me when drunk.

Finally, a friend of mine had me meet a friend of hers. I have had seven dates with him. He is different from my husband, doesn't drink a drop and wants a good wife and a home. A home of mine is what I have wanted all my life. My husband and I had no children, and I love and want them. But my husband didn't tell me he could not be a father until we were married five months.

This friend wants me to divorce my husband and marry him. He seems so much my type. He is so settled down and talks only of a home.

Do you think I should leave my husband and try for happiness where I think I can find it? I have lost all love for my husband and can hardly stand it when he is around.

What shall I do? I do not know which way to turn now.—Mrs. W.N. Dear Mrs. W.N.: To be quite honest, I see no reason in the world why you should not divorce this husband who has treated you so badly or, if your faith does not permit divorce, to seek an annulment of the marriage on the ground that your husband concealed from you his inability to father a child. Then you could marry this other man, if you are quite convinced that he would be good to you and make up to you for all the unhappiness you have had.

If you had any love left for your husband, and if I could believe that there was a chance of his taking himself in hand and becoming the kind of husband he should be, then I would feel you should give him that chance before ending your marriage. But nothing you say gives me any impression that he has the slightest desire to mend his ways and help you make a real home, so I do not see why you should waste your life either trying to live with him or merely living alone apart from him.

At 27, you are indeed still a young woman, and should not have to face a future that is without hope of finding a happy marriage. I would suggest that you consult a lawyer immediately about your divorce and go ahead and get it.

Batter Up—Fruit Under

By Mary Moore

Gather round, you know me, for I have a recipe for a batter for the top of a fruit pudding that should find a prominent place in your recipe file.

I like it for a host of reasons: it tastes good; it looks and is featherly light and delicate; you may use the fresh fruits that are in season right now, including plums, peaches, blueberries and apples or canned or frozen fruits later on when the growing season is finished.

The one we made and which brought forth so many ohs and ahs had fresh peaches under the batter. The lovely syrup that they nestled in provided the sauce for the pudding so you do not have to worry about providing pouring cream or whipped cream or any other extra fattening topping.

FRUIT PUFF PUDDING

First I will give you the out-of-this-world batter: Sift cake flour and measure 1-2 cup. Beat 2 egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored, and gradually beat into them 6 tablespoons sugar, beating until very light. Beat 2 egg whites with 1-8 teaspoon salt until foamy, then add 1-4 teaspoon cream of tartar and beat until whites are stiff enough to hold up in peaks, but not dry. Gently fold egg yolk mixture into beaten whites, then fold in the 1-2 cup sifted flour a small amount at a time.

That is the batter that you pour over the fruit, which should be ready and hot in a greased casserole.

We used fresh peaches: To 4 cups fresh sliced peaches add 1-2 cup water and bring to boil. Combine 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca with 2-3 cup sugar (or less) mix them well and stir into the boiling peaches. Remove from heat, add two tablespoons lemon juice, and pour into buttered baking dish. Keep hot. While this is still hot pour the prepared batter over it. Bake in slow oven of 325 deg. Fahr. for about 50 minutes, or until when touched at centre cake springs back to an even surface.

This is at its peak of perfection served warm, but I noticed that a little bit that was left was eaten in short order by Pete around midnight, stone cold from the refrigerator.

Variations—(1) Canned Peaches: 10 large peach halves, well-drained (28-oz. can), 1-2 cup juice from canned peaches, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, 1-3 cup sugar, 1-8 teaspoon salt. (2) Fresh Plums: 8 large, fresh red plums, halved and stoned, 1-2 cup water 2 1-2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca 2-3 cup sugar 1-8 teaspoon salt. (Some discerning testers say this is the best variation but if you use it try to find red Lombard plums). (3) Fresh Blueberry-Apple: Make same as Fresh Peach but substitute for peaches 2 cups each fresh blueberries and sliced summer apples.

You can't miss any one of them, they are all tops, so try them all and select your favorite. Would you please clip this recipe? For once tried I know you will want it handy for next time.

and walk correctly. Posture is 'everything' to a lovely figure and, to help you in that good cause, here is a good posture alignment exercise:

1) Lie flat on your back on the floor. . . arms down at sides of body. Bend knees, pulling feet on the floor up near the buttocks. 2) Separate knees as far apart as possible. 3) Lift the very bottom of your spine up off floor as far as you can. 4) Dig the spine at the waistline down into the floor as hard as you can. Hold one minute. Relax, then repeat this exercise ten times.

Another good exercise is to stand erect with hands on hips, trunk pulled up as slim as you can stretch it, feet close together and parallel. Very slowly bend the knees and go down into a squatting position. Keep heels on the floor as long as possible and keep the back straight throughout. Reverse movement and, still keeping your balance, rise to starting position. Relax. Repeat three times.

Stretching exercises are also excellent for good posture and don't forget that old admonition to "stand tall". Many women try to stand tall by throwing the chest out and pulling the tummy in. But that's not the way. Stand erect, yes, but instead of concentrating on pulling the tummy in, pull it in and up. That's the secret—and, with a little practice, you'll do it almost automatically. And, then, see how your clothes look on your lovely figure!

It is not a good idea at all to be going out with any man while you are still married. By doing so, you run the risk of your husband making trouble for you, and you run the risk, also, of starting gossip about your friendship with this man. So my advice would be that you see him only occasionally, and preferably not too often alone, until you are a free woman.

And then, do not rush into marriage, but give yourself plenty of time to make certain that your second choice is a wise one, for it would be a tragedy indeed if you were to find you had impulsively made another mistake.

FALL COLORINGS

By VERA WINSTON

Brown on its own is particularly good, as we approach the fall fashion season, while brown with black looms large as an especially good color scheme. Brown silk and wool mixture ottoman is used for a most attractive coat designed for the fashion-conscious junior miss.

The yoke is in one piece with sleeves and it is topped with a black velvet collar. Black buttons accentuate the slim lines and there is a black lining.

17 FACE TRIBUNAL

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Seventeen members of the Syrian Social Nationalist party went on trial today before a Damascus military tribunal on charges of plotting, spying and murder. Fifty-five other party members are being tried in absentia on similar charges. They are accused of planning and executing the assassination on April 22 of Col. Adnan Malki, deputy chief of staff of the Syrian army, and of planning a coup d'etat.

TYPHOON CLAIMS 13

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Official reports from southeast Formosa today said 13 persons were killed when typhoon Iris lashed the area Wednesday. About 50 were injured and more than 2,000 homes were destroyed in and around Taitung. Highways and rail lines were washed out and rice fields flooded.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BECKMAN

SPECIAL THANKS FOR SPECIAL HOSPITALITY

Dear Mrs. Beckman: Last weekend I was visiting a friend of mine at her cottage at the shore. On Saturday morning a friend of hers (whom I had never met), knowing that I was to come, telephoned to invite us both to dinner with her and her husband at their cottage. She said that her husband would drive over to get us, and they would drive us back. We went, and we had a wonderful time. It was a very hot evening, but still the hostess cooked a marvelous dinner for us, they were both most hospitable and very entertaining. Of course I said the best "thank you" I could, but still didn't seem adequate, and still doesn't. Since they live quite a distance from where I live, I don't see how I could 'return' their hospitality. Do you think my enthusiastic "thank you" at the end of the evening was enough?—J.R.

No. For such special thoughtfulness and hospitality you should make some special gesture of appreciation. Show your appreciation by writing the friendly thank-you note that I am sure is in your thoughts all ready to be written. Then think of a little something to send with your note: a box of candy or special sweets, or a group of a few choice hors d'oeuvres, or a book that may have been mentioned during the evening, or one of the radiant boxes of matchbooks stamped with their name. "The Thornbents", or perhaps the name of their cottage, or a handy little gadget you think they might welcome for their kitchen or buffet service.

DRESSES OF "THE MOTHERS" MUST HARMONIZE

Dear Mrs. Beckman: The date of my son's wedding is coming up soon, and the bride's mother (whom I have never met, for we live in New York state and they live in Texas) has not informed me as to what type of dress she is to wear at the wedding. Would it be proper for me to inquire from her so that my dress will "conform"?—M.R.

Yes, this is the proper and practical thing for you to do, and do it as soon as possible. Write to the bride's mother, telling her that of course you want your type of dress to conform to hers, asking her if she would please let you know what type of dress she is (very important these days when planning to wear, what length, the length of dresses of "the mothers" vary so much), what material and what color . . . and could she possibly send you a swatch of the material she is using, so that you can choose a color that will harmonize. She, as hostess, and you, as woman guest of honor, should wear harmonizing dresses, for you walk up the aisle just before she does, and you probably will stand next to her in the receiving-line.

A NOTE OF GOOD WISHES TO THE SERVICE-MAN

Dear Mrs. Beckman: When I had my vacation in June, I visited my aunt and cousin in a city quite a distance from here. My cousin and I had several double dates, with her boy friend and his best friend. We four had a grand time together, particularly as my date was a marvelous dancer! When I returned home I sent him a picture post card, view of our city, and he has sent me a greeting card. No more correspondence. Now my cousin writes me that he has gone to a camp to begin his military service. I'd like to write him a note. Would you approve?—S.R.

Yes! I think you should write him a friendly little note of good wishes for his military service. If he answers, (and I think he very well may), fine . . . if he doesn't, don't write again.

HOW to get a Friendly Loan

FINANCE

Drop in to see your friendly Niagara Loan advisor. He'll make it easy for you to get the Friendly Loan that suits you best. Here are important facts for you about Niagara Loans.

Who can get a Niagara Friendly Loan?—Anyone with a reputation for honesty and the ability to repay.

How much can be borrowed from Niagara?—Up to $1500; sometimes more.

How quickly can I get money?—Sometimes in 20 minutes; within 24 hours for most loans.

How long can I take to repay?—In the table below, there are just a few of many plans. They will give you some idea of time periods allowed for different amounts . . . from 4 to 24 months. And for all people who have uneven income during the year, such as farmers and schoolteachers, special payment schedules may be arranged on loans above $500.

Are all loan charges the same?—Up to $500 generally, yes; but remember, at Niagara, you get life insurance at no extra cost.

Above $500, the larger the amount and the longer the time—the lower the rate. Compare . . . often you'll "buy" more money at less cost at Niagara.

Is Life Insurance on loans worthwhile?—Yes, here is a real family peace-of-mind feature. At no extra cost to you, loans of $1500 or less, are life-insured. Be sure you get this protection when you borrow.

Does a friend have to "back" my loan?—No, seldom do borrowers prefer an endorsed loan. And bankable security, of course is not needed.

How many ways of borrowing are there?—You can use any of these four Niagara Loan plans. 1. On cars, trucks, etc.; only owner signs. 2. Husband-and-wife, on furnishings. 3. On business equipment. 4. On farm stock and equipment.

Can I have a private interview?—Yes, your interview at Niagara will be private, courteous, and friendly.

Why do people borrow money?—A few reasons are to consolidate a group of small debts to reduce large payments for car and truck repairs to meet emergencies; to repair or modernize homes; to enlarge a business; for seed, stock, fertilizer for farms; and to take advantage of low prices, when cash is paid.

Do many people borrow?—Yes, in Canada, 1 family in 4 borrow each year.

Airlines See No Danger In Serving Drinks on Planes

NEW YORK (AP)—When you reach for a cocktail at 18,000 feet, are you a potential danger to the airplane you're sitting in?

Representative Thomas Lane of Massachusetts thinks it's possible. He called last week for a federal ban in the United States on serving liquor aboard commercial airlines, declaring that drinking in the air is "a thoughtless invitation to a new kind of disaster which, fortunately, has not yet occurred."

The Air Line Pilots and Stewards and Stewardesses Associations, Lane said, have asked the civil aeronautics board to forbid liquor serving on planes "because it is a potential nuisance to passengers and crews alike and is a threat to the safety of all."

AIRLINES DON'T AGREE

The airlines, which make it a general practice to serve liquor, think otherwise. American Airlines, the No. 1 U.S. carrier, states its policy this way:

"Safety of operations is our primary responsibility and concern and that will not be compromised. We know of no evidence which will support any suggestion that the safety of the operation is diminished by the limited service of alcoholic beverages which we permit and provide. The federal safety regulations are premised on that basis."

The airlines say they have definite limits on how much liquor they'll serve a passenger. On some lines it's two drinks and on others three. If a passenger has been "obviously affected by a drink, he doesn't get any more, the airlines say."

American, United and Trans World Airlines serve complimentary drinks on their de luxe non-stop coast-to-coast services. This amounts to a cocktail or two before dinner. United also serves free drinks on its "executive" flights between New York and Chicago and between Los Angeles and San Francisco. United and Western Airlines have "champagne flights" in the west.

Most of the airlines comment that they have to offer liquor because their competitors do.

Airline crews are under strict rules about drinking. They can't touch liquor within 24 hours of going on duty and can't drink until they're off duty.

WIDE CHOICE

Alcoholic beverages are much more in evidence on transatlantic flights. On these overseas runs, service starts with highballs or cocktails, then switches to champagne and wines with dinner and ends up with a choice of liquors. Some of the lines feature national specialties. On Air France it's vintage wines. KLM has Dutch gin. Scandinavian Airlines offer aquavit, a Scandinavian drink, and Danish and Swedish beers to go with the smorgasbord that precedes dinner.

WEEKLY EDITORS MEET

VANCOUVER (CP)—Five hundred weekly newspaper editors will meet here from Sept. 12 to 14 for the 36th annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association. Special speakers will include Premier W. A. C. Bennett and Frank N. Youngman, chairman of the board for Crown Zellerbach Canada Ltd.

Helen Hayes Will Soon Observe Fifty Years in Show Business

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP)—Stage star Helen Hayes, despite herself, is about to celebrate 50 years in show business.

"Well, gee," she comments with devastating brevity when asked about the event.

But because the theatre is a notably sentimental world, Miss Hayes is aware great hoopla is inevitable for a golden anniversary.

"You know me," she said, dabbing vigorously at a spot of cheek makeup. "Always being talked into things."

The star, whose gamut of roles extends from Pollyanna to Queen Victoria, was talking in her dressing room at the ANTA theatre. There, along with Mary Martin and a notable cast, she is currently appearing in a three-week revival of "The Skin of Our Teeth" which has already become one of Broadway's most memorable events.

When the run is finished Miss Hayes intends "very definitely" to carry out a program she has set of ending up on professional commitments and taking more time for sewing, gardening and all the other pleasures of domesticity at the suburban Nyack home where she is simply the wife of Charles MacArthur, playwright.

She denies published reports that a "special production" is planned to celebrate her 50th theatre year which officially begins Jan. 1.

Already, however, the American Theatre Wing, of which she is president, has persuaded Miss Hayes to permit a golden anniversary ball here in her honor Dec. 30. It seems inevitable that other events will follow.

The Hayes career, she recalls when pressed, began in her native Washington when she was six years old and the dancing school which she attended gave a public show.

In her cut-down-on-work program Miss Hayes three years ago "rejected" any further movie roles, now seems ready to abandon television.

The "mechanical hanky-panky" of both films and TV has shaped her decision.

"For five years I did just about anything they asked me to do in television," she said, "and I watched everything in the air."

"I don't honestly know what's happened. But a kind of discomfort grew up and the more I watched the more I felt I just didn't want to be connected with it."

It is probable that her final appearance on television will be the Sept. 11 telecast of "The Skin of Our Teeth."

Two Shrubs Act As Hosts To Leaf, Stem Rust

TORONTO — Barberry and buckthorn are two shrubs classified as "weeds" under the Ontario Weed Control Act, and because they act as host plants to leaf and stem rust of cereals the Ontario Department of Agriculture offers special grants to counties where campaigns are undertaken to destroy them.

During 1954 a great deal of damage was done to Ontario grain fields by a serious rust epidemic. Upon investigation of reports that grain cannot be grown in certain fields because of rust, it is often found that barberry or buckthorn shrubs are growing in the fence rows, reports the Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Upon the removal of the shrubs the farmer finds that his fields will grow good crops of grain.

WASTE LAND INFESTED

But spores can overwinter in the south and from there travel north to infect Ontario grain fields but most of the rust epidemics in this province originate from infestations of barberry and buckthorn found growing in many of the counties, with fence rows and waste lands badly infested in some areas.

Common barberry acts as the host plant, or the start for stem rust of cereal grains. The shrub grows from four to twelve feet tall with yellow wood underneath a grey bark and has three or more spines under each leaf. The leaves are always saw toothed and are from one to three inches in length. Small yellow flowers in drooping clusters produce seeds that turn red in color late in the season and remain on the bush over winter.

European buckthorn, host for leaf rust of oats, is a shrub or small tree growing from five to twenty feet high with very dark green leaves which remain on the tree for some time after other leaves have fallen in the autumn. Small thorns are found on the trunk and at the apex of branches but this shrub must not be confused with thorn apple tree or others of this kind. It has small flowers which produce green seeds that later in the season turn black, are very bitter, and remain on the tree over winter.

SEND OUT SPORES

Rut spores or black rust overwinters on grass or grain stubble, but with the return of warm weather they open up and send out spores which settle on the leaves of barberry or buckthorn. They are further multiplied from these shrubs and spread to the leaves and stems of growing grain to start another infestation of red rust. If weather and climatic conditions are suitable, these spores go on to infect later grain fields.

All barberry and buckthorn plants should be destroyed in some manner. Cutting will retard the growth, but new shrubs will quickly replace those destroyed.

Basal bark treatment or the spraying of the lower parts of bushes from all sides with a mixture of two pounds acid 2,4,5-T or brushkill to ten gallons of oil will give good results. Dry sodium chlorate or Atlacide placed at the roots of all shrubs will destroy the shrubs, but the Field Crops Branch warns that proper precautions should be taken when using these chemicals.

TRAIN YOUNG DRIVERS

QUEBEC (CP) — A program aimed at teaching youngsters good driving manners will be undertaken in provincial schools this fall by the Quebec government. Special provincial police officers, armed with films from the provincial cinema board, will visit all schools delivering lectures and showing movies about the rules and courtesies of driving.

UNIONS SEEK RAISES

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's 700,000-member farm workers union announced Thursday it will press for new wage demands. At the same time, representatives of 75,000 furniture workers demanded wage increases of four pence an hour as all over Britain unions gridded for wage battles with employers. Leaders of industry are expected to reject the new demands particularly in view of recent government appeals to keep prices down for Britain's vital export market.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

(By Dick Payne, Ontario Intelligencer Staff)

All men, says the poet, kill the thing they love. It's a slow death for blondes and greenbacks, but there are signs that team sports are not quite so hardy. If the present trend continues, they are going to be codified to death in a couple of generations, at most.

At a time when more money is being paid athletes than even before and more people are spending more time watching team sports than at any previous time in the nation's history, a statement like that begs a rude, thumb-twiddling answer.

Life-blood of team sports, however, is not the spectator but the player — and players are getting fewer.

At this point in the argument you can hear the statisticians rustling through their record books and marshalling their figures. More teams in organized sport than ever before, they say, particularly more minor clubs in age-limit classes, all equipped with excellent, sponsors and supervision.

Excellent, as far as it goes. Particularly encouraging to those whose prime interest is combatting juvenile delinquency and keeping youngsters off the streets. But the streets are the very place where team sports derive their strength. When a town's police problem turns into a traffic-blocking football game or discovering just who kicked that football through Mrs. Smith's dining room window into her car chandelier, you may have reason to worry about the kids' present but there is no cause for concern about the future of team sports.

The passing of the vacant lot and the advent of the motor car placed a considerable strain on team sports and it may be that, if service clubs and sport lovers had not jumped into the breach, team sports might have gasped their last, long before this. But don't bet on it.

There is nothing quite so irresistible as a youngster's determination to have something he has been told he cannot enjoy and the growing obstacles to team sport might have been surmounted by the Rink Rats and the South Side Pirates and the North End Dumbbells. But they had these problems solved for them. Now, in almost any town across Ontario, every youngster has an opportunity to play on a sponsored, supervised team, in a regular league schedule.

Sounds marvelous. But kids don't play that way. Oh, sure, the Little Leagues are booming — but there is a difference between a game once or twice a week and the nightly routine of scrub or catch or kick. Proper supervision will almost certainly produce as many good players in any team sport as the old, untutored, haphazard, unregulated corner lot play — but it won't produce as many players, good, bad, and indifferent. More and more, youngsters are turning to the individual sports, to tennis and skiing; more and more teen-agers are showing an interest in golf and fishing and hunting and sailing. Nothing wrong with that. These are all good sports. But they are not spectator sports.

Well, you say, the organized Little Leagues are producing enough players, good players, and there is no lack of spectators, although a disappointingly large number of them may be gathering around TV sets to watch the Yankees and the Indians, or the Maple Leafs and the Canadiens, instead of attending the games in their own home town. True, there are lots of spectators still — but paradoxically enough the only spectator worth a hoot is the man, or woman, who would sooner be doing something else — playing the game rather than watching it.

The more a man knows about anything, the less likely he is to demand perfection when he watches somebody else do it. The veteran fisherman gets a kick out of watching a youngster land a rock bass; to a person who has never fished, nothing smaller than a 30-pound muskie is impressive. It is the same way with team sports. The man who has played a game is not so ready to boo and so reluctant to cheer. He understands how difficult are some of the seemingly easy plays which are being attempted. He appreciates the reason for some of the manoeuvres which the spectator who has never played regard as dumb plays.

The rule-makers are constantly trying to liven up the game in an effort to enhance the interest of spectators who have never played. In baseball the ball is lively, to increase the number of home runs. A home run is spectacular — but there are those who have played the game who get more thrill out of watching a squeeze play. It is a moot question whether hockey, as a game for the player, was improved by the introduction of the forward pass. Certainly today's heater-skater game is no place for the good little man, who could hold his own when skill and speed were of more importance than weight. The forward pass was imported into Canadian football from the United States. Perhaps it improved the game; it certainly changed it.

On this continent substitutes are used in soccer. Soccer is a game of stamina and, like any such game, a test of a player's ability to husband his strength, to reserve something for the times that count. But, if you can throw a substitute into the game when your outside right gets bushed, there is no sense in the opposition letting him run himself into the ground.

There is no reason why the rules of a game should not be changed, but they ought to be altered only to make the game more interesting to play, not more interesting to watch.

Oshawa Easily Wins Title In Intercounty

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Intercounty Senior Baseball League wound up its regular schedule this weekend with some unexpected performances. The unpredictable Galt Terriers, who finished in last place, wound up the season with a 10-7 victory over the second-place Kitchener Panthers.

London Majors, hopping in and out of fourth place for weeks, dropped a 7-2 decision to third-place St. Thomas Elgins. However, the Majors guaranteed themselves at least a tie with Brantford Red Sox by defeating Galt Terriers earlier in the day.

The Red Sox, London's playoff nemesis, cracked the league-leading Oshawa Merchants and took a 1-1 decision.

The weekend results saw Oshawa firmly in first place and passers of the Intercounty pennant. Kitchener and St. Thomas are tied for second place. London and Brantford for fourth—the last playoff spot.

Tribe Loses Double Bill To Washington While Yanks And White Sox Are Splitting

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

You can't blame the Cleveland Indians for being puzzled today. They would like to know why the Washington Senators are anchored in seventh place in the American League.

Nothing the Senators showed in Sunday's doubleheader and, for that matter all season long against Cleveland, indicated that the Nats belong deep in the second division, nearly 30 games back of the league-leading New York Yankees.

The Indians were all set to move into first place Sunday if the Yankees and Chicago White Sox should split, which they did before a crowd of 50,990.

But the Tribe ran smack into the red-hot Senators, who had just finished polishing off the White Sox in two out of three games. When the twinbill was over, the Indians found themselves on the short end of 8-2 and 13-4 scores and in third place, a game back of the Yanks with whom they were tied when the day started. It's been like that most of the season with the Senators. They hold a 12-7 edge over Cleveland.

HOMER WINS GAME

The Yankees lost Chicago 6-1 in the opener on the strength of home runs by Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra, but the White Sox came back to take the second 3-2 as Bob Kennedy drove in all their runs with a first-inning homer. The split moved the Sox into second place, a half-game back.

Meanwhile, Boston Red Sox took advantage of the top teams' failure to gain ground and edged back into the pennant picture with a 14-2 games of the top. The other American League game between Baltimore Orioles and the Tigers at Detroit was rained out.

Milwaukee Braves also were just as curious as the Indians only their puzzle concerned the cellar-dwelling Pittsburgh Pirates, who have won 11 of their 20 clashes. The Pirates rubbed it in good and proper Sunday winning a doubleheader 5-3 and 2-0 while the Brooklyn Dodgers were downing St. Louis 6-1 to take a 1-1½ games.

PHILLIES SURGING

The surging Philadelphia Phillies made it nine victories in their last 10 outings as they solidified their third-place spot with 7-6 and 8-2 victories over the Cincinnati Redlegs. Chicago shut out New York 3-0 in the other league game.

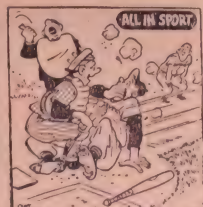

Nine hits, six of them for extra bases, in the middle innings plus the sharp relief pitching of Chuck Stobbs carried the Senators to their first game victory over the Indians. Stobbs gave up only one hit over the last 6-1½ innings. One of the extra base blows was a homer by Clint Courtney.

The second game was a pitchers' duel between Mike Garcia and Mickey McDermott until the seventh when the Senators went wild and racked up eight runs at the expense of the "Big Bear." Don Mossi and Ray Narleski. McDermott allowed only six hits, including homers by Ralph Kiner and Al Smith.

WILLIAMS HITS 25TH

Home runs were the story of the Red Sox triumph. They smashed four of them before 33,165 fans, the third largest crowd of the season which sent Kansas City's home attendance soaring to 1,173,000. Eddie Joost hit a pair of three-run homers. Grady Hatton got a grand slammer in the first and Ted Williams connected with No. 25.

Karl Spooner had one of his good days in pitching the Dodgers to their triumph over the Cards. He hurled a six-hitter and was supported by a 11-hit attack, including homers by Gil Hodges, No. 29, and Roy Campanella, No. 28. The Giants were shut out for the third time this season by Bob Rush. Ernie Banks connected with a pair of triples for the Cubs.

"Sorry I knocked out some teeth on that tag, but by gosh, it was a coincidence my brother's the best dentist in town!"

Point Anne Trounces Trenton 15-1, Meets Peterborough in Next Round

The Point Anne Cementmen advanced to the second round of the OASA Intermediate "A" playdowns on Saturday night by trouncing Trenton 15-1 in the third and deciding game of their series under the lights at Trenton.

Veteran Pat Maracle stopped the Trenton club on four hits while his mates, minus two of their star players, Gerry Goyner and Bob Hull, backed him with a 14-hit attack.

The winners grabbed a 2-0 lead in the initial frame and put the decision beyond doubt with seven in the second. They added one in the fourth and cleaned up with two in each of the fifth and seventh and a final tally in the eighth. Trenton played their lone tally in the seventh.

MARACLE WINS

Maracle, pitching his first game of the series, gave up one hit in the sixth and three in the seventh but otherwise he was untouchable. He nipped 10 on third strikes, three in the initial frame, walking only two. He hit two batters.

Stan Cooper started and took the loss for Trenton, giving up nine runs in 1-13 innings. He fanned two and passed two while making one wild pitch. Bill Mitts came on and tilted until he was ejected from the game in the eighth. He whiffed four and walked five. Lawrence threw the final frame, fanning two while allowing one hit.

Sam Mulholland opened the game with a single and after taking second on a passed ball, scored on an error by Curtis. Roger Mallory singled the other run home.

BIG INNING

The winners clicked on all cylinders in the second while a pair of Trenton misuses helped. John Green bashed a triple to left to start the rally and after Horwood walked, Maracle drove in both runs with a three-bagger. Another walk, Whalen's single and another by Mallory plus Doug Cooper's error plated four more runs. Phil Bennett's long fly accounted for the seventh marker of the inning.

A walk to Mallory and Bennett's single scored one in the fourth. Singles by Mulholland, Gilmour and Maracle added two more, two walks and Whalen's double made it 14-0 while bas hits by Wade and Horwood completed the scoring.

Low Istead plated the loser's lone tally in the seventh when he punched a single to right. Austin Scott followed with the same, after Mallory's error had advanced Istead to third, for the run. Foshy cracked a double but Maracle left both men stranded when he made Cooper ground out to Wade. The complete Point Anne team took part in the batting display. Bert Whalen leading the way with a double and two singles. Roger Mallory, Sam Mulholland and Bob Horwood each poked a brace of singles while Maracle and Green tripled. Pat Gilmour, Jake Wade and Phil Bennett had singles.

Foshy's double was the only extra-base hit off Maracle while singles went to Barr, Istead and Scott.

The Cementmen will now meet Peterborough Seabrooke Motors in the second round with the first game scheduled in Peterborough tonight.

Gene Littler Snuffs Out Stan Leonard of Vancouver In Extra Hole for Title

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—A routine par by Gene Littler, 25-year-old Californian, snuffed out Vancouver's Stan Leonard Sunday in a sensational extra-hole finish to the $50,000 Open.

Leonard's bid, before a sympathetic gallery of 12,000 cheering and pushing spectators, fell short because of a blooming chip shot. Nine holes back Littler holed out a 25-foot chip—the shot that really won for me—and the two eventually went into sudden-death play.

The pair had finished the 72-hole tournament tied with eight-under-par 272, galloping past Doug from Klamath Lake, N. Y., who started the final 18 with 20, one stroke up on Littler and four ahead of Leonard. Ford, who took over the lead with a 68 Saturday, soared to a last-round 72 and a third-place finish at 275 with a couple of old pros—39-year-old Ed (Porky) Oliver of Lemont, Ill., and Sam Snead, long-hitting 43-year-old West Virginian from White Sulphur Spring.

SHORT ON PUTT

Leonard had made the final round his best of the tournament, a five-under-par 65. Littler shot a 68 and Ford a two-over-par 72. Littler's rounds were 67-69-68-68 and Leonard's 69-66-72-65.

Leonard and Littler went into sudden-death play while the excited galleries were in a dither. Both players had good drives. Leonard ahead by 15 yards, Littler put his second on the apron of the green. Leonard hooked his second shot and the ball was holed out of bounds when it struck the fence and bounced back to the side of the green.

Stan chipped. It was his bloop, the ball landing 10 feet in front of him and still just short of the green. Another chip left him seven feet short of the cup.

Littler, chipping from the apron, sent his ball eight feet past the cup. His putt was five inches short. Leonard, going for the par five hole, would keep the sudden-death play going, was short a foot. He walked over and shook hands with Littler, conceding the victory.

GIVEN SLIM CHANCE

No one had given Leonard much chance of coming close to winning the first-prize $50,000. Observers figured he had blown a chance Saturday with a two-over-par 72 after keeping up with the leaders for 36 holes. It was considered a last-day dog-fight between Ford and Littler, with three or four others fighting it out for third place.

Ford, winner of the tournament here in 1953, quickly shot himself out of contention with an even-par 36 on the first nine. Littler, playing in the threesome ahead with Leonard and Freddie Haas of Claremont, Calif., carded a three-under-par 33 and Leonard a 32.

Littler and Leonard were all even after 17 holes and Littler's great bid to finish the game fell short on the 18th. He was on the back fringe of the green on his second and his birdie putt missed by less than a foot. Leonard was in two and two-outed from eight feet and their par fours forced the game into the pulsating extra hole.

While the great crowd thronged to the first green to wait for the sudden-death, Leonard and Littler got together and made a locker-room financial deal.

WESLOCK LOW AMATEUR

They agreed that the $7,780 aggregate of $5,000 first money and $2,780 second prize would be put into a communal pot. The prize was on $7,000, ensuring each $3,500.

Littler's win gave him his $3,500 plus the $780 net in the bargain net. Leonard collected his $3,500 net of the agreement and also $780 in the tournament's special distribution of prize money among Canadian pros, his share being $375 as low Canadian.

Nick Weslock of Windsor, Ont., won low amateur honors with nine-over-par 289. His par 70 last round put him one stroke ahead of Moe Norman, Canadian amateur champion from Kitchener, Ont., who took 75 Sunday and finished with 229.

PINO QUITS ARGOS

TORONTO (CP)—Sam Pino, former Boston University footballer, left Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Saturday. He told manager Harry Sonshine he didn't think Argos wanted him. His departure cuts to 14 the number of imports now being carried by Argos. This is four more than the league limit. The team will make further cuts after viewing films of Sunday's inter-squad game.

SWIMS LAKE WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP)—Rudy Shlack, year-old Winnipeg appliance salesman crossed Lake Winnipeg in record time Saturday to become the second person to swim the 18 miles between Grand Marais and Winnipeg beach. His time of 15 hours and 40 minutes was one hour and eight minutes faster than that of Katie McIntosh, 20-year-old Winnipeg stenographer and only other person to make the crossing.

Sam Snead's Golf School

Watch your address and follow through naturally, don't hurry on an uphill lie. The easiest of the various types of hillside shots is the one from an uphill lie. It should offer you no physical or psychological styles.

Take your normal stance with the ball in about the same position with respect to your feet as you would play it with the same club—whether it be a wood or an iron—on a level lie.

But bend your left knee somewhat more than usual in order to keep your shoulders and hips level and in the same relative position as they would be if you were standing on flat ground.

What you have to avoid, of course, is the tendency to keep all of your weight on your right leg when you're standing on an uphill slope. Despite the fact that you're bending the left knee, you must maintain good balance. That is, have your weight distributed as equally as possible between your two feet and legs.

All you have to do then is take a normal, natural swing, being sure to stay down and follow through. Don't hurry the shot as is often the tendency when in an abnormal position.

If the slope is pronounced the chances are you will get a much higher shot than usual. It's a good idea to use a somewhat straighter-faced club than you ordinarily would to minimize the loft distance.

Belleville Wins Eastern Ontario Bantam Title

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Vaughan's Bantam baseball team travelled to Ottawa on Saturday and won the Eastern Ontario Bantam Association Bantam championship. They defeated Peterborough and Ottawa in a round robin competition by 15-8 and 12-5 scores.

In the early afternoon game Vaughan's found Peterborough pitching to their liking and scored in each of their six innings for a total of 15 runs. Peterborough scored single runs in the first and third innings.

Gordon Vaughan pitched five innings allowing 4 hits for 2 runs, struck out 10 and issued one walk. Larry Soden gave Vaughan a breather on the last two innings and pitched excellent relief ball allowing 2 hits for no runs and issued 2 walks. John Brennan did the catching. Vaughan's were strong at the bat. Vaughan contributed a home run to help his own cause. Larry Soden had 1 hit, Doug Moreau 2 hits, Terry Keller 3 hits, Glenn Clark 1 hit, J. Brennan 2 hits, Dave Poirier 1 hit, Terry Belanger 2 hits. Hard hit ball accounted for all the errors.

Eskimos Trounce Vancouver Lions, Stampeders Taken

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Saskatchewan Roughriders, who have made the fewest changes from last season of any of the five Western Interprovincial Football Union clubs, will be after their third straight win tonight in Vancouver where they meet the British Columbia Lions.

In the other WIFU encounter tonight a winless streak should end. Calgary Stampeders visit Winnipeg Blue Bombers. Both teams have failed to score a victory in league play.

Saturday Frank Filchuk's Roughriders defeated Calgary and Edmonton Eskimos trounced the Lions, both winning by 29-12 scores.

Frank (Pop) Jay's Eskies, who won the Grey Cup last fall, now are on top of the WIFU standings with three straight victories. Saskatchewan has won both starts. Lions are third with a win and a loss and last are Winnipeg and Calgary.

In Edmonton Saturday night the Eskies, who had sort of stumbled to wins over Winnipeg and Calgary, made a "split" attack click against the Lions. With Edmonton fullbacks Normie Kwong and Johnny Bright doing most of the ball carrying, Annis Stukus's coast team was never in the picture.

In Calgary it was end Doug Kiloh, a sophomore homebrew, who led Roughriders to a win over Stampeders. Kiloh scored two of his team's four touchdowns, one on a blocked kick and the other after a Stampeders fumble.

Oshawa Downs Haggis Juniors 4-1 In First Game of OBA Playdowns

(By GARRY ALEXANDER)

"Butch" McMann, a right-hand hurler with a good curve threw three strikes by 15 Belleville Juniors in Oshawa on Saturday night. Oshawa won 4-1 in the first game of the Oshawa Bantam Association (OBA) playdown series. The second tilt is scheduled for Exhibition Park here next Saturday at 4:30 p.m.

The Oshawa McCallum Transporters took advantage of four Belleville errors to take the victory, scoring single runs in the fourth, fifth, sixth and eighth innings, two earned. The Haggis crew played their lone tally in the seventh, also a tainted marker.

Belleville outbatted the home team five to three but the good right arm of McMann was the difference as he bore down in the clutch. Six of his strikeouts came in the first two games. Many of the third strikes were called as Keller's lads were ducking away from the first two frames. Many of the lights. This was the first game under the lights for Belleville. McMann issued five free passes, one which aided in the locals' lone run.

REID HURLS

Stan "Lefty" Reid toed the rubber for Belleville and allowed but three hits. His control was not at its best as he allowed six and hit one while whiffing four. His throwing error on an attempted forceout helped lead to the Oshawa triumph.

McMann got off to a good start, fanning Hull for the initial out. Harvey Stoliker then beat out an infield hit but Buskard and Goyer went down swinging. Walkers to Kingston and St. Louis threatened in the second but McMann fanned the side again.

Oshawa came close in the third as Kingston led off with a walk and McMann sacrificed him to second. Larry Steffen then cracked the first Oshawa hit, an infield single sending Knight to third. Steffen took off for second a minute later but a beautiful cutoff play with Cam Buskard firing toward second and Goyer racing in from shortstop, cutting off the ball and throwing back to home nailed Knight trying to score.

ERRORS COSTLY

Errors put Oshawa in front in the fourth. Goyer bobbed Porter's ground ball and when Cole hit a check at third, he tried for the force at second but threw just to the dirt with all hands safe. The lead runner stole third and came home on a fielder's choice by Courtney that nipped Cole going to third.

Oshawa made it 2-0 in the fifth on a walk to O'Reilly, Brent Oldfield's single to left sending him to third and Jack Litch's long sacrifice fly to center bringing him home. A walk to Porter, stolen base and Doug Cole's Texas League double down the right field line added their third run.

BATCHELOR SCORES

Butch Batchelor scored the loser's lone tally in the seventh. He led off with an infield hit, took second when Gord St. Louis was safe on Oshawa's error and went to third when Gord St. Louis was safe on sack. Bob Hull drove in the run with a fielder's choice getting Reid at second but the pitcher broke up the double play sliding into O'Reilly. They had two on and one out in the eighth on a walk and Gerry Goyer's lined single to right but Batchelor banged into a double play.

Back to back errors by Goyer and St. Louis and Courtney's infield out accounted for the winner's final marker. McMann finished strong with two strikeouts in the ninth including pinch-hitter Tom McKay.

Gerry Goyer had little trouble with McMann's slants, singling to left, shortstop and right in that order. Stoliker and Batchelor had infield singles. Doug Cole doubled for the winners while singles went to Steffen and Oldfield.

Kingston Orphans Eliminate Local Entry from Playdowns

KINGSTON — Kingston's Warren's Orphans potted Belleville Orphans three runs in the third inning of their Ontario Amateur Softball Association deciding game Saturday night at the Community Centre and then rallied strongly over the rest of the route to decision the visitors 10-4.

The win for Kingston was their second in a row and eliminated the Belleville entry from any further playoff competition. Kingston will meet the Oshawa — Peterborough district winner in the next round.

The game wasn't without its moments of excitement as the Orphans finally found their batting eye and hammered out 13 hits off the combined offerings of starter Bob Hunter and reliever Bob Green. Hunter, who beat Kingston 7-2 in the opening game of the series, was charged with the loss when he allowed 10 hits and seven runs before being chased in the seventh inning.

Green, who retired the first three men to face him in the seventh, ran into trouble in the eighth when he issued a pair of walks and gave up a double and two singles good for three runs.

PLAYED UNDER PROTEST

Kingston played the game under protest from the third inning on when starting pitcher Don Goyer fellow was ejected from the game by plate umpire 'Shud' Ethier. Goodfellow's tipping of his hat was interpreted by Ethier as a belittling gesture and so he waved him out.

Orphans were behind 3-0 at the time because of a walk, a single to 'Turk' Barclay, a double by Hull and Vern Goyer's two-run single. Kingston went ahead in the 4th when they scored four runs. Consecutive singles by Babe Stinson and Cliff Aitken and a walk to Don Clumour loaded the bases with one out. Stan Scrutton, who had replaced Goodfellow, singled for the first run and Hunter forced in another, when he walked Joe Greenham. Batchelor's error on 'Tipkes' hard-hit grounder and a wild pitch plated two more runs. Belleville tied the game up temporarily in the fifth when a single and two Kingston errors allowed Hull to score but Orphans went two up in their half of the inning on a double by Stinson, Aitken's single and Scrutton's triple.

HUNTER LEFT IN SEVENTH

Hunter left the game in the seventh after Levandoski singled, advanced on Jones' error and scored on Stinson's third hit of the game. Green looked good as he retired Aitken, Gilmour and Scrutton in order.

Fighting gamely to avoid elimination Belleville scored a pair of runs in the top of the eighth to make the score 7-6. Goyer walked, Batchelor tripled for Orphans' only extra-base hit of the game and Locke singled. Scrutton then struck out Jones and Green to end the threat.

Kingston put the game out of reach in the bottom of the eighth when Greenham and 'Pinkies' walked, White doubled and Levandoski and Stinson singled, the rally good for three runs.

Score by innings: R H E
Belleville 003 010 020—6 7 3
Kingston 000 420 130—10 13 4
Hunter, Green (7) and Carr; Goodfellow, Scrutton (3) and White.

MARTIN REJOINS YANKS

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Cpl. Billy Martin will leave here Tuesday morning to rejoin the New York Yankees in Kansas City. Martin said he will use up 34 days accumulated leave time due him before his discharge from the U.S. Army Oct. 1. The 26-year-old 1953 world series star for the Yankees said he will play any place manager Casey Stengel wants to use him.

By SAM GORDON The Kibitzer

When you quote a rule in bridge to birds, the cards can make you eat your words. Unless you qualify a profound statement, some deal is likely to bob up and make a monkey out of you.

My claim is that if a pair has bid correctly it pays to redouble a doubled contract. However I must not forget to add: a bad split of unseen cards may defeat the soundest bid you could reach.

After class came this deal:

NORTH
♠ K 8 4
♥ K 5 4
♦ A J
♣ A 9 5 3
WEST
♠ Q 10 6 5 2	♥ 9 7
♦ —	♣ J 10 7 6
♠ 10 9 6	♥ K 3
♣ K 10 8 7 4	♠ J 6 2
SOUTH
♠ J 3
♥ A 9 8 3 2
♦ K 8 7 5 4

South was in four hearts. When east doubled he redoubled. It looked as if he had too many holes in his suits. But his confidence in his trick count was strengthened by extras.

It was bad enough to find all five outstanding trumps in one opponent. Three touching honors among them make the redouble look sick. But it is not fatal. The opening lead from west was diamond ten. After dummy hand is down, declarer does not yet know what a tough time east has in store for him. But he expects some trouble from there.

The east diamond king won the first trick which dummy had covered with the jack. Return of trump queen from east fell to the dummy king. By then it was discovered how east was fixed in trumps.

Both the dummy minor aces were cashed and a club from dummy was ruffed by south. A diamond return from south was ruffed in the dummy. Another club ruff left south with ace and nine of trumps.

Two spade tricks were cashed by dummy and one of the remaining black cards was returned. East must ruff. But with what?

If east ruffs small, south over-ruffs with the nine and trumps ace has the needed tenth trick. If east ruffs with a trump honor, south throws a diamond. South can then get two trump tricks.

Spliffs that are bad can sometimes be bad.

366-Mile Walk Completed By Czech Immigrant

TORONTO (CP)—Robert Mendel Saturday completed a 366-mile walk to see his girl friend at Chatham.

The 25-year-old Czechoslovakian immigrant walked wearily into the Canadian National Exhibition west-end gates 137½ hours after he left Chatham on the return journey.

Mendel, who came to Canada from Prague four years ago, left Toronto early Monday to set a Canadian marathon walking record. He said friends met him at key points along the route and supplied him with refreshments, but he was alone most of the way.

He works as a bookbinder in a Toronto seminary.

After he arrived at the exhibition grounds he was taken in hand by the St. John Ambulance for repairs to his feet.

Fergus Thistles Meet Trailermen In Final Round

TORONTO (CP)—Chuck Rowan, secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Lacrosse Association, Sunday announced the eastern Canada championships rounds in senior and junior series here.

The series will be best-of-seven sets and both start tonight. Fergus Thistles start at Peterborough against the Trailermen in the senior playoffs and Newmarket Green Gables go to Long Branch in the junior series against the Monarchs.

Winner of the senior round will meet either Nanaimo or Victoria in British Columbia for the Canadian championship Sept. 12. Junior winner will meet either New Westminster or Winnipeg Sept. 12. The Canadian junior championship series will be played either in Brampton or Long Branch.

Kingston Whips Belleville 9-3 In Juvenile Game

Taking an early 3-0 lead, the Kingston Juveniles handed Belleville a 9-3 defeat in the first game of their OBA juvenile two-of-three series. The second game is scheduled for Kingston on Saturday, September 3rd at 2:30 p.m.

Kingston plated three in each of the second and seventh, two in fifth and a singleton in the fourth. Ray, hurling for the Limestone City lads held Belleville off the score sheet until the bottom of the ninth when they exploded for their three tallies.

Roy went the route for the victors, allowing eight safeties, fanning eight and walking four. Moe Huddleston lasted until Kingston filled the sacks in the second, giving up two hits and as many walks. Sinfield completed the game, giving up six runs off 10 hits, whiffing one and passing three.

Carey spearheaded the winner's attack with a trio of singles while Cherry did the long distance blasting with a home run and triple. Roy aided his own cause, punching a double and single, while Stevenson poked a brace of singles. Thurlby, Senior and Veal also hit safely.

Moore was tops for the local nine with a double and two singles while Bob Vaughan cracked a pair of singles. Little, Barber and Sinfield poked one-baggers.

Belleville's three errors proved costly but some fine fielding produced three double plays.

Lineups—
Kingston: Thurlby, Pettitt, Ball, Senior, Cherry, Ray, Carey, Sanderson, Babcock, Stevenson, Veal, Gately.

Belleville: Vaughan, Little, Kelly, Cornell, Barber, Craig, Wamsley, Charlton, Moore, Huddleston, Sinfield.

Umpires—Williams (P) and Carson (B).

Bantams Trounce Petes 28-11

The Belleville Regents advanced into the OASA bantam zone playoffs on Saturday by wallopping Peterborough 28-11 in the second game of their series played at CNRA park. They will meet Oshawa for the zone championship in the next round.

Belleville took a commanding 11-0 lead in the initial frame and built up a 24-0 lead before Peterborough netted nine in the fourth.

Ted Hook allowed the route for the winners, tallying nine hits while whiffing four and walking eight. Clapp was his receiver. Morrison went the distance in a losing effort, giving up 27 hits, including six home runs. He fanned two and passed four. Van Allan and Cullen caught.

Lewis clobbered two home runs and as many singles for Belleville while Keller had a homer, three singles and a double. Scrimshaw had a homer, two doubles and single. McGee and Clapp three singles each while Locke bashed a homer, double and single, as did Jim Hook. Ted Hook and Langabeer punched singles.

All nine Peterborough hits were one-baggers with Morrison getting three and Worby two. The others went to Van Allan, Jamieson, Cullen and McInroy.

Lineups—
Peterborough: Van Allen, Jamieson, Worby, Morrison, Patterson, Cullen, McInroy, McCarthy, Raynard.

Belleville—McGuire, J. Hook, Keller, Locke, Clapp, T. Hook, Lewis, Scrimshaw, Langabeer.

Beaten U.S. Faces Gloomy Future in Davis Cup Play

By ED CORRIGAN

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP)—

The road back to Davis Cup tennis supremacy will be a long one for the U. S. unless Lewis Hoad and Ken Rosewall succumb to the lure of professional gold.

Australia's 20-year-old "white kid" showed themselves masters of the U. S. tennis court in a class with Hoad and Rosewall. He lacks a good volley and without one you just can't play the Aussies on your terms. Gil Shien, a good-humored collegian from Los Angeles and the fourth member of this year's team, still is an unknown quantity.

As for the professional angle, Hoad is interested and Jack Kramer, who holds the purse strings, is interested in Lew. But so far they haven't even come to the talking stage.

Kramer said he also was interested in Rosewall and pointed out that Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor, the last pair of Aussies to go for the pro booty, split $170,000 for an eight-month world tour after they blasted the U. S. 4-1 in 1952.

Trabert remains the one big U.S. in 1952.

Even after they had won the cup by sweeping past Seixas and Trabert in the singles and doubles for an insurmountable 3-0 lead, they continued to apply relentless pressure in the final two singles Sunday. The results were 7-9, 6-1, 6-4, 6-4 victory by Hoad over Seixas and a 6-4, 3-6, 6-1, 6-4 triumph by Rosewall over Richardson.

Seixas, at 32, is out of the picture. He no longer has the equipment to compete with the Aussies and probably will retire to his Philadelphia plumbing business.

MAY TURN PRO
Trabert remains the one big U.S. in 1952.

BLOXWICH, England (AP)—Bill Pickering can come home to Bloxwich now, it's safe.

Big Bill swam the English channel in record time Saturday and that put everything right between him and his Bloxwich backers.

They were the people who collected pennies and put on benefit shindigs to raise the $350 to finance Bill on his channel attempt.

But all that unpleasantness was swept away in 14 hours six minutes. That is how long Pickering claims it took him to swim the channel via the hard route, from England to France.

While the time was 21 minutes off the time claimed by Abdel Latif Abou Heif of Egypt in 1953, the Channel Swimming Association Sunday declared Pickering's time the official record because there were no official association observers when the Egyptian made his mark.

Only nine swimmers have previously made the difficult west-to-east crossing. The France-to-England record is 10 hours and 50 minutes, set by Hassan Abdel Rehim of Egypt in 1950.

Pickering said he made the swim only "to save myself from having to lead a dog's life when I return home."

Jim Konstanty, veteran relief hurdler, is having his say in two pennant races this year—the American League and the International League.

The bespectacled righthander, famed for his slider, was an important relief cog on the New York Yankees pitching staff early in the season and likely will be again before the season is over. And since being farmed out to the last-place Richmond Virginians in the International League he has been a thorn in the side of the pennant contenders.

Take Sunday for instance. Konstanty, who is eligible to be called by the Yankees in another week, pitched 5 2/3 innings of scoreless relief ball as the Virginians downed the Leafs - leading Toronto Maple Leafs 3-2 after losing the opener 9-3.

Big Jim now has appeared in five games for the Virginians, pitched 24 2/3 innings, allowed only 15 hits and four earned runs.

Taylor's two-run homer in the fourth and a two-run sixth inning gave the Leafs a safe lead in the first game. Sam Jetmore, Archie Wilson and Taylor each drove in three runs.

The Leafs moved on to Havana today in an effort to stave off the threat of the Cuban sugar kings. The Cubans moved within two games of the top Sunday as they shipped Rochester Red Wings 3-1 and 7-6.

The second place Montreal Royals failed to gain ground when they had to settle for a split with the Syracuse Chiefs. They won the first 15-1 but dropped the second 4-3 as Thornton Kipper hurled six-hit ball.

Buffalo Bisons trimmed Columbus twice 2-1 and 5-3 to go into a sixth-place tie with the Jets.

Lions' Halfback Likely to Go To Ottawa

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver Province says that import Jim Garrett, halfback with British Columbia Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, is expected to join the Big Four's Ottawa Rough Riders - unless injuries to other players on the B. C. team make his stay a necessity.

The paper says it learned Ottawa had approached the Lions about Garrett and he will probably join the Rough Riders some time after Monday.

Twenty-four hours after the Lions' game against Saskatchewan here Monday night, the list of imports must be cut to 12 from 20 and Garrett, formerly with Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football Union, is reported to be one of the eight listed to go.

SOVIET ROWERS WIN

GHEENT, Belgium (AP)—The Soviet Union Sunday won their third European rowing championship title by beating Sweden by 1.3 length in the eight mile. The Russians finished the championships with three European titles out of seven races.

The pre-race favorite, Seattle's Miss Thriftway, wound up in fifth place in the point standings with a 625 total. A Canadian entry, Miss Supertest, owned by J. Gordon Thompson and driven by Bill Braden, did not qualify for the championship heat.

Pat Lesser Wins U.S. Golf Open Over Jane Nelson

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—Perry Patricia Ann Lesser of Seattle, won the 53th women's amateur championship of the United States Golf Association Saturday with a 7 and 6 victory over Jane Ann Nelson, an Indianapolis school-teacher, in the 36-hole final.

It was the most lopsided final in the women's national tournament since Babe Zaharias beat Mrs. Clara Sherman, 11 and 9, in 1946.

Lesser, barely 22 years old but already a golfer of note, took charge of her older but comparatively unknown opponent on the back nine of the morning round over the hilly, tricky Myers Park Country Club course to lead 5 up at the 18-hole mark.

Billions of Dollars Added To Value of Securities But Bloom Rubbing Off Boom

NEW YORK (AP)—The greatest bull market boom in stocks is getting ready to celebrate its second birthday.

This stock market has been the biggest money maker ever known. Billions and billions of dollars have been added to the value of securities. Money also has poured into the pockets of investors in a seemingly endless torrent of dividend dollars.

Is this thing extending itself into an era of perpetual prosperity, or is it all going to end up in an old-time grand slam bust?

Probably neither. There are signs that the bloom is rubbing off the boom. The U. S. government is tightening credit. While that does not mean the bottom is going to drop out of the stock market, it may mean that the boom will level off. The tremendous economic forces back of the present stock market advance have shown no signs of evaporating overnight, even though some of them are moderating.

SWINGS AREN'T CRISES

Wide swing in the stock market do occur, and people lose money as well as make it, but these swings don't spell crisis.

Nearly three years ago, the stock market rallied as President Eisenhower was elected. That was ripped early in 1953 when the federal reserve tightened up on credit. The decline that started then was hurried along by the end of the Korean War.

Meanwhile, the federal reserve liberalized its tighter credit policies, dividends expanded, profits mounted, and suddenly on Sept. 15, 1953, the stock market erupted in a rise that for strength and duration has never been matched.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks on that date two years ago stood at $99.50. It recently hit a peak of $177, a net gain of 77 per cent.

VALUE ROSE 72 PER CENT

During the same period, the total value of all securities listed on the New York stock exchange has gone up from around $115,000,000 to more than $198,000,000, or nearly 72 per cent.

Added to this capital gain were dividend payments which in the past 2 1/2 years have amounted to more than $16,000,000,000.

Dividend cash payments in the first six months of this year were the highest ever discarded for a first half—$3,278,851,290.

Some people are inclined to regard the stock market boom as something of an optical illusion or a state of mind. You will hear them exclaim: "The stock I bought hasn't gone up 77 per cent, and its dividend payment is far from being the highest in history."

And these people can be so right. All stocks don't go up and down together. They go their separate ways, depending on whether the company represented is making money or is likely to make money. Groups often move together as industry-wide developments occur in the railroad business, aircrafts, atomic energy, mining or other segments of the economy.

BLUE CHIPS FIRST

In the great eras of business expansion, it is usually the well established and well managed companies—the blue chips—that make the most money and make it first. As the boom spreads, the secondary companies begin to share in the prosperity, and finally the marginal operators make profits.

In the stock market, the pattern so many times is a boom in the blue chips followed by the pale blue chips and joined later by the others. At the tail end of the rise, the marginal and rank speculative stocks have their fling, and then the whole boom is over for a time. These latter stocks in Wall street are called "dogs" and the professional traders start to move out when the "dogs begin to bark."

BRINGS GAMBLING

This cycle is accompanied by mounting public speculation and gambling for quick capital gains. Tipsters have a field day. When the break comes, many of these little people are burned. There is talk of a "crash" and a "depression."

So far this year the stock market has gone through four reactions. In each case it renewed its advance to new highs. All of this has been done without the type of climactic selling associated with a major market break.

No stock market boom goes on forever, and brokers and others are increasing their vigilance in searching for signs that will indicate when this one will end. They are checking off several items. The government and banks are tightening credit, making money more expensive and hard to get. This applies to consumer credit, which is the highest in history, to ordinary business loans, to home mortgages, and to loans on securities.

Three Vancouver Swimmers Take Top Awards

TORONTO (CP)—Three Vancouver swimmers took first prize in three of four Canadian amateur championship events Saturday at the Canadian National Exhibition.

The big winner was Bill Slater who came first in the one-mile trophy race for junior men and women and the Ross Gold two-mile trophy race for senior men.

Another Vancouver swimmer, Allen Brew, came second in the junior men's event. Pete Rutherford of Montreal was third.

Mrs. Charles Jackson won the one-mile senior women's race. Muriel Ferguson of Toronto was second and Bev Eynon of London, Ont., third.

Sara Barber, 14, of Brantford, Ont., won the junior girls' one-mile championship. She came up with a burst of speed in the last few yards to edge out Toronto's Diane Ferguson, 14, Susan Sangster, 15, of Vancouver, finished third, well ahead of 41 other swimmers in the race.

False Teeth Need A Special Cleanser

Don't Brush Your Plates! Soak Them in Polident As Dentists Suggest

Polident is the recommended way to clean dentures, banish Denture Breath. Just follow these easy rules.

1. Never use a brush on them! Your dental plates are much softer than natural teeth. Brushing wears down fitting ridges so they get loose.

2. Never use soap or toothpaste! They can leave film which collects bacteria and food particles—a major cause of offensive "Denture Breath."

3. Use a soaking-type cleanser made for false teeth only . . . Polident! Polident cleanser is recommended by more dentists than any other. No brushing, no handling of soapy plates. Polident gets where a brush can't reach.

Best of all, Polident always leaves false teeth odor free. Get the world's largest selling denture cleanser, Polident, at your drug counter. 0-113

Talks on Future Of Cyprus Start In London

LONDON (Reuters) — Three-power talks among Britain, Greece and Turkey over the British island colony of Cyprus got down to business today in an effort to reconcile almost diametrically opposed views on the future of the strategic "gateway to the Middle East."

Foreign Secretary Macmillan is expected flatly to reject demands for self-determination for the island's predominantly Greek population, a solution proposed by Greece. Instead, he will probably offer the Cypriots a limited form of self-government, observers here feel.

Foreign Minister Stephanos Stephanopoulos is slated to give the Greek government's views Wednesday, and Turkey's Foreign Minister Falin Zorlu is scheduled to present his position Thursday.

Insistent demands for "enosis" (union with Greece) by the island's 400,000 Cypriot Greeks have led to a wave of terrorism climaxed by a wave of bombings and shootings in Cyprus this spring. The colony's minority Turkish population, numbering about 80,000, is strongly opposed to any change from British rule.

DISARMAMENT COMMITTEE STARTS STUDY

Military Blueprints Exchange Proposed

By RUSSELL ELMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Britain, Canada, France and the Soviet Union today began detailed study of a United States invitation to share in an exchange of military blueprints and submit to aerial inspection of each other's territory.

The United States, which made the offer at Monday's opening session of the renewed UN five-power disarmament sub-committee talks, announced it would ask the UN General Assembly to endorse the plan, when it meets next month.

This afternoon the delegates meet behind closed doors to thrash out the American proposal and other plans presented Monday. Britain, France and the Soviet Union each put forward proposals largely repeating those made at the Big Four conference at Geneva in July and at the disarmament sub-committee talks in London in the spring.

AWAIT DETAILS

Speakers for the five powers are Canadian Health Minister Paul Martin; Harold E. Stassen, President Eisenhower's disarmament adviser; Anthony Nutting, British minister of state; Jules Moch, French special envoy; and Arkady A. Sobolev, permanent Soviet delegate to the UN.

Martin, only delegate to give an opinion on the U.S. plan at the opening session, said "we shall look forward to further amplification" of the proposals.

A Canadian spokesman said Canada probably will accept the inclusion of all Communist nations—including the European satellites and Red China—within the scope of the U.S. plan.

Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., chief U.S. delegate to the UN, said the word "blueprint" used by Eisenhower included the identification, strength, command structure and disposition of personnel, units and equipment of all major land, sea and air forces. A complete list of military plants, facilities and installations within their locations would also be exchanged.

ASKS BUDGET CONTROLS

Among the other plans presented Monday, Moch restated Premier Faure's suggestion for budgetary control of armaments with the money saved to be used for reconstruction in underdeveloped countries.

Nutting referred to Prime Minister Eden's proposal for an experimental joint inspection on either side of the present dividing line in central Europe. He also said that any disarmament agreement "must have a control system with extensive powers and rights of access, supervision and inspection."

Nutting rejected a Soviet inspection plan as inadequate. Sobolev, repeating the Russian proposals of May 10, called for the establishment of inspectors at key communication points, a plan for the limitation of the size of armies and the progressive abolition of atomic weapons to take place in two stages of a year each.

Strike of Dairy Workers Averted In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — A strike of 1,000 dairy workers in greater Vancouver was averted Monday at a last-ditch meeting between union representatives and employers.

The milkmen in a ballot last week threatened to join 3,500 workers on strike in two other British Columbia industries.

Still idle are some 3,000 Packinghouse Workers in the Okanagan fruit belt and 350 seamen who walked off 13 Union Steamships Ltd. coastal vessels July 3 in a pay dispute.

Major concession won by the Milk Drivers' and Dairy Employees Union (AFD-LTC) Monday was a two-stage raise for drivers raising their monthly pay to $275 and a $20 increase for all plant employees.

Rita Hayworth Walks Out on Haymes But Crooner Says 'I Don't Believe It'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Rita Hayworth has walked out on her husband, Dick Haymes, "in the best interests of my children, Dick and myself," but her husband says: "I don't believe it."

The now-famous film star issued this terse statement Monday.

"I have separated from Dick because I believe that in the best interests of my children, Dick and myself, it is necessary that we have time to think things out."

"I don't know at this time whether the separation will be final."

The actress appeared tired and wan. Her lawyer, Maury L. Spangler, refused the request of photographers that she remove her dark glasses. Nor did he permit her to state a reason for the separation. "I don't indicate whether she would file for divorce," he said. Her fourth husband, they were married in Las Vegas, Nev., in September, 1953, and she remained with him during his successful de-

Vague Speculation Surrounds Future of Gen. Guy Simonds

OTTAWA (CP) — Vague speculation still surrounds the future career—military or civilian—of Canada's army chief who retires Wednesday at the age of 52.

Lt-Gen Guy G. Simonds will retire as chief of the general staff a few hours after he arrives by air from England. He and his successor, 57-year-old Lt-Gen. Howard Graham, attended the annual conference of the chief of the Imperial general staff at Gen. Graham returned to Canada earlier.

While there are indications Gen. Simonds won't stay away from soldiering, there have been no positive clues as to his future plans. One informant said Monday he doubts that even Defence Minister Campney has any notion of the general's intentions.

There has been varied reaction to recent speculation here and in Britain that Gen. Simonds might be made undersecretary to Field Marshal Montgomery, deputy supreme commander of NATO forces.

Some officials said a high NATO post for him is unlikely because of Canada's relatively small forces in Europe—7,000 men in an infantry brigade group and about 6,000 in an air division. Others, however, noted that Air Marshal Frank Miller was deputy commander of allied air forces, central Europe, before his recent appointment as Canada's new deputy defence minister.

There is no indication the Canadian government has offered any post to Gen. Simonds, chief of staff for 4½ years and an army officer for 30 years.

Some speculation has it that the British Army may offer him some post, such as commandant of the Imperial Defence College.

The defence department announced last June that Gen. Simonds, Canada's most brilliant field commander in the Second World War, was being retired because he had completed the normal four-year period as chief of general staff.

He will receive about six months' retirement leave and then a full retirement, at a pension of some $10,500 a year.

Too Many Slaps Or Too Much TV Can Spoil Child

LONDON (AP) — Russia's parents were told today that too much slapping—or too much television—can spoil a child's upbringing.

A. P. Tropimov, schools inspector of the Moscow town district, handed out the advice over Moscow radio in a broadcast entitled "how to help children with their lessons."

He said parents should insist on their children doing all the homework by hand. "If a child never makes any attempt to do that," he said, "it is not really a problem."

"I don't get steamed up about that," he said.

"The going a little too far" School officials questioned agreed almost unanimously that cleanliness and neatness are more important than conformity to some arbitrary standard of dress.

The jeans and slacks ban for girls drew sympathetic comment. "I don't like slacks or jeans for girls," said O. J. Yevich, principal of the Centennial High School in Winnipeg. "After all, we're not running a summer resort for them."

However, he said, he has never yet "had to be tough" with his students over dress. "They all

CNE HAS NO INTENTION OF CANCELLING SWIM

Will Lean Backward To Stress Safety

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian National Exhibition's Lake Ontario marathon swim next Monday night depends upon the weather.

Harry Price, CNE sports committee chairman, said the committee is "leaning over backward to stress safety . . . If there is one particle of doubt about weather, the swim will be postponed."

However, he added, plans for the cross-lake swim have not changed a particle since they were laid down last February and there is no more chance of cancelling it now than there was then.

EVERY PRECAUTION

Forty-one contestants are scheduled to splash away from Niagara-on-the-Lake, at the mouth of the Niagara river and 32 miles across Lake Ontario from the CNE waterfront, about midnight Labor Day.

Every precaution will be taken, Mr. Price said. A 6 p. m. weather report on Labor Day will be the basis of the decision to start or not. The decision will be made by exhibition officials, expert swimmers and the men who know boat on the lakes.

A voice was raised against the mass swim Monday by Ald. William R. Allen, a member of the sports committee, who said he was "unilaterally opposed" to it, that it could end in mass tragedy.

An inquiry into the death was postponed pending completion of a homicide squad investigation.

EXAMINATION TODAY

He referred to the attempts by two swimmers last Sunday to conquer the lake. At that time a squall which churned the lake into 15-foot waves forced Jim Edmunds, 31, of Kingston, Ont., and Everhard Matczynski, 25, a German immigrant living in Toronto, to get out of the water short of their goal and threatened to sink a 40-foot cruiser accompanying them.

Sixteen persons following swimmers in smaller boats had to be rescued.

He suggested seven RCMP patrol boats is too few to police the swimmers properly.

Mr. Cowie, chief observer for the swim, said he is looking for responsible persons to accompany the boats which go with the swimmers and see that all regulations are obeyed. One observer is needed for the boat with each swimmer and not enough have been engaged.

All swimmers were to be examined by a medical officer before and later given a complete briefing on the regulations.

Halifax School Boys Must Wear Tie 'Going Little Too Far' One Comment

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A state of "undress" reported among Halifax high school students apparently is not considered a problem in most Canadian centres.

A Canadian Press survey of school authorities on a ruling by the Halifax board of school commissioners that high school boys must wear collared shirts and ties in class, brought—among others—these comments:

"I can't see any reason for it."

"We have no such trouble."

"I have never made any attempt to do that."

"It is not really a problem."

"I don't get steamed up about that."

Convict Killed By Prison Guards Say Inmates

Doctor Claims He Died From Choking Spasm

MONTREAL (CP) — Police said today they are investigating the death of a 27-year-old convict at St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary following murder accusations against prison guards by four inmates.

Lieut. Ubald Legault of the Quebec Provincial Police said the prisoner, Gerard Paquette, was found dead on the bunk in his cell last week.

Police said inmates in the same cell charged that Paquette was strangled by prison guards during the night.

Police added, however, preliminary investigation indicated Paquette had smuggled narcotics into his cell and apparently had choked while trying to swallow his supply to avoid detection.

AUTOPSIES PERFORMED

Dr. Rosario Fontaine, Quebec medico-legal expert who performed an autopsy, said Monday night: "My examination unearthed no evidence of foul play. The prisoner died violently but no one was responsible as far as I can determine."

Police sources said there were no marks of strangulation on the throat, but the man did appear to have died of a choking spasm.

An inquiry into the death was postponed pending completion of a homicide squad investigation.

Truman Claims Republicans Undermine Law

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. (AP) — Ex-president Harry S. Truman says the Eisenhower administration is using the power of the executive branch of the United States government to "undermine" the law of the country "in the interest of big business."

But he predicts that the "people will win their government back from the forces of special privilege."

In a "give 'em hell" speech before 800 Michigan Democrats Monday night, the former president accused the Republican administration of "subverting the laws it is sworn to execute faithfully" and chided it with failing to balance the budget.

Truman told reporters Monday that he has cancelled two September speaking engagements. Truman, now 71, said he had no particular problems of health except that a tight schedule would be "too rough on the old boy."

HOOKS FOUR-FOUNDER

FORT ERIE (CP) — A Fort Erie health nurse, Mrs. Dorothy Jacobs, made the fishing catch of the week when she hooked a four-pound rainbow trout in the Niagara river near her home. Fishermen say this fish is seldom caught in Niagara waters.

Freighter Saves Two Fishermen In Lake Erie

PORT COLBORNE (CP) — Two pleasure fishermen who spent Monday night drifting in heavy seas on Lake Erie, were reported safe today several hours after an intensive sea-air search for them was started.

Lieut. Le Blanc, 45, and Joseph Sandelli, 40, both of Port Colborne, were picked up by the Clonary Steamships Ltd. car carrier Clonary Foran.

A plane and United States Coast Guard boats had been out looking for them since early morning. About 10 a. m. Capt. C. C. Wearad radioed from the Clonary Foran that they were safe and fine.

Capt. Wearad said he was taking the men to Ashtabula, Ohio, where he is to discharge a cargo of ore and will bring them back to Port Colborne Wednesday.

The boat was a new 15-foot outboard launch with a 25-h. p. motor. It was owned by Louis Estok.

Jap Asks Review Of Security Pact With U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu of Japan said today that the time has come for his country and the United States to "review our defence relationship and put it on a solid partnership basis."

Shigemitsu said under the existing security treaty between the two powers the major burden for Japan's defence has been placed on the U. S., with Japan "co-operating under an unequal arrangement."

Shigemitsu's remarks, prepared for a National Press Club luncheon, marked his first major address here during a four-day round of talks with American officials.

The foreign minister, who a decade ago signed his country's surrender to the Allies, did not go into details of Japan's discussion of its conference today with State Secretary Dulles and other high officials. American authorities have been critical of Japan's slow pace in building her defence forces.

Trade Is Slow On Local Market

Trade was slow on the local market this morning. Prices were mostly unchanged while the produce offering was lighter than usual.

Corn sold upwards from 35 cents a dozen while pencil-pod beans were 20 cents a quart box. Cabbage was 10-20 cents a head, according to size, while marrow squash brought up to 40 cents apiece while pepper squash were 10 cents. Spanish onions continued at 10 cents each with cooking onions 75 cents a six-quart basket. Carrots and beets were 10 cents a bunch, three for 25 cents. Tomatoes were down to 35 cents a basket. Gherkins sold down from $1.50 a basket, and dill cucumbers from $1.25 while cucumbers were from five cents apiece up.

Peaches continued in heavy supply bringing 70-80 cents a basket, according to quality. Plums, also in good supply, were 50-55 cents a basket. Apples, mostly Duchess, continued at 65 cents a basket while green gages, crabapples, grapes and Clapp's favorite pears were all priced at 75 cents a basket.

Phone Exchange To Be Enlarged; Tenders Called

Belleville's telephone exchange shortly will be enlarged.

Tenders have been called for the construction of an extension to the Bell Telephone exchange building on Bridge Street East, Grant W. Proctor, Bell manager here, announced yesterday. It is expected the contract will be awarded in about a month, and work will begin shortly afterwards.

A two-storey-and-basement structure, measuring 32 by 77 feet, will be built to the rear of and adjoining the present telephone centre. It will be constructed of reinforced concrete with brick face and stone trim, conforming in design to the existing building. Housing additional equipment, it also will provide more space for the growing Belleville long distance centre.

"This extension to our building was made necessary by the rapid growth of Belleville's telephone system," said Mr. Proctor. "When the dial system was inaugurated here last April, the exchange served fewer than 11,000 phones, but it has grown since to serve some 11,400 telephones. As there is no space in the present building to accommodate the dial equipment needed to provide for Belleville's future telephone needs, we must enlarge the building."

Shopping Made Easier At Canadian Tire

Canadian Tire Corporation for many years have built their business on a cash basis, but to keep pace with modern shopping habits, they have inaugurated their own Credit Budget Plan. The highlights of this plan are that a customer may purchase any merchandise or service over $20, with no down payment and weekly payments as low as $1.

On accepted accounts there is no waiting, immediate delivery of any goods can be secured. Under this new scheme there are no outside interviews or references required.

As in all of Canadian Tire Corporation activities, they have been successful in setting up this plan with a minimum cost to the consumer. Carrying charges are much below most other companies.

Obituary

MRS. LESLIE YEREX
(Trenton)

The funeral of Mrs. Myrtle M. Yerex, 28 Dundas St. W., Trenton, was held Friday, August 26th, from the Weaver Funeral Home, Trenton, Rev. Canon A. S. McConnell conducted the service.

Bearers were Douglas Graham, Douglas Bradshaw, Ralph Cole, Ted Editt, Lorne Westford and Norman Johnson.

Interment took place in St. George's cemetery.

The deceased was born in Bridgeport, Ont., the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William E. Yerex, and lived in Belleville prior to taking up residence in Trenton 35 years ago. She died suddenly at her late residence in Trenton on Wednesday, August 24th. She was 55.

She is survived by her husband, Leslie Yerex; one daughter, Mrs. Lawrence (Vivian) Simpson, of Trenton; and one son, Robert Yerex, of Trenton.

Also surviving her are three brothers, William, Stewart and Stanley E. Yerex, all of Hamilton; and a sister, Mrs. Verna Haley, of Hamilton.

The deceased operated the White Spot Grill. She was a member of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion and the Ladies Auxiliary of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment.

JOHN ST. JOHN

The funeral of John St. John was held Monday, August 29th, from the Belleville Funeral Home, 281 Main St., Trenton, Rev. Dean L. B. Garvin sang the Requiem Mass.

Bearers were John, Mike, Gene and Patrick Tomaso, John Zinelli and Frederick Thibadeau.

Rev. P. Murphy said the committal prayers at the graveside in St. James' cemetery.

Store Manager Gives Details Of Amalgamation

Rotarian Steve Angus, manager of the new Simpson-Sears store here, yesterday was guest speaker at the Rotary club's weekly meeting.

Mr. Angus focussed his remarks on the Simpson-Sears amalgamation, giving a detailed description of the reasons behind the partnership for the future.

The recently opened Belleville store, he said, is an experimental location in the expansion of the firm across Canada.

"This type of store has proven particularly successful in the U.S.," said Mr. Angus. "I am happy to say we are showing signs of being successful here."

Despite its Canadian-U.S. origin, the firm is Canadian in its outlook, he emphasized, adding some 50 stores are planned to be located across Canada within the next few years.

He was introduced by Freeman Burrows and thanked by Walter Pierce.

Couple Honored Before Departure

SHANNONVILLE—On Monday evening, August 22, a number of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Sero to spend a social evening with them, before their departure from the village. They will take up residence in Tyndinaga Reservation in the near future.

An enjoyable evening was spent of ceremonies. After a few words of appreciation, Mr. and Mrs. Sero were presented with a coffee table and a vase of artificial flowers, the presentation being made by Mrs. Leonard Maracle and Mrs. Hubert Maracle on behalf of the neighbors. Mr. and Mrs. Sero graciously thanked the friends for these gifts.

An enjoyable evening was spent playing cards and dancing. Refreshments were served and a social hour was spent.

Bus Companies Awarded $41,000

OSHAWA (CP)—Two Oshawa bus companies have been awarded a total of $41,000 by the Ontario municipal board for loss of business which resulted from the annexation of a large part of East Whitby township to Oshawa.

The bus companies sustained their loss when city council asked the Oshawa Railway Co. to extend its operations to these suburbs.

Garton Coach Lines, which operates between Bowmanville and Whitby, passing through Oshawa, receives $23,000 of the $41,000 compensation it sought.

Denure Bus Lines Ltd., operating from Port Perry to Oshawa, was awarded $18,000. It asked $65,000.

THREE-DAY SAILING MEET WON BY POINT CLAIRE CLUB SAILOR

More than 30 boats from points in Canada and the U.S., competed in the "Y" Flyer class meet in the Deep River Regatta near Ottawa recently. Winner of the three-day competition was Harry Jones of Montreal's Pointe Claire Yacht Club. In the stiff breeze blowing over the three-mile course at Deep River, home club of the 1954 winner, the boats reached a speed of 8.2 mph. Above racers form double line just before skimming down the watery course.

Cavalcade of Ancient Cars Will Pass Through City

Antique, and by modern standards, ambling, 230 ancient cars will pass through Belleville tomorrow afternoon.

The cavalcade reached the Canadian National Exhibition today and will set out on the next leg of its tour from Oshawa tomorrow. There at the General Motors city the tourists will be taken on the tour of the GM works.

It is expected they will begin arriving in Belleville sometime before two p.m., while the last of them will enter the city around three p.m.

They will stop for a lunch break in the city or at Trenton. Tomorrow their day includes a boat ride around the Thousand Islands.

They have an option of leaving Belleville for Kingston via either the highway or through Picton to the Glenora Ferry.

On arrival at Montreal the tour will rally at the Rolls-Royce plant there. The Tour ends there Saturday night.

Road Treatment By-Law Signed By Deputy Mayor

Oiling of new roadways in the Parkwood Heights area will in all probability get underway next week, city engineer Charles Mott stated today, following signing of the by-law awarding the contract to the H. J. McFarland Construction Company of Picton.

The contract was signed Monday night following a special meeting of city council at which Alderman Frank Grandame was officially named to act as deputy mayor, while Mayor John Botz is attending the mayors' convention at Edmonton.

Although the by-law awarding the street oiling contract had been passed at a special meeting of council held last week, the contract was not signed by Mayor Botz prior to his leaving for Edmonton.

At last week's meeting Mayor Botz had opposed awarding the oiling contract to McFarland's. Alderman Graham wanted specific information as to why the by-law and contract had not been signed after approval had been given by council.

He asked if the by-law had been ready for signing; if others had also been placed before the mayor for signing and if these had been given by council.

Acting Clerk Mrs. Anne Hagertry replied in the affirmative to the questions asked.

The meeting was one of the shortest on record and was adjourned immediately following the appointment of Alderman Grandame as deputy mayor allowing him to officially sign the street oiling by-law.

Says Efficiency Of Police Force Has Degenerated

VANCOUVER (CP)—A spokesman for the policemen's union today continues testimony concerning charges that low morale has eaten into the efficiency of the 750-man Vancouver police force.

Constable Dan Brown, secretary of Local 12 of the Policemen's Federal Labor Union (TLC) told the Tupper royal commission Monday that police efficiency has "degenerated" through dissatisfaction.

Commissioner R. H. Tupper is conducting the inquiry into police charges of corruption involving Police Chief Walter Mulligan. Criticism of the force by the Senate committee and the attempted suicide of Det.-Sgt. Len Cuthbert.

Const. Brown followed six ranks-and-file officers and a former policeman who voiced complaints they had been wrongly disciplined.

T. G. Norris, counsel for chief Mulligan, charged the complaints were "pretty small potatoes."

Youths Scared Away After Breaking Lock

An attempt to enter the Maple Leaf Grocery on Victoria Ave. was thwarted last night when two youths were scared away after they had smashed the lock on the door.

A next door neighbor had spotted the youths loitering about the store and called police. However just before police arrived on the scene the youths ran down Chatham street and disappeared.

A front street motorist was picked up for driving while impaired and also faces a second charge of theft of wine from the wine store. Police spotted the car weaving along and stopped the driver. Three bottles of wine were found in the car.

Police have been asked to be on the look-out for Ralph Tye, age 15, R. R. 3 Belleville, who has been missing from his home since August 25th. The lad was described as five feet, seven inches tall and weighing 140 pounds. He was wearing a blue and white plaid shirt, blue jacket and grey trousers. The lad may be suffering from amnesia as he was struck by lightning several weeks ago and had to have hospital treatment.

In city magistrate's court this morning William Bigelow, 38, Toronto, was given a month in the county jail for theft at a South John street house.

Bigelow told the court he was an alcoholic and "blacked out" after he had a drink. Police Chief Walter Probert said, however, that Bigelow did not appear drunk when arrested. Police apprehended the accused in the house after they had been informed by a neighbor that a strange man had entered in the absence of the owners.

Senior Hockey Players Asked To Attend Meet

In preparation for the coming hockey season all the local members of the senior team last year and any prospective members are requested to attend a meeting at the home of Don McNevin, 158 George Street, on Thursday evening, August 25th, at 8 p.m.

The meeting will be held in the interest that the players should determine whether or not this city will have a team in the loop this year.

Following a fan meeting in the city hall, Mr. McNevin consented to again sponsor the senior entry in this city. Since that time he has spent considerable time rounding out a squad that will be a credit to the city and a test to the fans will turn out to be the local players is urgently needed to make the season a success and so the meeting was called by the sponsor to iron out all the difficulties that could be present.

The meeting will be most informal and plans will be developed as to how to finance the year's operations. It is to be hoped that every member of last year's team will be in attendance on Thursday evening.

Plane Without Pilot Circles Sydney 3 Hours

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—An airplane left its pilot on the ground and circled Sydney and its suburbs for almost three hours before it finally was shot down by an Australian navy plane.

Radio bulletins on the runaway craft brought thousands of residents from their homes to watch the flight. Ambulance and police units stood by.

Anthony Thrower, 30, was practicing takeoffs and landings with the plane, a four-seater, Auster. When he swung the propeller to start the engine, the brakes failed and the craft took off.

The plane climbed to 5,000 feet. Its flight was so steady that authorities at first thought a stowaway might be at the controls. Two planes flew beside the runaway for a time, watching closely to see if anyone was aboard.

After more than two hours the wind forced the Auster out to sea. A Sea Fury fighter brought the unnamed craft into the water.

Canada's Lawyers Open Convention

OTTAWA (CP)—The week-long gathering of leaders of Canada's legal profession began Monday, but the spotlight was taken from the Canadian Bar Association convention by the activities of two other bodies.

One was a University of Ottawa convocation where four distinguished lawyers received honorary doctorate of law degrees; the other was the annual meeting of the conference of governing bodies of the legal profession—an organization of Canada's provincial law societies.

The Canadian Bar Association's executive committee also met, but its session was held in camera. The convention's forum meetings do not start until Wednesday.

Recipients of honorary degrees were Lord Justice Denning of England; professor of Appeal; Jean Lemaire of the Paris, France, Court of Appeal; Loyd Wright, Los Angeles, president of the American Bar Association; and David Park Jackson of Sarina, Ont., president of the Canadian Bar Association.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials nosed ahead to a new index high on the thinnest first-hour business in about 3 1/2 months at the Toronto stock exchange today. Volume at 11 a. m. was 929,000 shares, lowest since May 20 when the figure was 993,000. Monday's comparative volume was 1,003,000 shares.

Base metals were mildly lower with some further profit-taking. Other sections moved to moderately softer ground.

Industrial price movements were narrow and rarely went outside a point. There was selective buying in foods, utilities and steel. Algonia, up 1 1/2 at 77, and Bathurst Pulp and Paper B, both up 1 1/2 scored top advances.

Base metals took a long list of small losses, but there was the odd gainer of a few pennies. Cassiar, Opemiska and United Asbestos added five to 10 cents.

Utilities were dull. Most of the traded issues dropped a few cents, but Rayrock and Bicraft notched small advances.

Among western oils, Midcon slipped 3 to 72. Del Rio, Okalta and Peruvian were a little better.

McIntyre led golds off, down 3/4. Amanda lost almost a quarter of its value, slipping 7 to 30.

Holding companies were mildly softer.

LAKE ONTARIO BREWS VIOLENT STORM TO END SWIM

Caught in a sudden storm in Lake Ontario, this small boat accompanying swimmer Eberhard Matczynski of Toronto in his attempt to swim the lake from Youngstown to Toronto, was almost swamped as the crew tried to take Matczynski aboard. When it became apparent that waves and wind made it impossible for the small boat to navigate, the swimmer was taken aboard the Norline, an attending cruiser, and after the crew of the small tender had been removed, the Norline, an attending lake, had to be taken from the water. His cruiser, disabled, and unable to make headway, radioed for help and was towed 14 miles to port.

$150,000 FIRE

Flames destroy the 35-year-old Moose Jaw arena and its artificial ice plant. The metal-sheathed frame building was gutted in three hours. The building was used for roller-skating during the summer and fire broke out a few hours after 200 skaters left the building.

Wins Sweepstake So May Get Time To Sing in Choir

NAIRN, Scotland (Reuters) — Robert Mirtle, small baker and candy maker, burst into the Scottish air "Gae bring to me a pint of wine" today after learning he had won £17,428 for a sixpence bet in a national soccer sweepstake. The money is tax free.

Mirtle, 54-year-old amateur baritone, said now that he had won a fortune "if I slacken up a wee bit at work maybe I will be able to go back into the church choir."

Tax Question Bothers Winner Of TV Fortune

NEW YORK (AP) — What will it cost little Gloria Lockerman, a Baltimore champion speller, in income taxes on her winnings from the CBS-TV show "The $64,000 Question?"

The subject was raised today chiefly because it has been announced that all of the 12-year-old Negro girl's winnings will be placed in a trust fund to be kept for her education or until she reaches legal age.

The question depends largely on what the trust fund provides. The review section of the federal income tax division is of the opinion that the money would be taxable as income for 1955. Also, the income from the trust would be subject to taxes each year. In addition, the parents or legal guardian of a minor would lose that individual as an exemption.

The little schoolgirl spelled herself to the $16,000 mark on the show last Tuesday. Tonight she must decide whether to take that money or go on to the $32,000 prize. If she tries and misses she will get a consolation prize of $4,000. If she wins, she can go on to the $64,000 question next week.

DOLLAR RATE

MONTREAL (CP) — The U.S. dollar was at a discount of 1 1/2-3/4 per cent, the Bank of Canada reported at noon EDT, today. Monday's noon rate 98 9/16 cents. Pound sterling $2.74 7/16, against $2.74 1/2.

Thinks Nuclear Plants to Give Cheaper Power

TORONTO (CP) — Richard L. Hearn, chairman of the Ontario Hydro Commission, said today that probably within 10 years nuclear power plants will supply Canadians with cheaper electricity than is now provided by other sources.

"If Canada is to maintain or better her rank among the nations of the world, the establishment of many new industries associated with nuclear energy and the expansion of others will be necessary," he said in an address at a Canadian National Exhibition directors' luncheon.

"A great deal of money will be required in the process. Canadians have proved in the past that they have the technical and business knowledge necessary for great accomplishment. The future should, therefore, not produce any problems that cannot be overcome by a country whose strength has always been measured by its adaptability in meeting emergencies and changing circumstances."

A model of the Des Joachim Nuclear power plant, expected to go into operation in 1958, is on display at the exhibition.

Mr. Hearn's remarks were included in a text released to the press before delivery.

Electronic Age Catching Up With Bellringer

OTTAWA (CP) — The electronic age is catching up with the bellringer.

Percival Price, former Dominion carillonist, told the annual congress of the Guild of Carillonists in North America Monday that people will donate money to buy bells but not to pay someone to play them.

There was a growing tendency for donors to lay out large sums for installation of electrical devices to play the bells.

"We must impress on donors that they are installing a musical instrument and that they need a player," he said.

Mr. Price, professor of campanology (science of bellringing) at the University of Michigan, said a system involving paper rolls and an electric time clock was tried in Toronto. However, it only lasted for about a month.

SEEKS FATHER'S SEAT

QUEBEC (CP) — Frank G. Power Monday night was unanimously adopted as a Liberal candidate to contest the federal riding of Quebec South formerly represented by his father, Hon. C. G. (Chubby) Power, wartime minister of air. The 38-year-old Quebec City lawyer will try for the House of Commons seat Sept. 26 in a by-election.

Church Union Talks Prove Ineffective

EDMONTON (CP) — Archbishop W. F. Barfoot, Anglican primate of all Canada, said today talks with the United Church about the organization of the two churches have reached a "point of ineffectiveness."

The statement was contained in the text of his charge prepared for delivery to the general synod at the opening of the 10-day session.

"I can discern no really strong urge towards organic union on the part of the general membership of either church," he said.

Any move within the church to organic union was "for the most part inarticulate."

ASK INSTRUCTIONS

The committee on the reunion of Christianity, he said, will ask the synod for instructions regarding the lines of future talks with the United Church. "Some fresh approach is indicated."

Future talks could probably "most profitably follow the ecumenical movement."

The ecumenical movement is one of 1,000's association between churches, and does not involve organic union.

"In such conversations there would be no deadline to meet, no concrete scheme to be followed and consequently no sense of frustration if a scheme failed to emerge."

Russian Farmers To Start Tour From London

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Russia's farm delegation will use London as the starting point of a tour of southern Ontario agricultural areas, it was learned today.

Exact arrival time of the party will depend on when they conclude a current tour of the prairie provinces, but it is expected to be late Thursday afternoon or evening.

Two planes bearing the 20-man delegation on the nationwide tour are expected to remain at Cramlin airport while the Russians motor to Chatham for visits to government stations and individual farms.

Although present plans are incomplete, it is believed the delegation will spend Friday in the Chatham area, return to London in late afternoon and fly on to Niagara Falls to tour the fruit belt.

Reds Offer Arms To Tense Nations In Middle East

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dulles said today there have been reliable reports that Russia has offered arms to some countries in the Middle East.

Such an action by Russia in the supplying of arms to nations in a troubled area—would not contribute to the relaxing of world tensions, Dulles said.

The secretary made clear to a press conference that he had no official information on the reported Russian offers of arms.

Say Tractor Driver Had Been Drinking

TORONTO (CP) — Thomas Hill, 45, today was charged with driving a farm tractor while his ability was impaired.

Police said they saw a tractor locally at 25 miles an hour driving at 4:45 a.m. today weaving erratically east-west street. One tire was flat, police said.

Police said the tractor belongs to a farm implement firm which employs Hill.

ATE TAINTED FOOD

FOGGIA, Italy (Reuters) — Two hundred persons were rushed to hospital with food poisoning at a wedding party here Monday. They had eaten tainted food at two wedding parties.

Wins Fortune In Soccer Pool

DAGENHAM, England (AP) — Ernest Victor King phoned the boss today to tell him he is quitting the mechanic's job he held for 36 years.

Overnight the 56-year-old London suburbite leaped from a 23-a-week worker to an independently wealthy man.

He won $97,271 in a football pool soccer season.

King won the big sum by picking the most number of drawn games Saturday in the draw of games Britons, "the trouble chance" pool it cost him six pence.

Men Working At Dizzy Heights On New Bridge

ST. IGNACE, Mich. (AP) — The $100,000,000 Straits of Mackinac bridge.

Creepers are in action building the mighty bridge towers. The towers are climbing skyward. Risking death, men work at dizzy heights over the waters of the straits.

The creeper, weighing 20 tons and built of specially fabricated steel, is the bridge builder's scaffold that carries him aloft under a firm footing.

Sixty feet at a time, the creeper sets in each section of tower is set in place. Ultimately the towers will be 527 feet above the water surface. This is expected by early fall, says Dan Kline, project engineer for the American Bridge Co.

The world's longest single suspension bridge — five miles in all — is on the way up.

Mine Mechanic Fatally Injured In Deep Shaft

CAPREOL (CP) — A 40-year-old mine mechanic was fatally injured early today after he was apparently overcome by gas and fell 20 feet down a drift.

Police said Gerald Carriere of nearby Chalmersford reported for the night shift at the Jon Smith Gold Mine in this town, 20 miles north of Sudbury, and complained later of feeling sick.

They said the mine had been full of gas from blasting early in the day and was still comparatively heavy when Carriere reported for work.

Carriere stopped for lunch after he complained of feeling ill and then went back down.

Police said a post mortem will be held later today. Carriere was the father of four children, the eldest of whom was working at the mine at the time.

Three Shaken Up In Plane Accident

GARY, Ind. (AP) — Alvin M. Bentley, Michigan Republican member of the United States House of Representatives, his wife and a charter pilot were shaken up Monday in an aircraft mishap at Gary airport.

The congressman said the plane slid off the runway into the mud on landing. One wing of the plane was damaged. The plane had been diverted to the Gary airport after weather conditions closed landing fields at Chicago, where Bentley had a speaking engagement.

SCOUTS AND THE CABINET

The Ottawa Journal, in editorial mood, decries the lack of federal cabinet representation at the opening of the World Scout Jamboree at Niagara-on-the-Lake. The Journal points out that Prime Minister St. Laurent has 18 cabinet ministers at his beck and call and wonders in print if one of them could not have been prevailed upon to attend the opening ceremonies.

Inasmuch as the Jamboree has attracted world-wide attention and delegations from 68 countries, it would seem that cabinet representation at the opening ceremonies would have been a master stroke of good public relations. That no cabinet minister attended suggests that no cabinet minister was invited.

Lack of an invitation, while embarrassing on any occasion let alone an international conclave of the size and scope of the World Scout Jamboree, should prove to be no problem for a cabinet minister bound and bent on, cashing the gate. It is not to be supposed that Scouts, tutored from cubhood to "Be Prepared", would have neglected to issue an invitation to the Canadian cabinet to attend their ceremonies had they wanted a cabinet minister present. The only inference to be drawn is that officials of the Jamboree did not want a Canadian cabinet minister at their opening ceremonies and therefore did not issue an invitation. The cabinet, receiving no invitation, sent no representative.

Whatever conclusion may be drawn from this faux pas one may assume, with reason, that a fine opportunity for good public relations for both the Scouts and the Canadian cabinet was overlooked. Fortunately, both organizations seem to be sufficiently strong to weather this crisis with little appreciable loss of efficiency or prestige.

SERMON IN STONE

A little sermon in stone stands in a monument-maker's yard here.

The polished tombstone carries the names of a husband and wife. The dates of their births are given. But the dates of their deaths are not completed. In each case there are only the figures 19. The final two figures have yet to be chiselled into the polished stone.

Presumably, therefore, both the people who will eventually rest under this stone are still alive.

Youth is not so much a thing of years as of outlook. A willingness, an eagerness, to face change in most things is essential if one is to remain young.

This tombstone denies the possibility of any change in one of the most important facts of the lives of those for whom it has been prepared. And yet it tells no story of age, though those whose names it carries may be old in years, but rather speaks of maturity and a staunch faith that, whatever there may be of trouble and pain and death in the years ahead, one thing will remain unchanged. A man and woman will finally join each other beneath it, in death as in life man and wife, well content to be together.

EMPLOYEE SUGGESTIONS — DEFENCE STYLE

Industry has found that a lot of dividends can be hauled out of a question box. Employee suggestions have frequently proved most profitable to those firms whose top brass are not afraid to let the man in the shop air his views.

We are therefore delighted to discover that the top brass in Canada's armed forces appears to have decided to apply the same technique to the solution of the problem of survival in this age of nuclear fission and fusion.

Recently there came to the editorial desk a copy of "Current Affairs for the Canadian Forces," this particular issue containing an article "The Power that is Sea-Power," by Capt. (SB) Wm. Strange, RCN.

Members of the armed forces will discuss the pamphlet and one of the suggested fields for discussion concerns the problem of the possibility of submarines using atomic-age weapons.

Just imagine the look on the face of some desk-bound admiral in Ottawa if a buck private on K.P. comes up with the solution to that one!

THOSE RUSSIAN VISITORS

When nine Soviet farm chieftains arrived in Montreal on Thursday, some cheered while others jeered.

Said an angry warehouse worker: "They're all bandits. I'd like to kill them."

Since the Communists have kept his wife from him for 15 years, it is easy to understand this worker's feelings. At the same time it would seem obvious to most of us that, if there is any slight hope that Communism's oppression will eventually be voluntarily lightened, this hope will be enhanced by Communists getting to know, and to appreciate, the advantages of living in a free country.

There will be a greater prospect of Soviet visitors being impressed with life here if we treat them with courtesy. No visiting Communist is likely to be converted to our way of life if we all thirst for his blood. And so Mayor Jean Drapeau of Montreal, and others who exchanged expressions of goodwill with the visiting Russians, were probably doing the victims of Red tyranny a better service than the angry warehouse worker.

How to Be Very Popular
(Saturday Review)

They tell the story of George Jessel's once passing a funeral home where a celebrity lay in state and the crowd waiting to file by for a last glimpse was four-deep.

"You see," said the veteran showman, "you give the people what they want and they'll come."

Television, with most of its programs lying in state these hot months, and, enjoying its worst week since the day of the invention of a way to make a piece of living room furniture light up, has also discovered something the people want.

"The $64,000 Question", a program on which a contestant, by correctly answering a few questions, can win $8,000 or $16,000 or $32,000 or $64,000, depending on how he wants to go, has in one month, heat or no heat, become the top-rated TV program in the U.S.

Money, it seems, has no season. Its popularity is common east or west of the Rockies. It is universal north or south of Mason-Dixon-Yates line.

We have come a long way since the days when Phil Baker, his accordion strapped about him, would say to a contestant, "You now have 64 dollars, do you want to try the $64-dollar question? You can take it or leave it." And when the contestant took a deep breath and muttered he might as well try for the 64 dollars our little radio week with the bravos of the studio audience mingled with a few ominous you'll-be-sorrys. Tensely we leaned forward to hear the contestant's reply to the $64-dollar question.

"You uh — you go on the — I mean you go on the green light — and you stop on the red light."

Right with Eversharp! shrieked Mr. Baker. "You now have 64 dollars."

The deafening roar that went up when the audience realized the extent of the fortune the contestant had amassed echoed from coast to coast. We could hardly hear the short interview which always followed where the lucky nouveaux riches told what universities they were going to endow with the money they had just won.

Well, that was a long time ago — seems like thousands of dollars ago. That little radio program has long since gone by the boards. It is now a great success story. It is a story of a man who, by his own efforts, has become a multimillionaire. It is a story of a man who, by his own efforts, has become a multimillionaire.

Education Vital Today

(Hamilton Spectator)

We imagine that many young men and women in mid-August, having had summer work as a welcome source of pocket money, are faced with a decision about whether to work or to continue their formal education. Even if one has not reached the age where one can decide for one's self, the prospect of a return to school can be a real problem.

The traditional advice is old but good, and is more important to follow in this age than ever before: continue with your education if at all possible. Or if you are required by law to return to school, accept it as though your life depended upon it — because it does.

In a recent open letter to United States students, Mr. James P. Mitchell, the Secretary of Labor, said: "Signs of tomorrow are all about us. It is an exciting and exhilarating challenge, much like the discovery of the New World four hundred years ago. What you learn in the next few years will have a tremendous effect upon the future of our country. We have a chance to start the elimination of evils that have plagued man since the beginning."

"The real need of the nation at present is the continued creation of an educated, skilled citizenry which can fulfill the great promise of the coming decades. America needs skilled craftsmen as well as scientists. Technically skilled men to support engineers are in as short supply as engineers themselves."

Here we have from Mr. Mitchell the technological side of the argument so to speak, and one that has been perhaps overemphasized in our educational system. The man who is trained well makes more money than the man who isn't.

But there is a more important and fundamental argument in favor of continuing with schooling. For the technological advances of which Mr. Mitchell speaks will require a decision from future citizens about the uses to which they will be put. And this requires education in its truest sense, not just "training."

Make no mistake about it — our civilization can be destroyed almost overnight. And only our education can lead us to a decision on what to do about things that are worth retaining in literature, science and the arts, even in movie and television programs, the dignity and enjoyment of life.

The case for education as a guardian of the things we cherish was never stronger than it is now. Of course education does not end when we "leave school." It is not merely a "good thing" these days to be educated. It is a necessity. It is the meaning of this word. It is vital to the preservation of our way of life, and our lives.

Too Many Fear To Take Lead

(Guelph Mercury)

One of Canada's leading economists is convinced that the basic weakness in men going into business for themselves is their fear of having to make their own decisions. He points out that too many men are prone to go seeking advice, because they have not sufficient confidence in their own judgment or business ability.

Business today is looking for leaders. It is seeking out men who are willing to accept responsibility. In this regard, it has been deplored frequently that while there are hundreds of good workers engaged in the task of bringing in the daily bread, there are only dozens of those ready to take on leadership.

It is a weakness of too many otherwise capable men, that they never feel they have gained sufficient mastery over their chosen profession. This leads to post-graduate courses and too many such courses destroy initiative.

Canada is opening up in various ways but she has not produced men to match her mountains in any quantity.

It requires no mental ability to state, put and to successfully carry out a routine task day after day. The great weakness of Canadian business is that so many are content to do just that.

It is actually a form of fear. Fear to take the lead, to assume some of the load that is shifted on to the boss. If the man in charge is compelled to issue the orders and then stand by to see they are carried out, he is carrying too heavy a burden.

There is need for more young men in business to master their own particular jobs first and then learn something about the other fellow's worries. A good salesman, for example, must have a sound knowledge of his own merchandise in order to tell a convincing story. That is not sufficient. He must also be able to discuss intelligently the wares carried by his opposition.

Merely dismissing his competitors with a veiled inference of poor workmanship is not enough.

Advice is fine in its place; too much of it weakens the one who is timid in his estimation of his own worth.

No Place For Pin-Ups
(Detroit Free Press)

The air force has contrived a house about the bigness of a Quonset hut which inflates. No nails, welding or glue. You just pump it up and there it is. This invention has a great number of advantages. However, we're not sure if they won't all be offset the first time some airman tries to tack his favorite pin-up picture to the wall.

Today's Talk
By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

MY OWN GUEST

Here, at Pugwash, and this Summer he arranged to have a group of noted men at his old home for the purpose of thinking things out. An excellent idea, I think. If Nature's lap there is much to think about.

As my own guest I keep discovering things that I am showing to myself. And so often I learn from a multitude of things. My tame red squirrels tell me things as they come at my call and take the bounty of peanuts that I give them from my fingers. The great number of my own guests, and they will still be here long after I am gone. I am their guest, as well as my own here.

I invest no money in air conditioning here. The Creator arranges that. And I tell my friends about it as one of Nature's free gifts, and this is but one of scores of advantages that are mine, away from my crowded city and noise.

NATURE OF REVOLUTIONS

Many years ago Wendell Phillips wrote: "Revolutions are not made, they come. A revolution is as natural a growth as an oak. It comes out of the past. Its foundations are laid far back."

When we think about Magna Charta — if indeed we ever think about it — we usually regard it as an attempt on the part of certain English nobles to wrest new rights and prerogatives from an unwilling king. The truth is that the nobles at Runnymede were only compelling a lagged king to live up to principles of freedom that had been in operation for centuries in history since to cause revolutions. But they do not cause them — they set them off. Huge charges of revolutionary dynamite have been planted through generations and centuries of injustice. The latest incident sparks the fuse, and explosion occurs.

Infection In Conversation

Do you remember, by any chance, the conclusions reached by Medical Research Council from a study of the hypothetical "common cold" made in England, over a period of several years? It included experiments on human volunteers under carefully controlled conditions. Compared to this British investigation the annual "scientific" expeditions launched in Yankeland, with "promise" of finding the nature, cause, and cure of the trouble which every wisecracker understands but no physician or health authority can define, seem farcical.

One conclusion of the British investigation, made on the field and not in the headlines, is that ordinary "exposed" men do not catch the cold. I do not wish to imply that the British used the term (kree), but this word expresses what they meant, namely, the Common Respiratory Infection, that is, any of the indispositions or illnesses (usually communicable) which stupes and stinkers call "colds."

From the letters of readers it would seem that my teachings concerning the hurt the feelings of some people and arouse indignation in others. Probably none of these poor geeks will be able to do so, but I do not wish to imply that the British used the term (kree), but this word expresses what they meant, namely, the Common Respiratory Infection, that is, any of the indispositions or illnesses (usually communicable) which stupes and stinkers call "colds."

Even an idiot feels annoyed when someone coughs or sneezes. But the style of you carries ten to twelve feet. Conversation spray carries not over five feet. The virus or germs of disease are as likely to be carried in the impalpable and invisible droplets as they are in the visible droplets you feel striking like, without worrying about the your face.

You don't acquire knowledge of droplets or spray infection in school. Medical and health authorities generally confine their advice to "cover coughs and sneezes" and say nothing at all about the most common mode of infection, conversation spray.

You just take whatever the ignoramus or stinker who approaches within five feet of you talk with you happens to have, and, like a good idiot, blame it on the bad weather.

Cloak-and-Dagger Death of Major To Be Probed

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Aldo Icardi, indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of falsifying documents in the wartime cloak-and-dagger death of Maj. William Holohan, will plead not guilty to the indictment.

Icardi, 34, was not available for comment after the indictment was handed down in Washington Monday, but his lawyers, Ruggiero J. Aldisert and Samuel L. Rodgers, said:

"We have not had the opportunity of examining or studying the details of the indictment, but be assured that Aldo Icardi intends to plead not guilty. We shall continue to represent Mr. Icardi in his four-year battle to establish his innocence."

Icardi, tried and sentenced in absentia by an Italian court to life imprisonment for the 1944 slaying of Holohan, is a former army lieutenant who now lives here and aspires to practise law.

CANNOT BE TRIED

American courts have ruled that he cannot be extradited to Italy, and legal authorities say he cannot be tried in the United States on a murder charge.

The indictment stems from his testimony before a Washington congressional committee which in March, 1953, tried to find out what happened to Holohan when he went behind German lines in northern Italy as an agent of the office of strategic services.

The committee reported that there was sufficient evidence to warrant murder indictments against Icardi and Carl Lo Dolce, a former U. S. Army sergeant now working as a tool designer in Rochester, N. Y.

The main indictment against Icardi accuses him of lying to the House group when he said that Holohan left his secret Italian headquarters alive on the night of the slaying. It says Holohan died from the effects of poisoned soup given him by Icardi, Lo Dolce and others, and from bullets fired by Lo Dolce.

General Motors' Oshawa Workers Plan Strike Vote

OSHAWA (CP) — A strike vote will be taken by members of Local 222, of the United Automobile Workers Union (UAW), following special membership meetings Thursday and Friday, union executives said today.

The union is presently deadlocked in a contract dispute with the General Motors plant here and at other Ontario plants.

A meeting Aug. 19 of the 10,000 hourly-rated employees empowered the union executive to call the strike vote if they deemed it necessary. Union officials gave no reason why the vote is being called at this time.

The parties are awaiting a conciliation board report, due Sept. 2, by Judge J. C. Anderson of Belleville. Under Ontario's labor code the UAW cannot strike legally until seven days after the report is filed.

At meetings last week, resumed after a 16-day lapse, talks stopped after 20 minutes when union officials said they got the "same answers" to their demands.

Their requests include an overall wage increase bringing the minimum hourly rate to $1.95, a union shop, the guaranteed annual wage, eight paid statutory holidays, a company-paid health plan and seniority provisions.

Day shift employees are to vote Thursday evening and night-shift workers at 3 a. m. Friday. Thomas director, is expected to bring mem-Melan, UAW assistant regional berish up to date on negotiations thus far and outline reasons for the strike vote.

Must Conserve Arctic Caribou Says Department

FORT SMITH, N. W. T. (CP) — Strict measures must be taken to conserve the Arctic caribou "or we may have no caribou for future generations to concern themselves with," the governing body of the Northwest Territories has been told.

The warning was contained in a report of the federal wildlife service placed before the territories council Monday as it opened its semi-annual meeting.

The report said an aerial census this year found an estimated 300,000 of the animals—vital to Indians and Eskimos for food and clothing in the expanse of barren lands stretching east from the Mackenzie river to Hudson bay. It was a sharp drop from a 1948-49 survey which estimated their numbers at 668,000.

The federal report said that killing of the animals for human use must be cut "to the minimum compatible with reasonable survival" until the herds recover.

Bodies of Four Fliers Recovered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Air Force announced Monday that the bodies of four of a five-man crew of a search and rescue amphibian plane that crashed Friday in the Azores have been recovered.

First Lieut. John M. Hubbard, husband of Mrs. Mary Jane Hubbard, now overseas, and son of John F. Hubbard, Niagara Falls, Ont., is still listed as missing.

Hubbard was the pilot of the plane which crashed on the side of Santa Barba peak about 15 miles west of Lajes field in the Azores. The plane was being ferried from the United States to Sidil Simone in French Morocco where the U. S. Air Force has a base.

Microwave Net Being Extended Across Canada

MONTREAL (CP) — Microwave radio relay towers, landmarks with a significance comparable to Canada's first transcontinental telegraph and telephone lines, are becoming familiar to more and more Canadians as their construction progresses.

The towers form part of a system that will link Canada from Sydney, N.S., to Vancouver by 1958. The project is a co-operative undertaking by the trans-Canada telephone system and the seven major Canadian telephone companies.

When completed the microwave system will be the longest in the world, say telephone company officials. It will be capable of carrying television programs or telephone calls from and to centres on the Canadian mainland.

LINKED WITH U.S. NETWORKS

The Toronto - Ottawa - Montreal radio relay system, first segment of the string, carried the first TV not work program for CBC May 14, 1953.

The system was extended to Quebec City in July, 1954, after almost two years of planning and construction. In the fall of 1954, a link to Kingston, Ont., was completed and a similar spur to Peterborough Ont., was placed in service March, 1955.

A radio relay link between Buffalo, N.Y., and Toronto provides connection with U.S. television networks.

The present range is the forerunner of a relay network which will boast 137 stations along the main 3,800-mile route from Sydney to Vancouver.

Spurs to Halifax, Moncton, N.B., Saskatoon, Edmonton, and Lethbridge, Alta., will total an additional 477 miles and require 18 radio relay stations.

NEW ERA

Relay stations now are being erected along the 1,200-mile Toronto-North Bay-Winnipeg section. This portion is expected to go into service in fall of 1956.

Path testing has recently been completed east of Quebec City. Each of the seven telephone companies is building facilities for the vast microwave chain in the territory it serves and connecting them with contiguous systems.

New microwave stations have a new type of antennae with a capacity of almost 20,000 telephone circuits or 30 television channels.

These, like giant sugar scoops pointing skyward, are symbolic of a new communications era in Canada.

Three Scout Leaders Given High Honor

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — Three scout leaders from Canada, the United States and Great Britain were honored Monday night in scouting, in recognition of their 25-year services to the movement.

Jackson Dods, Canadian deputy chief scout, Emery Houghton of Corning, N. Y., honorary vice-president of the Boy Scouts of America, and Col. Grenville Walton of Great Britain received the awards at a dinner given by the city for the World International Scouting conference.

Conference proceedings during the day included a proposal from Sweden to increase by 25 per cent member countries' registration fees in the world scouting movement.

The increase would amount to $1 for each 1,000 scouts for each country. Present fees are $4.

Sweden proposed the increase when Maj.-Gen. Dan Spry, a Canadian director of the movement's international bureau in London, England, reported a $1,753 deficit.

Soviet Leaders Express Hopes For World Peace

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

REGINA (CP) — Goblets of white wine were raised Monday night in toasts to the Queen and the Soviet Union, Russian and Canadian agriculture ministers expressed fervent hopes that world peace will be maintained forever.

"Our thoughts are quite innocent of evil," said Soviet farm chief Vladimir Matskevich at a banquet for the nine touring Russian farm experts tendered by Saskatchewan's CCF government.

The people of his country, he said, desired peace. Russia had been ravaged by three major wars in the last 50 years. It was difficult to visualize the suffering and the destruction.

EXPANSION PROGRAM

A vast new economic expansion program is under way, he said. The target was to increase livestock production by 2½ times present output and to boost grain output to 350,000,000 pounds a year.

Mr. Matskevich gave no figures on current production but said that in addition to food expansion, Russia is planning construction of many new schools, hospitals and industries—all in the interest of raising Soviet living standards.

He said he agreed wholeheartedly with Agriculture Minister Gardiner who, in proposing a toast to the Soviet Union, had expressed the hope there will be no more war.

It was Canada's desire and hope to have long-time friendship with the Soviet and if there were more visits such as that being made by the Soviet farmers, nothing but peace could result from them.

TOURED FARMLAND

Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan said the Russians had arrived in Canada as agricultural experts and had become "an embassy of goodwill."

The banquet climaxed a day-long, 250-mile tour of farmlands south of Regina. The Russians visited the 4,000-acre farm of Pete Pedersen, near Milestone, about 30 miles south of Regina, and the 950-acre farm of Adolph Heebner, near Weyburn, about 80 miles southeast of this provincial capital.

Later they watched a herd of brown-and-white Herefords getting an anti-pest spraying at a 26,000-acre federal community pasture, part of some 2,000,000 acres of such pasture in Manitoba and Saskatchewan under federal control.

Attendance jumped to 173,500 Monday from 161,000 for the corresponding day last year and the three-day total of 533,000 was 7,500 above last year's.

The children's day crowd—which was short of the record 203,500 in 1948—brought renewed hopes that the CNE for the first time will hit the 3,000,000 mark.

Today is automotive and electrical day at the CNE and a cavalcade of 140 antique cars is scheduled to wheeze onto the grounds.

The province of Ontario was up for recognition today. Monday, British Columbia was in top spot. Although the number of last children was well below the 2,000 or more who strayed last year, the staff at the last children's shelter was looking after 25 to 30 at a time by late afternoon.

College Students Use Grants To Play Stock Mart

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — Gannon College students are using the school's money to play the stock market—and what's more, their investments are showing a tidy profit.

The money they use comes from a "student investment fund" given the school in 1950 by publisher Edward Lamb of the Erie Dispatch. Lamb has duplicated his original grant of $2,500 three times, and the $10,000 has been invested by students in stocks with a current market value of $12,250. Profits go back to the college.

Lamb said the purpose of the fund was to give the students an opportunity to gain practical experience in the mechanical operations of the stock market, the art of research and analysis and the activities and potentiality in different fields of industry which might influence their decision in choosing future employment.

Two faculty members act as technical advisers, but they endeavor not to influence the decisions which have been made by the students as a whole.

CNE Attendance 7,500 Up Over Last Year

TORONTO (CP) — The smiles that accompany busy turnstiles brightened the faces of Canadian National Exhibition officials today.

Six-Warship Navy Still Sails Textbook Pages

HALIFAX (CP) — A six-warship Canadian navy still sails the pages of a textbook used to train grade 9 students in Nova Scotia to keep in touch with current affairs.

The Chronicle-Herald today quotes one teacher as saying that, to make matters worse, five of the vessels listed were lost during the Second World War.

"It's tough enough to tackle a roomful of grade niners at the best of times," the unidentified teacher adds, "but it's almost impossible when you have to protect them from their textbooks."

Textbook strength of the navy: six warships, 117 officers, 1,222 other ranks.

Actual present - day strength: approximately 20,000 officers and men and 55 warships.

5 Tree Nurseries Prepare For Record Season

TORONTO — Five tree nurseries spotted strategically across the province and operated by the Ontario Departments of Lands and Forests will produce 30,000,000 trees for distribution next spring.

The 6,000,000 tree advance over last year's target was announced by the Minister, the Hon. Clare E. Mapledoram, and is reported well on the way to fulfillment.

Provincial nurseries are at St. Williams in Norfolk County on Lake Erie, at Midhurst near Barrie, at Orono, some 55 miles east of Toronto, in Durham County; at Kemptville in the Rideau district of eastern Ontario; and in the west near Ft. William.

"Needless to say, that ornamental stock is not for public distribution," explained John C. Jackson, of the Division of Re-forestation. "Stock which is shipped out is only 8 to 12 inches high and is not suitable for decorative planting."

To obtain nursery stock, landowners must have at least two acres, exclusive of buildings, to be planted to woodlot or shelter belt. Trees are supplied in bundles of 25 at $14 per 1,000 for Scotch pine and $10 for 1,000 for other varieties. Furnished are white pine, which is the native five-needle pine; red, Jack and Scotch pine, white spruce, European larch, which is in the same family as native tamaracs, and the native white cedar, white ash, silver maple, Carolina poplar and black locust.

Applications are filled in order of receipt. Officials advise that the department's zone foresters be consulted before applications are submitted so that trees suitable to the land to be planted may be selected rather than ordering trees unsuited to the soil.

Even allowing for new grants and subsidies, there can be no justification for the "sudden and fantastic" juggling of Canadian tax policy, Mayor Phillips said.

Municipalities Need New Deal Says Phillips

By PHIL ADLER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP) — Mayor Nathan Phillips of Toronto today made another appeal for a federal-provincial-municipal conference to find a solution to financial problems facing municipalities.

He told the annual conference of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities that a new deal on fiscal affairs is "woefully, shamefully overdue."

The Toronto mayor made a similar request in June at the annual convention of the Ontario Association of Mayors and Reeves.

NOT JUSTIFIED

He quoted statistics showing that in 1953 70.9 per cent of tax revenues went to the federal government, 17.2 per cent to provincial governments and 11.9 per cent to municipal governments.

Even allowing for new grants and subsidies, there can be no justification for the "sudden and fantastic" juggling of Canadian tax policy, Mayor Phillips said.

Faces Trial For Sales Of Stolen Autos

MONTREAL (CP) — Donald Myles, 35-year-old fruit-and-vegetable dealer from Leamington, Ont., has been ordered to appear Sept. 6 for preliminary hearing in sessions court on charges arising out of the sale of eight stolen automobiles to a Montreal car dealer.

On arraignment Monday before sessions judge Armand Cloutier, Myles was charged with conspiracy and frauds totalling $24,000. He was arrested in Windsor, Ont., on complaints by Ate Samuels of the now-bankrupt Samuel's Car Market here.

Named as co-conspirator in the charges against Myles was James Douglas Weightman, 41, of Aylmer, Ont., now before the courts in Windsor.

Police charge that of eight cars Samuels bought six turned out to have been stolen in the Detroit area and two others in Ontario.

Bail for Myles was refused.

CORNISH-WAMBOLDT

On Saturday, August 27, at 2:00 p.m., Tabernacle United church, Belleville, was adorned with tall standards and baskets of pink and white gladioli and baby's breath, and white satin bows designated the guest pews for the marriage of Donna Anne Wamboldt, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Wamboldt, to Ralph Cornish, also of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Cornish. The Rev. Ray A. Rowley, pastor of the church, officiated.

Mrs. A. V. Barkley, guest organist, provided the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Miss Miriam Wells of Toronto, a class graduate of the bride, who sang "Love of God," "The Consolation Hymn," and "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Gilbert L. Wamboldt, the bride was lovely in her bridal gown of white crystal-ette over tulle, with full length crinoline skirt, with chapel train, and a tiny waistline, having sheath-like sleeves ending in "V" points over the wrists. A halo of orange blossoms held her fingertip veil of nylon tulle. She carried her nurse's Bible with its hand-woven ruffled net cover crested with Stephanotis, aqua-tinged poms centred by a cream glabella in a nest of dream net. Miss Lois Stoneburg of Belleville, as maid of honor, was attired in shrimp colored crystal-ette over tulle, in full length, featuring a snug bodice which emphasized the matching bouffant skirt over crinoline. She wore a matching headdress of crystal-ette and carried a bouquet of clustered petals of cantelope-toned gladioli encircling aqua-tinged poms, with spikes of multi-colored Craton leaves.

Miss Carol Megaw, of Midland, and Miss Jean Cornish, sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaids, wore identical dresses fashioned like to that of the maid of honor, in rosy pink crystal-ette over tulle with crinoline effect. Their headdresses were similar to the maid of honor's, as were also the bouquets of flowers which they carried.

Mr. Leroy McBride of Belleville, attended the bridegroom, while Messrs. Barry Cornish of Belleville, brother of the bridegroom, and Douglas Shearer of Woodstock, were ushers.

The wedding reception was held in the church parlors, where the bride's mother, Mrs. Gilbert Wamboldt, received, wearing grape crystal-ette with matching accessories, and corsage of Sweetheart peachbloom roses. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. A. E. Cornish, was attired in royal blue tulle with white accessories, and wearing pink Demure Sweetheart roses and Stephanotis.

The toastmaster was Mr. H. R. Varcoe, of Belleville. For travelling to Lake Windermere, British Columbia, the bride chose a crystal-cord dress in pink and white, with white accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Cornish will reside in Calgary, Alberta.

Guests were present from Toronto, Port Dover, Glencoe, Kingston and Brighton. Previous to her marriage, the bride who just graduated from Wellesley Hospital, Toronto, was the honored guest at several showers; one given by her grandmother, Mrs. A. Zinck, of Toronto; and others by Mrs. Sydney Donaldson, also of Toronto; by Miss Lois Stoneburg of Belleville; by Mrs. Leroy McBride of Belleville. A buffet supper was given by Mrs. A. S. Robb, of Belleville, and a troupeau tea by her mother, Mrs. G. L. Wamboldt.

HESLIP-ROBERTS

MADOC.—At a candlelight service on Wednesday, August 10, at 7 p.m., in Norwood United church, Manitoba, a marriage was solemnized, when Shirley Ann, eldest daughter of Mrs. A. E. Roberts of Norwood, Manitoba, and the late Mr. H. Roberts, became the bride of the Rev. David Heslip, only son of the Rev. Marshall Heslip, minister of St. Peter's Presbyterian church, Madoc, Ontario, and the late Mrs. Heslip. The Rev. T. M. Badger officiated, assisted by the father of the bridegroom.

Wedding music was played by Miss Alice Waller. The choir of Norwood United church was in attendance with Mr. Roy Firth as soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Walter Nixon, of Toronto, wore a waltz-length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle. The gown itself was sleeveless with low scalloped neckline and Dior bodice of lace and tulle with a full panel down front. The remainder of the skirt was of tulle in bouffant style over tulle. Enhancing the bodice was a short bolero of lace with an Elton collar and lily-pointed sleeves. Her headdress was a halo of seed pearls and tulle caught back with a fingertip veil of nylon tulle. She carried a bouquet of Stephanotis and pale pink rosebuds.

Miss Eleanor Roberts, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Miss Catharine Roberts, bride's youngest sister, was bridesmaid. The groomsmen were Dr. Ralph O. Robertson of Selkirk, Man., and ushering the guests were Mr. W. Blinn and Mr. Russell Nixon, both of Toronto.

Following a reception held at the Business and Professional Women's club, the Rev. and Mrs. Heslip left by motor to Eastern Canada. Upon their return, they will reside in Carberry, Man.

The bride is a graduate in Arts and Social Work from the University of Manitoba and the bridegroom a graduate of Queen's University, Kingston and Knox College, Toronto.

WARREN-MATTHEWS

MARMORA.—A picturesque wedding took place at 2:00 p.m., Saturday, August 27, on the lawn of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Matthews, Rawdon township, when their daughter, Helen Mary, became the bride of Boyd Douglas Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Burton Warren of Marmora township. The Rev. A. Carson of Frankford, who had officiated at the marriage of the bridegroom's parents, performed the double-ring ceremony beneath an evergreen arch studded with red and white carnations and summer blooms.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. Harold Stiles and Miss Linda Wellman sang "O Promise Me."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a gown of white nylon lace and net over tulle. Her shoulder-length veil of tulle was caught with a coronet of seed pearls and she wore white accessories. Her bouquet was of red roses and white carnations.

She was attended by the bride-

Ear-Piercing Saloon at CNE Busy Section

TORONTO (CP)—There is an old wives' tale that to have one's ears pierced improves one's health and hearing. But it is doubtful that this myth is responsible for the booming business at an ear-piercing saloon at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Mrs. Audrey Berisford of Toronto and her assistant, Mrs. G. Gould, are convinced that, with middle-aged women, family heirlooms have something to do with it. "Many tell us they have had expensive earrings in the family for years and dared not wear them with unpierced ears," said Mrs. Berisford. Mrs. Gould said "teenagers are eager to have their ears done because they realize piercing will enable them to wear better jewelry than they could otherwise."

The piercing is no more than a pin-prick. It takes the experienced Mrs. Berisford a registered nurse, less than 30 seconds.

groom's sister, Mrs. Irving Tasker of Marmora, who wore pale green nylon, a headdress of white roses and white accessories and carried a nosegay of pink roses.

Miss Carol Ann Warren, sister of the bridegroom, in pink nylon with headdress of pink roses, and carrying a basket of pink roses, made a dainty flower girl.

Master Gary Warren, young brother of the bridegroom, was ring-bearer.

Mr. Ross Matthews, brother of the bride, was groomsmen. Following the ceremony, the reception was held also at the home at which the bride's mother presided, wearing pink nylon over tulle and matching hat, with white gloves and corsage of white appleblossoms. The bridegroom's mother, who assisted, was attired in navy tulle with white accessories and wearing a corsage of white apple blossoms.

The happy young couple later left on a honeymoon trip embracing Oshawa, Hamilton and adjacent points in New York State.

The bride travelled in nylon net over pink tulle with white accessories and corsage of white apple blossoms. On their return they will reside in Marmora.

Out-of-town guests were present from Oshawa, Hamilton, Kingston, Campbellford, Frankford, Madoc and Marmora.

Michael Gillen Writes Book For Children

"Tony's Good Luck" should be shared by all children his age. Tony is the hero of Michael Gillen's first book, written and illustrated by himself, recently published by the New York firm of Whittlesey House.

This initial work should be of special interest locally, since Mr. Gillen is the son of Mrs. Alfred Gillen and the late Mr. Alfred Gillen, former postmaster of Belleville. Within the pages of this little book (there are only 46 pages in all), is captured a story of warmth and family closeness, told with an appealing simplicity. It gently takes the reader by the hand to follow gaily the adventures of an Italian boy and his father, somewhere in Italy.

The entire story is woven around the incidents of a few hours during a market day in a little Italian town. Tony and his father set out to trade in the market and also to realize the lad's fondest dreams — to buy a donkey. Christened Bello, the donkey leads the father and his little merry-andrew of a son through a succession of little every-day incidents, all of them fortunate, which pile up to make "Tony's Good Luck."

Well told, Mr. Gillen's homespun yarn captures the Italian excitability and enjoyment of life. His illustrations strike a happy chord, in tune with the rhythm of the narrative.

A novel feature of this charming little tale is the insertion of an Italian vocabulary, to aid in understanding any Italian words used throughout the work, a feature that will be of especial interest to the youthful reader.

CALGARY (CP)—Two sisters whose travels have taken them to many parts of Europe and the Middle East are spending their summer holidays at home here. Katharine and Betty Scarlett, daughters of Dr. E. P. Scarlett, chancellor of the University of Alberta, were students last year in Europe. Katharine studied dress designing in Paris, and Betty completed postgraduate work at the University of Edinburgh.

Betty and a companion covered more than 2,500 miles in Europe during the Christmas holiday last year, hitch-hiking through France, Belgium, Germany and Holland. Living expenses—kept to a minimum by staying at hostels—were about $12.5 a day.

Earlier, the two sisters shared a holiday in Algeria. Katharine has another year before her studies on the continent are complete.

PROBE DDT EFFECTS

OTTAWA (CP)—The fisheries department is attempting to determine whether New Brunswick salmon will be permanently affected by sprays used to kill forest-destroying budworms. Dr. J. L. Kasch, chairman of the fisheries research board, said research done so far shows that young salmon are being killed by DDT sprays washed from trees into streams and rivers. The new studies were being made to determine how long water polluted with DDT remained toxic and dangerous to salmon.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

DUTIES OF MASTER OF CEREMONIES, MISTRESS OF CEREMONIES

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please tell us (and incidentally several of our friends, who need the same information) what are the duties of a master of ceremonies at a wedding reception. If there is also a mistress of ceremonies, what are her duties? — Two Grateful Readers

The first duty of a master of ceremonies and of a mistress of ceremonies is to have a very definite consultation with the bride-to-be and her mother or whoever is planning the wedding with the bride-to-be, as to the general pattern of the procedure they have in mind. Usually the master of ceremony is asked to preside over the procedure for the toasts and the responses to the toasts. First he may make some gracious remarks of hospitable welcome and usually some graceful comments on the importance and significance of the Happy Occasion. Then he calls for the toasts, in pre-arranged sequence, and for the response to each toast.

He should be told whom he is to call on for the first and most important toasts . . . that is, the toasts that are customarily made before any spontaneous toasts that may be made afterward. For example: the toast to the bride or groom, the toast to the bride and groom (the groom responds to this toast); toast to the bridesmaids; toast to the bride's mother, the hostess of the wedding; toast to the groom's mother, the guest of honor at the wedding; and any other of the customary toasts at the beginning. It is of course, important and kind for the master of ceremonies to inform, before the wedding, each one to be called on . . . no one wants to be called on without some opportunity to prepare "a few well-chosen words." When the traditional toasts have been proposed and responded to, the toastmaster must be prepared to direct any spontaneous toasts anyone wishes to propose. These do not necessarily have to be responded to. It should, I think, be the definite duty of the master of ceremonies to be aware of when the bride and groom should cut the cake, to summon the guests to the table where the cake is to be cut, and perhaps to be the one to lead the guests in singing "The Bride Cuts the Cake!"

Important Note: The ideal master of ceremonies has the grace and poise to make himself the gracious guide of the occasion. . . he must not give the impression of being more important than the occasion . . . and it is a delight when he has the gentle manner and ready humor which stimulates others to speak.

When there is a mistress of ceremonies, it is extremely important that she consult with the bride and her mother so that she will know what she is to do. They may wish to have her take over the responsibility of directing the reception, or simply the directing of the formation of the receiving-line. They will doubtless wish her to supervise the procedure of the Guest Book . . . and perhaps to take over the cutting and serving of the wedding cake after the bride and groom cut and share the first slice. She also may be asked to take over some responsibilities about the serving of the refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Jewell and family of Peterborough moved to their new home south of the village, recently, having purchased the house formerly known as the old Rutherford home.

Considerable improvement and repairs have been made at the Roslin school and grounds. Interior and exterior painting being done, and the grounds have been extended and enlarged to the south of the school, and graded in preparation for a ball diamond.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Colden, Barbara and Douglas, have returned home after spending two weeks' holidays in Quebec.

still dear friends, and now I am faced with the problem of how I should introduce her and not have her feel any lack of warmth in the introduction. — F.E.

You now introduce her as "Mrs. Robinson," and when necessary—for more information or appropriate to explain the relationship—add "Jack's mother" (to somebody who knew Jack) or "my first husband's mother." The warmth and friendliness you wish to put into your introductions you can reveal in your tone of voice and in your manner.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

HOW TO APPLY LIPSTICK PROPERLY

Lipstick's one cosmetic most women couldn't live without. No matter how rushed they may be for time, they'll find a second to smear it on—and that's just where the trouble begins. You can't "smear" lipstick on and expect it to turn you into a beauty. Lipstick must be skillfully applied with an artistic hand if it's to make your mouth glamorous.

First of all, do not ever rush while putting on lipstick. Allow yourself plenty of time. If your lipstick or brush slips or you make the wrong outline at first try, don't try to remedy it by adding more lipstick. Instead, remove it all with a fresh coat of lipstick is applied over again.

Many Hollywood experts make up the mouth first, applying the lipstick even before the foundation. In this way, the foundation or base "sets" the lipstick and it remains intact longer.

Many women use the same principle, but with this variation: They apply the lipstick, then cover the lips with face powder, which also acts as a "set." After several minutes, the powder is removed and a fresh coat of lipstick is applied—but very lightly.

In making the outline of your mouth with lipstick, bear in mind that the highest point of the mouth should be directly in line with the "wing" of the nostril—the outside of the nose. If the space from upper lip to nose is short, the mouth just below the nose should be kept narrow; if long, the upper lip may be built up directly under the nose.

Corners of the mouth should be defined boldly enough so that they do not disappear with laughter. But be especially careful in making up the corners. If you bring the upper lip out to the corner in a droop, the mouth assumes a sulky expression. There should be a suggestion of an upcurve at the corner. Extending the upper lip out beyond the lower lip also results in a sulky look. Lips should be formed evenly at corners.

If you have heavy features and the mouth is not naturally generous, it would be advisable to enlarge them with the lipstick, but do this discreetly. Do not distort the lips out of all proportion.

With a long, thin face, the mouth is more attractive if made wider. Width of the mouth can do much to minimize facial length.

Properly used, lipstick is your most flattering cosmetic, so apply it carefully.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

MAYBE A SEPARATION WOULD BE THE WISEST PLAN RIGHT NOW

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I am desperately in need of advice as I am thinking of taking a very drastic step; that is, getting a separation from my husband. I have been thinking of this for some time now, but have been putting it off because I had hoped he might see the error of his ways.

He is a very good husband in most ways, but he insists that it is perfectly all right for him to have an affair with a woman. This has been going on for a year and a half now. He says the woman knows he is married.

All this has so upset me that I have lost interest in the regular everyday things and even neglect my own son. So I have finally decided to call it quits, because it is impossible to fight against a person, or persons, with no conscience.

My husband tells me I have no complaints, but my complaint is that if he prefers this woman's company, it is definitely where he belongs, because he doesn't seem to want to break up with her. Therefore I feel I should make the first move. — Mrs. R.

Your husband certainly does take a very peculiar attitude, and I don't blame you at all for feeling that you have put up with it long enough.

I showed the slightest sign of knowing that he is doing you a great wrong, and intended to break off with this woman and try to make up to you for having hurt you so deeply you would, of course, want to try to do your part to make your marriage and have it again the happy thing it no doubt was at one time. But although he knows very well what a wrong he is doing, he either isn't the least bit repentant, or else he is so much on the defensive that he won't admit his guilt. Either way, there seems to be no evidence of any desire to do right.

Under these circumstances, it seems to me it might be very wise for you to get a separation from him and try living apart. A separation will not slam the door on the possibility of a future reconciliation, if he ever makes it appear worthwhile to effect one. Yet it is a sufficiently definite step so that it may convince your husband that you simply don't intend to take any more of the impossible situation he has brought about. And if he were deprived for any length of time of the home you have made for him, of your companionship and the companionship of his son, it might bring him to his senses and make him realize what a terrific price he is paying for his unfaithfulness.

Be careful, however, that you don't let yourself be persuaded to go back to him too soon. The maternal instinct in most women is quickly awakened when a man—particularly an erring husband—comes to her like a small boy, repentant over some misdeed, and indicates that he needs her. If this should happen, you should quietly adopt a "Show me!" attitude before going back to try again. You would be in a most unfortunate position if you found that you had simply let yourself in for more of the same thing. Let your husband convince you, by a complete change of attitude, that he sincerely means to live differently before you agree to return.

What you need to do right now, of course, is to consult a good lawyer and discuss the whole problem with him. You can then work out a separation plan that would best suit the circumstances.

Do-It-Yourself Fried Chicken

By Mary Moore

Startling and all as it may, sound to you I've come to a conclusion. I've made a decision. You know what they say at revival meetings: "Stand up and be counted." No matter if the axe falls I'm going to say it. I've stopped buying frozen cut-up chicken. The cut-up part is okay—but frozen "no!"

I work over frozen chicken to give it flavor, to make it tender and juicy, and all I end up with is something with a nice creamy, fatty taste on the outside, but stringy flavorless substance on the inside that has no more resemblance to fried chicken than a stick of wood would.

Yesterday I bought a 3 lb. 10 oz. eviscerated "broiler-roaster". I am told by chicken experts that this is the optimum weight if you want maximum flavor, minimum fat and perfect tenderness. And they are right.

The extra chore of cutting up the little beauty into frying pieces was worth every moment of trouble. What I dislike, is because the chicken is slippery anyway and my hands are wet too. When I'm wielding that murderously sharp butcher knife I might cut me instead of the chicken. But I didn't think this time.

MARY'S FRIED CHICKEN

Following the do-it-yourself trend buy an eviscerated broiler-fryer and cut it up. (Or better still, flatter your husband into thinking he can do it better and ask him to cut it up into frying pieces.)

What you need to do right now, of course, is to consult a good lawyer and discuss the whole problem with him. You can then work out a separation plan that would best suit the circumstances.

Bedouin Hunting for Sheep Found Old Biblical Scrolls

MONTREAL (CP) — A wandering bedouin searching for a lost sheep beside the Dead Sea stumbled on an ancient cave that proved of priceless religious and historical value to students of the Bible.

Biblical scrolls 1,000 years older than any known previously were found by the unsuspecting bedouin. Some of these will come to McGill University, which has the only such collection in North America. Sponsors hope that in time it will be the largest collection outside Jerusalem.

Dr. R. B. Y. Scott, professor of Old Testament at the United Theological College here, who first visited the scene in 1931 and has since been a close student of the manuscripts, says they throw a strong light on the history of religion in Palestine at a time of crucial importance to Christians and Jews alike.

In a three-part discussion on the subject for the CBC, Dr. Scott, now under appointment to the religious department of Princeton University, said the scrolls are of absorbing interest and importance to ordinary folk as well as scholars. "First, there is the sheer romantic aspect of the story. The wandering bedouin lighting by accident on a library hidden for 19 centuries, the indifferent merchants, the incredulous scholars; then the daring, up of interest across the world, the tireless combing of the wilderness, and the astonishing wealth of additional discoveries in a land where no such ancient manuscripts had ever been found before."

"Second, these finds throw a strong new light on the history of religion in Palestine at a time of crucial importance to Christians and Jews alike—the period before, during and immediately after the lifetime of Jesus Christ. We find that an important Jewish sect, whose beliefs and practices had many parallels with those of the first Christians, dwelt at Qumran within sight of the road by which Jesus walked from Jericho through the desert to the Jordan, and that the third reason that the finding of the Dead Sea scrolls is of more than antiquarian interest is that they throw new light directly on the text of the Bible. The Essenes—the Jewish sect with which we may provisionally identify the community owning the scrolls—was devoted to study of the law of Moses and the Books of the Prophets. About one-third of all the several hundred manuscripts hidden in the Qumran caves were copies of parts of the Hebrew Bible. Every book of the Old Testament is represented except the book of Esther . . . but of most of them only scattered fragments have survived their long exposure."

The roaming shepherd's first find was in 1947 in a cave, and other caves subsequently were found in the trackless district of stone and sand.

Excavation exposed the ancient ruins of the monastery-like settlement of Qumran, believed to have been inhabited by the Essenes, a Jewish sect dispersed by the Romans in 68 A.D. The Essenes never returned for their manuscripts and scholars have surmised the priceless documents rested in caves until the find by the bedouin.

In 1951, another cave was found in a canyon some 11 miles from the first discovery.

The area later was shown to have been inhabited by humans as far back as 4000 B.C. Documents found dated from about 600 B.C. to 125-135 A.D. A third cave, nearer the first caves, gave up a jar of manuscripts and a bronze scroll.

Study of these scrolls still is in preliminary stages, said Dr. Scott. But, he adds, "already it is possible to draw a conclusion in general terms which will be reassuring to any who wonder if these new discoveries will lead to marked changes in the familiar Old Testament. It is this: The later scribes did their work well. The Hebrew Bible which was used by the Qumran community in the time of Jesus was essentially the same as in the later manuscripts on which we have had to depend up until now."

EDMONTON (CP)—E. Royden Colter, city manager of Sarnia, Ont., said Monday municipal governments should aim at team work in solving personnel problems.

He told the annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities that training programs are needed to develop second-level supervision so that promotions can be made within the service.

Turning to press relations, Wells Ritchie of Toronto, editor of Civic Administration, said municipalities usually get the press relations they deserve.

"Don't be afraid to treat newspaper reporters like honest, intelligent, public-spirited citizens," he told delegates, "for the percentage is about the same as it is among mayors and other civic officials."

Madoc Junction

EGGLETON S. S.

MADOC JUNCTION — An enjoyable time was spent last Sunday when the superintendent, teachers and children of Eggleton Sunday School, also a few of the parents, gathered for a picnic dinner at Bird's Beach, Oak Lake. The tables close to the lake had been reserved and these were laden with all kinds of delicious food, and the dinner topped off with a treat of ice cream for everyone.

After the dinner, Mrs. Warren Harlow read a short address, and Mr. Bert Reide, on behalf of Eggleton Sunday School, presented Miss Marlene Madill with a book entitled "A Man Named Peter," with her name and the date beautifully inscribed in it, by her Sunday School teacher, Mrs. Maurice Clancy.

Although completely taken by surprise, Marlene graciously expressed her thanks.

From a small girl, Marlene has always attended Sunday School faithfully. She will be missed by her friends here.

Marlene is staying with her aunt in Lindsay, and will be taking a business course this coming school year.

A lively sing-song was then enjoyed with Miss Grace Clarke playing the accompaniment on the accordion.

Later on, the younger ones enjoyed a dip in the lake.

Miss Sandra Chambers spent last week holidaying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sills, of West Huntingdon.

Mrs. R. Woodward and son, Mr. Gerald Woodward, Mr. Townsend of Belleville, also Mrs. Woodward's father, Mr. Avery, called on Mr. and Mrs. Miram Ashley Sunday evening.

Miss June Wilson of Hoard's, spent a few days with her little friends, Misses Lois and Carol Danford.

Mrs. and Mrs. Garnet Stapley and family, Trenton, have moved to the neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. Bickerstaff (nee Suzanne Gallagher), recent callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clarke.

Miss Joanne Reide spent a couple of days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Harlow, visiting with her friend, Miss Marlene Madill.

Mrs. Shaw, who has been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bridges for the past two weeks, left on Sunday to spend a week at the home of her son, wife and family in Arden.

Miss Annamae Clarke is spending a few days with her friend, Miss Norma Petherick.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Wannamaker of Stirling, were Sunday evening supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. Fitchett and Mr. and Mrs. M. Clancy at their cottage, Oak Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bridges entertained relatives from Arden on Sunday.

FIRE DESTROYS BUILDINGS

Fire of unknown origin destroyed Mr. Robert Danford's garage, hen house and a number of poultry on Wednesday night. Fortunately, the fire was prevented from spreading to the other farm buildings.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Clancy and Lloyd were Thursday evening tea guests at Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Clancy's, of Wellman's.

REACH COMPROMISE ON MOROCCO

French and Moroccan leaders are shown meeting at Aix-les-Bains, France, in direct talks that resulted in a compromise solution of the Moroccan crisis. Above M. Pierre July (right), French minister for Tunisian and Moroccan affairs, greets El Glaoui (left), Fasha of Marrakech, and Si Abdurrahman Hajoui, chief of El Glaoui's cabinet. Under the new pact, both the present Sultan, Si Mohammed ben Moulay Arafat, and the French Resident-General, Gilbert Grandval, would be removed. A "Council of the Throne" would be installed at Rabat to rule the Arab country.

CONSERVATION
Ketch's Korner
by the ROVING SECRETARY of the
CARLING CONSERVATION CLUB

There are times, as the song-writer says, when the days seem to be endless. This seems especially true of the summer. On the other hand, there seem to be just as many times when days fly by at a pace you can hardly believe.

A recent week-end we spent near Minden was of the latter category. Two fast friends invited us to do a little fishing with them at their favorite hideaway. As a matter of fact, a pressing invitation had been ours for some years, and we were particularly happy to join Roy Windover of Minden and Robert Harvey of Tail Pines, Carleton Place.

These two lads had built up the bass fishing at their place to such heights that we just had to see proof. Naturally, the only way to check their claims was to sample their offerings personally. But we'll tell you right here and now that first of all this kind of fishing is hard to come by. And in addition we can safely say that none of the early claims came near to surpassing the actual results.

Even now, as we look back on that week-end in the cold light of day, it's really hard to fully believe the wonder of it all. We strongly doubt that in all our fifty years and more of fishing we've seen our efforts rewarded with such consistent results. As you know, the smallmouth bass is usually credited with being the gamest fish that swims — pound for pound. Had you been with us, friend, you would never have doubts again about the truth of that old adage.

We'd better give you a little background. On Saturday, August 13, Southern Ontario was a bit worried about the potential of Hurricane "Connie". The tail end of this storm was quite a gusty blow, and did a fair amount of damage. In the face of this, the party started out into "back country". We followed the township road for several miles, they branched out for several more miles along the Hydro right of way.

The farther we got from habitation, the worse became the condition of the roads. The last mile of eight was just roughly bulldozed — that's all you could say for it. But, we made it — one way or another — bouncing off ruts, skirting drop-offs that made you tense a little as you peeked out the truck window. After packing in our motors, gas and general gear it was only moments until the outboard was purring along the lake like a sleek kitten. We were on the way to our camp.

Our arrival at the campsite was hailed with glee; not only on our part, but by Roy and the rest of the party, for we'd been delayed starting out. There was a rousing sing-song Saturday night with Bob Harvey and Lou Leblond supplying the music with Bob's guitar.

Sunday we fished in earnest. "Fabulous" is a terribly overworked word, but that's the only name for it. Nearly a hundred bass of varying sizes were taken and released unharmed. Many of these were taken on our own pet bass fly — Yellow Peril. This was such sport as dreams are made of. Early after a hearty breakfast (for life in that country promotes good appetite) we fished again. This time for keeps. When the catch was tallied and weighed, our fourteen bass checked in at thirty-six pounds.

You can imagine the thrills. The only tragedy was supplied by the angler's most relentless enemy — time itself. Eventually we had to take our leave. We left the most wonderful fishing we've ever enjoyed, but the memories of northern scenery and good friends will be something to remember until time is no more.

Commissionaires Tag Police Cars In Victoria, B.C.

VICTORIA (CP) — City parking regulations are being strictly enforced by the Corps of Commissionaires.

They took over from police the job of patrolling the parking meters in July and since then even some police cars have been ticketed for violations.

In the eyes of most of the city councilors, the commissionaires are doing a terrific job. Motorists, including a number of police officers who are complaining they are being "unfairly assessed," are not so sure.

This has happened to several police officers whose cars were parked in front of the courthouse while they were inside testifying in various cases.

NO EXCEPTIONS

In the last week that police handled parking, up to July 8, there were 143 over-parking tickets issued, and this was about normal for a week.

But the first week the commissionaires were on the job 349 for the same violation were paid.

The commissionaires began their work quietly and courteously, but determined to do what they were paid for. And no matter whose car it is, tickets are issued in case of violation.

Truck drivers also feel the pinch, and have taken to carrying a pocket full of change. Trucks may legally park double or at a meter for 15 minutes free when on business. But many of these drivers have been in the habit of parking longer while they go for coffee. They don't do it any more.

Commissionaires took over meter patrol duties to relieve over-taxed policemen for other and more essential duties and the city treasury has profited.

OWNER TAKES LIFE

SHENANDOAH, Pa. (AP)—The president of the Kohnor Coal Company Friday died of a self-inflicted bullet wound state police said.

Said Monday a Kohnor coal breaker collapsed here killing three men and injuring 11 others seriously. Trooper Frank Evans said a .45-calibre revolver was found in the right hand of Robert L. Birtley, a 60-year-old anthracite coal operator.

CAMPBELLFORD

Maryellen Holmes Chosen 'Little Beauty Queen'

CAMPBELLFORD — A contest to choose "Little Miss Campbellford" was the highlight of the Kinsmen Carnival held here on Saturday night which drew large crowds to Bridge Street West.

The carnival was opened by a parade from the Legion grounds, featuring Davy Crockett on horseback. The boogie and bingo game were well patronized, and the whole affair was quite a success, which will assist the Kinsmen Club to carry on their various good works, such as providing milk to the school children.

There were 25 lovely little girls between six and eight entered in the contest, which was managed by Mrs. George Stafford, who originated the idea. The stage was a tractor trailer loaned for the occasion by Meyers Transport. The judges were: Mrs. O. Benson, Meyersburg; Mrs. Dorothy Hazelwood, Meyersburg; and Mrs. Neal of Niagara Falls, Ontario. The judges were chosen from out of town residents so there would be no chance of them knowing any of the children and being prejudiced in any way.

CONTESTANTS

The girls participating in the contest were: Sharon Chadwick, Linda Rose, Sandra Macmillan, Andrea Pace, Linda Fox, Dorianne Bird, Sylvia Normington, Sheryl Beggs, Betty Ann Pettifer, Susan Ellis, Eleanor Embry, Maryellen Holmes, Carolyn Darrington, Jo Anne Smith, Margaret Symes, Betty Jaques, Vickie Southern, Maureen Keagan, Connie Callaghan, Beverly Ann Hey, Bonnie Petherick, Karen Stillman, Shirley Ann Newton, and Linda Rawlings.

After the little girls had paraded across the stage twice, the judges deliberated for some time, and finally made their choice as follows: Little Miss Campbellford, Maryellen Holmes; second prize, Linda Rose, and third prize went to Linda Fox.

Little Miss Campbellford was presented with a trophy cup, which was to be suitably engraved with her name, etc., as well as many other lovely gifts donated by local merchants. The second and third place winners received gifts and the rest of the contestants each received a lovely necklace.

This contract was well received and may well develop into an annual event as part of the Kinsmen Carnival.

The winner, Maryellen Holmes, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Holmes. Second place winner, Linda Rose, the daughter of Chief Constable and Mrs. George Rose, and Linda Fox is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fox.

RUSSIANS VISIT U.K. ATOM PLANT

Prof. V. V. Vladimirovsky, well-known Soviet atomic scientist, right, talks with Sir John Cockcroft, director of the United Kingdom atomic research establishment at Harwell during a visit by Vladimirovsky and 38 other scientists from Russia and its satellite countries to the Harwell centre, 50 miles west of London. It was the first time Soviet scientists had ever been allowed to enter an atomic research centre of any of the western powers possessing the secrets of atomic energy. However, the significance of the visit is that everything the visitors were shown was on the "unclassified" list. The invitation to the Russians grew out of the recently concluded atoms-for-peace parity at Geneva.

West Huntingdon

PRESENTATION

WEST HUNTINGDON — The Endeavor Class held its regular monthly meeting at home of Mr. and Mrs. Mac Sables. Due to the heat, the members enjoyed the spacious lawn for the program which was presided over by Mr. Clayton Wright. Mr. Philip Carr offered prayer. The Scripture lesson was explained by flannel-graph by Miss Beth Krich. The Hammond girls gave a duet and Mrs. William Fitchett contributed a solo.

The special address was given by Miss Doris Dannon which the members of the class appreciated. Mr. Mac Sables read an address and Mrs. Clayton Wright presented Mr. and Mrs. Philip Carr with a gold fountain pen in honor of their 50th wedding anniversary; both Mr. and Mrs. Carr voiced their appreciation to the class for the gift. Mrs. Melville Dannon gave a brief address.

Following this, and the business period, Mrs. Sables served refreshments.

Mr. Ronnie Smith, of Belleville, spent a few days recently with his grandmother, Mrs. William Bray.

Mr. Kenneth Stewart, of Lakefield, attended the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Carr on Tuesday evening and was an overnight guest of Sarah and Arthur Wilson, also a dinner guest on Wednesday of Mr. and Mrs. William Fitchett and Marilyn.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hammond included Miss Jane Rayner of Ajax; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hammond and family, of Cobourg; and Mr. Glen Hammond, of Oshawa.

Miss Sarah Wilson was a dinner guest on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Palmer and Edna.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dunlop and Miss Francis Kerr, of Midland, spent a few days recently with Mr. and Mrs. Goldie McIntyre.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY
A large number of friends and neighbors gathered at Mr. and Mrs. Philip Carr's home on Tuesday evening to extend best wishes to them on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Friends were present from Belleville, Madoc, Norwood, Stirling, Foxboro, Lakefield and Massawaga and the surrounding community.

Mr. Arthur Wilson was chairman for the following program: Prayer by Mr. Kenneth Stewart;

Mrs. Russell Stapley contributed two musical numbers; a duet by Sharon and Dona Hammond; a reading by Mrs. Frank Smith;

Mrs. Ray Dannon and Miss Doris Dannon gave two duets. Speeches were given by Mr. Kenneth Stewart, Clayton Wright and Roy Eggleston.

Mr. Elvin Carr, on behalf of the family, read an appropriate address and the honor guests were presented with a handsome platform rocker chair and radio lamp, gifts from Mr. and Mrs. Adam Brummell, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Brummell, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie McKeown, and Mr. Elvin Carr.

Other friends of the family and neighbors gave useful gifts for which both Mr. and Mrs. Carr expressed their thanks.

Mrs. Ethel Danford, the bride-maid of 50 years ago, was also present, and spoke briefly as did Mrs. Joe Phillips and Mrs. William Curry.

At the close bountiful refreshments were served including the three-tier wedding cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Truscott and family of Kingston and Mrs. Howard Truscott of Napawan were callers of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Carr and Mrs. William Bray, and supper guests of Sarah and Arthur Wilson, on Monday.

W.M.S.
The W.M.S. of the United Church had charge of the divine service on Sunday morning. The president, Mrs. Frank Hammond, presided and also told the children's story. Miss Sarah Wilson offered prayer and Mrs. Dan Cooke conducted the Scripture reading. Mrs. Bernice McCurdy gave a solo and Mrs. John Linton and Mrs. William Grant contributed a duet with Mrs. Kenneth Palmer as accompanist. Mrs. John Wallace gave an outstanding address. There was a good attendance present.

Mr. Arthur Wilson conducted the services at the United Church, Balawa and Frankford, on Sunday and was a dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmont Scott.

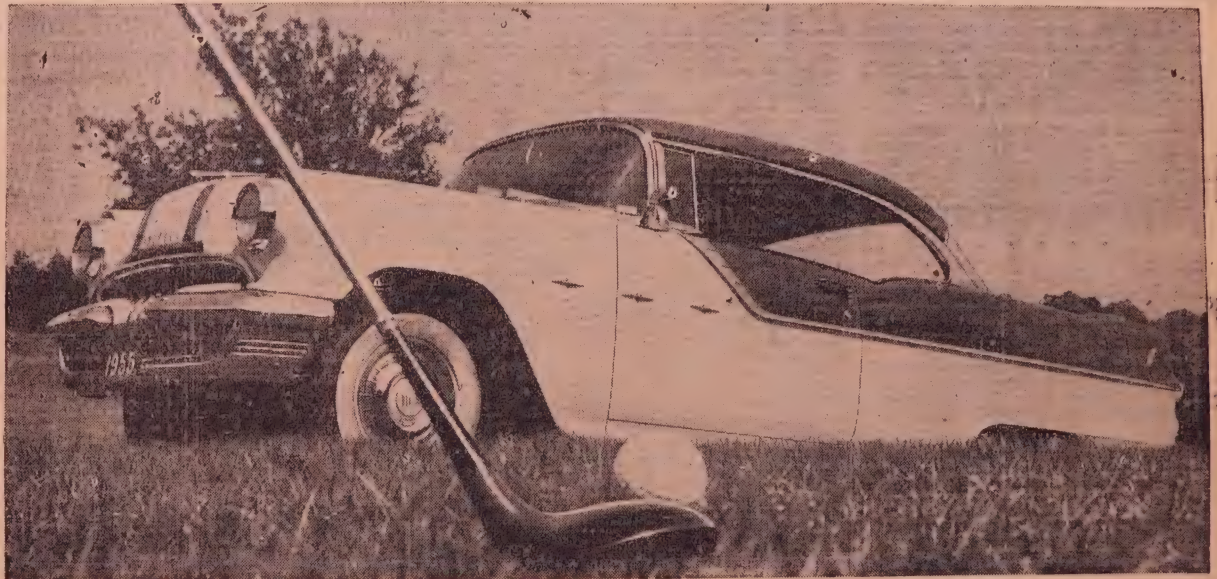

Mrs. Raymond Baker and children of Kingston, visited relatives here for a few days last week.

Much sympathy is extended to Mr. Donald Spencer in the sudden passing of his father, Mr. Merle Spencer of Mount Pleasant.

The United Church congregation is making plans for their annual anniversary services to be held on September the 4th.

Mr. Earl Hawley, of Wooler, was a Tuesday guest of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Wilson.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Garry Alexander

CONFIDENT

"We'll beat 'em back here next Saturday. They've got no better a club than we have." That was Al Kelleher talking after his Haggis Juniors had dropped a tough one to the Oshawa McCallum Transporters in the Motor City on Saturday by a 4-1 score.

The right-hander Butch McCann made the difference with his sharp curve. He had most of the local lads either ducking away or taking a wild cut at that third one but even so they outbait the winners five to three.

The lights made a difference too, this being the first night game for Belleville. Cam Buskard, a fair hitter usually, went down on strikes three times but swears to get revenge come Saturday.

Stan Reid came up with some fine hurling on Belleville's behalf. Of the three Oshawa hits one was an infield roller that Gord St. Louis hauled in back of second but too late to get the runner. The Transporters are, according to Oshawa sports writer "Soup" Campbell, a weak hitting club with good pitching and a good infield. Saturday's fixture bore him out on the first two counts.

Gerry Goyer was the only successful batter on either team. He fanned the first time up but followed with three straight hits which could have been the margin of victory providing there had been runners on base. John Casey laid good wood to the ball once, lining deep to centre, and Bob Hull also poked a long one to left which brought in their lone marker.

Kelleher will likely send Leo "Weiner" St. Denis to the hill for the "must" game but otherwise his lineup will be pretty much the same. St. Denis has developed into a fine young hurler during the past few months and will definitely give the McCallum crew a run for its money come 4:30 Saturday afternoon. Should rain cause a postponement Saturday, the game will be played here the following day.

A NEW PARTNER

Big Doug Hepburn will have a new partner at his side when he attempts to subdue those ruthless villains from Germany this Friday night at the Memorial Arena's weekly wrestling card.

Pat Fraley, a huge hunk of man with plenty of wrestling knowhow, will team up with Hepburn against Karl Von Schober and Fritz Von Erich. Prince Malava and Hepburn had the Vons in a bad way last week until the Prince injured his leg.

Hepburn may have used some smart strategy when he picked Fraley as his partner since the big Irishman is far from gentle and will give Herr Vons some of their own dirt when the opportunity arises.

An excellent supporting card has also been arranged with the popular Scott brothers taking part. Sandy means a new-comer in the semi-windup, a gentleman by the name of Bob Lettler. In the opener, George Scott tangles with the giant Firpo Zysko. The Polish gent is a colorful fellow, standing well over six feet tall, with a handle-bar moustache and not a hair on his head.

Activity gets under way at 8:45 p.m.

SAVED BY "BELL"

"Dink" (Montreal Gazette) Carroll columns the following sent in by a contributor:

"We just heard this little story about Marilyn Bell. Scene: English Channel. Time: Few days after her conquest of 'La Manche.' Off the coast of Dover, a recently crowned British Empire boxing champ swims in the sea. Suddenly his legs are tied up with paralyzing cramps. He struggles desperately with his powerful arms, but his strength is rapidly sapped by towering tides. For fear of being drowned, he cries with his last effort: 'Help, help, help!' Fortunately there were distinguished swimmers at the beach who responded to his plea. Among them was Marilyn Bell, who was the first to dive into the choppy waters to rescue the drowning pugilist. After a hectic struggle, she dragged the unconscious body ashore and administered artificial respiration.

Working feverishly for nine doubtful seconds, she revived the champion, who immediately recognized the little Canadian swimming wonder. 'Oh boy, oh boy!' he exclaimed. 'This time I was saved by the Bell.'

SHORT SHOTS

The Brockville Recorder and Times has announced that the Chicago Black Hawks will back their Junior "A" team down there this winter and adds that the Magedomas are going all out to insure a top notch senior club also. . . Pete Fowler of the Kingston Whig Standard says that Kingston will have an OHA Senior "B" club whether the Goodyears operate or not. It seems another group of businessmen are ready to enter a team should the Goodyears suspend operations. . . Ray Judd, mentioned before in this column for pitching a no-hitter, threw another one last Thursday and followed up by firing a four-hitter against the NHL All-Stars on Friday. By the way, he fanned 29 men in the 11-inning contest which ended in a 0-0 score. . . The Bobcats will likely travel to Oshawa or Peterborough for an OSHA Intermediate "A" game this week-end. . . Tony "Poosh-em-out" Parisi arrived back in this city over the week-end holiday but has not signed a hockey contract yet. . . Next Saturday is Betty Berry Day in Deseronto, sponsored by the Canadian Legion. . . The Belleville Shelleys will have a long lay-off before their next OSHA round. . . Some fine hurling by Gordie Vaughan, working two games in one afternoon, gave the Vaughn's bantams the Eastern Ontario OSA title on Saturday. . . The season will be over early for the softball Orfuns unless there's time after OASA playdowns for Point Anne to take them on for the city championship. . . Bobby Hull reports to the St. Kitts (Junior "A") hockey training camp on September 20th.

Team Takes on Boston Squad For Two and Then Cleveland Tribe for Four in East Trip

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The second-place Chicago White Sox, stumbling along the same as the other American League contenders, take their first dose of a kill-or-cure remedy tonight.

On the next six days White Sox play two games with fourth-place Boston and four with third-place Cleveland.

Manager Marty Marion's guys aren't exactly sickly, not when they're just half a game behind first-place New York, but they aren't really robust, either, after losing five of their last eight.

If Sox turn hot, they could be sitting pretty as they make their final swing through the east next week. If they drop the two series, it might be all over.

YANKS MEET A'S
While Chicago has its hands full with Red Sox, just 3½ games behind, and Indians, only one game out of first, Yankees play two with Kansas City, then head back for three with Washington. Boston goes to Baltimore for three after leaving Chicago. Cleveland has two with Orioles before taking on White Sox.

Baltimore kept up their revival Monday, slapping fifth-place Detroit 13½ games back by sweeping a doubleheader 6-0 and 4-3. That was the only action in the American League.

In the National, Brooklyn made it three straight by whipping St. Louis 10-4 to go 12 games out from again; Chicago Cubs split their New York Giants to a fifth straight defeat 6-3, and Cincinnati homered past Philadelphia and Robin Roberts 4-3. Milwaukee and Pittsburgh were idle.

Erv Palica set down Tigers in the first game with a five-hitter and his first shutout of the season. In the nightcap, it was a bases-loaded single by Freddie Marsh that won for Orioles, overcoming a 3-2 Detroit lead in the seventh inning.

BEANBALL BATTLE
A beanball battle flared early at Ebbets Field but plate umpire Jocko Conlan put his foot down in the fourth inning, warning both managers after Stan Musial was hit on the right hand by a Johnny Podres pitch and Cardinal right-hander Tom Poholsky had turned home one behind Jackie Robinson.

Ken Boyer, charged with bringing Cards within 5-4 of the Brooks in the seventh but Duke Snider and Carl Furillo homered for Dodgers in their half. Roy Campanella also homered for Dodgers.

Phillies, who had won nine of 10, couldn't hold a 3-0 lead as Redlegs tagged Roberts (21-10) for four home runs. Wally Post hit a pair, with his 34th wrapping it up in the ninth.

Cubs also smacked four home runs, two by Harry Chitt, while belting four Giant hurlers for 14 hits.

Taylor Helpful To Maple Leafs In Stretch Drive

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Toronto was faltering a month ago when they sent for Joe—and Joe Taylor lifted the Leafs when they showed signs of starting the plunge down to third place in the International Baseball League.

Taylor joined the Leafs as the champions were in the process of dissipating a substantial lead. He began by filling in for the slumping Sam Jethroe. Since then he has played all outfield positions and has spelled Lou Limmer at first base.

Monday night, dividing his time between centre and right field, Taylor batted out three hits, including a two-run homer, scored twice and knocked in five runs in Toronto's 9-2 victory over Havana.

Mike Fornieles' fine four-hit pitching complimented Taylor's slugging as Toronto preserved its half-game advantage over second-place Montreal and went three games up on the Cubans.

20-GAME WINNER

The Royals are staying doggedly on the heels of the Leafs, thanks to Ken Lehman, who is in the midst of a sensational pitching streak. Lehman shut out Syracuse on six hits, 7-0. The victory made the southpaw the first International League 20-game winner, and it was his fourth consecutive whitewash job.

In other contests, Buffalo edged Columbus 4-3 to climb over the Jets into sixth place by a full game. In a 13-inning game, Rochester Red Wings eked out a 6-5 victory over Richmond on Stan Jok's two-out squeeze bunt in the top of the last inning.

Five Teams in Eastern Ont. Senior 'B' Hockey League; Peterborough Out for Year

Five teams, Belleville, Kingston, Cornwall, Whitby and Brockville, will compose the Eastern Ontario Senior "B" hockey league this coming season and the league will open on October 28th with the All-Star game being played in the Community Centre at Kingston on Saturday, October 22nd. By an unanimous vote the Peterborough Petes were given a year's leave of absence from the league, when it was explained that it would be impossible for the team to carry out its obligation due to the limited accommodation of their arena and the high cost of maintaining a team capable of performing in the loop.

These were main decisions reached when the delegates from the six clubs convened at Kingston on Monday evening under the chairmanship of Lorne Cook, first vice-president of the O.H.A. Frank Buckland, president of the Association, was unable to be present due to other commitments. Joe Corkey, Don Bellinger, Les Douglas, represented the Kingston club; Ray Miron and Frank Mario the Cornwall club; Don McNevin and Aid. Bruce Smith the local entry, Kitchener-Stanford from Brockville; Wren Blair, Bus Gagnon and Harry Brabin from Whitby and Jim Ellis, Ray Tanner and George Bennett from the Petes. Also present were Jack Devine and Claude D. Tice from this city, Murray Kennedy and a representative of the Whig Standard.

FINALLY IRONED OUT
Although the meeting ended on a harmonious note, there were times during the discussion of certain questions, that it appeared there was no middle ground but in the end everything was ironed out. Before the minutes of the previous meeting were adopted, Mr. Corkey stated that his club had abstained from voting for the 15 per cent split on the net for the league pool but since that time, the directors had agreed to go along with the split and he was prepared to vote for adoption. Wren Blair of Whitby stated that he was responsible for calling the meeting to form a western group but that since a board of directors had been incorporated to run the Whitby team he had been advised to keep the team in the eastern loop and was therefore prepared to support the minutes.

At this point the bombshell that Peterborough had ready was exploded. Mr. Ellis, spokesman for the delegation said his club was willing to go along with the split but unless we can get a group closer to home, we will not be operating in the league this winter. "When we get our new rink next winter," said Mr. Ellis "we will be prepared to come back but at the present time it is hopeless for us to think we can continue in here with the heavy travelling expenses and the small crowds due to limited accommodation that we had at home last year."

SORRY TO LOSE PETES
"We are very sorry to see you go," said Mr. Corkey. "But I am sure the Petes will be back stronger than ever next winter and therefore I think the loop should give Peterborough a year's leave of absence. Then the question arose respecting the players and it was agreed that if any of them played in the loop this year they should be returned to Peterborough next season."

Again the question of the split came up and Mr. McNevin was strongly opposed to the split and said "I am not as a private sponsor interested in subsidizing other clubs in the loop. If I lose money on operation of the club I have to foot the bill where probably the other clubs have money on which to fall back on." However when the vote was taken on the minutes of the last meeting, four clubs, Kingston, Brockville, Whitby and Cornwall, voted for and Belleville voted against. In the All-Star game Peterborough players will be used and the club will receive their share of the gate. The schedule will have each club playing another club five times at home and the same number of times away. The playoffs will be the best-of-seven in each round and the first place team will play the fourth and the second-place team will play the third.

Sam Snead's Golf School

Our illustration today shows the player's hands and the club coming into the "hit zone." It's at this point that the wrists begin to uncock, giving the clubhead that tremendous whiplash action which sends the ball for a long ride.

Notice that the left side is "firming up" to provide the necessary foundation to swing against. That is, most of the weight is now on the left foot and the left leg is more or less straight with the knee only slightly flexed. The right leg, meanwhile, seems to be getting ready to drive additional power into the shot. Note too, that the right elbow is tucked in close to the body.

Remember not to force any part of the swing. Rhythm and timing are what give it its power. The downswing must be a smooth, easy, slowly-accelerating action of shoulders, hips and arms, climaxed by the final wrist action which puts the real stuff in the shot.

DAVIS CUP GOES "DOWN UNDER" WITH AUSSIE TENNIS CHAMPS

Lawn tennis' most coveted prize, the Davis Cup, went back to Australia after Aussie tennis stars Lew Hoad and Rex Hartwig won a sensational doubles duel recently over Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert, defending U.S. champions. The hard-hitting players from "down under" chalked up scores of 12-11, 6-4, 6-3, 3-6 and 7-5 to gain a 3-0 lead. Shown here, Hoad (backcourt) shoots across the court for a return to Tony Trabert. Hoad outlasted Trabert, defeating him 4-6, 6-3, 6-3 and 8-6.

Hughes Coached Queen's to Three Grey Cup Wins

MONTREAL (CP) — Wilfrid Perry (Bill) Hughes, who whipped a Queen's University football aggregation into a three-time winner of the Grey Cup, died in hospital during the weekend. He was 67.

He won four Grey Cups in all—three with Queen's and another with Hamilton Tigers of the Big Four in 1932.

A fair football player himself during his undergraduate days at McGill University, Hughes excelled as a coach and achieved his greatest fame with Queen's from 1922 to 1925. His teams in those years won 26 consecutive games— a record that has never been equalled in Canada.

Hughes left a coaching job with Montreal MAAA Winged Wheelers in 1922 to take over the Queen's team near the end of the regular season when the university's coach became ill. He steered the team to the intercollegiate championship, to a victory over Toronto Argos, then Big Four champions, and to a Grey Cup victory over Edmonton.

COACHED SERVICE TEAMS
In 1923, he repeated the feat swamping Regina Roughriders 54-0 in the Grey Cup game. In 1924 there was no playoff with the west, but the Canadian Rugby Union declared Queen's winner of the Grey Cup following a victory over Balmy Beach, the eastern champions of that year.

From Queen's Hughes moved on to coach Hamilton Tigers and later Ottawa Rough Riders in the Big Four.

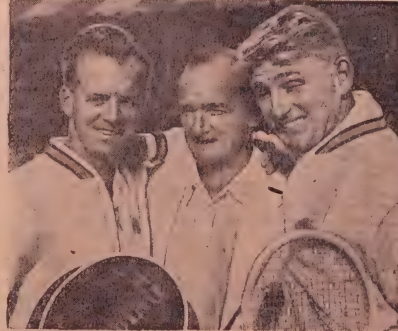

He resigned from the Ottawa team in 1936 but reappeared in 1945 to coach a weak Montreal team in the Big Four which had suspended operations during the Second World War.

During the war Hughes had coached service teams. Survivors include his widow, three daughters and a son.

Funeral service will be held here Tuesday.

DROBNY, AYALA WIN

ISTANBUL (AP) — Jiroslav Drobný, Egypt, and Luis Ayala, Chile, defeated the South African team of Owen Williams and Trevor Fancutt 6-4, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3 in the doubles final of the Istanbul Tennis tournament Monday.

Rex Hartwig (left), and Lew Hoad (right) are shown with non-playing Captain Harry Hopman after winning the Doubles match which clinched the Davis Cup for Australia. The Aussie stars, who also won two singles matches giving them a 3-0 score in the best-of-five series, will take the Davis Cup back to Australia for the fifth time in six years.

John Landy Faces Problem Whether to Don Spikes Again

By KEN MOSES
MELBOURNE (AP) — John Landy, the world's fastest miler against the clock, faces a problem — should he don spikes again this coming track season down under? Landy, a schoolteacher now, is the young man who put 3:58 on the watches at Turku, Finland, last year and registered world figures of 3:41.8 for the 1,500 meters in route.

He hates fuss, and if he is to run again this coming season, the only person who will make the decision will be John Landy.

Trailermen Win First Game In Finals by 26-6
PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — Peterborough Trailermen downed Fergus Thistles 26-6 here Monday night to open their best-of-seven eastern Canada senior lacrosse finals. They play in Fergus Wednesday.

In the third quarter goalie Jim Robertson trampled on Rocky Batley as he lay in the crease following a score. The referees held off several of the Petes who tried to hit Robertson. The latter drew a roughing penalty.

Bobby Allan sparked Petes' attack with six goals, Batley being good for five, Bob Thorpe four, the Hildebrand three and Harry Wipper and Bob Curtis two each. Singles went to Bev Groves, Lou Nickel, Carl Brioux and Curly Mason. For the losers, Don Gear and Tom d'Amico each hit for two and Jay Hill and Jerry Fitzgerald one apiece.

If John finds that it is coming back to him easily he will more than likely keep on running, but if it proves to be a problem he is certain to announce his retirement. Few people will blame Landy for his casual attitude toward the 1956 Olympics. Those who know him well say he suffers in his long and arduous training for Turku.

Landy always has been a strict amateur and has put his career first. At present he is contemplating legal action against a breakfast food firm which used his photograph on a package of its product without his permission.

The thought of facing another long preparation frightens Landy. If he runs at all this coming season it will be only after quite a few secret trials.

Brantford Wins Playoff Spot Over London

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Brantford Red Sox, after weeks of indecision, won the fourth-place playoff berth in the Senior Intercounty semi-final playoffs Monday night when they edged London Majors 2-1 in a sudden-death game.

Meanwhile, Oshawa Merchants drew the first playoff blood in the best three-out-of-five series when they pounced on Kitchener starter Johnny Ambrose for a two-hit lead in the first inning. They went on to defeat the Panthers 8-6. Oshawa won the league schedule in first place, Kitchener in a tie for second with St. Thomas Elgins.

In the Niagara District Baseball League, the Niagara Falls Cataracts moved into the league finals by defeating Fort Erie Hornets 7-3. They took the best-of-seven series 4-2. The Cataracts now await the winner of the Welland - Stamford series which stands 3-1 in favor of Stamford.

Junior Golfers Ready for Games in Washington

TORONTO (CP) — Eight of Ontario's brightest junior golf prospects leave suburban Malton airport today for international matches in Washington.

Hopes are high for the juniors, rated the best team ever to compete for the Simpson Cup. The cup has been up for annual competition since 1951, but Ontario won only once—in 1952.

Matches consist of two-man team matches Thursday morning and singles play in the afternoon. Only match play will take place, with four points allotted for doubles and eight for singles.

The Ontario team is made up of: Ron Capra, Dundas Valley, and John Duda, Windsor Essex, both 17; Gary Cowan, Kitchener Rockway, and Bob Bell, Brantford, both 15; Peter McCaig, Cobourg, and Don White, Brantford Arrowdale, both 15; Phil Brown, Toronto Cedar Brae, and Bob Panasuk, Windsor Lakewood, both 14.

The boys were chosen at the Ontario junior golf championships last month in which players with the two best scores in each age-group were chosen to represent Ontario.

Nine Players Cut by Argos To Meet Limit

TORONTO (CP) — Nine players, including three Americans were cut Monday night by Toronto Argonauts as the Big Four club went into secret practices for their opening game here Saturday.

Argos reduced their number of imports to 31, one over the league limit, with the release of halfbacks Jim Philbee of Bradley University and Fred Bilyeu of the University of Georgia, and centre John Miller from Idaho State.

Six Canadians released are defensive end Art Scullion, five-year Argos veteran; halfback Len Meltzer, formerly with British Columbia Lions and Winnipeg Blue Bombers; tackle Steve Kapusky and running back halfback Bill Rogers and guard Warren Dunlop.

Billy Martin Heading East To Join Yanks

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Billy Martin, sparkplug of New York Yankees infield of 1953, is heading east to rejoin the team in its drive for another American League pennant—but his chances of playing the world's series appear slim, even if the Bronx Bombers make the grade.

The army Monday granted a request by the 26-year-old second baseman for a 30-day furlough, effective at once.

This furlough, however, will expire at midnight Sept. 28—the day the world's series is scheduled to open.

Martin, a corporal, is due for final training and processing for discharge. His separation date from the army is Oct. 8, and even if it goes the full seven games.

INDIANS ADD THREE

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Indians will add three players to their roster this week in a move to bolster their forces for the stretch drive of the world's series.

The Indians announced Rudy Regalado and Billy Harrell of the Indians' farm club at Indianapolis and Bud Daley, recently purchased from Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League, will join the club Friday.

Petes Edge Cementmen 5-4 In First Game of Series

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Peterborough Seabrooke Motors climaxed an exciting extra-inning game with an unearned tally to the bottom of the 11th to edge Point Anne 5-4 in the first game of their OASA Intermediate "A" series last night. The return fixture is slated for the Pointer's diamond on Thursday evening at 5:30 p. m.

Seabrooke's had broken a 2-2 tie with a pair in the eighth but the Cementmen rallied with an equal number in the ninth to bring about the extra innings.

Neil Thompson, lead-off batter for Peterborough, went down batting for the first out of the 11th. A short train had started at the half-way mark of the inning and when Maracle went in to field McGrath's bunt, he slipped and sat down, unable to get the runner. McGrath then took second on a passed ball and advanced to the hot corner, when Curry went down second to first. Red Sullivan, who had earlier smashed a home run for the winners, was at the plate. Maracle went into his wind-up but uncorked a wild pitch and runner raced for home. John Green recovered the ball in the backstop and fired to Maracle covering home but McGrath slid in with the deciding marker.

Pin-stripped Jim Driscoll was on the ball all the way for Seabrooke's, giving up nine safeties to the Cementmen. He buzz-balled three strikes by five of the losers, issued four free passes and hit one batter while making one wild pitch.

The dusky veteran, Pat Maracle, was his mound opponent and allowed 12 Peterborough hits. He stopped seven on strikes, while walking three and was charged with a pair of wild pitches. Maracle left 10 men stranded on the bases while Driscoll marooned the same number.

The smart fielding Peterborough club got off to a good start with a double play erasing an error in the top of the first. They took the lead in their half of the frame, Thompson beating out a bunt, McGrath bunting and also safe when Bennett dropped Goyer's throw. Curry also had an infield single to fill the bases but Maracle fanned Sullivan for the initial out. Spencer hit into a fielder's choice, getting a runner at third but scoring one run.

Point Anne took a 2-1 lead in the second. A base-on-balls to Goyer opened the inning and Driscoll hesitated just long enough before throwing to second to have all hands safe on Wade's side of the plate. Wade also walked to fill the bases and after Green popped out Phil Bennett lined a sharp single to left scoring both runs. Mulholland also singled but Maracle threw by Spencer from left field nailed Whalen at the plate.

SULLIVAN HOMERS
Both teams were held harmless until the sixth when George "Red" Sullivan caught a knee-high pitch and belted it over the right field fence with notes on tie the score. The Seabrooke club threatened to take the lead in the following frame when McGrath singled and scored second. Curry then looped a single to right — centre but a bouncer by Spencer from left field nailed Whalen at the plate.

Peterborough finally took a 4-2 lead in the eighth on a walk, fielder's choice, Wyatt's single and pinch-hitter Howie Dalton's two-run single to right. The Pointer's fought back in the ninth. Bennett singled and Maracle was hit by a pitch before Hull hit into a fielder's choice. Curry tried for a double play but threw wide of first with one run scoring. Two were out when Roger Mallory tied the score again, placing a clean single to right, scoring Hull from second and forcing the extra innings.

"Speed" Curry paced the winner's attack with a trio of singles while Bob Wyatt doubled and singled. Sullivan had his homer while he other singles were scored. Roger Mallory, Sam Mulholland and Phil Bennett each poked a brace of singles in a losing effort. One each went to Gerry Goyer, Jake Wade and John Green.

VILLAGE WASHED AWAY
NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The newspaper Indian Express reported today that 180 persons were killed and 200 injured when a swollen reservoir burst its banks and washed away the village of Kalu near Jodhpur 200 miles southwest of New Delhi.

VANCOUVER AQUATIC STARS COP TOP HONORS IN CNE SWIM CHAMPIONSHIPS

BARBER FERGUSON

SHIER SLATER

The junior men's one-mile and men's two-mile Canadian amateur swimming championships at the Canadian National Exhibition were both capped by 15-year-old Vancouver swimmer Bill Slater. Slater almost skimmed home ahead of his nearest rival, Allen Brew, also of Vancouver, as he took the junior mile with a time of 24 minutes and 16.9 seconds. Linda Shier kept event. Sara Barber, 14-year-old from Brantford, Ont., took the junior women's crown when she came in a few feet ahead of another girl her age, Muriel Ferguson of Etobicoke, Ont. Third-place winner was Susan Sangster, 15, also from Vancouver.

Cobourg Indians Score 12-2 Win Over Frankford

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

The urge to bid no-trump is a throwback to auction bridge days. A more scientific way to play bridge is to show suits first and end in no-trump only if no satisfactory trump suit is decided on.

After one of my classes came this deal:

NORTH
 ♠ A K Q 10 4
 ♥ 9 8 7 2 3
 ♦ 8 5 3
 ♣ A

WEST
 ♠ 9 8 7 2 3
 ♥ 10 9 8 5 2
 ♦ J 10 8 5 2
 ♣ K Q 10 9 7 5 4

EAST
 ♠ 10 9 7 2 3
 ♥ 10 9 7 2 3
 ♦ K Q 10 9 7 5 4
 ♣ K 8 6 3 2

The bidding went thus:

South West North East
 1 ♠ 1 ♥ 2 Spades Pass
 2 ♦ Pass 3 Spades Pass
 3 No-trump Pass Pass

South has a suit of six tricks; four high cards and one short in each major. This will answer the question so many ask: Do you count the short cards in suit partner has bid?

North counts six tricks; four high cards and two short in the club suit. With each partner counting six tricks there is a total of 12 tricks in the pair. This they can show in bidding.

The south opening bid of one is a promise of five tricks. With a raise in number to show his diamond suit there is admission of an additional trick. Thus does he show six.

An immediate jump takeout is a signal that guarantees six tricks. That many tricks are revealed by north with his jump in spades. With 12 tricks, why do they not reach slam?

To probe for slam a player should see 12 tricks, know what he will be trumps, and have two aces and a king or better in his own hand. Neither partner has discovered a satisfactory trump suit.

When a trump suit is not the final contract it must be in no-trump. At no-trump a player does not count short cards as tricks. Reliance must then be in high cards, which they have not seen slam count.

Play at no-trump offers a pretty lesson. Discover it.

Game Played Declared Tie

The South Hastings baseball game played in Cannifton on Monday night has been declared a tie and will be replayed on the same diamond Wednesday evening at 6:30 p.m.

The two teams are battling it out at present for the league championship with Cannifton holding a two-games-to-none lead.

ADIOS BRINGS FORTUNE
 COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Adios, sire of harness race champions, was sold Monday for $500,000. The United States Trotting Association here said the price for the 15-year-old stallion was four times higher than the previous record for standard bred horses. Hanover Shoe Farms of Hanover, Pa., paid the $500,000 for Adios to Delvin Miller, proprietor of Meadowlands farm, Meadowlands, Pa.

FRY MEETS HART
 MANCHESTER, Mass. (AP)—Third-seeded Shirley Fry upset top-rated Louise Brough 4-6, 6-4, 6-3 Monday in the semi-final round of the 28th annual Essex County Club women's invitational tennis tournament. In the other semi-final, Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., seeded No. 2, held off a match point advantage for England's Angela Mortimer four times in the second set and went on to gain the final round with a 3-6, 9-7, 6-2 victory.

Television Industry Seen As Paradise for Statistician

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—The television industry is, among other things, a statistician's paradise. The other day, for example, the United States census bureau announced that 32,000,000 American households—or 67 per cent of all households in the country—now have one or more TV sets.

Most viewers probably reacted to that news with an indifferent "what d'you know?" But the networks and agencies that make up the industry reacted with the quivering enthusiasm of a pointer on a copy of quail.

Cost of the census bureau's study was underwritten by the industry itself: the National Association of Television and Radio Broadcasters, Television Bureau of Advertising, and NBC, CBS and ABC. Now, statisticians having insatiable appetites for figures, it's indicated that the next move will be a county-by-county survey on numbers of television sets.

LEFT CONFUSED
 These sponsor conferences always leave me confused. I do not know the methods or results of the industry when it estimates the number of sets in the country—or any part of it. What concerns me is the stage where the accurate statisticians halt and the self-interested poets of this or that program take over.

Just wait. Before long some poetic promoter of some program will multiply 32,000,000 sets by three viewers (nobody will ever know why three) and come up with the figure of 96,000,000. Then, figuring it's real objective of him to knock off 16,000,000 (nobody will ever know why that number either), he'll announce that 80,000,000 persons watched his program.

These are the sort of figures I never believe in television. This is the sort of poetic licence that is highly reputable survey organizations, such as the A. C. Nielsen Co. of Chicago, never indulge in. The regular Nielsen survey obtains electronic recording devices attached to sets in homes of American homes. It does not estimate how many people saw a program.

I submit that nobody ever knows or ever will know how many people saw a program. I'll bet there have been network programs that only a couple of hundred thousand people saw. There have been others viewed by up to 60,000,000 or maybe, occasionally, more.

FORGOTTEN MILLIONS
 The poetic promoters forget the number of people who are driving cars or reading or at the movies or asleep or just sitting staring vacantly into space when their programs are on the air. They forget those who have the set on and just aren't looking at it.

But, as long as there's an advertiser, there will be a statistician. And as long as there's a statistician, there will be an unscrupulous poet fooling around with his findings.

AT THE BELLE—Tropical romance could be the title of this scene taken from the beautiful and exciting CinemaScope technicolor production "Sea Chase" closing tonight in the Theatre. Lana Turner and John Wayne find love in each other's arms as stars in "Sea Chase."

Ginger Rogers Leads Revolt By Assisting Film Starlets

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Ginger Rogers, normally a conservative girl, is fomenting a Hollywood revolution. It could shake the ranks of her sister glamour queens to the dark roots of their platinum tresses.

It started quietly a few weeks ago when a Hollywood group, consisting of Ginger, director George Sidney, born vivat Jim Henaghan, and producers Jack Cummings and David Hempstead, decided to revive the old Wampus baby stars idea.

Now it was the Wampas that gave the publicity kick to stardom to such as Joan Crawford, Clara Bow, Dolores Del Rio, Loretta Young and others. The Wampas was an organization of publicity men and it was significant, one of the members recalls, that established feminine stars of the era gave the group nothing but resistance.

The new group, tentatively called the Hollywood Sponsors' Circle, will select 13 baby stars—all girls—on Oct. 28. Ginger will be one of the judges who will spend an entire day listing to five-minute auditions from the young lovelies.

SHY AWAY
 On the surface this sounds like a good publicity stunt for Ginger, but it's one that most of the established glamor queens want no part of.

It's no trade secret that the older feminine stars often blue-pencil fresh, shapely and young talent. It's even hard for a cute starlet to get in the same still picture with a big star, let alone a movie.

Marla English, one of the most photographed of all the young beauties, reveals that several of the top stars have been downright mean to her when photographers tried to pose them together.

This practice is an accepted pattern for survival in the dog-eat-dog existence of Hollywood. Even the men do it. One of the screen's romantic lovers, now past 50, is making a western wherein he reserved the right to screen the cowboys. There wasn't a buckaroo under 45 picked.

RECEIVES HELP
 Ginger, who always talks straight from the shoulder, argues: "It's time someone started sponsoring the young players in this town. I had lots of help when I got started and it meant a lot to me."

Then, nodding toward Helene Stanley, a redhead with more curves than an Alpine pass, Ginger added: "Isn't this a dish? She's going to be a star if I have anything to do with it."

Miss Stanley, grateful, commented: "Thank heavens for Miss Rogers. I was beginning to think that if I didn't get discovered

NABBED IN RAID
TILLSONBURG, Ont. (CP) — Police said 10 people were arrested early Sunday in a liquor raid on a downtown apartment. They said a "large quantity" of beer and liquor was seized. Leo Laibard, formerly of Windsor, was charged with illegal possession of liquor and keeping for sale.

ROCKET PLANS STOLEN
TOKYO (AP) — "Priceless" blueprints of Japan's experimental rockets were stolen from a car in downtown Tokyo Sunday night, a foremost scientist reported. Police launched a search, would not say immediately whether they suspected espionage.

FINED FOR ASSAULT
BRACEBRIDGE (CP) — Sheriff W. B. Elliott was convicted Monday of assaulting Frank Lawson, Ontario highways department employee, and was fined $100. Evidence was that an altercation arose between the men when Lawson told Elliott he could not permit the use of property owned by Elliott as a motel.

RUSH AID
TAIPEI, Formosa (Reuters) — The Chinese Nationalist government today rushed all available relief to southeast Formosa to aid victims of a typhoon which struck there last Wednesday. Last reports said that 40 lives were lost in the typhoon, code named Irish, and about 100 persons were injured. It destroyed or damaged 1,200 houses and has left 5,000 homeless.

Mining Millionaire Advises Youth to Stick With Canada

By JOE MACSWEN

Canadian Press Staff Writer
MONTREAL (CP)—That old saw about going west, young man, belongs in the horse-and-buggy days, says Jules R. Timmins.

"Go west, east, north or south, but stick with Canada," is the up-to-date advice of the mining millionaire.

"What we now have is opportunity for youth throughout the country as a whole. 'Stick with Canada' is more to the point."

Mr. Timmins, ordinarily a man of few words, became enthusiastic on the topic of opportunity in an interview here.

"And not just in mining, either," he said. "We're all competing for good jobs—that's the proof."

STRESSES OPTIMISM

A sprightly 67, Jules Timmins, father of five boys and four girls, is an object lesson in what he means, having found the key to the vast Ungava-Labrador iron riches and sparked one of Canada's biggest developments.

He is the son of the late Henry Timmins, and nephew of the late Noah Timmins, after whom the town of Timmins in northern Ontario has named.

"You've got to be optimistic," said Mr. Timmins, whose definition of the word might stretch the dictionary meaning.

The Timmins enterprises were optimistic to the extent of $6,000,000 in the search and proving of ore in Ungava-Labrador—"before the project even became a venture."

A total of $250,000,000 was spent by Timmins and his associates, including enormous outlays on railway and harbor building, before the first pound of iron ore came through the port of Sept-Îles, Que., en route to the blast furnaces.

YOUTH MEETS CHALLENGE

Timmins feels that Canadian youth is answering well the challenge of the times.

"There are two aspects to this," he said. "In the old days, young men just didn't get the opportunity. The old timers wouldn't delegate to the young."

"Now, young men are getting the chance, and they're taking advantage of it."

In a somewhat allied comment, Mr. Timmins declared that time goes on Canadian capital will take over from United States interests a growing share of domestic development.

"In fact, we already see this happening, both in mining and industry," he said.

STARTED IN RANKS

Jules Timmins' name probably will go down in history in connection with iron ore, but it was gold that lured him as a youth.

That was when he started working as a mucker, underground foreman and part-time prospector in the gold areas opened by his father and uncle, making Timmins a place-name and household word throughout Canada.

It was not until 1938 that Jules—by then president of Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines—became interested in the Ungava-Labrador iron.

He acquired control of the Labrador Mining and Exploration Company and formed the Hollinger North Shore Exploration Company, his vision attracting the attention of George Humphrey, then head of the M. A. Hanna Company of Cleveland, now U.S. secretary of the treasury.

Humphrey, like other U.S. steel producers, was concerned with the diminishing potential of the famed Mesabi range. The Hollinger-Hanna interests supplied the greater part of the risk capital for exploration, discovery and drilling in Ungava.

Later, five U.S. mid-western steel companies joined Hollinger and Hanna to form the Iron Ore Company of Canada.

KILLED FINANCIER

Jules Timmins was well versed by long experience for the intricate financial arrangements involved. Among the some 20 companies in which he is an officer or director, he is senior partner in J. R. Timmins and Company, a financial firm registered on the stock exchanges.

Educated at St. Michael's College, Toronto, and McGill University, he served with the Royal Canadian Engineers during the First World War. Following the Second World War he was honored with the Order of the British Empire for his services in a crown corporation procuring metals in short supply.

The man who hurried away from McGill before finishing his course to enter his father's mines as a youth, later received an honorary doctorate of science from that university. Queen's University of Kingston made him an honorary doctor of laws.

Timmins seldom is heard in public speeches and is often unrecognized—even in Timmins—in a constant travels. His greatest delight is to steal away from an vacation trip for an interlude of fishing—and a spot of gin rummy.

Despite his retiring nature, he is able with strangers. A reporter, sitting for an interview with the taciturn-looking prospector, was startled suddenly to find the brisk, spectacled man touching his elbow.

"Am I the young fellow you're looking for?" said Jules Timmins.

Mining Millionaire

Jules Timmins, 67, Canadian mining millionaire, sparked one of Canada's biggest developments, the vast Ungava-Labrador iron-ore project. A total of $250,000,000 was spent by Timmins and his associates before the first ton of iron ore came through the port of Sept-Îles, Que. He is the son of the late Henry Timmins, and nephew of the late Noah Timmins, after whom the town of Timmins in Northern Ontario was named. (CP Photo)

Pope to Welcome Pilgrims At His Summer Residence

By PATRICK CROSSE

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (Reuters)—Thousands of pilgrims are expected to be winding up the steep hill to Castel Gandolfo, the Pope's summer residence, on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons to take part in mass audiences with his Holiness.

Pope Pius XII has resumed these audiences for the first time since last winter when painful attacks of hiccups eventually endangered his life.

For seven months, since he was pronounced out of danger early in January, the Pope has been slowly recuperating. At the end of July, he was well enough to leave the sultry heat of Rome for Castel Gandolfo, in the Alban hills south of the city.

NO LIMIT

As soon as he arrived here, the office of his Master of the Chamber in the Vatican announced that the Pope would receive all-comers, provided they possessed tickets, in the big central courtyard of the villa every Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

Tickets are obtained without difficulty from the Master of the Chamber. Most visitors to Rome find that the easiest way is to get them through their embassies or legations to the Vatican.

For Americans and Canadians, who have no diplomatic representation at the Vatican, the North American college, where American and Canadian student priests are trained, has organized a ticket service.

The pilgrims are checked into the courtyard of the lovely renaissance villa by the small detachment of the Swiss Guard which follows the Pontiff to his summer residence, or by pontifical gendarmes.

Army Develops Three New Radio Sets

OTTAWA (CP)—Today's army travels not only on its stomach but on good communications.

In event of atomic war, senior officers say, the army will need the best possible communications because it will have to travel faster than ever before.

To this end, the army has developed three new radio sets, two of which are already in use.

One set, with a range of 500 miles, is intended for use with the mobile striking force—an airborne defence unit—and would provide communications between the area into which paratroops have dropped and their advance base.

DESIGNED FOR INFANTRY

The other two sets are walkie-talkies designed primarily for infantry use. Both are for short-range communications and can easily be carried by one man.

One has a range of one to two miles and is used for company-platoon communication. It weighs 10½ pounds compared to about 35 pounds for the equivalent Second World War equipment and is smaller than a loaf of bread.

A larger set, weighing about 22 pounds, is for company-battalion use and has a range of five to 10 miles. It is the same size as a large box of soap flakes.

Little Benny's Notebook

Pop's head started to bob after dinner, and after a while it stopped bobbing and stayed down, proving he was asleep, and ma said, "Oh dear, he'll spoil his night's rest, and if I wake him up he'll feel perfectly persecuted."

Well G, ma, why don't you teach him a lesson without actually making him mad? I said, and ma said, "I wish I knew how."

Easy, ma, I said. How about if you and me sneak out to the movies, and when pop wakes up there won't be anybody in the house but him, and even if we stay to see a double feature we'll be back before he wakes up, and he'll be happy, I said, and ma said, "Don't be fantastic."

Well then, ma, I'll go out and get a whole quart of ice cream just for us 2, and after we finish it we'll hang our spoons and pop will wake up, and the ice cream will be all gone and he'll be sorry, I said, and ma said, "Your father doesn't like ice cream, did you forget that little detail?"

Yes, ma, I said. Anyways, ma, I've got one more idea. Let's take his newspaper and spread it all over him, even his head, and he'll wake up and think he's berried alive, I said.

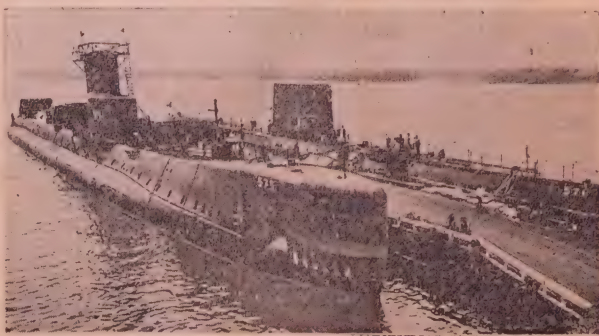

The idea making ma laugh so sudden she woke pop up, and he said, "What's the big joke?"

Never mind, go back to sleep and you may find out, ma said, and pop said, "Heh? Who's been asleep?"

Meaning not him, and pritty soon his head started to bob some more till it stayed down again.

Proving he was back asleep, but ma wouldn't let me cover him with his newspaper, claiming she never actually said it was a good idea.

Chief Asking Citizens to Aid Driving Check

ORILLIA, Ont. (CP)—The police department here is calling in selected citizens to help track down law-breaking motorists.

Orillia Police Chief E. W. McIntyre says the plan calls for selection on almost every street in this town of about 7,000 population of a number of men and women who will undertake the tasks of observing drivers and reporting to police the time and actions of motorists violating the traffic laws.

Persons taking on the assignment will be known only to police and will not be required to give evidence in court. A report on violations and car licence numbers will be given to police. Charges will be laid subject to the degree of the offence.

There was no explanation of how these charges will be pressed.

"In addition to these watchers," said Chief McIntyre, "a motorcycle officer will be making a constant check on the driving habits of local motorists."

Will Ask Probe Bribery Attempt

TORONTO (CP)—Deputy reeve Gus Harris of suburban Scarborough township said Monday the township council will ask the Ontario attorney-general today for an investigation into charges of alleged attempted bribery of township officials.

He said the council will propose that the inquiry be conducted by a royal commission or a county judge.

Last week it was reported a company sent $500 cheques to two councillors and to township officials in the hope of advancing a housing development.

Toronto alderman Howard Phillips said Monday night he has withdrawn as solicitor for the Gramercy Park Development Co., which has been interested in housing projects in Scarborough and North York. The alderman denied he had any financial interest in the company and refused to name company officials.

the church, is led into the villa itself and given a place at a window overlooking the courtyard or taken up to the roof, where seats have been set up.

The ordinary pilgrim stands in the courtyard, having arrived at least an hour early to get a good position. He inevitably loses this as busload after busload is injected through the large doors and absorbed into what seems to be an already impenetrable crowd.

As the old clock above the gateway strikes six, a man servant comes out on to a small balcony on the first floor and hangs from the wrought iron railing a red damask. A few seconds later, the big French windows are thrown open and a shout of welcome rises toward the frail white figure of the Pontiff.

POLICE BELIEVE MISSING BANK TELLER IN AREA

WEST LORNE, Ont. (CP)—The search for a Stratford bank teller, whose disappearance coincided with the unexplained loss Aug. 14 of $35,000 from the Toronto-Dominion Bank at Stratford, was concentrated Monday in this area following reports of a youth fitting the description of Earl Dickson, 18.

Police Chief Charles Smith said he launched a search and called in Stratford and provincial police after Bruce Mantle of nearby Dutton reported driving a hitchhiker from St. Thomas to West Lorne.

Mantle said he was suspicious when he noted the youth's similarity to the police description of Dickson.

Honeymooners Defy Mayor's Ban on Kissing

STOCKTON, N. J. (AP)—A honeymooning couple has challenged Mayor Chester Errico's advice against "unnecessary kissing" in this flood-stricken Delaware valley town.

The mayor included the go-away-on-kissing rule among suggestions designed to protect health while the community recovers from the flood.

But Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stephens, honeymooning at a local inn, told the mayor that kissing springs from a normal pulse in persons of opposite sex.

The stifling of this impulse would not improve marital relations and could even be detrimental to the health," they said.

French Replace Their Moroccan Resident-General

PARIS (Reuters)—The French government today announced officially the resignation of Gilbert Grandval from his post as resident-general of Morocco.

Grandval's resignation follows last week's Franco-Moroccan talks which produced an agreement on the creation of a representative government for the troubled protectorate.

According to reliable sources, the resignation of the liberal resident-general was the price demanded by certain sections of the French cabinet for their agreement to the new reforms.

Grandval is being replaced by Gen. Pierre Boyer de la Tour, a former soldier-civilian administrator, who is leaving his post of resident-general in Tunis to take over his new duties in Rabat.

Negress Takes $16,000 Won On TV Show

NEW YORK (AP)—Twelve-year-old Gloria Lockerman, Baltimore's one-girl spelling bee, Tuesday night took the $16,000 she had won on a television quiz show and decided not to risk it for more.

Her grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Koy, who made the decisions for Gloria on money questions, said, "I think the Lord has been very good to Gloria, and I decided we would stop here." The money will go into a trust fund for Gloria's education.

No contestant on the show so far has tried for $64,000, the grand prize, who, however, have reached $32,000 and stopped there.

Gloria, a smiling, self-possessed Negro, had spelled such jawbreakers as antidisestablishmentarianism to reach such high scores.

CARDINAL YOUTH HELD FOR MURDER OF MERCHANT

Ronald Reid, 17, Taken From Home Near Scene

CARDINAL (CP)—Ronald Reid, a quiet-spoken 17-year-old, has been charged with murdering a 50-year-old Cardinal merchant, Benjamin Spillerman, whose battered and shot body was found eight days ago in his small drygoods store.

Police arrested the youth Tuesday in his home little more than 1,000 yards from the scene of the slaying, walking in on him as he read a crime comic book. He submitted quietly.

Reid is to be arraigned today in magistrate's court at Brockville, 30 miles west of here.

Following the arrest provincial police inspector Robert Wannell of Toronto disclosed that Spillerman had been shot three times through the body in addition to a score of wounds about the head and shoulders believed inflicted by a blunt instrument.

GUN SOUGHT

Insp. Wannell said a .38-calibre revolver was used in the slaying and that it had been thrown into the St. Lawrence river here.

Late Tuesday a boat equipped with electronic magnets cruised around the area where the weapon is believed to be. It was not found.

Police said that apparently robbery was the motive and that the slayer must have become frightened and ran from the Spillerman store without getting $2,500 which the storekeeper had on his person.

Police visited Reid's home last week 24 hours after the slaying—but for a different reason.

Last Wednesday his mother, Mrs. Isaac Lewis, told police that she had been attacked by a stranger who demanded money and vanished after striking her on the side of the head.

CLOTHING SEIZED

Insp. Wannell said Reid was singled out through the process of elimination.

He said the information that Spillerman had been shot was deliberately withheld on the off chance it would lead the slayer into thinking the police had no knowledge that a gun had been used.

Clothing and other items were seized at Reid's home and were sent to the provincial crime laboratory at Toronto.

Autopsy Ordered

TORONTO (CP)—An autopsy was ordered today to determine cause of death of a pretty Hungarian-born woman found Tuesday by her husband on his return from work.

Dr. Smirle Lawson, supervising coroner for Ontario, said death of Margaret Weidman, 25, apparently was due to accidental overdose of chloral hydrate pills. He said the autopsy had been ordered at the request of members of her family.

Forty trays of pie and salad soaked from the laps of many passengers and crashed against the ceiling. The resulting mess of food and liquid dishes fell on the passengers as the Viscount's descent ended with a sharp lurch.

The plane hit the air pocket about two minutes after passengers and cabin attendants were safely belted. No one was injured although a six-week-old baby and a stewardess hit the ceiling.

A passenger, Leslie Burke of Toronto, said his baby was sitting on his mother's lap at the time of the drop. A doctor who met the plane at Uplands airport outside Ottawa found the child uninjured.

Mr. Burke said one of the stewardesses attempted to hold the tray on the lap of another youngster.

"The next thing I saw was the stewardess hitting the ceiling, the youngster suspended about 18 inches off his seat by his safety belt and his tray lifting up into the air."

The man in front of me was sitting on my fruit salad, plate and all, for almost an hour after it happened without knowing it. All the passengers either had their faces full of blueberry pie or fruit salad. The ceiling was full of pie and milk stains."

Mr. Burke, who has travelled more than 300,000 miles by TCA, praised the plane's two stewardesses, Joan Hunt and Miss M. Ford of Toronto. He said they cleaned up the mess and attended to the concerned passengers like heroes.

Negotiators Work to Avert Strike of Chrysler Workers

By GLENN ENGLE

DETROIT (AP)—A contract agreement to head off a threatened strike of 130,000 Chrysler employees and complete the lineup of the "big three" auto companies on lay-off-pay plans appeared in the making today as negotiators for Chrysler and the CIO United Auto Workers prepared to go back to the bargaining table.

The union has set a strike deadline of midnight tonight, but is expected to stretch it a bit if necessary.

That was done in negotiations with both General Motors and Ford, the other big companies, before the CIO United Auto Workers prepared to go back to the bargaining table.

The union is seeking lay-off-pay plans and other "pattern" benefits in these disputes.

The American Motors negotiations were to resume today in a dispute threatening a strike of 24,000 employees after the Sept. 1 contract expiration. Model changeovers in Nash and Hudson cars have left all but 3,000 of AMC's workers idle.

Russia Seen Posing Challenge To U.K., U.S. in Middle East

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia is beginning to pose a serious challenge to American and British influence in the strategic, oil-rich Middle East, Washington officials say.

Reports that the Soviet government has offered arms to Egypt and possibly other Arab states are only one bit of evidence accumulated by the state department and other interested Washington agencies.

Other signs are Communist build-ups of trade and diplomatic ties with the Arabs and Red denunciation of Western efforts to build a Middle East defense system.

United States officials who have studied the mounting show of Soviet interest believe that Moscow's policy is to displace the British and the Americans in the Arab states.

Peron's Supporters Protest His Offer to Quit Office

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—President Juan D. Peron of Argentina offered to resign today. The response was mass demonstrations of strength by his followers who insisted that he continue in office.

The president addressed his offer to the Central Confederation of Labor (CCT) and the leadership of his own Peronista party. Both clearly had been primed to receive and reject it.

First word of the message came in a broadcast by Hudo Dipietro, CCT secretary who summoned workers to the Plaza de Mayo in the heart of the capital and to plazas in other cities and towns and instructed them to remain there until the president withdraws his resignation.

Dipietro also called a general stoppage of activities throughout the country for 15 minutes, beginning at 5 p. m. today, excluding all essential public services. But offices, stores and factories began closing down soon after he spoke.

His broadcast was followed by speeches by Alejandro Leloir and Mrs. Della De Peron, presidents of the men's and women's Peronista parties. Both demanded the withdrawal of Peron's offer to step out.

WELL PREPARED

Preparations for the massing of workers in Plaza de Mayo outside the main government offices had been made during the night. Trucks and buses had been assembled to transport the demonstrators from outlying sections. Reinforced guards armed with field guns were placed at government buildings in the neighborhood and police detachments were spotted strategically. Leaflets printed in advance were ready for distribution.

The crowds began to arrive in the plaza soon after Dipietro spoke. Mrs. De Peron, wearing a red and white banner, some hoisted an Argentine flag on the pole in the plaza's centre. Those nearest the government offices chanted "Peron, Peron."

The president arrived at his office in government headquarters on the plaza at his usual early hour. It appeared that he was waiting for the crowd to grow big enough before stepping out on a balcony to address it.

Dipietro warned the workers in his broadcast against violence and outsiders who might infiltrate the gatherings to provoke it.

The broadcast followed a night of wild rumors in the city. One report said the Peronista party and the CCT planned a second "October 17" demonstration as a show of popular strength and desire for the president to remain in power.

(Workers demonstrated Oct. 17, 1946, after Peron, former war and labor minister, was put in prison after an army revolt against his growing popularity with peasants and industrial workers.)

and GM contracts. A new offer aimed at removing other obstacles in the way of settlement was reported made by Chrysler at a session that lasted until midnight Tuesday night.

Ford and GM also gave the union wage increases ranging upwards from six cents an hour, improved pension plans and other benefits. The average wage in the American auto industry was about $2.10 an hour when this round of negotiations began.

As the Chrysler talks pushed on, UAW negotiators sought to end two strikes affecting 60,000 of its members in non-auto plants, and the 24,000 others idle at American Motors Corp.

most immediate purpose is to develop a kind of "neutrality" bloc in that area as between the Soviet Union and the Western powers.

Moscow's long-range purpose, however, is assumed to be the establishment of real Soviet influence in that part of the world.

While Moscow's interest in the Arab countries has been most pronounced, officials here say the Soviet Union has also maintained a friendly show of interest in Israel, and has been permitting some Jews from Russia to emigrate to that country.

The increasing Soviet emphasis on the Middle East has sharpened American concern for stabilizing the area. It was one of the reasons behind Washington's offer last Friday to help in making peace between Israel and the Arab states.

ANGLICAN CHURCH OF CANADA NEW NAME ADOPTED

Approved by Both Houses of Synod

By DAVE OANCIA

Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP)—The Church of England in Canada has changed its name to the Anglican Church of Canada.

The new title was approved Tuesday night by the upper and lower houses of the general synod when they met in joint session here.

The name-change follows 55 years of debate, with both houses voting down an amendment which would have designated the Episcopal Church of Canada as the official title.

The 300 delegates spent more than two hours debating the question of the fixed primatial see referred the question back to the Upper House for further consideration.

The motion finally passed asked that "if possible, submission of a fresh recommendation be made to this synod."

WANTS TORONTO OFFICE

The see, the area over which the primate has jurisdiction, now is Rupert's Land. The present primate, Most Rev. Walter Foster Barfoot, also is metropolitan and bishop of Rupert's Land.

Chancellor R. H. Soward of Toronto sparked debate by initiating a move to have the primatial see office in Toronto. He said he felt the primate should be freed from diocesan duties to give him more time as leader of the church in Canada.

"The primate must not be far from the centre of the church and we have decided to establish church headquarters in Toronto," he said.

Rev. G. N. Luxton of London, Ont., bishop of Huron, said the problem should not be settled on a dollar-and-cents basis and that he disliked the division between east and west on the question.

He said he was not voting against Winnipeg—Archbishop Barfoot's present headquarters—and said that "I have always had it in my heart there should be a Canterbury somewhere in Canada, a place for a pilgrimage, I plead for a permanent solution to this problem even if we have to wait another 20 years for it."

Archbishop Barfoot said he at no time expressed a wish that the fixed primatial see should be part of the diocese of Rupert's Land.

Charge Constable With Arson

MERLIN, Ont. (CP)—Police constable Sidney Sharp, 69, will appear in court here today on an arson charge in connection with the burning of a vacant house here Aug. 19.

The owner of the house, Garnet Fraser of Windsor, estimated minimum damage at $1,000.

Sharp is the only police officer in this town, 15 miles west of Chatham. He has been on night duty for more than nine years.

J. Kendall and C. Goble investigated the case for the Ontario fire marshal's office. Sharp was arrested Tuesday.

Brother Of Slain Man Is Wanted For Questioning

Bodies Found on Farm Near Melville, Sask.

MELVILLE, Sask. (CP)—Five members of one family—including two small children—were found shot to death Tuesday on the Petlock farm at Fenwood, a settlement on the CNR main line 22 miles west of here.

Search for their slayer, believed to be armed and travelling by car, was under way from Winnipeg to Vancouver.

RCMP said the bodies of Mrs. Harry Petlock, 70-year-old widow, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Angeline Petlock, 21, were found buried under dirt leaves and old sacks near a potato pile in the farmyard garden.

Bodies of Mike Petlock, 34—Angeline's husband and the elder Mrs. Petlock's son—and of his two children, Diane, 3, and an infant, were found inside the farmhouse, behind locked doors and drawn blinds.

All five were killed by shots from a gun that investigating officers said probably was a .22-calibre rifle.

Police in the four western provinces were alerted to arrest 36-year-old John Petlock, brother of the slain Mike Petlock. They said when John Henry Schmidt, 31, was in John's disappearance, reported by his wife, that led to discovery of the tragedy at Petlock farm.

"The four-province alert said Petlock is 'probably armed and dangerous,'" RCMP Tuesday night said no motive for the shootings had been uncovered.

First since 1951 The Petlock farm deaths were the first quintuple-slaying in western Canada since April 14, 1951, when John Henry Schmidt, 31, was charged with murdering his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schmidt; their daughters, Mary and Olga; and another son David, on the family farm at Graysville, 50 miles southwest of Winnipeg. Five days after his arrest, Schmidt committed suicide by hanging in Headingley jail outside Winnipeg.

Today the bodies of the five slaying victims were to be brought to Melville. Coroner Dr. O. Millette ordered an inquest but the date was not immediately set.

It was not known precisely when the shootings occurred. Police said the five might have been slain some time Monday.

Covered much ground They said the slayer, if he was trying to flee, might have been hundreds of miles away from Fenwood by the time investigators reached the Petlock property.

Police said it was John Petlock's failure to return to his Fenwood home from a harvesting visit to the family farm that led them to the crime scene.

They quoted John's wife as telling them he left home Monday morning to help with the stocking. When he did not come back Monday night, she and another relative went Tuesday morning to the Petlock farm.

They found the house locked and the windows boarded. Worried, Mrs. Petlock called police. Sgt. Minor and three constables reached the farm Tuesday afternoon and started their investigation.

Roads patrolled Today more than a dozen Mounties from Melville and Yorkton detachments were patrolling roads in the vicinity and manning roadblocks.

But, on the police assumption that the killings occurred between Monday night and noon Tuesday, the hunt was pushed far beyond Fenwood district. The police alert covered all of Saskatchewan, Alberta, British Columbia and Manitoba.

Police said a 1953 - model car seen at the Petlock farm Monday night was missing when they arrived late Tuesday.

Berlin Brewery Sells Champagne, Wants It Back

BERLIN (Reuters)—A Berlin brewery announced today that it had "accidentally" distributed 30 beer bottles filled with champagne and would give each "finder" 50 marks (about $12) and 30 ordinary bottles of beer. The champagne was intended for a brewery celebration and was delivered by mistake.

All GM Plants Will Participate In Strike Votes

OSHAHA (CP)—Seventeen thousand General Motors of Canada employees in Ontario will vote within the next week on whether to strike to back up contract demands.

Members of the United Automobile Workers Union (CIO-CIO) at the big plant here and at GM plants in London, St. Catharines, Windsor and Scarborough will participate in separate votes.

The 10,000 workers here will vote Thursday and Friday. Results likely will be known Monday. The other 7,000 union members are expected to vote next week, a union official said.

The main plant here is the first to enter the strike-vote stage in the protracted negotiations for the guaranteed annual wage and more than 100 other union demands.

The report of a three-man conciliation board was expected to be filed today. Under Ontario law, a union is free to strike seven days after such a report is filed.

DENIES CHARGE

OSHAHA (CP)—James Elmer Webster, 44, of Athens, pleaded not guilty Tuesday on a charge of criminal negligence after a car accident in which one man was killed. Gerald Charbonneau, 31, of Chesherville told police he was driving with one wheel down to the rim, because both the tire and his spare were flat, when Webster's truck hit the car from behind. Webster, 33, also of Chesherville, was killed.

Chairman for the meeting was president Staff McKenna.

BOOM OF POWER
CRANE HITS BRIDGE

Traffic on the College street bridge was held up yesterday when a highway float carrying a power crane failed to get underneath the bridge girders. The power crane and also the bridge sustained damage in the accident.

The eastbound float owned by the H. J. McFarland Construction Company, and driven by B. W. Cross of Pictou was carrying the power crane, the boom of which proved too high for the bridge girders.

Councils of City, Thurlow
Twp. Promise Unofficially
To Relieve Traffic Conditions

After months of inactivity during which time the Bay of Quinte High School Board almost despaired of getting any work done, improvements to College street between the Quinte Secondary School and North Front street appear to be forthcoming.

At least councils of Thurlow township and the city of Belleville have promised unofficially that something will be done to relieve the hazardous traffic condition termed as "intolerable" by high school board chairman Roy Sils. Members of Belleville and Thurlow councils attended a special meeting of the high school board Tuesday evening to discuss the traffic situation on College street which Mr. Sils said was very dangerous for school pupils.

The present road was far too narrow; complaints were being received that children blocked traffic, while on the other hand there were complaints that children were being splashed by cars in wet weather.

School Principal Leslie Reid said the roadway was extremely hazardous. A good wide road, plus a good wide sidewalk was needed.

PLANS TO WIDEN STREET

Council members of both municipalities noted that plans to widen College street had been entertained, but somewhere along the line plans had bogged down before they reached the action stage. Alderman Ralph Graham as member of the works committee noted there had been several meetings between the two municipal bodies, with division of costs for the road widening being gone into.

He said the decision had been that costs should be on a 50 - 50 basis.

Thurlow councillors, however, said this had been but a verbal agreement only, and were waiting for something in writing.

It was generally agreed it was now too late in the year for any major street widening program to be started but city engineer Charles Mott said a six-foot permanent sidewalk could be built on the south side of the street.

City councillors also said an investigation would be made to determine what could be done to improve the city side of the bad corner of College and North Front.

Reeve Cecil Ketcheson of Thurlow said his municipality would try and do something with the north side of the corner to give temporary relief until the street widening program got underway.

Armed Robbery
Suspect Given
Another Remand

MARMORA (Special) — James Orvil Ross, charged with armed robbery in the June 29 holdup of the Toronto - Dominion bank at Marmora, today was remanded for one week here on his own request to secure counsel.

Ross appeared before Magistrate R. C. Jackson.

Crown Attorney R. D. Arnott pointed out to the accused that it would be easily possible for him to obtain legal aid in Belleville.

Ross is believed by police to be one of two bandits who held up the bank and escaped with $5,400. He was arrested by Toronto police July 23.

Police are still searching for the other man involved in the robbery.

Shopping Made Easier
At Canadian Tire

Canadian Tire Corporation for many years have built their business on a cash basis, but to keep pace with modern shopping habits, they have inaugurated their own Credit Budget Plan. The highlights of this plan are that a customer may purchase any merchandise or service over $20, with no down payment and weekly payments as low as $1.

On accepted accounts there is no waiting, immediate delivery of any goods can be secured. Under this new scheme there is no outside interviews or references required.

As in all of Canadian Tire Corporation activities, they have been successful in setting up this plan with a minimum cost to the consumer. Carrying charges are much below most other companies.

Obituary

MISS M.M. RICHARDSON
(Prescott—Belleville)

Miss M. M. Richardson, CPR telegraph agent in Belleville before her retirement, 25 years ago, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. Keeler, Prescott, on Saturday last. She was buried in Prescott cemetery on Monday and many of her old friends in the city came to the funeral.

Miss Richardson was well known and highly respected by a wide circle of friends, when she was a resident in this community. She held the post of CPR telegraph agent in this city for 46 years.

MICHAEL JOSEPH FAHEY
(Marysville)

A well-known and highly respected resident of Marysville, Michael Joseph Fahey, ill for many years, died in hospital at Kingston early this Wednesday morning.

He was born at Garden Island, 68 years ago, being the son of the late John Fahey and Hannah Rosch. He was educated in his native township and then attended Reginald College in Kingston and entering Queen's University but left that institution to open a store in Marysville, which he operated for a number of years. He enjoyed a wide circle of friends through his connection with the store, who will sincerely regret his death.

The late Mr. Fahey was a member of Holy Name of Mary church at Marysville, and was a member of the Holy Name Society. Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. J. W. (Joanne) Fyfe of Sudbury; one son, Harold V. Fahey of Belleville; four sisters, Mrs. James (Ann) Shaughnessy of Toledo, Ohio; Miss Mary Fahey of Lindsay; Mrs. T. V. (Rose) Scanlon of this city; Mrs. T. L. (Helen) Kavanagh of Lindsay, and one brother, James V. Fahey of Marysville.

His wife, the former Stella O'Sullivan, died some years ago. Resting at the Funeral Residence of George F. O'Brien. The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this edition.

PETER GORDON
LEATHERLAND
(Batawa)

The funeral of Peter Gordon Leatherland, 24, Batawa, Ontario, killed instantly August 23, at Frankford when a car struck his motorcycle, was held August 28, at the home of his mother, Mrs. M. H. C. Secker, Stirling, Interment was in Frankford cemetery.

The bearers were Frank Watson, Eric Watson, Ray Hill, Sam Burnette, Frank Markvart and Fred Carpenter.

MRS. MARY McELLIOTT
(Frankford)

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary McElliot, Frankford, who died in Belleville General Hospital, August 26, were held Tuesday at the Bourgie Funeral Home, Lachine, Que.

Interment in the Catholic cemetery took place following Requiem Mass.

In her 73rd year, Mrs. McElliot was ill for six months. She lived at her birthplace in Lachine before moving to Frankford nine years ago. She was an active member of Catholic Women's League of which she was a past president.

Mrs. McElliot was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Octave Meloche. Her husband, James, predeceased her. She is survived by two sons, Edward of Kirkland Lake, and Emile of St. Johns, Que., and one daughter, Mrs. Jack (Maimie) Rouse, Frankford.

Funeral arrangements were under the direction of Raymond Rowe Funeral Home, Frankford.

LILBURN VICTOR COWLING
(Wooler)

Funeral services for Lilburn Victor Cowling, R.R. 1, Wooler, who died in Trenton Memorial Hospital, August 26th, were held Monday at his late residence.

The Rev. K. Smith, Wooler United church, officiated at the service. Interment was in Stockdale cemetery.

The bearers were William McKee, Harold Haggerty, Douglas Brown, Karl Austin, Nell Nelson and Carman Richards.

In his 47th year, Mr. Cowling died suddenly. Born in Toronto, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Victor Cowling, he had also resided in Napanee before moving to Wooler. He was a butcher and car salesman by trade.

Besides his wife, the former Doris McColl, he is survived by one son, John Lilburn, at home; one brother, Venerley Cowling of Napanee; and one sister, Mrs. George (Dorothy) Van Koughnet, Montreal.

Funeral arrangements were under the direction of Raymond Rowe Funeral Home, Frankford.

Public School Enrolment
Up 75 Pupils Over Last Year;
19 New Teachers Engaged

With "Back to School" being the order of the day for next Tuesday, an estimated 2,825 pupils are expected to be enrolled in Belleville public schools, it was stated today by public schools administrator L. A. Kells.

The estimated enrolment at school opening is about 75 above the number of pupils attending public schools last June.

Nineteen new teachers will head classrooms in the various public schools this year. Fifteen of these are replacements for teachers who retired from the staff at the end of June. There are four additional staff members this year. Two of the additional staff members were necessary because of the increased enrolment and there are two additional instructors for special subjects—one for home economics and one for industrial arts and crafts.

USE THREE ROOMS

Three rooms of the new six-room addition to Sir Winston Churchill school will be put into use at the beginning of the new school term; two as accommodation for additional enrolment and the third will release the staff room at Queen Victoria school, which was in use as a classroom during the past year.

Mr. Kells noted with a further extension of the board's policy to centralize the intermediate division at the Queen Mary and Queen Alexandra schools to organize so-called senior schools, there will be a change in the location of the centres for home economics and industrial arts and crafts.

The centre for industrial arts and crafts at Queen Victoria school will be transferred to Queen Alexandra where a new home economics will be established. Mr. Henry Fuller and Mrs. Edna Emery will teach these classes.

ADDITIONAL CLASS

An additional industrial arts and crafts class will be at the Queen Mary School and Mr. D. A. Julian and Mrs. Dorothy Phillips will be in charge of the special work in this building.

New staff members with the Belleville public school board include the following:

King George School: Miss Lola Emerson from South Thurlow Township School Area; Miss Lillian Bassett from the Peterborough Teachers' College; Miss Ruth Harris from the Peterborough Teachers' College; Mrs. Nellie Lockyer S.S. No. 5 Thurlow.

Prince Charles School: Mr. Lawrence Moore from a Peterborough Teachers' College.

Queen Alexandra School: Miss Dorothy McCoy from S.S. No. 4 Ameliasburg; Miss A. Gillespie, B.A., of Kitchener Schools; Mr. Donald Lockyer from S.S. No. 5 Thurlow; Mrs. Thelma Spafford from S.S. No. 7 Sidney; Mr. D. A. Julian from Mitcham, Surrey, England.

Queen Elizabeth School: Mrs. Barbara Campbell from South Thurlow Township Area; Mr. Robert Marner from Union S.S. Nos. 2 and 5, Huntingdon.

Queen Mary School: Mr. Robert Moorcroft from S.S. No. 4 Seymour; Mr. Henry Fuller from Toronto.

Queen Victoria School: Miss Sylvia Dickie from Peterborough Teachers' College; Mr. Ronald Green from Peterborough Teachers' College.

Sir Winston Churchill School: Miss Maribeth Bristol from S.S. No. 7 Sidney; Miss Erma Burrows from Peterborough Teachers' College; Miss Grace Preston from Peterborough Teachers' College.

Fatally Injured
While Working On New Hospital

Wilfred Gordon Bartley, 24, of 280 1-2 Front St., suffered fatal injuries Tuesday afternoon, when an elevator load of bricks fell on him as he was working on a chimney construction project at the Belleville General Hospital.

Bartley was admitted to hospital where he died early today. A preliminary inquest was held this morning before Coroner Dr. R. W. Tennent and was adjourned to Tuesday evening, Sept. 6.

Bartley was employed by Taylor Engineering, which had the contract for the construction of the new hospital chimney. He was standing beneath an elevator carrying bricks up when something gave way and the load consisting of 13 large bricks fell on him.

The late Mr. Bartley was born in Minden, 23 years ago, being the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bartley and has resided in this city for the past six weeks. He formerly resided at Lindsay.

He was a member of the Anglican church and is survived by his wife, the former Jean Copeland, one daughter, Diana, age 14 months, one son, Roger Gordon, age 10 days, four sisters, Mrs. Kenneth (May) Copeland of Lindsay; Mrs. Rodney (Jean) Green of Shannville; Miss Lillian Barbara and Miss Darlene Bartley at home and four brothers, Robert J., Melville Joseph, Roland James and Albert Bartley, all of this city.

Quinte, Oshawa
Radio Clubs
Hold Picnic

Members of the Quinte Amateur Radio Club together with members of the Oshawa Radio Club and their families held an enjoyable picnic Sunday afternoon at Cobourg beach. The picnic was attended by about 75 persons.

Guests were present from Toronto, Peterborough, Kingston, Weston and other points.

Free ice cream and cakes were handed out to the kiddies present, while a host of prizes were won in various contests.

But the radio amateurs have their own idea of fun and it followed along the lines of their particular hobby. The big feature was the hidden transmitter hunt with mobile radios being used in the hunt. The club's motor generator power source was set up for use in the park.

Queen Victoria School: Miss Sylvia Dickie from Peterborough Teachers' College; Mr. Ronald Green from Peterborough Teachers' College.

Sir Winston Churchill School: Miss Maribeth Bristol from S.S. No. 7 Sidney; Miss Erma Burrows from Peterborough Teachers' College; Miss Grace Preston from Peterborough Teachers' College.

Queen Elizabeth School: Mrs. Barbara Campbell from South Thurlow Township Area; Mr. Robert Marner from Union S.S. Nos. 2 and 5, Huntingdon.

Queen Mary School: Mr. Robert Moorcroft from S.S. No. 4 Seymour; Mr. Henry Fuller from Toronto.

Meanest Man Steals Puppy
From Young Boy

A young Pinnacle street boy is sobbing plenty of tears today and all because of a person who might well be termed the world's meanest man.

The lad was sent on an errand to the Dundas street bus terminal and took his three-month-old German Shepherd puppy along with him. He left the puppy outside the door and when he came out the pet was missing.

By-standers said a man had picked up the puppy, placed him in a car and drove away.

West Virginian
Tours Ontario
In 1924 Dodge

A 1924 Dodge was seen in Belleville, a couple of days ahead of the "season." Contrary to what many viewers might have thought the car was not a trail-breaker for the Glidden tour which will pass through here today.

Although a member of the Antique Automobile Club, the owner, Mr. T. Payne, Fairmont, West Virginia, will not be taking part in this year's tour because he did not register in time. However, he plans to enter it next year.

Mr. Payne's car, with its running boards laden with suitcases and boxes, presented a curious sight to passersby while it was parked on Front Street yesterday. Mr. Payne and his family left home Friday evening to do some touring of their own. Since then, they have driven 60 miles, taking in Niagara Falls, Toronto and other points of interest.

Belleville, they left for the Thousand Islands and Watertown, New York. Before returning home on Labor Day the family expects to include Athens, Ohio, and Kentucky in its tour, bringing the total mileage for the trip to 1,500 miles.

Mr. Payne was in Washington, D.C., last spring when his car was among those on display for the Old Dominion Meet. Besides the 1924 Dodge, he also owns a 1925 Willys Knight and a 1919 Dodge. The Willys Knight is in running order. It is the car he plans to enter in the tour next year. The family also has a 1953 Plymouth, which remained at home.

The car they are using at the present time has been driven over 8,000 miles since Mr. Payne acquired it a year ago. He said it requires little more upkeep than any other car. It averages 35 mph although it can gather speed up to 60 mph.

His interest in antique cars, Mr. Payne related, began after he attended car shows which displayed the old timers. Many of his friends also own them.

Private Eye Carver Sends Report From Behind the Hospital Curtain

(The whittler of Chips on the sports page year round, George H. Carver, supposedly off on vacation, came down with an attack of the malades last week. His inside report from the hospital front groves that while health may be impaired his humor is intact.)

By GEORGE H. CARVER

Hospitals ain't what they're cracked up to be. In fact, you have to be cracked up to get in and if they put you in the pay ward you are cracked before you get out.

They have nurses, internes, orderlies, supervisors, dietitians and maids in hospitals. If you search carefully you might find a doctor or a cook. The cook is the one with the tall white hat.

In some hospitals doctors wear long white coats. I met one in a hospital the other day. He was walking along a corridor carrying a small black bag. Now that is something like a bus driver on vacation carrying a coin box on a crowded train.

"Forget your tools, doc?" I quipped.

"Tools, heck," he snorted, "I'm a barber."

The cooks have an easy time, too. In one hospital there were, say, 600 patients. For breakfast they had a boiled egg, a slice of toast and a pot of tea. For lunch a potato, some peas, a slice of meat. Supper was large hunk of melon, bread, some lettuce and tea. They said it was a diet to bring down my weight. If that's the case they had me training for the cockroach championship of Zwick's Island.

LIGHT BREAKFAST

Now what's tough about rounding up meals like these? In the morning all the chef had to do was to bingo ball 600 eggs in a boiler, spread 600 slices of bread in the sunshine and gargle a few pounds of tea in another wash tub.

Shucks, that would make a World War I cook go green with envy. Those swaddies could ring out fried bacon, grease bread, plum duff and a mystery soup called tea to 1,500 troops, and by playing house-house before the bugles blew "Fall in" for the morning parade.

Now take the internes. I took two. There are plenty left. They were nice boys but hardly consistent. They duelled happily in a marina solo on my left patella, and jolly old interne No. 1 got the biggest kick out of it. Between them they almost wrecked the joint.

They pushed pin-point lights in my eyes. They inserted illuminated gadgets in my ears. I had more headlights than a new Caddy and would have started at the top of a Christmas tree. They did a silent movie on my tonsils with a spatula.

la. I did the commentary, "Ah!"

There were two retakes.

They wrapped something around my arm and started playing with what looked like an old Klaxon horn. It wheezed and made funny noises. The internes nodded at each other. I knew the pressure was on. But I wouldn't talk. I couldn't see the speedometer clearly but after the fifth squeeze play the game was called, one down and two up.

The nurses? Ah, brother, the flukes in this Heal Hacienda paddock would make Diamond Jim Brady reverse his subterranean position.

I had not been incarcerated a minute when a white-capped, reasonable facsimile of Marilyn Monroe tripped into the room. I stared at her open-mouthed.

"Relax," she dimpled. "I'm no doctor. I don't want to see your tonsils. Your face is bad enough."

"Here," she said, handing me a small jar.

"How come?" I asked.

"You have to cough up," she said.

REACHED FOR WALLET

I reached for my wallet. She dazzled me with a smile.

have had the orderly do it. I would have been "fired on the spot."

"Now," said the comely X-ray technician, who had me spread-eagled in front of what looked to be first prize in the $64,000 question program "take a deep breath. Hooooooid it."

I did. But the elastic in my pyjama tops refused to co-operate. I stood at half staff for a second, crimson of face. But it was O.K. The tech was interested in a picture that was tops, not bottoms.

For having a sense of humor the internes win the baubles. They "needled" me something terrific with syringes on the stern end of the needles. It seemed they extracted "quarts" of red corpuscles from an arm. However, they used the same spot each time, and in case another blood-hungry varlet came gore-seeking, they taped the hole. On the tape they marked "gusher". Three other internes have since staked claims.

A few more needles and that arm would make a beautiful putting green for the Mosquito Golf and Country Club.

MANY SURPRISES

A hospital is full of surprises, too. The first morning I pushed a gadget that rang a bell or lighted a light, expecting to see a Florence Nightingale version of Lana Turner or Marilyn Monroe poke a pretty head in the door.

Instead, I drew a blank. The blank was Gorilla Joe, an orderly who murmured gently, "Want sumpin', bub?"

I didn't, at the moment.

Another big surprise comes at mealtimes. Hospitals serve meals like the old con man with the three shells and a pea. You guess which cover hides the entree. It's good sport for a few seconds until you expose the whole meal. Then you find you have no entree. No even an exit. If you are on a diet, that pile of lettuce acting as protection from aerial attack on a rasher of melon is the entree.

Yup hospitals are a vital necessity to our way of living. In fact, you can die in 'em, too. In fact, many people are dying to get in if only to get some return on their hospitalization plans.

They're mighty handy, useful places to have around. Why, even guys my age, while not expecting a return to youth, discover on concluding a hospital session, that they have developed a yearn for the nurse.

Free Press Says Permit System Will Be 'Out'

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Free Press says the permit system which now governs sale of liquor in Manitoba will be abolished as a result of the Manitoba liquor inquiry commission, headed by former premier John Bracken.

This means that probably starting next year all Manitobans over 21 will be able to purchase liquor freely at government stores without first obtaining the $1 annual permit, the newspaper says. The report now is in the final stages of preparation and will be presented to the provincial government within the next two weeks.

Ontario's liquor board chairman, W. H. Collings, said in Toronto the Bracken Commission report will be carefully studied by the board.

Liquor permits in Ontario cost $1 and more than 1,000,000 are sold annually. If Ontario were to follow the Manitoba proposal would be a problem of about 200 employees now engaged marking the permits, Mr. Col-said.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

BUT YOU ARE CHASING HIM, AREN'T YOU?

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:
My boy friend and I have just broken up, and I am very upset about it. We went steady for four months. He is 21 and I am 20. How can I get him back without chasing him? I know he still likes me, but not as much as he used to. When I go to visit his aunt, who is the same age I am, I see him there, but he thinks I only come down to see him.

I like him too much to see anyone else get him, so please help me. — Pat

Dear Pat:
You don't tell me why you and your boy friend broke up, but it sounds to me as though he might have been the one who precipitated the breaking-up because he had just lost interest in continuing to go steady. Is that right?

And isn't it right too that when you go to see this chap's aunt, you do go, as you feel he suspects, through the hope of seeing him? It seems to me you'd be much smarter to stay away from the aunt's house, or from any other place you might go purely because of this hope. You don't get a boy back by showing him plainly that you want him back. If he's going to come back at all, he'll do it because you look more attractive and more interesting from a distance than he had thought you were. So he comes back to see if maybe he made a mistake.

What this means is that, instead of spending your time trying to think up ways to get him interested again, you'll spend your time going busily about other things and really have fun doing them. For the girl who is sincerely having fun just naturally attracts other people. And sometimes among those she attracts, who suddenly turns up but the old boy friend? Maybe he does, and maybe he doesn't, but if he doesn't, somebody else will who might turn out to be a much better choice of boy friend than the first one.

Why not give this a real try and prove it for yourself?

YOU SHOULD REFUSE TO VISIT ANY MORE BARS WITH THIS MAN

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:
I have been a widow for two years and, like all widows I guess, have been terribly lonesome. So for several months now, I have been going out with an unmarried man who was a friend of my husband's and who used to come to our home a lot when my husband was alive.

He is a fine man and I enjoy being with him except for one thing. That is, when we go out he likes to wind up the evening in a bar, and after he has had a couple of drinks he is apt to get very loud and boisterous. That's embarrassing enough, but I am really mortified, because at once into sterile dry

Grace is from Nova Scotia where they are justly proud of their apple crop. When I walked into her kitchen and saw a row of jars of rosy apple jelly I asked Did you make it without pectin Grace? Oh no, Mary, I'm not that good. I wanted to be sure to have apple jelly—not apple syrup.

There are experienced cooks among you who know how to make jelly without added pectin, but to be sure your jelly will jell, I am giving you the pectin method. Thus you will not have to worry or guess—just follow directions—being sure measurements and timing are exactly according to the rules:

APPLE JELLY

(With apple-butter by-product)
Wash 4 lbs. apples—using preferably apples that are tart but fully ripened. Remove blossom and stem ends. Do not pare or core but do cut into eighths. Add 6 1-2 cups water and bring to boil and simmer, covered, for 10 minutes. Crush with the masher and simmer, covered, 5 minutes longer. Place in large sieve lined with a double thickness of cheesecloth. Allow to drain into a very large saucepan. Measure 5 cups. (See directions below for making the pulp in sieve into apple butter.)

To the 5 cups clear apple juice add 7 1-2 cups (3 1-4 lbs.) granulated sugar in the large saucepan. Bring to a boil over high heat, stirring constantly. At once stir in 1-2 bottle liquid fruit pectin. Then bring to the well-known 'full rolling boil', boil hard for 1 minute, stirring all the time. Remove from heat, skim off foam with a metal spoon, and glasses. Cover at once with 1-8 to be seen with him when he starts making wisecracks to other women there, as he does sometimes.

Perhaps I am foolish to mind so much, but I would like to know what you think about it. — Mrs. L. W.

Dear Mrs. L.W.:
Of course you're not foolish to be embarrassed by any such behavior. What real lady wouldn't be? Moreover, I think that if this man were a real gentleman, he would hardly act that way.

If you wish to continue seeing him—and if he really cares about seeing you—then I'd suggest that you tell him you'd prefer not to visit any bars. If he cares enough for you, he'll respect your wishes, and if he doesn't respect them, then he doesn't care enough about you, and you'd do better to put an end to going out with him.

There are plenty of other ways to combat loneliness than subjecting yourself to embarrassment just for the sake of going out with a man.

Did It Jell?

inch coating of hot new paraffin, adding a second coating when jelly cools. Cover with saran wrap or lids that fit and store in cool place.

APPLE BUTTER

(Using pulp from making Apple Jelly above.)
Tip the leftover fruit pulp out of cheesecloth bag directly into sieve and force it through sieve and measure 5 cups into very large saucepan. Stir into it 7 1-2 cups sugar (3 1-4 lbs.) and 1-2 teaspoon ascorbic acid and 1 teaspoon cinnamon. Place over high heat, stir constantly and bring to full rolling boil and boil hard for 1 minute. Remove from heat and at once stir in liquid fruit pectin—1-2 bottle. Skim off scum with metal spoon. Ladle quickly into sterile dry glasses. Cover at once with hot new liquid paraffin, adding second coating when butter cools.

The following recipe for Peach Marmalade is a great favorite and makes about 11 medium-sized glasses.

GOLDEN PEACH MARMALADE

About 2 lbs. fully ripe peaches, 1 orange, 2 lemons, 7 cups (3 lbs.) granulated sugar, 1-2 bottle liquid fruit pectin.

Cut the 1 orange and 1 of the lemons into quarters after washing them. Remove seeds, chop finely or grind or slice water thin. From the second lemon squeeze the juice and measure 2 tablespoons. Add it to the chopped fruit. Add also 1 cup water and put on to simmer, covered for 20 minutes. Peel and pit 2 lbs. ripe peaches, chop finely and combine with the chopped orange and lemon—you should have 4 1-2 cups of the combined fruits in a large saucepan. Add the 7 cups sugar, stir well, place over high heat, bring to full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and at once stir in the 1-2 bottle liquid fruit pectin. Skim off foam then stir and skim by turns for 7 minutes to cool it slightly and prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into sterile glasses. Cover at once with coating hot paraffin. Add second coating when cool, then cover.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

INVITATIONS TO FAR-AWAY RELATIVES AND FRIENDS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:
I'm completely perplexed about whether to send invitations or announcements for our coming wedding. Which do you advise me to have, since so many of the family and relatives and friends of his and mine live at a distance too far to make it possible for them to come to our wedding? If you should advise me to order invitations only, would it really be proper for me to send them not only to members of the families and relatives, but also to friends who live at a distance?

— M.
The only thing it is proper but it is the gracious gesture to send wedding invitations to members of both families, relatives and friends who live at a distance. Of course, you know that the chances are that they will not be able to come, but naturally you want them to know that you both are sending them the devoted message "we would so very much like to have you with us at our wedding, if only it were possible for you to come." It is logical that those close in relationship or friendship to the prospective bride or groom want to be informed that the wedding is to take place, and the details about it. Invitations do this. Announcements are sent after the ceremony has taken place, and so they do not carry the personal message that invitations do.

THE CASE OF THE NOT-MAILED THANK-YOU NOTE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:
Is my face red? Two months ago certainly changed about such "fin-

I received through the mail a very lovely birthday present from a friend. I wrote her a most appreciative thank-you letter. Shortly after I went away on quite an extended vacation trip, and yesterday when I returned and was going through some things in my desk—and behold there was the letter, ready for mailing but never mailed. She too has been away and so had not had an opportunity of asking me if I had received the present. What do you suggest I do? Should I do nothing about my letter, and explain to her when she returns? — Anne R.

The wisest thing to do is for you to write to your friend, enclose the letter you had written before, explain what happened and how deeply sorry you are, ask her understanding, tell her again what happened, her birthday present to you has given you, and say you're looking forward to having a date with her when this vacation-time is over.

BRIDE-TO-BE WANTS TO SHARE FINANCIALLY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:
Our engagement was announced several months ago—we are to be married about the end of this year—the small ranch house we have bought from plans will then be finished, and we are planning to buy some furniture right away. Bill has finished his service, has returned to his former position with a quite good salary, and I have a good salary and have been able to save a little money. I want to contribute to help him buy the furniture, but my mother (my father is dead) is set against my doing this, says it just isn't the proper thing for me to do, and that my fiancé shouldn't let me do it. Is my plan really so "incorrect"? — J.W.
No... not today! Times have

Mrs. Hellman will spend six months at the unique university completely detached, she says, from the material aspects of life. There is no charge for instruction, books or living accommodations.

She first became interested in yoga in Europe, where she studied Oriental dancing with a Hindu couple. When the routines weakened her health, they suggested yoga exercises which led to complete recovery.

Secrecy Curtain Surrounds Tour Of Russians

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

REGINA (CP) — Federal officials, apparently manoeuvring to sidestep further meetings with anti-Communist demonstrators, have drawn a curtain of secrecy on future movements of the touring Russian farm experts.

They have announced only that the Soviet representatives, ending a three-day visit of the Regina area, will move on by plane today to Swift Current, 150 miles west, instead of visiting Saskatoon as originally planned.

The change was made at the request of Vladimir Matskevich, Soviet delegation leader, who asked to see the big Matador co-operative farm near Swift Current, officials said.

But they would not estimate the time the two federal planes being used for the Swift Current trip will leave on the eastward journey to Winnipeg and the southern Ontario fruit belt.

Even the plane crews have been kept in the dark. They said they had been given no idea when they would take off from Swift Current.

Federal officials have left no doubt they are concerned over reports that anti-Red groups of Ukrainian and Polish Canadians are planning an airport demonstration at Winnipeg. They recall with some embarrassment the anti-Red outburst at Montreal when the nine Russian experts arrived for their 16-day Canadian tour last Thursday.

It appears likely the Soviet delegation will be taken to Winnipeg, but without any prior announcement of an arrival time.

The delegation also was scheduled to arrive at Windsor, Ont., Sept. 2, but it appears now it may be diverted possibly to London, Ont., again to avoid the embarrassment of an anti-Communist outburst.

OLD PROFESSION PROFITABLE (AP) — The Singapore Sunday Standard says British military and civil police and anti-vice authorities have combined forces to stamp out a call - girl racket called "the biggest money-making racket east of Suez." The newspaper says 50 British women, some of them wives of British servicemen who have no other source of income except their husband's small pay, are on a list compiled by authorities of good-time girls who get up to £6 for their services.

MARMORA

Local Contingent Scouts, Cubs, Enjoy Jamboree

MARMORA. — 1st Marmora Group of Boy Scouts spent two days at the 8th World Jamboree at Niagara Falls, last week. Twenty-seven Scouts under Scoutmaster Bob Sweet, four Cubs under Cubmaster Alex Fraser, Messrs. Len Begley and Geoff Paget of the group committee, and Mr. and Mrs. George Osborne representing the parents, made up the local contingent at St. Catharines.

A hike was made at the Lincoln Park Community Centre, where the boys spent the night. In their patrols at the camp at Niagara Falls, the boys visited many of the contingents and saw a variety of Scouts in multi-colored uniforms. The Arab boys from Lebanon in their flowing white head-dresses, appealed to them as the most picturesque.

The most popular camp was that of the Nova Scotian contingent. They found the evening highlight of the day. Scouts from Germany, Israel, Armenia, Belgium, Mexico, Peru and the United States, in turn gave demonstrations ever to be remembered.

British Unions Accept Offer By Publishers

LONDON (Reuters) — Six British newspaper unions have accepted a new wage offer by London publishers bringing hope that future strife in the industry will be averted.

The negotiations are a direct result of a strike by 700 maintenance men and electricians last April which halted production for 26 days of all Britain's national morning and Sunday newspapers and London's evening papers.

The offer accepted Tues. by the six unions, which include the mechanics and electricians unions, is a 12½-per-cent increase on last October's wage levels retroactive to June 12.

A seventh union, the National Union of Journalists, has not yet reached a decision.

Disarmament Delegates Meet UN Secretary

By RUSSELL ELMAN

Canadian Press Staff Writer UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Activity outside the conference room in the current disarmament talks increased today as delegates of the Big Four powers and Canada scheduled a meeting with United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld.

The secretary-general joins the members of the five-power UN disarmament sub-committee to discuss the progress they have made in the first two days of the resumed meetings, ordered by the Big Four chiefs at Geneva last month.

Attending the luncheon will be Canadian Health Minister Paul Martin; Jules Moch, French special envoy; Anthony Nutting, British minister of state; Harold Stassen, U.S. presidential adviser on disarmament; and Arkady A. Sobolev, permanent Soviet delegate to the UN.

The talks with Hammarskjöld reflect once more the friendly spirit shown between East and West since Geneva. At previous disarmament conferences get-togethers between opposing sides were rare and usually stern affairs.

Chief topic of discussion undoubtedly will be Tuesday's proposal by Stassen for an arms inspection agreement to provide against surprise attack between the U.S. and the Soviet Union—combining President Eisenhower's Geneva plan with a key feature of the Russian disarmament proposal. Stassen outlined in detail a plan for mutual aerial inspection and exchange of military blueprints along with ground observers to be posted at "key points." The establishment of inspectors at key communication points was a principal item in the Russian plan, first proposed in London May 10, repeated by Premier Bulganin at Geneva and again Monday by Sobolev.

In the past the Soviet proposal has been unacceptable to the West because it lacked adequate safeguards to ensure enforcement of the inspection controls.

CANADA IMPRESSED

Martin said that Canada was "specially impressed" with the U.S. proposals. In the last few days he and Stassen have held several private meetings.

The Canadian role in the conference is still not clear but it is thought possible that Canada may play a similar part to last year, when it was largely through Canadian mediation that East and West agreed to resume disarmament talks.

Auto Accident Restores Sight To Blind Man

RIVERHEAD, N. Y. (AP)—William Francis thanked God Tuesday for the auto accident he was in—it brought back the previous gift of sight to him after 10 years of darkness.

"I'm so happy I'm almost crazy," Francis said at his newsstand in the Suffolk county courthouse.

Francis, 61, injured during the First World War, went blind 10 years ago.

On Saturday Francis was riding in a car which was rammed from behind when stopped for a red light. Francis' head was thrown against the windshield.

"I felt as if something went into my left eye," he said. "I began to see out of it Saturday night in Mather Hospital."

Holding of Strike Vote Authorized By 400 Workers

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—More than 400 employees of General Motors Diesel Limited Tuesday night voted unanimously to authorize holding a strike vote in the contract dispute between the United Auto Workers (CIO-CCL) and General Motors.

The meeting drew approximately 95 per cent of the day-shift union members of the plant. A meeting of night-shift workers will be held today. Union officials said they expect a similar strike vote authorization.

Decision on whether or not to call for a strike vote at the plant and at other General Motors subsidiaries in Toronto, Windsor and St. Catharines will hinge on a meeting Friday of the UAW's Canadian General Motors council in Toronto.

Fourth Bumper Wheat Crop In Five Years Has Added New Problems for Officials

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian wheat producers this year can expect to harvest their fourth bumper crop in five years, an estimated 500,000,000 bushels if the weather holds good.

The prospect has added new problems for Canadian officials charged with selling this country's tremendous wheat stocks on a crowded world market.

The wheat forecast by the bureau of statistics Tuesday was 67 per cent above last year's rust-ravaged crop of 299,000,000 bushels and well above the 10-year average of 443,800,000.

The bureau's report, based on mid-August reports from field men, also estimated near-record crops of barley and flaxseed and above-average acreage yields for most old crops.

LIE BEHIND SLOWDOWN

Biggest lie in the wheat forecast was the 478,000,000 bushels estimated as coming from the Prairies, which yielded 272,000,000 last year.

This year's anticipated crop compares with the record 688,800,000 bushels in 1953 which topped off a three-year run of bonanza harvests. It comes on top of the 481,363,000-bushels carryover—third largest in history—with which Canada entered the 1955-56 crop year last Aug. 1.

Those facts lie behind current reports of a slowdown in grain movements, crowded grain elevators and layoffs of rail employees and grain handlers at the lakehead.

PROBLEM, NOT CRISIS

One trade official here said Canada faces a stiffer problem but not a crisis in marketing wheat on world markets already well

Jail Governor Denies Charges Of Prisoners

OTTAWA (CP) — Penitentiary prisoners have told the Canadian Bar Association that prisoners awaiting trial in Toronto's Don Jail are beaten unmercifully because they will not confess.

The charge was included in a submission made Tuesday by the editorial board of The Telescope, the Kingston, Ont., penitentiary's monthly magazine, to the association's criminal law section.

The submission said: "In some cases persons awaiting trial in the Don Jail are taken to detective headquarters and beaten unmercifully because they will not confess. There should be an onus on the crown to see that prisoners are not rubber-hosed or beaten so they will confess."

In Toronto, Col. H. R. Patterson, governor of Toronto's Don Jail, denied that prisoners are taken to Toronto police headquarters and beaten into confessing crimes.

Col. Patterson said prisoners recommended to the Don Jail are not taken from the jail except when they are to appear in court or in a line-up for identification purposes at police headquarters.

He said he has never had a complaint from a prisoner that he was beaten at headquarters.

Legal Position of Papers Involved in Libel, Slander Suits Will Be Studied

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Bar Association Tuesday charged its incoming executive with making a more intense study to clarify the legal position of newspapers involved in libel and slander suits.

The 200-man executive committee received a report from its "press privileges" committee recommending that its study of newspapers' liability be continued and recommending the problems to study.

Ronald Merriam, CBA secretary, said the new executive to be elected Saturday at the end of the week-long meet, will appoint a new committee to continue the investigation in further detail.

The study was begun by a committee headed by Paul P. Hutchison of Montreal after the CBA executive's March meeting at Montebello, Que.

As problems that should be studied the report mentioned "libel and slander actions against members of the press arising from publications."

"NEEDS SCRUTINY"

Another problem was the obligation of newspapers to disclose sources of information when sued for libel.

Cecil W. Robinson of Hamilton, a member of Mr. Hutchison's committee, said the study "will be pursued with special reference to the restriction on the right of the public to have full knowledge of and access to the administration of justice."

When the press is barred from the courts "the situation needs scrutiny," Mr. Robinson said in an interview. "It may be a possible interference with the right of the man on the street to be aware of how justice is being handled."

The report says the committee "is not prepared at this stage nor without a greater study than has been possible since its appointment, to suggest that the federal laws and those applicable in the various provinces of Canada require clarification and amendment."

The report says various of these problems and difficulties of the press "may apply equally to radio and television broadcasters."

ACCEPT DONATIONS

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Red Cross announced Tuesday it will accept donations to a fund to aid flood victims in the United States. Donations made through the Canadian Red Cross will be forwarded to the American National Red Cross in Washington.

Sam Snead's Golf School

This might be a good time to review the various stances briefly.

In the illustration you see first the square stance. This is with the feet parallel to the line of flight. It's the conventional stance for most wood shots and long irons.

The second one pictured is the closed stance with the right foot drawn back somewhat from the line of intended flight. The last is an open stance in which the left foot is pulled back from the direction line.

Many good golfers play all wood shots and long irons with a slightly closed stance. The reason for this in general is to obtain a slight draw to their shots. Of course, if an intentional hook is desired this is obtained by taking an exaggerated closed stance and shifting the grip a little right on the shaft.

A slightly open stance is used on most short iron shots. The reason for this is to allow the hands and arms to come through the shot properly, even though there isn't much body turn on it.

If an intentional slice is desired on a wood or long iron shot this is obtained by opening the stance, playing the ball further forward, and shifting the grip to the left on the shaft.

SPORT IN BRIEF

CAIRO SEEKS OLYMPICS

CAIRO (AP)—A $7,000,000 stadium will be built in Cairo in the hope that 1964's Olympic Games will be held in Egypt. The stadium and its adjoining Olympic city will cover 150 acres. It will be constructed by Werner Marsch, German engineer who built the famous Berlin Stadium.

GOAL JUDGE DIES

MONTREAL (CP)—Charles Edouard (Eddie) Charron, 53, the oldest goal judge in length of service in the National Hockey League, died in hospital here Tuesday. He had been ill for two months. Mr. Charron had served 23 years as a goal judge at the Montreal Forum.

Giambra's Fine Showing With Olson Rewarded

NEW YORK (AP)—Soldier Joey Giambra's fine showing in his non-title fight with middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson has moved the former contender from Buffalo, N. Y., back into the middleweight picture.

The 24-year-old fighter was ranked as the fourth contender until he went into the army, but was dropped from the ratings while he was inactive. Now he has been restored to a No. 8 berth for his strong but losing effort against Olson last Friday night.

Several other shifts have been made in the middleweight division and other minor ones in other classes in the latest rankings released today by Ring magazine, the boxing monthly.

Gene (Cyclone) Fullmer of Utah was advanced to fifth and Milo Savage, also of Utah, raised to seventh among the 160-pounders.

EARL WALLS SIXTH
Nino Valdes' loss to light heavyweight Bob Satterfield dropped the big Cuban from fifth to seventh among the heavyweights. Ezzard Charles, the former heavyweight king, advanced from sixth to fifth, behind Don Cockell of England.

In the welterweight ranks, former champion Johnny Saxton dropped from second to third, exchanging positions with Ramon Fuentes of Los Angeles.

Earl Walls of Edmonton, only Canadian listed in the ratings, remains in sixth place in the heavyweight ranks behind Charles.

Swiss Grandma 'Ready to Go' In Lake Swim

TORONTO (CP)—A charming Swiss-born grandmother says she's "ready to go" in the Canadian National Exhibition's Lake Ontario marathon swim Sept. 6.

Nearing the end of her three-week training here, Rosita Tanner, who now lives in Sault Ste. Marie, said:

"Naturally I'd like to win but the thought uppermost in mind is, I'd like to finish the swim."
The 42-year-old swimmer, who describes herself as a "water baby," said the Lake Ontario swim is her first serious attempt at marathon swimming. She has tested the waters of Lake Huron for a distance of 18 miles.

Briggs Would Like to Get Out Of Baseball

BALTIMORE (AP)—"I, personally, am satisfied to get out of the game and go back into the manufacturing business," Walter (Spike) Briggs, president of Detroit Tigers, was quoted Tuesday.

Sale of the Tigers, now owned by a holding company made up of Briggs and his four sisters, has been reported due in mid-October.

"The trust says that baseball is a bad investment and I know that for a fact myself," Briggs was quoted by Hugh Trader in the Baltimore News-Post. The Baltimore Orioles played Detroit Monday.

As for continuing as president of any new syndicate which might

Brooks Recall 16

BROOKLYN (CP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers Tuesday announced the recall of 16 players from their minor league farm clubs, including five players from Montreal Royals of the International League.

Pitchers Glen Cox and Ken Lehman, infielders Charlie Neal and Chico Fernandez, and outfielder Gino Cimoli will report to the Dodgers next spring.

TCP re-powers your engine in the first 400 miles of your Labour Day trip

Now you can end your first day on the road with your engine tuned up better than when you started!

Quickly as that, Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP* brings back power stolen by harmful engine deposits formed by your usual around-town driving. It fireproofs the deposits in combustion chambers—to control pre-firing—a major cause of power loss. It makes the deposits on spark plugs non-conductive—to halt short circuits that cause spark plug "miss."

Before you've used two tankfuls of Shell Premium with TCP, it will re-power your engine. Continued use of Shell Premium with TCP additive is essential to halt pre-firing and for you to obtain the full benefits of high octane gasoline. You'll find it's the most powerful gasoline your car can use.

Experts Say American League Champs Will Have Clay Feet, Glass Chin

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Garry Alexander

NORMAL AGAIN

The Senior "B" hockey picture for this area seems to be back to normal again after a brief spell of being out of focus. Not long ago, Belleville city council announced that it would not sponsor a team here this year, the Clinton Comets were dropped from our grouping, rumors from the Limestone City hinted that the Goodyears would cease operation while Whitby and Peterborough announced that they would play in a new grouping. Cornwall and Brockville would travel the trail of senior baseball in the Quinte city and Peterborough. In other words, there would not be a league.

The financial problem was another obstacle with most of last season's seven clubs marking their ledgers in red ink. The high cost of imports and a further drop in attendance accounted for this situation. But then, with Belleville taking the lead, things began to look on the brighter side. Don McNevin, ex-alderman and former sponsor of the Kingston Glen Boys, accepted the sponsorship of the local squad again. The Kingston Goodyears settled their differences and last week there was even talk of two teams from Roddenville.

The O.H.A. executive headed by Frank Buckland, president, and Ist. vice-president Lorne Cook of Kingston, had apparently been watching the actions of the league and Cook called a meeting when he felt the time was ripe. The meeting, held at the Kingston Community Centre on Monday evening, and reported in this newspaper yesterday, was a success. Representatives from Belleville, Cornwall, Whitby, Peterborough, Kingston and Brockville were present and after a lengthy discussion, five teams announced their decision to participate. Peterborough has been granted a leave of absence for a year until a new arena is completed.

Whitby manager, Wren Blair, who originated the idea of a second grouping, found himself overruled when shares of the Whitby club were sold in Whitby. The board of directors ordered Mr. Blair to keep his club in this grouping so that settled that. Other problems were discussed and it was decided to give a club 80 cents per mile for every mile over 100 travelled on a trip. That is a trip consisting of over 100 miles in one direction. The amount donated to the pool by each club will be 15% of its net take. The schedule will open on October 28th with Whitby visiting Belleville while the All-Star game, against the champion Goodyears, will be played on Saturday, October 22nd, in the Limestone City.

Now that the organization of the league seems to have straightened out, the next problem facing the team executives is to obtain efficient players for a top-notch league. The fans will be satisfied with nothing less. Don McNevin realizes this and is wasting no time. He has in mind a coach and several players of no little ability. But the fans will come out to watch a good homebrew club, so Don feels he should give them one if it is possible. The team will operate under the moniker of "Belleville Glen Boys" once again. He has called a meeting of last year's players and any others who feel they can play Senior "B" hockey. They are asked to meet at Don's home, 158 George St., on Thursday night at 8:00 p.m. This will be an informal but very important meeting and the calibre of hockey we have in Belleville this coming season could depend upon the turnout.

EVENLY MATCHED

Softball fans will get their chance to witness a pair of evenly matched teams in action tomorrow night when Point Anne play host to the Peterborough Seabrooke Motors squad at 5:30 p.m. This will be the second game of their OASA Intermediate "A" series, Seabrooke's having copped a narrow 5-4 win in 11 innings on Monday eve.

Pat Maracle pitched his usual fine game in the Lifflock city but wet ground proved his downfall. We mean that in two ways since he put the winning run on base when his feet slid out from under him as he fielded a bunt. The runner advanced on a passed ball and Pat informed us after the game that the wet ball slipped just as he fired the wild pitch which lost the game.

Both clubs came up with excellent fielding plays. Bob Hull's throw from deep centre cut a runner off at the plate which would have given Peterborough the win in regulation time. The old pro Roger Mallory, came through in fine style in the ninth with a two-out clutch single to tie it at 4-4. The Motor club boasts a strong fielding lineup as well as heavy hitters. Neil Thompson on shortstop and McGrath in right field pulled off several fielding gems.

The Cementmen will have their backs to the wall in this one. They must defeat the visitors to knot their series or rest on the sidelines until an industrial opponent is named for them. Activities get under way at 5:30 sharp since no lights are available should another extra-inning affair take place.

WRESTLING

Another fine wrestling card has been lined up for the Memorial Arena on Friday night when Canada's (or is it the world's) strongest man, Doug Hephurn and Pat Fraley match holds against Karl von Schober and Fritz von Erich in the main bout. Two other bouts are scheduled with Sandy Scott meeting newcomer Bob Leitler while George Scott tangles with Firpo Zbysko.

Four Contenders in Loop Have Been Tagged in 10 Of 18 Games With 2nd Division

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

No matter who wins the pennant, the American League idol will have clay feet and a glass chin.

The four contenders, one of whom has to serve as champ, have been tagged with a sucker punch in 10 of their last 18 games with the second division, and a pretty scrawny second division at that.

And Tuesday night, Kansas City, 24 games deep in sixth place, dropped New York 4-3, spilling the Yankees from first place into a second place tie with Cleveland. With that assist, the White Sox moved a half-game ahead with a 7-5 decision over Boston.

The White Sox didn't ride into the lead on a white charger. They backed in with five unearned runs. Cleveland, meanwhile, stopped the nonsense and moved up with a 7-4 triumph over Baltimore—but had the help of eight walks that became four runs.

FIVE POINT EDGE

Chicago, playing one less game than either New York or Cleveland for a five-percentage-point edge, tied it at 4-4 in the fourth with the first two gift runs. Then the Chisox put it away with the other three unearned runs.

Ted Williams, whose double opened a 4-3 Boston lead, booted a liner by Nelson Fox for a two-base error to set up the final Chicago runs in the sixth.

New York bunched three of its five hits off Alex Kellner to tie the As at three-all in the fifth. Then Hector Lopez gave Alex his 10th victory with a home run off loser Bob Grim in the bottom half of the frame.

Bob Lemon won his 15th for the Indians, but gave up 12 hits and needed help from Don Mossi to tie the final out following two singles with two away in the ninth.

Jim Wilson lost it, giving away the eighth passes before leaving in the eighth.

TWO-RUN HOMERS

Billy Hoelt granted just four singles for his 14th victory as Detroit beat Washington 4-0 in the other AL game. Bill Tuttle and Frank House hit two-run homers off loser Pete Ramos.

In the National, Brooklyn went 13 games in front by beating Milwaukee 8-6 as Don Newcombe finally won his 19th; New York ended a five-game slump with a 5-0, 9-7 sweep of Cincinnati; Chicago's Cubs clipped Philadelphia 3-1, and Pittsburgh beat St. Louis 3-1 after the Cards had wrapped up a 1-0 verdict in the completion of a suspended game.

Newcombe gave up two-run homers by Bobby Thomson and Johnny Logan, but led 8-4 when he gave way to a back ache after six innings. Roy Campanella homered twice and Duke Snider got one in the 12th Brooklyn smacked off four Milwaukee hurlers.

The Giants had four unearned runs in the first game. In the nightcap, the Redlegs' Ted Kluszewski upped his major league home run lead to 43 with a pair, while New York's Willie Mays hit two to tie Snider for second place with 40.

SAVED VICTORY

Reliever Hal Jeffcoat saved Sam Jones' 12th victory after Sad Sam hit walked the bases loaded with one out in the eighth at Philadelphia.

Harvey Haddix, who won the suspended game, lost the regularly scheduled contest as the Pirates scored three runs in the sixth.

Montreal Falls Game Behind Toronto Leafs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Havana Sugar Kings must win three in a row from Toronto, starting tonight, or relinquish all hope of gaining the International League flag.

The Cubs dropped the second game of their five game series with the Leafs Tuesday night, 5-3, to fall four games behind the leaders. Unless they sweep the remaining contests, the Leafs will leave Cuba with at least a three-game edge and only five games left on the schedule.

The second-place Montreal Royals were rained out at Columbus and fell a game behind Rochester, with a 6-1 victory against Richmond, lengthened its hold on fourth place to three and a half games over Syracuse, which lost to Buffalo in extra innings, 5-4.

The Cubans had a 2-0 lead going into the sixth frame, but the Leafs tied it and then went ahead to win in the seventh when they combined two singles, a walk, and two King errors for three runs. Starter Ed Blake batted in one of Toronto's tallies with a single and limited the Cubans 1-4-hastefold though he needed help from Jack Crimian in the ninth when Havana scored its last run and loaded the bases with one out.

Suggestion of Extended Blocking by Backfielders Greeted With Mixed Reaction

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Professional football coaches across Canada have greeted with mixed reaction a proposal by Doug (Peahead) Walker, pilot of the Big Four's Montreal Alouettes, that attacking backfielders be allowed to block a full 10 yards beyond the scrimmage line.

At present, backfielders in professional football are entitled to block only one yard beyond the line. Linemen are permitted 10 yards.

Walker said Tuesday his suggestion, if accepted by the Canadian Rugby Union's rules committee "would only legalize extended blocking done now by backfielders."

TIGHTEN MOTION RULE

He also proposed that the extended blocking be linked with a rule permitting only one backfielder to be in motion when the ball is snapped and that the player should move laterally, not forward.

Coach Al Sherman of the western conference's Winnipeg Blue Bombers agreed backfielders should be given increased blocking territory, but he said he wouldn't like to see any restriction on backfield motion.

Walker, however, said he is not in favor of 10 yards blocking for backfielders without readjustment to the rule covering players in motion because "otherwise the offence would have a terrific advantage, using 10 yards blocking for backfielders and all backfielders in motion before the ball was put into play."

Head coach Bill Swiacki of Toronto Argonauts, former coach with New York Giants of the National Football League, said this is his first season in Canadian football and "I want to see the game played a full year before I start commenting on Canadian rules."

BLOCKING IMPROVEMENT

Coach Chan Caldwell of Ottawa Rough Riders said much the same as did Swiacki. However, Caldwell added that he agrees with Walker that a lot of downfield blocking by backs goes on now without officials catching what now is illegal interference.

Walker said the shady blocking now done by the backs is the "result of the introduction of the split-7, and belly-dive series and the option plays, in which blocking and fakes are so important."

"There is so much traffic going on that the officials can't cope with the situation and they're not calling illegal interference required by the letter and spirit of the rule."

Canadian Champ Misses Out In Qualifying Round

NEW YORK (CP)—The 1955 Canadian amateur champ was a non-starter and the 1953 champ couldn't make the grade as regional qualifying rounds were held Tuesday for the United States amateur golf championships.

The current Canadian titleholder, Moe Norman of Kitchener, Ont., who was to have tried for one of the five places at Rochester, N. Y., failed to appear and officials said he apparently believed his Canadian crown entitled him to exempt himself from qualifying play. However, the exemption does not apply until next year's tournament.

Another Canadian, Jerry Magee of Toronto, made the grade at Rochester with a 36-hole score of 73-78-181, just one stroke more than medalist Robert Hill of Rochester, on the par-73 Brook Lea Country Club course.

Don Cherry of Garden City, N.Y., the crooner who took the 1953 Canadian title and a member of the U. S. Walker Cup team, was a casualty at Rochester, missing a 90-75-155, to miss out by two strokes for one of the 23 qualifying spots in the New York City area.

At Kitchener, Norman said Tuesday night he did not go to Rochester because he did not know he was required to.

"Some people told me I had to qualify. Others said that being Canadian amateur champ meant I got into the tournament without going through any of the pre-tournament qualifying play," Norman said.

"I tried to get in touch with someone in Rochester where the qualifying rounds were played. I didn't want to go and spend the money if I didn't need to."

Asked what he planned to do about the U. S. amateur, Moe replied: "I guess I just don't play. I played enough golf this summer anyway."

Super English Soccer Loop Proposal Made by Secretary

By ARCH MACKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The idea of a super English soccer league may be put shortly to a combined meeting of the English Football League, the Football Association and the Players' Union.

The concept of a 16-team major league, featuring the cream of playing and training talent now spread over the 82 clubs of the Football League, belongs to Sir Stanley Rous. He's the secretary of the FA and he made the suggestion on his own for discussion purposes.

Reaction has been predominantly favorable, what with national concern that something has to be done quickly to get back on top in the international football picture.

HIGHER PAY

The Rous plan calls for wages double the present weekly maximum of £15 — a restoration of incentive in order to provide a player pool from which the national team could be drawn.

League restrictions on training a national team would be dissolved. The present league would probably be reorganized and football become a lot brighter.

"Now players are all on the same sort of level," argues Sir Stanley. "If we have a national league, ambitious players would work harder and train harder to get into it."

"With first-class trainers, coaches and managers we could produce world-class stars."

"After all, it is only what goes on in other countries such as Hungary and Russia, who are soon to train our brilliant young proving more successful than England at football at present."

The Football League is not expected to accede easily to a plan which would strip it of its brightest teams and stars.

"But the Football League has utterly failed English soccer," comments sports editor Pat Reekie of The Daily Mail. "It has become near-sighted, selfish and jealous."

Its insistence on restricted (two up, two down) promotion and relegation, with the constant scramble for points, has developed a defensive type of football."

The clubs which are regarded as suitable for an English national league include London's Arsenal, Chelsea and Tottenham, and Aston Villa, Bolton, Cardiff, Everton, Sunderland, Wolverhampton, Newcastle, Manchester United and Manchester City, Sheffield Wed-

Breaks Record But Finishes Only Second

BLACKPOOL, England (CP)—Susan Grant of Toronto smashed a British junior swimming record Tuesday, but she was forced to take second place in her qualifying heat of the 110-yard free style event at the national championships.

The 15-year-old girl is one of six through to the final.

Susan was clocked in 70.8 seconds—the old record was 71.2 seconds—but lost to Londoner Christina Barry who went the distance in 70.6 seconds.

Wednesday and Sheffield United, Portsmouth, Preston, West Bromwich and Liverpool.

All have the money necessary to carry the plan.

Another, more limited, league is afoot. This is a floodlight competition approved by the FA despite league opposition, and which would include four English and four Scottish clubs playing four home games and four away over a two-season period.

The Scottish Football Association will rule on it shortly.

The clubs lined up for the new league are Arsenal, Tottenham, Manchester City, Newcastle, Hearts, Hibernian, Patrick Thistle and either Clyde or Falkirk.

The English League has objected that there are too many league and exhibition matches now.

Swaps Favored Over Nashua In Matched Race

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—Nashua from the east and Swaps from the west—possibly the most brilliant three-year-olds ever to be matched—take off today in what should rank as one of the greatest showdowns in thoroughbred racing history.

They will settle sophomore honors and undoubtedly "horse of the year" recognition, in a $100,000 winner-take-all race at 1¼ miles on Washington Park's "neutral" dirt oval.

Each will pack 128 pounds—the same impost, the same distance, and the same jockeys as in their only other 1955 meeting—the Kentucky Derby. In that race, Nashua with Eddie Arcaro up, challenged in mid-stretch strongly only to have Willie Shoemaker and Swaps sweep on to a 1½-length triumph in 2:01 4/5.

Since then, William Woodward Jr.'s Nashua has won the Preakness, Belmont, Dwyer and Arlington classic for a sophomore record of eight triumphs in nine starts and winnings of $589,700, just $119,707 short of Citation's record as a three-year-old.

PEAK CONDITION
The California-bred Swaps, owned by Red C. Ellsworth, in the meantime added the Will Rogers, California, the Westerner and the American Derby to his list, compiling a record of eight straight victories as a three-year-old, and earnings of $418,550.

The match race contenders have worked in spectacular fashion for the showdown and are considered in peak condition. This, parlayed with a forecast of fair and pleasant weather, plus a possible fast track, added up to a "natural" for the match race.

The race will be televised and broadcast nationally starting at 5 p. m. EST, by CBS. There will be parimutuel betting only.

Odds list Swaps at 35 and Nashua 6-5.

In case of a dead heat in today's race, all money bet will be refunded, a Washington Park spokesman said.

Odds against a dead heat are astronomical, however.

Trabert Drops Two Sets To Rex Hartwig

SEA BRIGHT, N. J. (CP)—Australia's Davis Cup team took seven of eight sets in an exhibition series with the United States team Tuesday with U. S. ace Tony Trabert dropping two sets to Aussie doubles player Rex Hartwig, 6-3, 6-3.

Australia's Ken Rosewall put on the best exhibition, dropping his shots unerringly in the corners on both backhand and "neutral" dirt oval.

Ham Richardson of the U. S. squad split two sets with young Neale Fraser of Australia, winning the first 6-2 and dropping the second 7-5.

Lew Hoad, Australia's top star, did not play in the singles but his booming service was the key factor as he and Hartwig defeated Shea and Richardson 6-2 6-2 in the only doubles match.

Name O'Flaherty
Sudbury Coach

SUDBURY (CP)—Johnny (Peanuts) O'Flaherty, former American Hockey League player and coach in several parts of the country, Tuesday was named coach of Sudbury Wolves in the NOHA southern group. He succeeds veteran Max Silverman, who retired from the hockey scene at the end of last season.

O'Flaherty's appointment was announced by Wolves' president Tom O'Toole. For the past two seasons he coached the Sault Greyhounds, both times to first place in the regular league schedule. He resigned recently when unable to come to salary terms for the coming season.

O'Flaherty said he expected help from Toronto Maple Leafs, an organization with which he has held a high rating since his playing days with their Pittsburgh farm club.

with GMC's
new 'Driver-Designed' instrument panel

FROM THE MOMENT you slip behind the wheel of a GMC Blue Chip Truck, you know that it's been designed with your complete comfort and convenience in mind! From the tremendous full-circle visibility of the new raked-back windshield, right down to the handy placing of instrument controls within the driver's easy reach, the GMC caters to your every whim.

But that's just the beginning. For backing up all this class and comfort is a man's truck—a truck that boasts the most commanding power and mightiest performance in its class!

Under the hood you'll find your choice of the biggest range of engines in the industry, with stepped-up power in the valve-in-head 6's... brand new V8's... or dependable, economical Diesels.

Frames and axles are new too, for longer, trouble-free service. New maneuverability is yours, thanks to GMC's shorter wheelbases. And you get the industry's widest range of trucks equipped with Hydra-Matic automatic transmission.

These are just a few of the ways in which GMC is in all ways new and better! See it—and judge its outstanding value for yourself—at your GMC Dealer's today!

GMC THE GREATEST NAME IN TRUCKS

1. Full Panoramic Wraparound Windshield—Front or side you get the tremendous safety factor of this sweeping wide-open view. There's a man-sized sun visor for the driver, with twin visors and tinted glass as options.
2. Non-Glare Panel Deck—No more squinting, glaring or eye-strain with GMC's new soft-surfaced instrument panel deck. This attractive new treatment and the wider, contoured deck soak up all the reflections, minimize glare and increase visibility.
3. Full-Size Glove Compartment—There's room for everything you need in this BIG glove compartment. Easy to reach, with extra-sturdy hinges and a non-rattle safety lock that won't slip its catch!
4. Easy-View Chrome Dashboard—The dials are clearly seen on this striking new dashboard. And it's got the new non-glare "black" lighting for night driving that's clear without blinding!
5. Three-Spoke Steering Wheel—The 3-spoke design gives a clear, uninterrupted view of the instrument panel. You'll find, too, that it's shockproof, and handles like a charm, thanks to built-in hand grips and GMC's new shorter turning radius.
6. Centre-Balanced Radio Panel—The ash tray and radio panel are located in the centre of the panel, easily reached by anyone in the front seat.
7. Grouped Driver Controls—All important driver controls, including the choke, ventilator knobs, windshield wipers and ignition switch are centrally located around the dials, for easy access!

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Thurs., Sept. 1, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—More restricting rays than yesterday and your Mars' position stresses a need for courtesy, tact and kindly understanding if you are to get fullest cooperation and aid from expected places.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Be sensibly careful of health. Don't invite undue excitement or fill the day with more than you can reasonably handle. Familiar matters, usual routine most favored. Avoid anxiety.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—A very favorable Mercury aspect honors mental work and can help where study, teaching, research and the like are prominent. Be ambitious; seek to achieve honestly.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Your Moon and Venus aspects now stress tact, care in all private matters and where thoughtfulness and kindness are requisites. Purely brain work highly sponsored.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Some influences tend to irritability and a lack of the quiet comprehension needed to meet problems and keen competition. Be your sensible general self and face everything with intelligent calm and faith in the right.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Influences helpful especially for brain work, bright imagination, clever ingenuity. But the day has some restrictions and urges calm persona before making drastic changes in planned matters.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Some artistic professions and work may require extra patience now but the day can and will respond profitably to good effort, smart management. Don't seek undeserved favors or advancement.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Outlook good if you show patience and give cooperation where it is needed. Serve some worthy cause on the side. Be careful of your responsibilities and family needs but don't worry.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—If you find some influences or agencies working at odds with your plans or private affairs, be keen in judgment and seek competent advice before decisions are made.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—This day's influences not entirely friendly in some quarters but sound business matters, honest labor, industry can succeed, even if slowly. Don't be anxious. Move ahead steadily.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Most everyday matters are now in line for some advancement but don't expect the unreasonable or results which are not deserved. Have system, and show keenness, good judgment, calmness.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Seek advice on problems and in difficult situations. It will help speed completion of tasks, insure better results in whatever your program and extra curricula. Have faith.

You born today belong to the intellectual, artistic natives of Virgo. Keen intuition, imagination, finesse are among your top assets. You can keep a confidence and often elicit information and knowledge from others without much effort. If living true to your finer characteristics, you are dependable, likeable, magnetic in personality, and appear young even unto old age; are loyal, de-just about any undertaking, you like. Curb faults such as over-inistence, anxiety, and a tendency to "ruin the roost" regardless of others' opinions.

Civil Defence and Education to Be Studied

EDMONTON (CP) — Delegates at the annual conference of mayors of municipalities today turn their attention to education and civil defence following debate on their relations with senior governments.

The cost of education will be covered by Dr. M. E. LaZerte of Regina, research director for the Canadian School Trustees' Association. A panel will deal with "the new dimensions of civil defence." Municipal representation at the federal-provincial conference in Ottawa in October has been one of the most debated points of the five-day convention, which ends Thursday.

Mayor Nathan Phillips of Toronto appeared Tuesday for a three-level conference as a way of straightening out financial problems faced by municipalities.

Municipalities, seeking a voice in financial talks held by the senior governments, will be represented on delegations of at least seven provinces. This was made known by R. M. Simpson of Arnprior, president of the Ontario Association of Mayors and Municipalities, who said he believes municipalities will have ample opportunity to present their views at the federal-provincial meeting.

He said the federal government has no objection to municipal delegates acting as advisors or spokesmen on provincial committees at the conference. Among resolutions approved were requests that the federal government pay full municipal taxes on crown property and exempt municipal purchases from sales tax.

CHINA RATIONS GRAIN

LONDON (AP) — Communist authorities in food-pinched Red China Wednesday night ordered grain rations to the country's 100,000,000 urban population.

LOSES ARGUMENT

BRADFORD, Ont. (CP) — A Huntsville motorist was convicted on a speeding charge Tuesday despite his defence that the police-operated radar device is unable to register the speed of several cars passing through the trap at the same time. Donald Stewart, 42, questioned the efficiency of the radar device which was operating on Highway 400 July 25 when he was charged. A constable said he was certain of the identity of the accused and his speed. Stewart was fined $15 and costs or five days in jail.

IT MAY BE YOUR LIVER

If life's not worth living
It may be your liver!
It's a fact! It takes up to two pints of liver bile a day to keep your digestive tract in top shape! If your liver bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest... gas builds up your stomach... you feel constipated and when you need to go out of life. That's Liver Pills. These famous vegetable pills help stimulate the flow of liver bile. Soon you'll find that happy days are here again! Liver Pills are sold everywhere. Keep Carter's Liver Pills on hand.
